Mother Driven 250 Miles and Raped in Shack

Using the pretense of showing his deceased cousin's wife his new home in Isabella, Kern County, Albert F. Gill, 33, tied and raped Eleanor Valenzuela, 31, after he had driven her more than 250 miles from her home, according to police.

Gill provided his 13-year-old sister, Delores, as a baby sitter for Mrs. Valenzuela's two children Saturday evening. Both promised to return home, 3730½ Wall street, no later than 2 a.m.

When the couple reached Bakersfield, Mrs. Valenzuela reported expressing concern over the distance they had traveled to Gill who laughed at her apprehension.

After arriving in Isabella the pair entered a one room shack. He then forced Mrs. Valenzuela into a doubled up position and bound her with an army belt and knit tie, she claimed.

Following his attack, Gill freed his victim and both returned to Los Angeles in his 1949 Chevrolet coupe, reaching home at 8:30 Sunday morning. He was arrested a short time later. In his statement to the police he said that he took Mrs. Valenzuela for a ride to Bakersfield and upon reaching a quiet section of the woods, he parked his car and obtained the girl's acquiesience.

Gill, a mill man, is also wanted by Army officials for an AWOL charge dating back to Feb. 2, 1944.

San-Fern Homes Near Completion

The initial group of homes in attractive San-Fern Manor will be completed next week at the new three-bedroom, one and two-bath residential community at Herrick avenue and Filmore street, near San Fernando road and Van Nuys boulevard, in beautiful San Fernando Valley.

This announcement by James L. Carter, salesmanager of Gold Medal Homes, the developers, foreshadowed a continuing increase in the great numbers of visitors who arrive daily to admire the model home.

The display dwelling, completely outfitted by the Brady Furniture Company of San Fernando, is open each day from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Attractive to visitors generally, Carter added, is the full price of the homes, which begins at $9999.

Down payments for veterans are as low as $425, plus impounds, and monthly terms begin at $51.80 for principal and interest, while liberal terms also are available to non-veterans.

Reflected in the new community's residences are 28 individual architectural patterns created on order by the well-known architect, Charles Du Bois, A.I.A.

San-Fern Manor, situated next to Joe Louis Homes, has underscored top quality building which outclasses many dwellings priced hundreds of dollars higher, its developers maintain.

Features include two car garages, French doors to covered concrete terraces, living rooms at front or rear, General Electric garbage disposals, electric bathroom heaters, dual floor furnaces, custom-built kitchen cabinets, No. 1 oak floors, full service porches, wardrobe-type closets, Formica sink decks, lawns with shrubs.

It may be reached via Laurel Canyon or San Fernado Road to Van Nuys boulevard, turning right to Herrick avenue and left to Filmore street.

Churches Urge Vote Seekers Drop Bigotry

Beginning next week there will be available to churches, synagogues and other groups, a small blue and black poster appealing for "Election Campaigns in the American Way" — campaigns without appeals to racial and religious bigotry. The poster sets forth a statement issued by six religious leaders of the National Council of Churches and the Catholic and Jewish faiths, appealing for establishment of committees in every community to combat the use of appeals to religious and racial prejudice in the presidential campaign.

Chairmen of both the Republican and the Democratic national committees have endorsed the religious leaders' appeal for a "fair election practices code." The posters can be obtained from the National Council of Churches, 297 Fourth avenue, New York, N. Y., and other agencies.

Warren Approves New Boys' Club

Gov. Earl Warren has put his stamp of approval on the efforts of the Citizens Committee who are devoting their energies toward raising $140,000 to build the Eastside Boys' Club on the corner of New York and McDonnell streets in the Belvedere section of Los Angeles.

Said the Governor: "Every community would be enriched by having a boys' club. I commend it to the people of the community as a great investment in their youth. Because I was born in East Los Angeles I have a special interest in the well-being of that area and particularly in having a boys' club in that part of the city. The men who are working for it are performing a great public service."

Ora McClain Manslaughter Trial Oct. 2

The three-way accident, in which 15-year-old Carlton Ashley, 9614 Laurel street, was hurled 70 feet to his death, occurred at the corner of 62nd street and Avalon blvd. when, according to Mrs. McClain, the brakes on her Cadillac failed to hold at the stop sign.

A coroner's jury Aug. 5 held Mrs. McClain "probably criminally responsible" for young Ashley's death. She faces trial on a misdemeanor manslaughter charge.

FACES TRIAL FOR MOLESTING CHILD

—Part Ties—

Martin Cleared in Rape Case

MARRIAGE ENDS—Popular Camille Cannady this week filed suit for divorce against her equally popular husband, George Cannady.

Cannadys File For Divorce

One of the best known and most popular local couples came to the parting of ways last week when vivacious Camille Cannady filed suit for divorce from her prominent attorney husband, George Cannady. The Cannadys had been married ten years. They have a 2-year-old daughter, Cynthia.

Mrs. Cannady, a talented actress and socialite, is basing her suit on the claims that there is a difference of interests between her and her husband and that there is a clash between their professions. Her marriage to Cannady was her second. She is the mother of another daughter named Camille Roane by her first marriage.

Cannady says that the suit "came as a complete surprise to me." He announced also that he will not contest it. "I will settle out of court," he states.

Community property in the case consists of an impressive 8th Avenue home, a business building where Cannady maintains offices and a late Buick. According to Cannady, the house will be given to Mrs. Cannady. He is still living in the home.

The Cannadys were known to have been spatting between themselves for a long period of time before the suit was filed. They reportedly engaged in public arguments on several occasions.

Mrs. Cannady's attorney in the case is Charles Matthews.

VISITORS

The following people are visiting friends and relatives in our city this week:

Stopping at the Clark Hotel are: Mrs. Willa Collins, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Margerie McNeally, Cleveland, O.; Levi W. Bell, Colo.; Warner Perkins, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham, Columbus, O.; Althea Jones, San Francisco, Calif.

Mrs. Thelma Landers, Mrs. Viola Forrest and Robert McGuffin, all of Denver, Colo., house guests of Carnation Consumers consultant, Rosalee Otsben, of West 31st Street; Phyllis Marshall of Toronto, Canada, stopping at the Hollywood Roosevelt Chapman.

Another Suspect Arrested

All charges against Pfc. Donald R. Martin, arrested while he was visiting Laguna Beach early in August and charged with four major crimes including rape and kidnaping, are to be dropped and the young dancer is to be unconditionally freed, the Eagle has been informed.

A hearing is being held Thursday morning in Santa Ana, capital of Orange County, at which time the case against the talented dancer will be dismissed. The Orange County district attorney's office has so advised Martin's attorney, Edward Mosk.

Reversal

Reason for the sudden reversal in the case is the detention by the Armed Forces of another man, now charged with the same crimes previously attributed to Martin.

That man, a marine, has been in custody for 10 days.

Commenting on the expected action, Atty. Mosk expressed his delight at the dismissal, but sounded a warning against the

Nelson Will Creates Trust For Widow

Celestus A. King this week asked the probate court to name him executor of the will of the late James C. Nelson who died here Sept. 3 after a lingering illness. Named as one of the chief assets in the will is the Dunbar hotel. The will was prepared, and probate of the will was asked by Attorney Ivan J. Johnson.

According to terms of the will, Celestus A. King II, was named the executor and one of the beneficiaries along with the widow, Mrs. Julia M. Nelson. King is a nephew of the late hotel man.

Bertrand B. Bratton, Certified Public Accountant, who has long handled Nelson's financial interests including the books of the hotel, was named by the Security First National bank, trustee of a trust created by the dead man, to represent it in managing the affairs of the hotel.

Under the trust, the hotel property is to be distributed to the widow, to hold during her lifetime. Upon her death it goes to Celestus A. King II, to be held by him until his grandnephew, Celestus A. King IV, now 9, reaches the age of 35, when it will go to him.

Nelson, a native of Texas, died here following a lingering illness of five years. He was buried at fashionable St. Paul's Baptist Church last Monday. The body was prepared for burial by the People's Mortuary company.

'COVER GIRL' WEDS—'Cover girl' Lena Torrence slipped to Yuma Sunday and married Joseph Cooper.

Stevenson Praised For Rights Stand

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, heard leaders of local minority groups describe California's civil rights problems at a conference at the Ambassador Hotel last Thursday.

Headed by Dr. John A. Somerville, police commissioner, and Councilman Edward Roybal, more than a score of organization heads spent a half hour with Stevenson in an off-the-record conference from which newspapermen were excluded.

Problems Told

However, the Eagle learned that complaints were voiced to the Governor about exclusion of Negroes from FHA-financed private housing projects, discrimination in defense plants and the failure to integrate Negroes in government position. Stevenson won praise from those present for his forthright stand on civil rights.

Among those who attended the conference were Wesley Brazier, executive secretary of the Urban League; George Thomas of the County Conference on Human Relations; Mrs. Ethel Bryant, secretary to Congressman Yorty; Mrs. Lille Montgomery, NAACP board member; Lester Bailey, NAACP executive secretary; Luther Merriweather, labor leader and John Dial, president of the area conference of the NAACP and labor leader.

Approves FEPC

The conference was one of a series held by Governor Stevenson during his one-day stay in the city. He spoke at Shrine Auditorium Thursday night and reiterated his belief in equality for all Americans.

In previous appearances he has announced that he favors a federal FEPC and has said that he will do all in his power to change existing Senate rules which permit filibusters against civil rights legislation. Last week the national board of the NAACP praised his stand on civil rights.

Lena Torrence Elopes to Yuma

In a surprise ceremony in Yuma, Arizona, last Sunday afternoon, pretty Lena Torrence was wed to real estate broker Joseph Cooper.

The couple was accompanied in the ceremony by actress Vivian Dandridge, who just completed a role in MGM's movie "See How They Run," and her husband.

The bride is a popular movie actress and national magazine model. She appeared in "Lydia Bailey" and "Skirts Ahoy." The groom is formerly of Louisiana.

The newlyweds will make their home in a recently acquired apartment on the Westside here.

GETS MOVIE BREAK—Lovely Rita Moreno, vivacious Puerto Rican dancer, is making steady strides in her spectacular movie career. She is being currently seen in King Brothrs' production, "The Ring," showing at the RKO Hillstreet and Pantages theatres.

Supreme Court Asked to Hear Damage Appeal

The California Supreme Court was asked this week to review a decision of the District Court of Appeal holding that damages may not be assessed against persons selling real property to Negroes in violation of a race-restrictive agreement.

In their petition for review, attorneys for M. M. O'Gara and Mrs. Leola Jackson charge that the Court of Appeal was wrong in its conclusion that the Fourteenth Amendment forbids filing of such actions. Loren Miller, one of the attorneys for the sellers, said the application for a hearing will be opposed.

Pedestrian Killed By Hit-Run Driver

Police Searching For Speedster Who Left Victim

Police were combing the city this week for a reckless hit-and-run driver who ran over and killed a man early Saturday morning, dragged the body for several feet, and then sped away without even attempting to aid the victim.

A number of people are believed to have witnessed the tragedy, which occurred at 2:22 a.m. at the corner of 56th street and Central avenue, but police are still looking for information which will lead them to the driver who is wanted on a felony manslaughter charge.

Racing

The death car was apparently racing with another automobile on Central avenue.

Orval Lee McIntosh, 29, a laborer, of 9701 Antwerp street, was in the crosswalk when the two cars loomed up. Apparently he had no opportunity to escape from the path of the oncoming vehicle, and was killed instantly.

A coroner's inquest is set for Tuesday, Sept. 23, at 9:30 a.m. The body is being handled by Connor-Johnson Funeral Parlors, but services will be held in Tulsa, Okla., the victim's birthplace.

Ask Information

He leaves two sisters, Miss Theola McIntosh, and Mrs. Nellie Richmond, both of Fresno.

Police have asked the cooperation of Eagle readers in an

Gov. Warren Asked To Halt Extradition

A man who fled from the bullets of South Carolina police seven years ago was waiting this week to learn the results of extradition proceedings in Sacramento.

John D. Jeter, 33-year-old mechanic and warehouseman, was wanted by the Southern authorities for protecting himself when the foreman of an orchard farm threatened to "beat his brains out."

He was arrested here in Los Angeles, where he has lived and worked for five years, on Sept. 11, but freed the following day on $1,000 bond.

Hearing Monday

Attys. Walter Gordon and Edward Maddox are representing Jeter at the extradition proceedings before Gov. Warren which opened Monday. In their plea to prevent Jeter from being shipped back to South Carolina they contend that in fact no crime was committed.

The story goes back to a day seven years ago when Jeter was picking peaches in the orchard of George Shay, in South Carolina. The contract rate for the work was 10 cents a bushel. When it came time to collect his pay, Jeter claims the foreman tried to hold out 50 cents that was due him.

Escaped

When Jeter protested, the foreman grabbed a stick and began threatening him. Jeter then says

Director Denies Charges

Prominent Compton playground director Carl O'Neal White was bound over to Superior Court Tuesday on charges of molesting an 8-year-old girl, one of the youngsters left in his charge.

White was arrested Sept. 8 and charged with the crime. He pleaded not guilty at the arraignment in the Municipal Court last Wednesday, after which the case was submitted to Tuesday's preliminary hearing.

He now faces arraignment in the higher court Sept. 30.

"Story Not True"

White, through his attorney, Edward Hardwick, vigorously denied the accusations made against him. He claimed that he was carrying on his regular duties as head of the playground. He asserted that the little girl's brother had become somewhat overheated and he had taken the two youngsters into the office to give the boy a salt tablet, and that the two had then followed him around, as children frequently do.

He said that at all times he

'King' Cole Cracks Ankle At Ball Game

I guess there's some kind of a moral to this story—something like a shoemaker should stick to his last; or perhaps the foot that presses the pedal should stay out of the diamond.

Monday night, top song stylist and piano virtuoso Nat "King" Cole made a grab for the ball at second base at the "Out of This World Series" benefit ball game at Gilmore stadium.

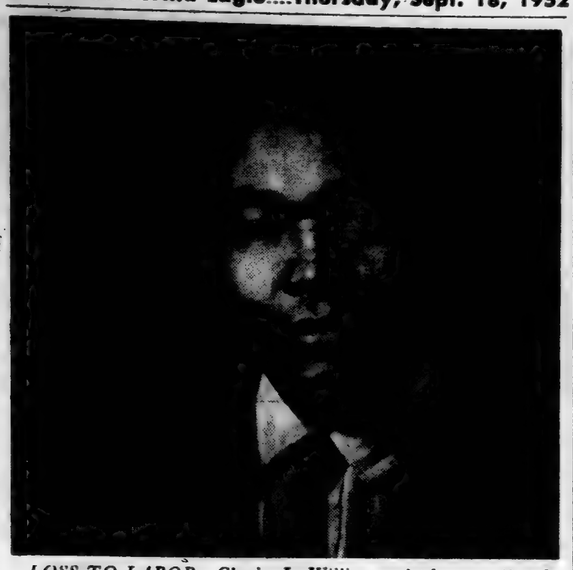
Everybody There

Everybody was there, that is, everybody who is anybody in Hollywood—Lionel Hampton, Henry Armstrong, Mickey Rooney, Max Baer—and oh, yes, the current rave, rousingly rated the most of the most, none other than actress Marilyn Monroe, threw the first ball.

Everything was fine until the "King" made his second base grab. As he reached for the ball, he turned his ankle—one of those simple little accidents that sets the whole world wrong.

He limped laboriously off the field when the game was over, but came back to the center of the amphitheater to do his number, then hobbled off again.

Chipped Bone



Later he went to see his doctor.

THE GOVERNOR TALKS—Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, seated left between Police Commissioner John A. Somerville and Councilman Edward Roybal, explained his stand on civil rights issues to representatives of local minority groups at a meeting last Thursday. Others seated are George Thomas, Mrs. Ethel Bryant, Wesley Brazier and Mrs. Lillie Montgomery. Standing are Lester Bailey, Luther Merriwether, John Dial, Edward Mehren, Frank Chuman and Anthony Rios. At the right, Governor Stevenson shakes hands and discusses campaign issues with Wendell Green, Eagle editor.

LOSS TO LABOR—Charles L. Williams, who has contributed much time and effort to labor's cause in Los Angeles, was mourned by unions, his family and numerous friends following his recent death here.

Labor Union Head Interred As Co-Workers Mourn Him

Funeral services were held Monday, September 15, for Charles L. Williams, of 3775 Olmsted Avenue.

Williams was born in Patterson, La., March 23, 1906. He was married in Beaumont, Tex., to Miss Bertha Renty, July 29, 1935, established residence in Los Angeles in 1936, and became a member of Laborers' Union 300 in 1938.

The many friends of Williams mourn his passing. The officers, business representatives and rank and file members of Local 300 will miss him as a friend, a capable representative, and as one who has contributed much toward the welfare of the members of Local Union 300.

Pallbearers were Mike Waters, S. C. Jefferson, Vincente Martinez, Dan Harvey, Bill Williams and Gilbert Martinez.

Honorary pallbearers were Tony Salgado, Ed Martin, Ray Waters, Mike Quevedo, Joe Chacon and W. Loyd Leiby.

X-rays showed a chipped ankle bone, which foreshadowed weeks of pain and inability to wear a shoe.

And to make matters worse, Cole was leaving Los Angeles Tuesday night for an eight-week tour of the East, opening Friday in Syracuse, N. Y. with songbird Sarah Vaughn and band leader Stan Kenton.

He'll be back in his Hancock home in Los Angeles the week before Christmas, and we hope his ankle will be mended long before.

Penney Store Hires Negroes

Two new jobs for Negroes in front store sales positions resulted this week from negotiations between J. C. Penney's and representatives of the Florence Fair Employment Practices Committee. A Negro salesman went to work in the men's clothing department and a Negro saleslady was assigned in the women's department, thus becoming the first Negroes to be hired by this branch of the J. C. Penney chain of stores.

Negotiations were opened some four weeks ago with Frank White, the local manager for Penneys. "We were accorded a most understanding reception. We congratulate White and the Penney organization for their willingness to work out a fair hiring program across the conference table. We know that the community reaction to their step in ending job discrimination will again demonstrate that fair hiring is not only good democracy but that it is good business," James Burford, committee chairman, said.

Los Angeles is the third city in the nation where Negroes are hired by Penneys in front store jobs—New York and San Francisco being the other two.

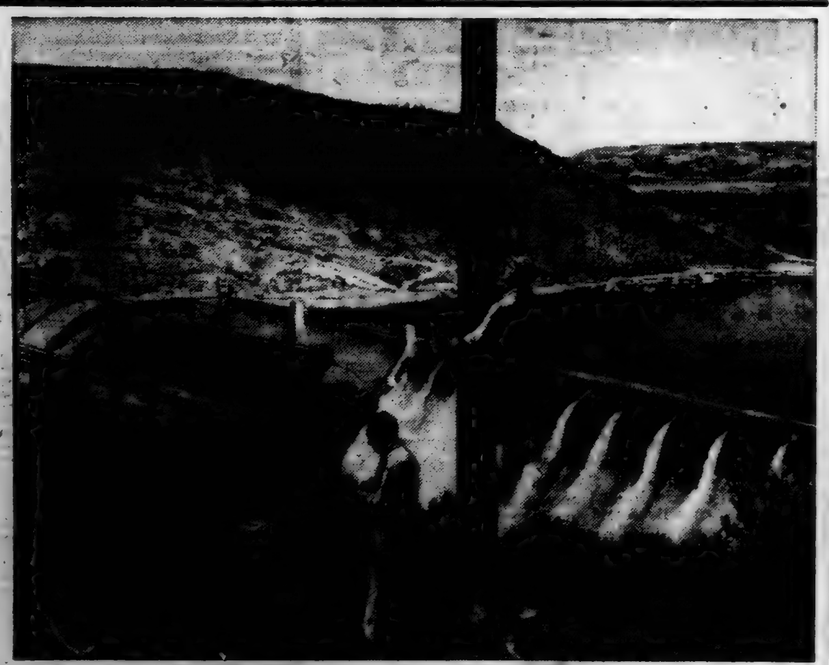
implications in the case. "The boy," he said, "has been under a serious cloud for eight weeks because the police happened to pick him up and then tried to fit him into the crimes that had been committed."



Alibi

Martin had an iron-clad alibi. He was at Fort Ord, 400 miles away from Laguna Beach July 20, when the crimes complained of by Mrs. Virginia Jackson were being committed.

He was arrested on a trip to the beach city while on furlough before shipment overseas. Police were on the lookout for a "tan-skinned Negro" when the talented young dancer happened on the scene.

He was charged with rape, kidnaping, grand theft and armed robbery. Trial was set for Oct. 13.

Before he was inducted into the army, Martin was a featured dancer with the Lester Horton dance theater in Hollywood. His friends at the school rallied to his support in defending him against the charges which he termed "fantastic" and "absurb."

Since 1954, we've been expanding our system to bring telephone service to the Columbia Basin area.

When the Columbia Basin needed telephones

Making a desert blossom meant building a complete, new communications system

Twenty years ago, much of central Washington was sagebrush wasteland. Then came the Columbia Basin project with its plans for a huge dam and thousands of miles of irrigation canals. Right from the beginning, one of the important "tools" needed was telephone service. And we began, even before a yard of earth was moved, to create a new telephone system in the desert. We've invested hundreds of thousands of dollars to build the new facilities in the Columbia Basin ...an investment which will mean much to the West and to the nation. For it is helping turn barren land into rich, food-producing farms.

Highway mobile telephones have been helping contractors and engineers build a network of canals over the vast area. In 1934, we put a private line circuit from Coulee Dam to Ephrata. Today the dam itself is webbed with miles and miles of telephone lines...a nerve system over which practically all operations are controlled. And throughout the Basin area we've been building huge amounts of telephone facilities to take care of its amazingly rapid growth. In Ephrata, for instance, three operators handled all calls in 1942. Today, although dial equipment handles local calls, 25 operators are needed. In Moses Lake, there were 66 telephones in 1935. Today there are more than 2000...and the real growth still lies ahead. Eventually, irrigation water will reach more than a million acres. And we'll keep doing our best to see that the people who move there will have telephone service equal to that in other areas we serve here in the West.

Your telephone is one of today's best bargains

Throughout the West, the Columbia Basin telephone story has been told in hundreds of rapidly growing communities. And, fast as the West's growth has been, the telephone has grown at an even faster rate...serves as fast in the territory we serve. For at today's prices, the telephone is so economical more people can afford it...as needed, many people want it.

Police Confer on 'Warnings' to Bates

University Station police authorities conferred Monday morning with representatives of community organizations in an endeavor to see what, if anything, can be done to bring a halt to the continued threats received by Mr. and Mrs. Angus Bates to move from their W. 42nd street home or face the consequences.

No concrete steps were evolved at the meeting, but the hope was expressed that closer cooperation between the police and the Bates family would be helpful.

Adolphus Clay and Edward Ewell represented the Elks Civil Liberties committee; Lester Bailey the NAACP; while present for the police were Lt. Earl E. Rombeau, Sgt. Charles L. Lillywhite, and Lt. Swan. Mr. and Mrs. Bates also attended.

The Bates family has received five threats — postcards, letters, plus the burning of a cross on their lawn, and the firing of a BB gun into their front window —since they moved into their home at 1749 W. 42nd street, April 1. The last warning note was placed on their front porch Monday, Sept. 8.

At the meeting with the authorities, Bailey pointed out that the police department has not been able to satisfy either the Bates family or the NAACP that they are doing everything possible to protect them.

Lt. Rombeau outlined what steps had been taken, as well as the difficulties faced by the police in rounding up the authors of the threats. He explained that in cautioning Mrs. Bates after the BB gun was fired that he had merely been advising her of her rights as well as the risks involved for her. He said that he had not intended to dissuade her from filing a suit, and again offered to assist her if she wished to bring charges.

County Must Issue Home Building Okay

The county of Los Angeles must issue a building permit to Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Sinclair for the construction of a home in Palos Verdes.

The order for the issuance of the permit was made by Superior Judge John Gee Clark who granted a writ of mandate which had been sought by the Sinclairs.

Testimony unfolded at the trial last June showed that the plans for the house had been approved by the Palos Verdes Art Jury as required by its articles of incorporation and that difficulties arose when city officials learned that the Sinclairs were Negroes.

When the plans were presented to County Engineer William Fox's office, as required by an agreement between the city and the county, no action was taken.

Repeated efforts to get county action failed and the suit was filed through Attorney Loren Miller, Sinclair's law partner. The suit charged the failure of the county to issue the permit was due to an effort to prevent Negroes from living in the exclusive coastal suburb. It is covered by race restrictions which are no longer enforceable.

Playground

was in full view of the other children playing outside, and that he simply couldn't understand why the little girl told the tale she did.

His account completely contradicted the story brought out at the preliminary hearing and previously told to police.

Child's Story

According to that account, the two children were left by their grandmother at the Compton playground, 53rd and Compton, Monday afternoon.

When she came back to call for them in the evening, she asked them casually whether they had had a good time. The girl said no, and was reluctant to say more.

The grandmother, concerned at the unusual behavior of the child, questioned her further, and then was told the following story.

The little girl said White called her into the playground office, at the same time sending her brother to a nearby store to exchange warm bottles of Coca-Colas for iced drinks. With the nine-year-old brother out of the way, the girl claimed that White began caressing her.

Dressed Hastily

When the brother returned, White reportedly sent him to another store, and then, according to the child, partially undressed her and also took off some of his own clothes. He assured her, "It wouldn't hurt," and made further advances.

From the little girl's story, and later from medical examination, it appeared that she had not been raped, but that she had probably been molested.

When the boy returned the second time, White reportedly hastily put on his clothes. The girl tried to dress herself.

The grandmother was alarmed at the child's frightened tale, and confronted White with the story. He denied that there was any truth in it. The grandmother, however, immediately reported the case to the police.

White is a graduate of Xavier University in New Orleans, and is well-known in playground work, in which he has been engaged here for a number of years. Thirty-four years old, he lives at 2650 Manhattan place.

Adlai Stand Held Best By NAACP

An extensive evaluation of the pesidential and vice-presidential candidates of both major parties was made by the NAACP in compliance with a resolution adopted by the Board of Directors at its regular monthly meeting on September 8.

The Association examined the platforms of the two major political parties and members of the Board and the staff interviewed both presidential candidates particularly with respect to civil rights.

"The NAACP is politically nonpartisan. But it has a responsibility to express its judgment and the Board in doing so operates under a mandate from the Annual Convention to obtain and place the facts before the public and especially its own membership," the report said.

"The most forthright position taken by any of the presidential and vice-presidential candidates of the two major political parties has been that of Governor Adlai E. Stevenson who has made clear his support of efforts to abolish the filibuster through amendment of Senate Rule 22, his support for FEPC with enforcement provisions, and other necessary steps to abolish racial and religious discrimination. We commend the clarity and courage of his pronouncements.

"We are impressed by General Eisenhower's sincerity in his pronouncements against segregation and discrimination and we commend his forthright statements on the abolition of segregation in the nation's capital, in the Armed Forces and his concern for equal employment opportunities for all. We regret, however, his failure to support an effective federal FEPC with enforcement provisions, and to make clear his position on an amendment to Senate Rule No. 22 to abolish the filibuster.

"On the question of civil rights both vice-presidential candidates Senator John J. Sparkman and Senator Richard M. Nixon, have unsatisfactory records.

"We can only view with grave concern their presence on the major political party tickets, where in the event of the death of the president, one of them would become the Chief Executive of the nation."

'Go to Polls' Drive Planned

The local chapter of the American Council on Human Rights will launch a "Go To The Polls" drive in October, according to President Lucille Bonnett. She explained that the drive is a sequel to the Council's successful vote registration campaign.

The campaign to get the voters to the polls was decided on after the Council heard Attorney Loren Miller describe progress and problems in the fields of transportation, housing, education and employment at its regular meeting last Thursday.

Mrs. Emily Woody, representative of Delta Sigma Theta, was host to the council which includes representatives of fraternities and sororities.

Roach Honored By Study Club

Supervisor Leonard J. Roach, after receiving an honor scroll from the Woman's Political Study Club, for his contribution to minorities, at the First Baptist Church of Central Avenue Gardens last Sunday, announced that he was interested in appointing qualified Negroes to the now all-white county fire department.

"I have always been a firm believer in merit and qualification regardless of a person's race, color or religion. If Negroes desire representation in the county fire department and they qualify for it, they should have it. Along with appointments of other groups, this is among the firsts on my list to be considered as soon as opportunity permits," he said.

Supervisor Roach was presented a scroll signed by Mrs. Catherine Mitchem, executive secretary; Mrs. Doris Pennland, resolution secretary; and Mrs. Vassie D. Wright, state secretary.

Al Trice Case Is Re-Scheduled

Arraignment of Alfred F. (Al) Trice on four counts of possession and sale of narcotics was postponed on Monday of this week, and was re-set for Sept. 18.

Federal Judge James Carter, before whom the well-known liquor dealer and sportsman was to appear, was out of town when the case was scheduled to come up.

Paul Williams' Divorce Rumor 'Utterly False'

The Paul R. Williams' are definitely not headed for the divorce court. This was made clear today in a statement issued by the prominent architect through his attorney, David W. Williams.

"The recent widespread circulation of the rumor that Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Williams are contemplating a separation that will eventually lead to the filing of a divorce suit by Mrs. Williams to terminate their marriage is utterly false and not based upon a shred of truth," the attorney stated.

"Like many people who have gained prominence, the Williams' have found themselves the victime of idle gossipers who have a keen ability to cause embarrassment and unrest where calm prevails. This may be the toll demanded of one in high public station and as usual in such instances, the humiliation visits itself most heavily upon the wife.

"However, I can assure you that after many years of happy marriage and after guiding two lovely daughters to adulthood, the Williams are extremely happy and have no divorce or separation plans whatsoever."

Where law ends, tyranny begins.—William Pitt.

San Francisco's Public Housing Policies Hit

SAN FRANCISCO—San Francisco's Housing Authority must appear in Superior Judge Melvyn Cronin's court Monday morning, September 22, to show cause why it should not be required to discontinue its policy of segregating all Negroes in one of its six permanent housing projects.

The order was issued when attorneys representing applicants for admission to the newly constructed North Beach project sought a writ of mandate compelling the Authority to cease what they called its discriminatory rule. Listed as attorneys for the applicants are Terry Francois of San Francisco; Loren Miller of Los Angeles and Nathaniel Colley of Sacramento, of the NAACP regional legal staff.

Backed by the NAACP, the petitioners charge that the segregation policy violates both state and federal constitutions and the public policy of California.

San Francisco follows what it calls a "pattern of the community" policy in tenant selection for its permanent low rent projects located in what are called "white communities."

"This suit is an attempt on our part to call a halt to residential segregation imposed by housing authorities in California," Franklin Williams, NAACP regional director, said. He pointed out that some cities, notably San Bernardino and Los Angeles, follow a non-discribinatory and non-segregatory policy and pooh-poohed claims of the San Francisco authority that the ending of segregation would kill public housing in that city.

Federal Aid For Jim Crow Housing Hit

WASHINGTON—Twelve Negro families of Savannah, Ga., whose homes are to be demolished to make way for a federally aided low-rent public housing project, this week asked a federal court here to order government funds withheld from the project, from which they will be excluded solely because of their race.

Attorneys for the NAACP filed suit on September 8 on behalf of the families, seeking to enjoin the Housing and Home Finance Agency; the administrator of the agency, Raymond M. Foley; the Public Housing Administration and the Commissioner of the Public Housing Administration from giving federal financial assistance to the Savannah Housing Authority for the new project.

Deal With Dixiecrats

When General Eisenhower spoke in Atlanta a couple of week ago, Gov. Herman Talmadge was on the platform at his side. Wesley Dobbs, vice-chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, was standing in the crowd trying to shield himself from the sun by holding a white handkerchief over his head. Wesley Dobbs is a Negro.

Perhaps the matter just slipped his mind but in any event the General didn't say a mumbling word about race relations or civil rights during his Atlanta speech. He didn't say anything about Wesley Dobbs, either, although Dobbs was one of the Georgians who had helped fight the battle against the Taft slate from that state. The seating of the Eisenhower Georgia delegation was one of the turning points in the General's battle for the GOP nomination.

Eisenhower's capitulation to the Talmadge Democrats in Georgia is cut from the same pattern as his kowtowing to Sen. Robert A. Taft in New York last week. It is apparent that ambition has overwhelmed the General and that he is determined to do anything that he thinks will get his foot in at the White House come next January.

This transparent desertion of the liberal elements in the Republican Party has already led Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon to announce that he is going to spend his time between now and November in attending to his private affairs. He won't campaign for Ike. His example was gone one better by the vice-chairman of the Oregon Young Republicans who has openly gone over to the other side and is now campaigning for Adlai Stevenson.

The only thing that Eisenhower's Negro supporters have found to say in his behalf thus far is that he is "honest and sincere" and that his intentions are good. As for us we're glad to know about the General's good intentions but we can't resist recalling the old adage to the effect that the road to hell is paved with the same kind of motives.

The truth is that Eisenhower's deal with the Old Guard casts doubt on the oft-repeated assertion of his sincerity in respect to race relations. He may be naive but we believe that even the General knows that the Old Guard of his party has been playing footsie with the Dixiecrats for more than eight years. These Old Guardsmen will continue to do that in the unlikely event of Eisenhower's election and, of course, that means that all civil rights legislation will be jettisoned.

While Eisenhower has been retreating, Adlai Stevenson has been swinging ever closer to the Truman position on civil rights. He has come out for an FEPC of the Humphreys-Ives type and he has not been bashful in stating his position on other civil rights issues.

If the two candidates continue to pursue their present courses, Eisenhower won't have a handful of Negro supporters left by November 4.

More Changes Needed

While the defeat of Rep. John Rankin does not mark the beginning of the millenium in Mississippi it is significant as an indication of the way things are going down in Darkest Dixie.

Rankin was the last of the loud-mouthed race baiters who won their way to Congress by peddling prejudice against Negroes. Some of their names are half forgotten now but their ranks included Cole Blease, Tom Heflin, James Vardaman and the unspeakable Theodore Bilbo. Their political strength lay in their ability to stir up racial hatred among illiterate hillbillies and backwoodsmen in their native states.

But while these men got to Congress through the votes of the illiterate and uninformed, the fact remains that they were stooges of the special interests of their states. Behind the smoke screen of the racism they ran errands for big agricultural, big steel, big coal, big lumber, and big textile concerns—in short, for the very people who had most to gain from keeping poor Negroes and poor whites at each other's throats. In many instances their campaign funds come from Northern industrialists who made money by fishing in the troubled waters of Dixie's racial relations.

In the final analysis Rankin and his loud-mouthed predecessors came to grief because the behind-the-scenes manipulators of Dixie politics decided that these men had lost their value. They no longer served their purpose. They have been replaced by other softer-spoken Southerners who are just as bitterly opposed to FEPC and other civil rights measures and who can be counted upon to exhibit equal zeal in favor of anti-labor bills and legislation to put the burden of taxation on the poor. These are the Georges, the Byrds, the Smathers, the Byrnes.

The South won't be free until it makes more fundamental changes in its Senators and Representatives.

Ten Short Years

Ten short years ago Negroes were still barred from organized baseball. Those who were trying to keep them out were shouting at the top of their lungs that the appearance of a Negro player in the big leagues would lead to player strikes, race riots and other assorted catastrophies.

Today, Negro players are the mainstays of the Cleveland Indians, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants, three of the four top contenders for places in the World Series.

Admission of Negroes to the big leagues didn't lead to anything at all except a better brand of baseball for the fans. Today, Negroes are even playing for Southern cities where Jim Crow is a rigid rule and there have been no disturbances of any kind.

What it all adds up to in our opinion is that most Americans want to play fair, in industry as well as in sports, and that the abolition of race and color lines in employment would bring the same good results that have occurred in organized baseball.

Lay Away a Dollar

The Community Chest campaign is getting under way and we think that it's time to remind our readers that Los Angeles still needs the services that are made possible through Chest contributions.

Most of us who live in this community can't afford large gifts but all of us can give something and the Chest either succeeds or fails on the basis of what the small givers contribute.

Why not take a look at your budget now and make up your mind what you can afford to give to your friends and neighbors through the Community Chest? You might even try a lay-away plan of your own and put your gift to one side so that you will have it ready when the Cheat solicitor comes to your door.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

Tullahoma, Tenn., Pasco, Wash., Morrisville, Pa., Aiken, S. C., Paducah, Ky., Oak Ridge, Tenn., Portsmouth, Ohio — who would have ever guessed 10 years ago that small cities and rural communities such as these scattered across the face of the United States would occupy such a significant place in the shaping of race relations today. And these are only a few of the defense communities that can be named, where racial patterns are in process of construction that will last for decades to come.

Take Tullahoma, for example—it is a typical Tennessee small town. Its population a year ago was less than 8,000, with the colored population about 10% of the whole. Today, Tullahoma's population has already jumped 2,000—more growth than the town has known in the past 20 years. But this is only a start. Defense planning authorities estimate that by 1955, Tullahoma's residents will number at least 16,000, and by 1965, 35,000.

The same for Bucks County, Pennsylvania, in which Morrisville is located—just across the river from Trenton, N. J. Here is a farming area, sparsely settled, the population of which is expected to reach more than 100,000 within the next five or six years. Pasco, Wash., a few years ago was a rural hamlet hidden in a valley up in the state of Washington of which few people had heard, and about which even fewer cared a fig. Today, Pasco is big news because it is a center for atomic energy production.

Negro in Middle

Atomic energy, steel production, manufacture of munitions, of aircraft, of chemicals—these are all part of the gigantic defense industry which once more is booming in new parts of the country and spawning tremendous social problems as it booms. One of those social problems involves the question of what to do about Negro Americans.

It is more than a question of whether Negro Americans will get jobs. Before that question is answered another is posed: Where shall these dark-skinned workers live? Of what use is it to establish "fair employment practice" in a defense industry if Negro workers cannot find housing within 30 miles of the plant? What is the government going to do about the policies of builders such as Levitt of notorious Levittown, who is building "For White Only" homes in Bucks County, Pennsylvania? Will Sol Levitt and others of his ilk building defense housing be allowed to exploit a defense industry situation without accepting any responsibility for Negro housing? Will the government move in actively and use its considerable influence to see that fair housing is made a part of fair employment practices? Or will it stand to one side and claim no responsibility as it has done in the past?

These are questions that are being asked with increasing urgency as the dispersion of defense industry is carried out on a broader and broader scale. The questions will have to be answered speedily and the correct answers must be given if we are not to make a bad employment-housing situation even worse.

Dangerous Mistake

It is an easy, but a most dangerous mistake to assume that progress once made on racial problems is guaranteed to be safe or to be extended still further. Negroes have moved into cities and gotten industrial employment. Now industry is moving away from cities and can leave Negroes stranded behind, tied up in the less rewarding opportunities of decaying industrial centers.

Negro workers have rushed North in the past 20 years to get larger opportunities in industry. Industry has been rushing South during that same period to find cheaper labor, cheaper power and lower taxes. Unless we keep alert to what is happening in the whole industrial picture and gear our racial strategy so as to handle new problems as they arise, using new techniques as these are required, we can find that the "progress" we have made is only the empty husk and that the rich meat has gotten away from us.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

In all the excitement of the political campaign which got under way in earnest this month, a very significant item about the running fight on Jim Crow education received less attention than it deserved.

The Board of Education of Baltimore, Md., has voted to admit 10 Negro students to the city's Polytechnic Institute, hitherto lily-white. Polytechnic is designed for students with special aptitude for engineering and is geared to send them along an accelerated course. Only exceptional students able to take the special courses in stride are admitted. Sixteen Negro boys applied, but only 10 were found to meet the stiff qualifications. The school board was then faced with the question of what to do with the 10.

Important Victory

It was suggested by some persons that the necessary equipment be set up in a Negro high school and that exactly the same instruction be offered the Negro boys — but separately from whites. However, the cost of this duplication was not a small amount and besides, a professor testified that even if the facilities were equal, it was doubtful that the education would be equal. So the school board did the sensible thing: it voted to admit the colored lads to the existing school.

This is an important victory in more ways than the one of opening up opportunity to 10 Negro boys, important as that is. Our country is crying for engineers of every description. Each graduate of an engineering school is snapped up by companies even before he has received his diploma, and still we have shortages.

So the Baltimore act was one of patriotism as well as of fair play. It was a shining illustration of how every community and every company should act to utilize to the fullest our manpower potential as a nation. Just as we could not win the hot war with 10 per cent of our population being shoved to one side, so we cannot win the cold war by discriminating against dark Americans.

One More Nail

But above all this, the Baltimore incident is one more nail in the coffin of Jim Crow education. Every victory drives home the point a little further that segregation in education is foolish, expensive, and unfair. Since the denial of proper education has been one of the greatest handicaps suffered by Negroes, each advance brings us nearer to the place where we can compete on equal terms with other Americans and contribute our skills to the common advancement of the nation.

Since 1950 the presence of Negro students in white Southern universities has become a commonplace and no one any longer remarks upon it. The other day the University of Texas dental college accepted the application of two Negro students. The Supreme Court of Delaware has just affirmed the judgment of a lower court that Negro pupils must be admitted to schools near Wilmington because the Negro schools are markedly inferior.

Cairo, Ill., schools have issued transfers this fall to many Negro students so they can attend schools nearest their homes instead of the Jim Crow schools in which they were formerly enrolled. The Arizona story is well known in which several communities, including the city of Tucson, immediately abolished segregation as soon as the mandatory state law was repealed.

A Better Break

All this means that our youngsters are getting a better break toward equality in education, and that white America is getting an education in non-segregated schools. Whites are discovering that the skies do not fall when Negroes and whites go to school together, and that the arrangement is a lot easier on the taxpayers.

The big act in this dramatic fight against segregation in education will come on October 14 when NAACP lawyers argue two cases in the United States Supreme Court, one from South Carolina and one from Kansas. The decision may go a long way toward abolishing Jim Crow schools throughout the country, even if it does not wipe them out at one fell swoop. Keep your eyes peeled on this drama next month. It could open up vast new fields of opportunity for our youth as well as wipe out what is perhaps America's greatest sin against its colored citizens.

The Eagle is glad to publish your letters. Say anything you want to say, whether it is critical of our policies or in approval of them. We'll print what you have to say if you will keep your letters as short as you can. And you'll help us if you'll type your letters. If you can't type them, please write legibly on one side of the paper. Thanks.

WHO, US?

Dear Sir:

A recent issue of the California Eagle reports that murder charges against Jerry Newsom, Oakland Negro, have been dismissed and views it as a victory over Jim Crow justice. I agfee.

But nowhere in the story is mention made of the fact that Newsome was defended through those three racist trials by the Civil Rights Congress, an organization the Eagle does not approve of.

In fact, as I recall, the Eagle has ignored the Newsom issue ever since Mrs. Charlotta Bass relinquished control of that paper.

And speaking of Mrs. Bass, Negro woman candidate for vice-president of the U. S. and one-thousand-percent for FEPC and Negro rights in general, in the same copy mentioned above the Eagle apologizes for vice-presidential candidate John Sparkman, dixiecrat, racist, anti-laborite (check his voting record) and champion of repressive legislation generally. The Eagle, it so happens, is pro-administration.

At the same time the Eagle is making a great to-do about what a mistake the 1946 California FEPC ballot campaign was.

For the edification of the Eagle an FEPC campaign is NEVER a mistake.

As evidence, the Eagle points out the vicious propaganda that flooded the state. Vicious propaganda ALWAYS floods the state when a progressive campaign is on, as witness the recent one on "socialistic housing."

The Eagle isn't even correct in hindsight. Perhaps that is where the Eagle's brains are.

Here is the Eagle's chance to red-bait the h--- out of Mrs. Bass and me.

DISCRIMINATION

Dear Sir:

There is a nice young couple down the street. Intelligent, hard-working young people who keep their house and yard nice and would be a welcome addition to any block. They just had a baby, and being a little crowded, this being the second, they went looking for a bigger dwelling last month. A realtor gave them a list of vacancies that would accept children and several were nice and within their price range. They were refused the rentals at one place after another and after several incidents of transparent excuses and rudeness gave up and decided to sacrifice comfort for friendliness, where they are.

Many of us have felt the helpless frustration of being turned down for "personal reasons," in other words, race. Yet this was a Negro husband and father seeking a home from Negro landlords! He was being turned down because his wife was white.

Prejudice breeds prejudice regardless of which side it's on. And isn't it rediculous for any colored person to "disapprove" the rapidly increasing mixed marriages. There are few of us, indeed, who do not have at least one white ancestor. If this weren't true we'd all be black instead of tan, beige, light brown, medium brown, and so on thru the color chart. And so few of these past unions were blessed by marriage, with many of them being of such brief duration that the name of that "white ancestor" was never obtained. That is our racial past and we can't help it. But we don't have to make it our future!

These marriages should be given our every help and encouragement.

There will always be love and as a result, babies. Certainly a generation who has received the guidance and love of two respected parents is preferable to a group who grow up without knowing a mother or a father and who suffer emotionally and financially because of it. Maybe some of us need to do a little self examination before we start yelling "Prejudice."

E. J. S.

AIDING JIM CROW?

Is not The United Negro College Fund an admission of racial inadequacy? We must be realistic, but we must also be consistent. Sometimes I have the feeling that many of our Negro leaders, educators and politicians (and ministers) abet the forces of segregation for the sake of being big fish in small pools.

Negro colleges have undoubtedly done a good job and have served with distinction down through the years. But has not the time now come for them to stand as monuments of preparedness for the equality about which we talk so much? Most of these colleges are sponsored by churches or other special interest, and it appears that the responsibility for their individual maintenance should rest with those interests. Several hundreds of non-Negro colleges throughout the country manage to keep their doors open without a concerted national drive for their support.

If some of Los Angeles' proud owners of Cadillacs, fashionable and superficial society, and "wealthy" would like to give toward endowments, fellowships and research at some of our needy Negro colleges we can avoid asking the "great white father" for a handout.

OLYMPIC HEROES HONORED

SAN FRANCISCO—The greatest galaxy of California Olympic Games heroes ever assembled here were honored by this city Monday. . . . Among the group were Stanford's fabulous Bob Mathias, SF's own Ollie Matson, UCLA's George Brown, Ed Sanders, Charlie Adkins, Louis Gage, and Bill Miller of the Marines.

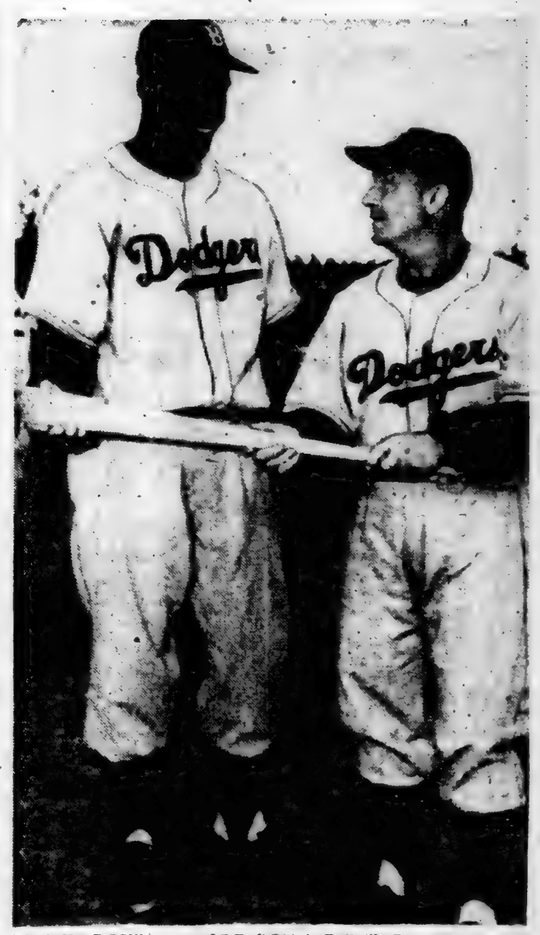
PLAINFIELD MAY SCORE

The city of Plainfield, N. J. may become as equal as famous as Tulare, Calif. for athletic greats, if the Dodger's flinging, fireman Joe Black is named player of year, or rookie of the year, in the National loop. . . . The city already boast of the Olympic games second place decathlon winner Leroy Campbell. Jimmy Gilliam stellar second baseman voted the "Most Valuable" in the International Loop this year, is reported to be the lad that might just chase the incomparable Jackie Robinson right off second, once he moves up to the Dodgers. . . . Eddie Macon, brilliant COP halfback, now with the Chicago Bears, is rated by headman George Halas as the fastest man on the squad. . . . Eddie, who all but made the Olympic 400-meters team, is slated to go both ways. . . . Jim Powell, ex-LA Poly high hoopster, according to reports, has signed to play with the Harlem Clowns. . . . Powell holds a gob of high school records in L. A., and his feats, while leading LACC to the National JC crown in '50 are virtually known from coast to coast.

BAY AREA NOTES—

Sam Dawson, all-county back from Pittsburg, Calif., guard Jim Johnson and Qb. Elmo Bradley are three standout performers for West Contra Costa JC. . . . When Pappy Waldorf named his first string defensive unit this week, Thelton Henderson, an all-city halfback for Mike Marienthal at L. A. Jeff High in '50, held down the safety post.

NATION'S COLLEGE GRID



Eddie Bell, rated the almost letter perfect end and captain Bob Evans a tackle, and the first of the race to ever captain a Pennsylvania U team, are expected to prove big wheels for Penn. . . . Avatus Stone is counted on to be the Syracuse eleven's top signal caller. . . . Temple is banking on Tex Robinson, heralded the best running back since Andy Tomasic. . . . Jim Golliday, NCAA sprint king, rated a better footballer than a trackster, will be bidding for a halfback job at Northwestern. Leroy Bolden is regarded as a strong contender for the tailback slot at Michigan State. . . . John Henry Johnson, acclaimed as one of northern California's all-time stars, should prove to be the best back on the Arizona State squad. . . . Joe Switzer, second team All-American for Kansas State last year is rated the pride of the squad. He'll run from the fullback slot this campaign. . . . The above is a run down on some of the sepia athletes that should win gridiron fame around the nation this season. As of now this 25 and five.

"Ease the tension with BEECH-NUT GUM!"

says MONTE IRVIN

"I've read that scientists at a leading university have proved that chewing Beech-Nut eases tension. Every ball player knows how true that is. Most fellows I know chew through nine innings! In fact, I've noticed that any kind of a job—including snagging long flies—calls for Beech-Nut Gum to ease the tension."

"P.O.Y. BOY" . . . JOE "Chief Relief" BLACK, having "saved" over a half hundred games for the bounding Brooklyn Dodgers, being briefed on the finer 'plate' points by Manager Chuck Dressen. Black is an outstanding candidate for "rookie player of the year" honors. Having compiled a record of 14 victories and 3 losses, 'Jovial' Joe, in being selected, will follow in the footsteps of Robinson, '47; Newcombe, '49; Jethroe, '50, and Mays, '51; making it four out of five.

Cosmopolitan Golf Title To Weathersby and Riley

Thorne Weathersby, Cosmo low-handicapper, and Dorcus Riley, one of the higher handicapped Vernondale players teamed together perfectly to score a net 65 and win the Cosmopolitan Scotch Foursomes event held last Saturday at the Los Serranos club in Chino. Most remarkable feature of the winners' victory was their 35 scored on the back nine while playing alternate shots, the method of play employed in this type of tournament.

A three-way tie for second, third and fourth place trophies necessitated a sudden death playoff which was decided on the very first hole when former national champ Thelma Cowans ran down a twelve foot putt to wrap up second spot for herself and partner Oscar Clisby. Alex Peoples and Lionel Kelley salvaged third place with Cullen Fentress and Leroy Jennings took home the fourth place cups. Miss Cowans and Clisby had the lowest gross score, a 77. Just outside the money with net 72s were the teams of Dr. Walter Hines and Anise Clark, Chester Carson and Pep Jordan, and Cadence Hines and Lonnie Eberhart.

Trophies were presented the victors by Cosmo prexy Don Walker at a barbecue dinner held in the club patio fololwing the tournament. Tournament chairman Theophilus Smith announced the Paramount club of San Diego's annual tourney set for Friday, October 10. Entry fee has been set at $5.00 and must be mailed by Emmett Williams, tournament director at 129 N. 27th St., San Diego 2, Calif. At this tournament completion of the formation of the Pacific Coast Golf Association, composed of all men's golf clubs in the west, will be made at a general meeting following the tourney. Clubs from Seattle, Portland, Los Angeles, Oakland, Phoenix and San Diego will be represented.

JEFF COACH VIEWS 90 GRID CANDIDATES IN FIRST CALL

Last Monday the hard work started for 90 some odd football candidates that reported to Jeff's coach Mike Marienthal. Rebuilding a team that will correspond with last years great eleven is an almost impossible task but Marienthal and company are not discouraged. They are working terribly hard and long. Every position is wide open to the most desirous and determined boy. "We'll field a team," says Marienthal, "but whether they will score, beat any body, or win a few games is still the big question depending on the fight, enthusiasm, and self-sacrifice of our young, inexperienced players."

The spirit and cooperation of the '52 squad is good and most of the players feel that with Coach Mike's offense, defense and driving they can repeat last years fine performances. Replacing boys like Jerry Drew, Rommie Loudd, James Cary, Henry Webb, Gordon Chappell, Alfred Burruss, Tom Davis, Exter Wilkerson, Charles Hammond, James Lawson, Joe McKnight, Jesse Skaggs and James Smith is a tough job but not an impossible one. The Jeff boys have got that winning spirit now and they want very badly to keep it. They realize that anything so self satisfying as playing machine-like winning football is well worth working hard for.

Probably at next weeks' writing we will have a complete roster of the boys and their standing in the battle for the starting eleven. We believe this is going to be another Jefferson team the community can be well proud of.

Detroit Cops Baseball Title

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio—Detroit Dossin's Pepsi-Cola won the annual National Amateur Baseball Federation Tournament.

Don Bryant hurled three-hit ball to give his team a 4-1 victory over Royal Oak, Michigan.

Embrel Davidson, 209 scored a seventh round tko victory over Bob Johnson, 195, in Detroit last Saturday.

ADDISON HAWTHORNE joined the impressive injury list of Coach Jess Hill's Trojans. X-rays of his leg, banged up in practice, showed no worse than a bruise. "He'll be practicing again in two weeks, and definitely will see action," so says Jess Hill.

Pro Grid Scores

The Green Bay Packers two field goals one for 17 yards and another for 42 proved the margin of victory as they defeated Washington Redskins 13 to 7.

Philadelphia Eagles made the L. A. Rams look like everything but a championship football by soundly thrashing the L. A. club 35-14.

Whizzer White led the Chicago Bears to a neat 17 to 7 win over the New York Giants. White raced back a punt for 15 yards and lateraled to teammate Don Kindt for the first score, he took a pass from Bob Williams and scampered 47 yards for another and kicked a 22-yard field in the last period.

Army Invites TV, Radio Trainees

NINTH ANNUAL TEXHOMA GRID CLASSIC LOOMS A THRILLER

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 17 — The ninth annual Texhoma Football Classic scheduled for October 11, at Dal-Hi Stadium and featuring the Langston University Lions of Langston, Oklahoma, and the Texas College Steers of Tyler, Texas, shapes up as one of the most bitterly fought contests in the history of athletic relations between the long time rivals who have me annually since 1932. However, the name, "Texhoma," was given this traditional grid highlight in 1944 when the game ceased to be a home and home affair and was transferred to Farrington Field in Fort Worth, Texas. After playing six years at Fort Worth, the popular grid attraction was transplanted to Dallas, Texas, where it has taken a firm hold on its new setting as one of the premiere fall attractions of its kind.

The All-Time Record

Since 1932, when these rivals first met, Texas College has won 10 and Langston has won 9 while one contest (1947) ended in a 6-all tie. Oddly enough, when these two elevens ceased playing on a home-and-home basis, the count in games won was even-steven at 6-all. As the Texhoma Classic, Texas holds the edge by a single game margin having won 4 to Langston's 3 while one game has ended as a 6-6 draw.

BEAUTIES IN COTILLION BALL—Eighteen girls whose families represent prominence in the community will waltz and whirl at the Cotillion Ball to be presented by the Links on Oct. 20 at Ciro's. Upper picture reveals Camille Roane, Ray Tate, Lestrita Nicholas, Armalita Nicholas, Barbara Weaver and Cecilia Kenee thinking over possible routines. Links Present Huge Invitational Cotillion Formal At Club Ciro's

By MIRIAM CHRISTIAN

Bright lights will flare up and gay waltz-time music will strike up for 18 beautiful girls who will dance at the Cotillion Ball on Oct. 20 at Ciro's nightclub on Sunset Strip.

The huge charity ball, sponsored by the Los Angeles chapter of Links, will be given to benefit the National Association for Advancement of Colored People with a lifetime club membership.

Only 400 invitations have been mailed by the outstanding organization which is developing plans to create something distinct in smart socials and formals. The girls selected represent the most prominent families of the community and will be trained to perform intricate waltz routines by Mable Bishop under supervision of Gwendolyn Simmons.

The beauties have been selected from an age group of 16 to 21 for this year's ball. Next year's group will be of 19 to 21 years of age.

The Cotillion itself is an old French dance originated by country peasants to celebrate gay occasions. It caught the fancy of the Parisian aristocrats who danced the waltz at huge balls.

It swept the United States social world in the early 1900s and was danced in a series of round dances interspersed with lively and fancy turns. Partners often exchanged ornate tokens while the dance was in session.

Music, which is vital to the cotillion, will be played by Sammy Davis and his full piece orchestra who have already begun special musical arrangements.

Mrs. Juanita Miller and Dr. Vada Somerville will plan a program in which well known artists will appear. Final plans were made by the Links at an installation of officers held in the home of Dr. Vada Somerville. Mrs. Reba Butler served as hostess.

Officers installed were Margery McPherson, president; Miriam Mathews, first vice president; Della Williams, second vice president; Irene Morris recording secretary; Ellen Garrott, corresponding secretary; Ursula Murrell, financial secretary; Willabee Johns, treasurer; and Juanita Miller, parliamentarian.

Dr. Vada Somerville, outgoing president, received expressions of gratitute for her outstanding services during presidential reign.

Other members are Hortense Graham, Josephine Smith, Syndetta Smith, Cornelia Bradford, Alice Harvey, Ruby Smith, transfer from Chicago chapter; Rosemary Holloman, Reba Butler, Gwendolyn Simmons and Hilda Allen, now on vacation.

Cotillion dancers were selected by each member of the Links. They are Armalita Nicholas, Barbara Weaver, Cecelia Renee, Camille Roane, Ray Tate, Lestrita Nicholas, Jayda Garland, Shirley Johnston, Gloria Taylor, Arline Provost, Joanne Orange, Richmona Dunn, Ann Bradford, Barbara Hale, Mary Anne Bowman, Barbara Grant, Susie Moose and Barbara Garrott.

Jack-Jill Club Opens Season

The Jack and Jill Club opened its season's activity by taking active part in the 17 Magazine contest, "Dolls for Xmas." The contest was entered by 15 "Jills" from the 11-13 and 14-17 age groups.

Under the instruction of Mrs. Irma Younger the Jills worked each Tuesday afternoon in August and produced by September 10, 22 most spectacular dolls.

All of the dolls were started from a free kit presented to the girls by the Broadway Dept. Stores. In the kit was a size 12 man's white cotton sock and a painted rubber doll's face with instructions

The dolls had to be made under one of three groups, "Baby Dolls," "Fashion Dolls" and "Character Dolls."

The girls placed their dolls on display for the press and their parents last Wednesday. Dolls shown were: "A Baby Doll," cradle and all, by Arlene Provost; "The Tiny Toddler" by Sandra Haskins; "Fashions of the Evening" by Lynn Shifflett, Inez Wilkins, Florence Ellen Atkinson and Mrs. Betty Howard; "Lounging Pajamas" and "Street Fashions" by Janice Johnson, Nedra Jackson and Georgette Murrell and Sandra Speights.

Characters were prominent among the dolls. They included "Miss Muffett" by Alice Cornelia Roberson and "Sleeping Beauty" by Maymie Watkins.

Comic dolls were displayed by Brenda Wright and Phillipa Fernandes.

The most unique collection of characters was presented by Malva Webb. It was called "From the Past to the Present in Negro History." Dolls were painted to portray such famed persons as Harriet Tubman, George Washington Carver and Marian Anderson.

St. Philip's Scene of Phillips-Hill Nuptials

Miss Alma E. Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Phillips, prominent residents of San Gabriel, Calif. and William Chester Hill, son of Mrs. Fannie Hippard, native son of Los Angeles, were married at St. Philip's Episcopal church, by Father Alfred Norman recently.

The reception was held at the 5th Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Miller, very close friends of the family. Approximately 500 friends of the newly weds were on hand to wish them happiness.

The bride wore lace and tulle over satin. Her dress contained 35 yards of material and had a long graceful train. The bride's mother created and designed the stunning dress. Matron of Honor, Mrs. Vernon Thompson, wore a yellow moire gown and the bride's maids wore green moire gowns.

Their hats were made and designed by the bride. Floral decorations were handled by The Sayo's Florist. The men were dressed in afternoon attire of gamble stripes and cutaways.

Her wedding party consisted of bridesmaids: Mrs. Lillian Wilson, Mrs. Loretta Hanley, Miss Odella Bartlett, Miss Yvonne Mackey, Miss Betty Brown and Mrs. Arleigh Woods.

Wallace M. DeCuir was best man. The ushers were Leonard Beavers, Frank Pickard, William Land, Jr., James Wilson, Roy C. Hill Jr. and Melvin Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill spent their honeymoon on the Island of Catalina and have returned to their Edgehill Drive home.

ELATED PAIR—Lace and tulle over satin were the bridal materials selected by Miss Alma E. Phillips when she became the bride of William Chester Hill at St. Philips Episcopal church in formal nuptials officiated by Rev. Alfred Norman recently.

Breakfast Club Meets Politicos

The bi-monthly meeting of the Womens Sunday Morning Breakfast Club at the home of club president, Theresa Lindsey, was greatly enlivened by a panel discussion.

From a range of questions submitted by the club members, prominent Democrats and Republicans gave lively rebuttal and enlightening answers.

Sitting in on the Democrat side of the table were Assemblyman Gus Hawkins and Atty. Phyllis Ziffren. The Republican viewpoint was expounded by Atty. Jack Hardy and recent candidate for public office Leon Giles.

LOVELY DOLLS COMPETE NATIONALLY—Beautiful dolls displayed above will be entered in a national contest by their creators, the Jack and Jill Club of Los Angeles, in which 15 Jills of two age groups participated. Under instruction of Mrs. Irma Younger, the members worked each week in August to complete spectacular dolls. Centered around the master pieces are Janice Johnson, Nedra Jackson, Arlene Provost, Sandra Haskins, Mrs. Younger, Mrs. Helen Hamilton, president; Mrs. Charlene Johnson, activity chairman; Lynn Shifflett, Inez Wilkins, Florence Ellen Atkinson and Sandra Speights.

Mrs. Bowman's three bridesmaids who attended her in Seattle also assisted her at the reception. Two are close friends, Loretta P. Mathews and Marion Helenkamp who visited Los Angeles especially for the event. The third, Joanne Squires, is a cousin and resident here.

The spacious Murrell home was decorated throughout with floral color schemes which were the same as accented in the bridemaids' printed flower organdy ballerina length gowns. Pink was predominatedly carried out in dahlias and gladioli.

Guests were served on the back lawn where the same colors in various floral arrangements blended. A long table draped with lace held huge punch bowls of champagne which was served to the large attendance.

Guests were received at the door by Mrs. Albert Bowman and registered by Mrs. Darrow Lewis. They were introduced to the newlyweds by Mrs. Cecil Murrell and Mrs. Gerald Barnum. Mrs. Ricci Byrd directed guests to refreshments.

Melvin Mansfield and Barbara Stovall, chauffered by Al Lover, surprised the gossip minded when they took leave from Angel land presumably to get hitched. Everybody's confused over "Mr. Third Party's" presence. If rumors can be taken seriously, he too had a good reason for leaving . . .

Met Wisconsin's answer to Hollywood's Marjorie Main in the form of Barbara Jean McNeer. She's student-izing on the Westwood campus . . . .

Heard that Ted Schaeffer and Julius Boyd took the count of ten at a wild beach party Saturday night. Meaning, when last seen they were both flat on their backs due to stalking "spirits" . . . Wonder what caused a certain LA homely to become re-interested in a past beau all of a sudden? Could it be that jealousy overcame her because of his growing popularity among her good friends and contemporaries? . . .

Popular Anna King and Larry Johnson announced their intentions to wed Sunday at her birthday party. Ken and Gloria Hill, Uly Griggs and Charlene Derrick, Reggie Boyd and Connie Hatten, Larry Green, Maurice Johnson, Artis Saunders, David Reed, Janice Williams, Floyd Wilson and Alberta Henderson, Homer Williams, Cozy Eubanks and Clay Moore, Billy Benefield and Uly Ware were some of the partying kind.

Saw Walter Smith with a typically Jane Russell-ized pretty, the other eve. He sure picks 'em for their finer points "O la la!" Also ran into Betty Norman who just returned to greater LA Sunday from Detroit. . . .

Saw Barbara Grant and her sparkling engagement ring. Looks like she and Dom Tompson mean tbusiness.

Now it can be told, the Scrollers "RED and WHITE" will be presented September twenty-seventh at the Chase Hotel in Santa Monica . . .

People Are Talking Aobut . . .

That sophisticated Femme who left town on the pretense of attending a northeastern college. We know for sure that she left to get rid of a few pounds acquired during the summer. (The nine months kind) . . .

. . . Sylvester Ringgold's domination of petite Ellen Baumann at last week's Q affair . . .

. . . The "Squares" sudden interest in Q cheerleader Jonnie May Powell . . .

. . . The loud mouth drunk that trid to break up Herman Cleyborne's party and was beaten to within an inch of his life. When last seen he was nursing a badly battered face inflicted upon him by "Ol Hummen" . . .

. . . The much awaited Tweedsmen's affair to be presented in the near future . . .

. . . The broken windows received when a well known, self styled playboy refused to adhere to the financial demands of his supposed to be fiance. To the boys, he refers to her as his "financee." . . .

Guy Blackburn, California sprinter, put five hundred miles between he and his best gal, Theresa Prelcau, when he journeyed back to his Berkeley campus . . . but he can rest assured that she'll be waiting the next time he returns . . .

Lynette Cobbs who is contemplating an "aisle walk" soon . . . Is This News?

Don Hamilton and Mildred Blackburn celebrated their year of "go with" a couple of weeks back . . .

Modupe Paris just returned from overseas duty in Japan to tell of his happy and unhappy times . . .

Corporal Earl Bently left for Germany last week . . .

Beverly Kirkwood is another about to change her last name. She plans to marry some lucky during this month . . .

Sandra Shields and Elaine Lindo left for Central State College last week and left behind a pair of sob ridden locals to drown in their tears . . .

Better change the lock on your door . . .

A certain scribe, of Pasadena fame, should let up on the cutting remarks long enough to check on his own home front where a "friend" is gently beating him out of his old lady.

Final Remarks . . . If you bite off more than you can chew, chew it.

Goombye.

When all is said and done, the basis for choosing an appropriate hairstyle boils down to—"What does she look like? What kind of face does she have?" There are five major contours to choose from. They are as types: oval, inverted triangle, round, long and square. So be careful.

Jeter claims he was on his way to tell police what had happened when a police car drew near and two officers sprang out and began firing at him. He fled, and was able to escape across the state border back into North Carolina, where he lived.

He later came to Los Angeles, married, and became an usher in the Cornerstone Baptist church.

Hines Band Smash Hit at Oasis

It's your own fault! That someone forgot to mention privacy in the Bill of Rights . . . That brings us down to this week's offensive odor.

HASTY RETREAT, was the reason that a high powered social publicist did the about-face act at her club's Saturday night meeting. Seems like this "all of me" chick was all set to give an exclusive to a rag that fights as hard for Negro rights as the L.A. Times.

Our society editor tells me her pages are news of real women and not phonies. I like that! It is high time many of our so-called big social wheels wake up and become human again. The plush club is set to fulfill a pledge of having their group become life members in the NAACP.

A thing they should have thought of long, long before a very brilliant woman had to remind them at their recent San Francisco convention. We doubt very much if this outstanding lady will care to have her name associated with the club after the disgraceful club meeting last week.

We excuse our Fifth street brothers and sisters because we say they don't know any better. What excuse are we going to give our upper bracket, who has been exposed to the so-called better things? Put the letters "ST" in the place of the L' in the club's name and you'll have a good idea of the odor of their Saturday night meeting.

DON'T BOTHER TO KNOCK! and that pretty gal that slid into that westside realtor's Cadillac when he was parked in the Red Hut Broiler lot with another gal didn't. In fact she let loose with some mighty heated words and just before the car-hop started up the motor she had him bleeding about the face where finger nails found their mark. The story goes that he was taking the car-hop's money and bringing it to her and he had been rather slow in coming up with the loot.

JOE (THE TAILOR) KING, is about to merge with an awful smooth brownskin that answers to the name of Sally O. Tucker and brother, Marilyn Monroe doesn't have a thing on her. Joe says he is marrying her in a few months.

JUICY, JUICY, and awfully spicy are the rumors flowing about the George and Camille Cannady divorce. This court room battle may be one of the city's most sensational as both have led a rather enticing life during some 10 years of wedded bliss.

D. OVERSTREET GRAY, dapper Vernon and Central avenue dentist, is recovering from a minor operation at his newly purchased Victoria street residence.

BIG MOVE, at least that unsightly bunch of gals that hangs out in front of the big front window at 54th and Central eating lunch are now combing their hair. Now all they have to do is remove those lunch bags from the back.

ROBERT THOMPSON, good looking 7-Up delivery salesman, is certainly making a lot of friends for the company. It was 97 degrees the other day and the customers milling around Al Trice's liquor store were treated to a really refreshing drink by Thompson. Now the peasants are reaching for 7-Up as a lift.

BARTLEY THOMPSON is a fellow of rare distinction having graduated from a San Francisco high school in 1924. He clerks at Leonard Senters and during his prep days collected more track

Dispute Balks Talent Quest

No decision had been reached at press time in the dispute between Club Oasis and AGVA over the use of performers in the proposed Earl Hines talent hunt at the night club.

The union wants the club to pay each participant in the contest $25. The club feels that the stipulation is ridiculous. Negotiations between the union and the club have failed completely.

Meanwhile several promising young local artists, who have filed applications to compete in the talent hunt, will have to stand by until some settlement is reached in the dispute.

At Club Oasis, the Hines aggregation is still appearing nightly in the regular jazz presentations. Dancing is also a part of the show bill at the popular South Western avenue nitery.

Rockets Head For Local Date

The Rockets, international famous dance team, are headed for Los Angeles, their home, after several seasons. The Rockets are Johnny, Baby Face, and Andy. They are slated for several local engagements before returning East. The famous team may get a featured spot in a major studio top musical which goes into production soon.

THEATRE

'Mr. B'. Basie, Shearing Pulling "Jazz" Fans to Shrine Tues. Nite

Billy Eckstine, Count Basie, and George Shearing, the combination which pulled an unprecedented throng of jazz fans into Shrine Auditorium for their tour debut a short time ago, return to Los Angeles to shatter all existing concert records on September 23 at 9:00 p.m.

A new jazz concert mark is virtually assured by the repeat booking, which was prompted by the terrific overflow of fans at the concert which teed off the tour here September 12.

Granz Favorite Son

Not even New York, one of the final cities on the transcontinental trek, will have a double visit from the biggest jazz package of all time. Promoter Norman Granz, who hurriedly crowded in the second Los Angeles date because of the huge throng of disappointed fans who milled around the box offices at the earlier concert, said Eckstine commitments and an already overloaded route definitely rule out the possibility of any further repeat dates such as the Los Angeles one.

Gigantic Journey Scheduled

Eckstine, under whose banner this mammoth caravan was originally assembled, will tour 17 countries in Europe immediately following the North American junket.

Basie Band Grand

Refreshing indeed is the grand band of the good Count Basie and his swingsational sidemen. Featuring our own Marshall Royal, alto saxsation, Eddie "Lock Jaw" Davis, another local favorite, whose many torrid tenor notes would float any "scream-boat"; Paul "Young Prez" Quinichette, whose cool ability to play would even make your mother-in-law sway, get gay and stay; Joe "Blow" Newman, trumpet; Henry "Slip Stick" Cocker and the only charter member of Basie's crew, Fredie Green, on guitar.

Basie's brass and reed are one of the finest new groups in existence and the rhythm section, though somewhat less sensational than the original "All Americans," will with continued practice and softer but steadier beat will make them additionally neat and sweet.

HAMPTON RETURNS TO 'SEND' FRANTIC FRIENDS

The return of Los Angeles' favorite musical son, the "King of the Vibes," Lionel Hampton and his great new "Show of '52," will be celebrated when he opens a one-week engagement at the Downtown Paramount Thursday, September 18.

This will mark the first appearance of the great Hamp in Los Angeles for nearly a year, during which time he has been setting the East on its collective ears with his own inimitable brand of music. Followers of "Hamptonia" swear by the particular excitement he generates excitement equalled by no other musical aggregation.

Featured with the Hampton Show this year will be the always entertaining Curley Hammer, "Mr. Drumboogie," himself, complete with new routines and patter as well as his own unique dancing style and drum beating. Back with the Hampton organization is Little Jimmy Scott, whose earlier record with the band, "Everybody's Somebody's Fool," was a big hit. A newcomer to West Coast and Hampton audiences, alike, is Ann Nichols, who combines piano playing with tap dancing while she continues to look as pretty as a picture. Eagerly looked for by the feminine contingent of fans is romantically handsome Gil Bernel, a Los Angeles boy whose tender balladeering is equalled by his blowing of the tenor sax.

"Prince of the Blues" Sonny Parker, luscious new girl vocalist Rosetta Perry and Mimic Arnold Dover, the lad with the thousand voices, will be featured in the fast-paced Hampton show, as will be the famous Johnny Board, whose tenor sax whips the fans into a frenzy, along with new member of the band, saxman Anthony "Naff" Ortega.

An extra added attraction with the Lionel Hampton Show will be the Los Gatos.

VIVID DRAMA FROM L. A. STREETS

King Brothers Production

WELCOMED BY THOUSANDS AT RKO HILLSTREET AND PANTAGES

One of the great fight pictures to hit the silver screen, the fabulous King Brothers production, "The Ring," is now playing at the RKO Hill Street and Hollywood Pantages Theatres.

This brilliantly engrossing screen drama of the harsh realism of the fight world set against the timely and poignant theme of Mexican Americans, fourth largest minority group in the United States, is an adaptation of a book that won't be published by Little, Brown and Company until late this year.

Irving Shulman, who wrote such best sellers as "Amboy Dukes," "Cry Tough," and "The Big Brothers," is the author of "The Ring." Shulman also prepared the script for the picture which the King Brothers, excited by the galley proofs of the noval, couldn't wait to bring to the screen for release by United Artists.

In their 11 years as Hollywood film makers, the King Brothers, Maurice, Frank and Herman, have shot to a first place among independent producers. They brought to motion picture audiences "Dillinger," "Suspense," "The Gangster," "Gun Crazy," "Mutiny" and other suspense-provocative entertainment. According to the King Brothers, it's the story that counts first and foremost and they believe they have a new winner in "The Ring."

Because of the documentary flavor of their film and in answer to the public's cry for fresh acting personalities, the King Brothers assigned the starring roles in "The Ring" to Gerald Mohr, Rita Moreno and Lalo Rios. All of them through previous performances before the cameras and on radio and television are headed for fame.

Mohr, who portrays the sympathetic fight manager, in "The Ring," has been seen on screen in "Detective Story," "The Sniper," and "Duel at Silver Creek," to mention a few of his most recent Hollywood assignments. Radio fans also recognize Mohr because of his three years as Philip Marlowe, The Private Eye, in the exciting Raymond Chandler series. Currently, the actor is the "Voice" of the "Voice of America" coast to coast broadcasts.

Beautiful Rita Moreno, Puerto Recan born cast as the fighter's sweetheart in "The Ring," is a singing and dancing actress with several Broadway shows to her credit. Her Hollywood career lists an auspicious debut with Paul Henried in "So Young, So Bad," and leads with Mario Lanza, Gene Kelly, Donald O'Connor, Esther Williams and others in "The oast of New Orleans," "Pagan Love Song and "Singing a television star.
in the Rain." Miss Moreno is also

Lalo Rios, the 25 year old Mexican-born actor who plays the emotion-tossed young hero who turns to boxing as a means of money and recognition when other opportunities are denied him because of racial misunderstanding, made his movie bow with Macdonald Carey and Gail Russell in "The Lawless" and followed this with "The Law and the Lady" and "The Korean Story."

Featured in the cast that comprises 90 speaking roles are Robert Arthur, Robert Osterloh, Martin Garralaga, Art Aragon, Jack Elam, Peter Brocco, Julia Montoya, Lillian Molieri and Robert Altuna.

Kurt Neuman, one of Hollywood's foremost craftsmen, directed "The Ring" which Russell Harlan photographed.

There are eight spectacular fights in "The Ring" for which Frankie Van, the veteran fight referee, served as technical adviser. Champion Art Aragon, of course, needs no introduction to devotees of boxing and he's glimpsed in full battle form. Aragon is California lightweight champion.

"SEXSATIONAL" Rita Moreno, lends her warm charm to "THE RING," King Brothers latest fight film, co-starring Art "Golden Boy" Aragon. Now playing at RKO Hillstreet and Hollywood Pantages Theatres, "The Ring" teams with "Cry, The Beloved Country" and stars the late Canada Lee.

LATIN BEAUTY SCORES

Rita Moreno, the vivid, Latin born heroine of the King Brothers' production, "The Ring," at the RKO Hill Street and Pantages Hollywood Theaters starting Wednesdays, boasts a notable career in dancing along with her numerous screen performances.

The Puerto Rican born beauty, who was educated in New York City, started the study of dance at the age of six with Paco Cansino, of the famed Cansino Flamenco dancing family. With the consent of her parents, Miss Moreno made her night club debut at the age of 16. She covers the complete range of dancing from ballet to tap.

Before the cameras, Miss Moreno danced with Mario Lanza in "The Toast of New Orleans," in addition to playing a featured role. She has also been seen with Paul Henried in "So Young, So Bad," with Esther Williams and Howard Keel in "Pagan Love Song," and with Gene Kelly in "Singing in the Rain."

United Artists is releasing "The Ring," a thrilling drama of the fight world.

Art Aragon New Cinema Discovery

Hollywood's favorite fighter plays a knock-out role in "The Ring," King Brothers' production for release by United Artists.

He's Art Aragon, California lightweight champ and leading contender for the world's title. Aragon appears as himself in the picturization of Irving Shulman's forthcoming novel, a dynamic portrait of the rise and fall of a young Mexican-American in the boxing world, which Kurt Neumann directed.

The film, co-starring Gerald Mohr, Rita Moreno and Lalo Rios and featuring a cast of 90 supporting players, now showing at the RKO Hillstreet and Hollywood Pantages Theatres.

It is Aragon, in the picture, who delivers the final, telling punch that ends the ring career of Rios, who is seen as the Mexican hero. This fight, one of eight marking the tense, dramatic plot proceedings, builds to a shrubly violent climax.

When Aragon puts on a fight at the Hollywood Legion Stadium and elsewhere, he commands an audience of celebrities who turn out to cheer him on to victory and later crowd his dressing room to offer congratulations on a fight well done. Among Aragon's admirers in teh Hollywood film colony are Bob Hope, Dick Powell, June Allyson, Mario Lanza, George Raft, Ricardo Montalban, Ricard Arlen and many more.

In fact, it was Bob Hope who persuaded Aragon to make his screen debut in "Military Policeman." In this comedy, Aragon knocks out Mickey Rooney.

He has a sympathetic role in "The Ring" as the fighter who wants to "go easy" on Lalo Rios, the Mexican boy woh asn't got what it takes and is completely outclassed.

Aragon, when asked by interviewers if acting doesn't scare him in the King Brothers' production that he handles dialogue like a veteran.

"I'll never become an actor —" in earnest," grins Aragon. "Let Tyrone Power take care of that job. I'll stick to my own profession—fighting. But when they want me to fight in front of the camera, I'll fight and speak the lines that goo along with the role."

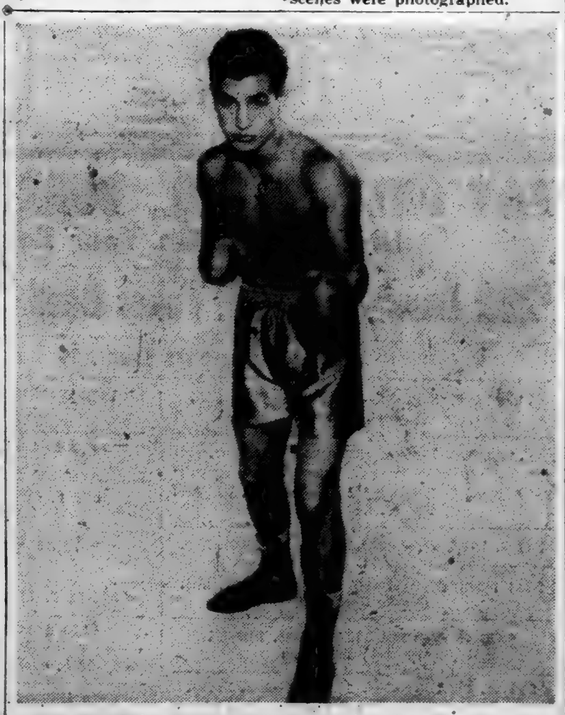
Aragon, like Irving Shulman's hero in "The Ring," is Mexican-American born. Son of Blasita and Dee Aragon, Art was born in Albuquerque, New Mexico, on November 19. His father, who died last year in Los Angeles, was a farmer.

Art started his ring career eight years ago as an amateur. Professionally, he has participated in 85 fights. He has made a fortune as a fighter.

What made him first turn to fighting?

"Oh, some kid once beat me up at school and I had to learn to protect myself," Art replied. "Today that kid is one of my best friends." Away from his ring activities, Art enjoys golf and baseball best. He is married to the former Georgia Cota and they have a small son, Art, Jr., aged eight months. The Aragons own a beautiful home in North Hollywood.

Art met his wife in a Los Angeles branch of the Farmers and Merchants Bank.



"She cashed a check for me," he said. "One look at her behind the window there and I was back in the bank to cash many checks, even when I didn't need the money."

Sports writers have dubbed Art Aragon "Golden Boy." It was Johnny Allen, boxing authority on the Los Angeles Daily News who first hailed him as "The Golden Boy of the Hollywood Stadium, because he pours gold into the Legion coffers."

William Holden, the screen star, was then portraying the title role of "Golden Boy," the story of a fighter. He came to wate Aragon at the Stadium and went back to officially proclaim the champ as "Golden Boy."

In "The Ring," Jimmy Roche who has been Art Aragon's manager for three years, appears with the fighter. But Roche is seen as his trainer. With them is Ray Luna, who actually is Aragon's trainer. But for the picture, Luna steps down to the position of "second trainer."

"Neither of those guys were the screen type for the jobs they hold in real life," laughs Aragon. "But Hollywood has done right by me. I'm cast as a fighter, and no mistake."

Olvera Street Forms Colorful Background

Olvera Street, timeless street of Old Mexico and one of the leading "tourist haunts" of Los Angeles, provides a picturesque background for key dramatic scenes in the King Brothers production, "The Ring," which United Artists has been released.

The taut action drama, an adaptation of Irving Shulman's forthcoming novel to be published this year by Littlt, Brown and Company, dealing with the viscissitudes of the Mexican-American minority group and its struggle in the American social scene, currently showing at the RKO Hill Street and Pantages Theaters.

With its gay restaurants, food stalls, souvenir shops loaded with Mexican pottery, jewelry, huraches and wearing apparel; its candle-makers, outdoor artists sketching in charcoal and pastels, handwriting analysts and street entertainers, block-long Olvera Street, drenched in Latin atmosphere and langorous music, is a buy mecca for visitors from all over the world.

Under the direction of Kurt Neumann, the cast of "The Ring," headed by film's stars, Gerald Mohr, Rita Moreno and Lalo Rios, "moved in" on Olvera Street for several days while scenes were photographed.

ACTION PACKED . . . While violence, both emotional and physical, marks the drama of "THE RING," King Brothers production for release by United Artists, there's also a moving and poignant love theme marking this tale of racial discrimination and, more particularly, the adventures of a young Mexican-American fighter. Rita Moreno and Lalo Rios, brilliant Latin acting talents and regarded as definite star prospects for tomorrow, portray the lovers who manage to find a road to happiness although their journey is beset by dramatic blocks. Now showing at the RKO Hillstreet and Hollywood Pantages Theatres, "The Ring" teams with "Cry, The Beloved Country," starring the late Canada Lee.

'Ring' Called "Real Prize Fight Story" by Shulman

"This is a real prizefight story."

That's how Irving Shulman, the distinguished American author of rough, tough, forhright realism, describes his latest work, "The Ring."

Although "The Ring" isn't scheduled to be published by Little, Brown and Company until late this year, the King Brothers, those daring producers of "Dillinger," "The Gangster," "Mutiny" and other terse and tense film dramas, have already made the dynamic novel into a motion picture.

Impressed by Shulman's rugged theme, the King Brothers expressed themselves as unable to wait to get to work on "The Ring" and persuaded author and publishing house to give them the go-ahead signal in advance.

And so, even before it emerges hot off the press for the reading world, the King Brothers are able to present "The Ring" to the public. Released by United Artists, with an all-star cast of 90 speaking roles headed by Gerald Mohr, Rita Moreno and Lalo Rios, and directed by Kurt Neumann, "The Ring" now playing at the RKO Hill Street and Hollywood Pantages Theaters.

"Along with being a prizefight story, I am, in 'The Ring,' dealing with the Mexican-Americans, the fourth largest minority group in the United States and the largest minority group in California, Arizona, Texas, and New Mexico," Shulman explained.

The novelist, whose "Amboy Dukes," "Cry Tough," and "The Big Brokers" were all brilliantly successful, declares that the basic problem set forth in "The Ring has universality.

"I confined the action of 'The Ring' to Los Angeles, Calif., but this is a minority story that can be applied to any city," Shulman continued. "In Pittsburgh, Tommy Cantanios, my Mexican-American hero, would be a Pole. In Detroit, he'd be Negro or Polish. If the background were Boston, he'd be either Irish or Italian, or a Negro or Jew if New York was the setting."

So many occupations in life are closed to minority groups by lack of understanding and petty prejudice, Shulman declared.

"That's why I wrote this plea for tolerance," he said. "My double purpose was to be both an author and a socioligist."

Why is his hero of "The Ring" a prizefighter?

"When I came to Hollywood four and a half years ago, I became interested in the Mexican situation," Shulman replied. "I discovered that many of the young Mexicans, disillusioned by the plight of their seniors and unable to get going in a number of professions, turned to the ring for recognition and money as well as an opportunity to change their second class citizenship into first class."

Describing "The Ring" as a real prizefight story is no departure from the truth, Shulman pointed out.

"Hollywood usually has the principal player wind up as the world champion," he said. "I tell of the average prizefighter who ends up nowhere. Most people don't realize the average fighter earns less than a gas station attendant. And when he's through, where does he go from there, especially as he has spent the formative years in the ring? It's too late for him to get into another occupation."

Urban League Approves 'Ring'

King Brothers Productions
8383 Sunset Boulevard
Hollywood 46, California.
Gentlemen:

I deeply appreciate the invitation to preview the production, "The Ring."

Permit me to commend you on the manner in which you treated a subject which is of vital importance, particularly during these times, to our great democracy.

As I sat through the entire showing, I could not help but feel that an honest attempt was being made to point out some of the inadequacies and weaknesses of human beings toward their fellow man; also the attempt to show that such malpractices are not totally accepted by our great community.

You are to be commended on a new approach in shedding light on a problem which must sooner or later be solved, if our great nation is to survive. I do hope that many will take the opportunity to see this film with the hope of spending an evening wisely, from an entertainment point of view.

More such films are needed.

Sincerely yours,
Wesley R. Brazier,
Executive Director.

Critics Acclaim 'The Ring' As Sizzling Entertainment With Most Powerful Impact

While Author Irving Shulman compellingly speaks out in behalf of the welfare of Mexican Americans, fourth largest minority group in the United States, "The Ring," which is now featured at the RKO Hill Street and Pantages Theaters, is not strictly a message picture. It abounds in entertainment.

Although the sociological theme is prodominant in Shulman's compassionate treatment of character and subject matter, the elements of fast, rugged action, suspense, comedy, a moving love story and authentic atmosphere in background make the film first-rate audience fare.

The King Brothers, producers of such memorable screen dramas as "Dillinger," "The Gangster" and "Mutiny," to mention a few, have given Shulman's forthright script excellent presentation. It is a timely, outspoken, sympathetic closeup of a problem in the American scene that apparently has no solving unless it is in the hearts of human beings themselves—namely, racial discrimination.

Shulman, who wrote "Amboy Dukes," "Cry Tough" and "The Big Brokers," all best sellers, has observed the plight of the Mexican-American from close range, ever since he settled in Hollywood four and a half years ago. In California, Texas, Arizona, and New Mexico, this is the largest minority group of all.

Actually, "The Ring" is a fight picture. Its hero a young Mexican who lives within the shadow of Los Angeles' City Hall, turns to boxing as a means of money and recognition to help himself and family when he faces lack of opportunity for other jobs and generally unfeeling treatment, suspicion and near contempt.

Unlike the average Hollywood fight picture, the hero does not emerge the champion of the world. Instead, he losses the big match and burns himself out at an early age. But in the short span of desperate success and failure, the Mexican boy has learned courage to battle for a place in life.

There are eight spectacular fight scenes in "The Ring" and a wealth of behind-the-scene atmosphere in the creation of a fighter. They have been notably photographed by Russell Harlan. Art Aragon, California State lightweight champion, appears as himself, headlining an all-star array of celebrities from the boxing ring. The climatic Aragon fight with Lalo Rios, who plays the hero of "The Ring," is a real thriller.

To achieve a true note of authenticity in the plot proceedings and to stress the semi-documentary flavor of their production, the King Brothers have cast the film with fresh new acting personalities, the majority of them Latin born.

Lalo Rios, who previously has been glimpsed on screen in "The Lawless," "The Law and the Lady," and "The Korean Story," is both sincere and appealing in a psychological dilemma created by social sources. He definitely is worth watching as star material.

Popular Personnel

Gerald Mohr, familiar to film and radio fans for his many able performances, turns in a winning characterization as the fight manager. Rita Moreno is an attractive heroine.

Outstanding in the cast of 90 speaking roles, who are given the benefit of Kurt Neuman's thoughtful direction, typical of this veteran Hollywood craftsman, are Robert Arthur, Martin Garralaga, Robert Osterloh, Jack Elam, Peter Brocco, Robert Shayne, Richard Benedict, Julia Montoya, Lillian Molieri and Robert Altuna, the latter a completely captivating youngster who has never been before the cameras.

Approximately 90% of "The Ring" was photographed in and around Los Angeles and includes such well-known locales as Olvera Street, Elysian Park, Beverly Hills, Wilshire Blvd., the "Miracle Mile" shopping district and other familiar famous civic spots.

Queen of Angels Settles Bias Charge

The Queen of Angels Hospital settled out of court this week for an undisclosed sum a suit brought by Lois Rambo, 2738 Hillcrest drive. Mrs. Rambo filed suit against the hospital, charging violation of civil rights and breach of contract.

Represented by Attorney Edward Maddox, Mrs. Rambo asked for $2825.65 damages for the mental and physical injuries she contends she suffered as a result of discriminatory practice on the part of the hospital.

The young white mother, who is married to Jerome Rambo, local cigarette salesman, stated that during her pregnancy she received treatment at the Community Medical Center, and through them made arrangements for the birth of her child at Queen of Angels in September 1950.

She entered the hospital September 8, and the baby was born that evening. Mrs. Rambo said that she arranged for a semi-private room, but when the hospital officials discovered that her husband was a Negro, she was moved to another floor in a private room where she was not allowed to see or feed her baby as the room was not sterile.

When she protested such treatment, she was finally moved to a semi-private room and a young Negro mother was moved in with her.

In her suit Mrs. Rambo alleged that the nurses and officials at the hospital treated her harshly and kept her so upset that she was unable to feed her baby for some time after she left the hospital and suffered complications as a result of the hospital's discriminatory treatment.

Attorney Maddox revealed that just before the case was to be tried, the hospital officials settled out of court.

Lad Falls From 8-Foot Trellis

Eleven year old Floyd Johnson, Jr., of 460 South Gless street, decided last Thursday that he will never be a good second story man.

Coming home from school for lunch, he found the door locked and decided to climb the trellis and enter through a second story window.

He fell from the top of the eight-foot trellis, however, and landed on the ground, striking his left arm on a concrete step.

His mother, Mrs. Josephine Johnson, rushed him to Lincoln Heights Receiving Hospital for emergency treatment. He was transferred to General Hospital for further observation.

Horace Heidt Hotel Named In Bias Suit

Horace Heidt, internationally known band leader who has been responsible for many talented Negro musicians getting the first real "break" in their profession, was named Monday in a suit charging discrimination.

The Lone Palm Hotel, in Palm Springs, of which Heidt is the owner, was accused by the Rev. William C. Jackson, 110 E. 60th street, pastor of the Prosperity Baptist church, of refusing him accommodations at the lush desert resort.

Rev. Jackson claims he had received confirmation of his reservation at the hotel, and went there July 8, planning to take a brief rest.

When he appeared there, Rev. Jackson asserts that the manager, a Mr. Wall, informed him that had he known the clergyman is a Negro, he would never have given his approval to the reservation.

Atty. Herbert Simmons, Jr., member of the local NAACP Legal Redress committee, is counsel for Rev. Jackson. He filed the civil suit, charging the Lone Palm hotel with racial discrimination, a violation of the California civil rights code.

Heidt, the Eagle was informed by the National Broadcasting Station, is at present in New York, where his current Philip Morris radio show originates, and could not be reached for comment.

The band leader, through the "Opportunity for Youth" radio show, has given notable encouragement to aspiring young Negro talent. Some of the contest winners he has taken into his own band. Others were organized into interracial groups that have toured the country and gained considerable prominence.

Channing Tobias On NBC Series To Urge Voting

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, director of the Stokes Fund and alternate U.S. delegate to the United Nations is one of several prominent Americans from diverse fields of activity who will point out to their fellow-citizens in the daily NBC radio "See You At The Polls" broadcasts Sept. 15-28 the importance of registering, knowing the issues, and voting in the Nov. 4 elections.

Lester Granger, executive secretary of National Urban League, was featured on "See You at the Polls" September 20 with a similar appeal to the nation's citizens.

Deposits Lost in Swindle

A number of local clubs, which made deposits in good faith for social affairs this fall, have been swindled out of their money, the Eagle has been informed, and possibly will have to go whistling for it.

Clubs which had planned parties at the magnificent El Pico Manor, 3201 W. Pico street, setting for many a gala party, will have to look elsewhere for suitable accommodations.

For Mrs. Rebecca D. Brooks, known to clubwomen and clubmen throughout the city as Mme. Brooks, manager of the swank clubrooms, is no longer at the El Pico Manor, and the house has been repossessed by its owners, Mr. and Mrs. F. Haynes.

Lock, Stock and Barrel

Mrs. Brooks and her husband, Earl P. Brooks, have been evicted, lock, stock and barrel, furniture, drapes, doo-dads et al by the Los Angeles County marshall.

First clubs to be affected were the La Cercle Rose Charity Club, the Grand Dukes and the Esquires. All three had been rented the same accommodations for Sept. 13, though how all three could have been scrambled into the same clubhouse on the same date is a mystery that only Mme. Brooks can unscramble.

Mrs. Linay C. Terry, 1523 E. 45th street, president of Le Cercle, told the Eagle that her club

Requiem mass was said on Monday, September 22, at 9 a.m. for Mrs. Bonnie Eloise Torregano in the Holy Name Catholic Church with Father Condon officiating. Interment was at the Holy Cross Cemetery.

Mrs. Torregano died a week earlier, September 15, at the General Hospital as a result of a very short illness.

A native daughter of Los Angeles, Mrs. Torregano, the former Bonnie Jones, was born February 6, 1931. She attended 28th Street Elementary School, Virgil Junior High and Belmont High schools. After graduating from Belmont in the winter of '49, Mrs. Torregano continued her studies at the Los Angeles City College.

Civil Rights Foes On Nixon's List

Voting Record Consistent With Slush Funders

The shocking exposure of Sen. Richard Nixon's $18,000 slush fund was even more shocking when the list of wealthy donors was revealed: A quick survey of the list revealed that the leaders in the fight to maintain restrictive covenants, the leaders in the fight against low-cost housing and the leaders in the fight against a state FEPC were among those who contributed to "this great American."

"He who controls the purse strings controls the person is clearly exemplified in this instance," Loren Miller, publisher of the California Eagle, said. "Dick Nixon has consistently voted against civil rights, low-cost housing and other measures that affect the rights and welfare of the minorities and lower-income groups.

Follows Money

"It is now easy to understand why. Nixon was not the representative of the citizens of the state of California, but the representative of a select few who could contribute to his slush fund."

$75,000 Income

Andrew Hatcher, head of a statewide committee for Stevenson, who worked the entire state for Helen Gahagan Douglas in her campaign against Nixon, was particularly bitter. "Nixon piously claims that he used none of the money. His total income as a senator is approximately $75,000, what did he need $18,000 more for? Senator Taft is correct when he says

Urge Probe of Pearl Bailey 'Hate' Beating

NEW YORK—Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey has been asked "to direct a thorough investigation" into all the circumstances surrounding the attack on Miss Pearl Bailey, in a New Jersey night club. Miss Bailey, internationally famous entertainer, was brutally beaten by two men because she resented their racial slurs.

In a telegram to the Governor, Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said that the NAACP was "shocked by the vicious hate-inspired attack . . . and distressed by the failure of local authorities to apprehend her assailants." White urged Gov. Driscoll "to order state law enforcement officers to proceed immediately against all guilty parties involved."

Open Letter Blasts Methods, Morals Of Popular Pastor

Charging that St. Paul Baptist Church has changed "from a spirit-filled house of worship to what can be termed now a 'mockery to religion; a disgrace to the Baptists; a refuge for sinner and a shame in the sight of God," a letter was circulated to the membership by a group describing themselves as "the bench members and real prayer-band" outlining three pages of complaints against handsome Reverend John L. Branham, pastor of the beautiful new million-dollar church at 49th and Main.

Sensational Shooting

Rev. Branham recently figured in a sensational shooting case with a member of his congregation, Hazel Simpson, reputedly one of the town's leading bookies. Branham was shot twice by the wealthy red-headed ex-chorus girl, and both claimed it was a result of her attempting suicide.

Attached to the three-paged letter was an explanation as to why the letter was being circulated. It declared that "For the sake of the Ecclesiastical Profession and to help keep the graft, corruption and crime and the unholy trend from true religion away from God's work, we humbly in Christ submit to you a copy of an open letter to St. Paul Baptist Church—showing a situation which you can easily ascertain is a definite threat to churches and religions of all creeds and denominations."

Included in the explanation was a request to all to work and pray together toward an obliteration of false leadership.

The letter, addressed to Friends and Church Members, complained that members are not allowed to retire to restrooms during services without permission and embarrassment, and that children are not permitted to attend the regular church service.

Collection Parade

The custom of requiring every person in the service to pass by the collection plate after "half a dozen offerings already lifted from the pews" was bitterly objected to.

The practice of buying a candle at the candlelight service for a blessing from Branham was scored. ". . . perhaps we can buy ourselves into the Kingdom of

Raging Spouse Murders Wife, Mother-in-law

By EDDIE LEE KING

A 27-year-old board of education janitor last Thursday went berserk after his 23-year-old wife refused to return to him and shot and killed her and her mother.

Dead of eight bullet wounds was Bobbie Barnett, of 8092½ South Central avenue. Victim of seven shots was her mother, Mrs. Joe Anna Pettey, 46, of 10332 Paloma street.

Shortly after the double shooting, police arrested John Barnett when he returned to the Paloma street address after the shootings.

Barnett told officers that he and his wife quarreled at their home the previous night and she packed up and went to her mother's home, taking her 9-year-old daughter, Marcella Turner, with her. After spending a sleepless night, he told police, he went to the house early Thursday to effect a reconciliation.

When no one answered the door, he told officers he returned to his home and obtained a .45 caliber automatic pistol and a crowbar. When no one answered his knocks for the second time, he broke down the door and entered.

He then proceeded into a bedroom and found his wife hiding in a clothes closet. He started squeezing the gun trigger hitting his wife every time: in the right arm, right temple, right thigh, center of the neck, with every bullet going through her body.

Shoots Mother-in-Law More

After Barnett made sure that his wife was dead he went in search of his mother-in-law to

Kidnap Victim Raped, Robbed; Two Men Held

An Eastside woman was kidnapped, robbed and raped four times by two men in the wee hours of Sunday morning, according to police reports.

As Azzie Lee McGregor, 23, 3204 Griffith avenue, was standing on the corner of 55th and Avalon around midnight Saturday waiting for a street car, Emuel Leon Reed, 26, U.S.S. Montague, 98 c/o F.P.O. San Francisco, and Willian Myers, 24, of the same address drove up in a 1948 Ford sedan belonging to Reed.

Myers got out, grabbed her, shoved her into the back seat and crawled in beside her, she said.

When she protested and tried to fight Myers off, he brandished a white handled straight edged razor and threatened to cut her head off, forcibly raped her, she claimed.

Change Over

A short time later, Reed parked the car at Greenleaf about one fourth mile east of Central avenue and exchanged seats with Myers. Each assailant raped the victim twice, she told police.

Mrs. McGregor further stated that her purse had been taken by the suspects and returned minus $17 and her bill fold.

She stated that she had never seen either of the suspects before. Reed stated that he thought he may have seen her before. Myers said he was asleep in the car and had not been aware of what had happened, however, when he was searched by Sheriff's deputies at Firestone Station, an earring belonging to victim was found in his pocket.

Deadly Weapons Found

Mrs. McGregor was transported to Physicians and Surgeons Hospital, by ambulance after two Compton police officers discovered them at 5:15 a.m. while on routine patrol.

The razor, an ice pick and a bowie knife were found in the car, tagged, marked and placed in the station's evidence locker, along with the victim's panties and nylons, which Myers had taken off her.

The vehicle was impounded at Ketcham's Garage.

MRS. LEO GARLAND

Alaska Letter Hints Denial Of Negro Vote

Evidence piles up that racial tensions in Alaska have increased with the present influx of "statesiders" to that United States possession.

Latest in a series of letters received by The Eagle telling of conditions there is one penned by Mrs. Leo Lett Garland of Anchorage, Alaska.

A former Los Angeles resident, Mrs. Garland is extremely active in the Anchorage branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, formed there a year ago because of several incidents showing the insinuation of anti-Negro feeling into this Arctic outpost.

Mass Meeting

Mrs. Garland called a mass meeting in the latter part of July to institute a survey of Negroes in Alaska because of difficulties encountered by members of the race who attempted to cast ballots in the last election there. A Negro, John Thomas, was running for an office which her letter does not specify.

Numerous Negroes were arrested for "illegal voting." Also participating in the meeting was another former Angelena, Blanche Groggs McSm[illegible]

Meeting Set to Welcome Home Charlotta Bass

A welcome home meeting is being given for Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, vice presidential candidate on the Progressive Party ticket on Thursday at 8: 30 p.m. at the Vermont theater, Vermont at Vernon.

Mrs. Bass is the former editor and publisher of the California Eagle, oldest Negro newspaper on the west coast, before it was taken over by its present management. She has been in the forefront of many struggles for community betterment for the past 40 years; in the fight for fair employment, against restrictive housing, and against the many Klan like elements that espouse racial and religious bigotry.

Mrs. Bass' candidacy marks the first time in the history of our country that a Negro woman has been nominated for this high office.

Pryce Marriage Ends in Divorce

The marriage of fashion model Ann Pryce and her husband Joel Pryce ended in the divorce courts Monday when a decree was granted, giving custody of the couple's two children to the mother.

The action was brought by Mrs. Pryce, through her attorney, James N. Reese. It was not contested.

Grounds for the divorce were mental cruelty. The settlement included granting of the house at 145 W. 59th street and furnishings to Mrs. Pryce, plus an alowance of $80 a month for support of the children. The Pryces were married in 1942.

Pryce is well known in business circles as a member of the staff of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Community Chest Area Heads Meet

High optimism that the South Central Area's Community Chest campaign will prove successful was expressed by Clarence O. English, chairman of Area Agency Participation, at a meeting of Red Feather service executives and key campaign leaders from West Adams, Jefferson and Central-South Park districts last week.

"Never before in this area have we had so cohesive a program bringing together the people who are in actual contact with the men, women and children benefiting from Chest agencies' services and the hundreds of other good citizens volunteering in the campaign," English said. The group met in Childrens Home Society, 3100 West Adams Blvd., last Thursday, to further discuss campaign organization.

Local volunteers were congratulated by Walter H. Rolapp, immediate past president of Boy Scouts of America, a Chest agency, for having enrolled all district and division chairmen, and the majority of section chairmen, a notable record.

Among those at the meeting were Mrs. Albert L. Garvey, area co-chairman with Mrs. DeWitt D. Turpeau; vice chairman, Mrs. Alv Vistaunet and John E. Hargrove; District chairmen Mmes. Thomas Pinchback, Lenora Henderson and Debie Williams.

Campaign headquarters have been opened at 4504 South Central avenue, ADams 4-9021, Mrs. Jewell Davis, director, and at 3934 S. Western avenue, AXminster 3-6154, Mrs. Eva Kresich, director.

Tens of thousands of local Community Chest volunteers are expected to join with others throughout the nation in listening to the national Community Chest kick-off program next Saturday evening, September 27, in their honor.

The star-studded show will be carried from 7 to 8 p.m., PDT, on stations KFI, KECA, KHJ, KMPC, KFWB and most other local stations. Some stations will carry it as a delayed broadcast.

President Truman will give a brief talk and Garner A. Beckett, chairman of volunteers in the Los Angeles Area, will give the local tie-in.

hiss Red and shout smear, but the question still remains, why did he need such a fund. This shocking exposure might wake up the voters to the really unprincipled and dangerous man Dick Nixon is in public life.

While the Nixon scandal was on everyone's tongue, plans were going ahead in both camps as the election campaign stepped up. Venice Spraggs will arrive in Los Angeles Saturday evening for a round of politicking on the Coast. Gus Hawkins is handling her itinerary.

She is scheduled for three meetings Sunday and will meet with any interested groups. Organizations interested in engaging her can contact Hawkins at AD. 3-1132.

Archibald Carey, fire-eating Republican from Chicago, is also due in town this week to beat the tubs for Eisenhower and Nixon. Carey is best remembered for the fiery speech he made at the Republican convention.

Victor Nickerson is handling his affairs while he is in the city. He is scheduled for several meetings and conferences with local Republican leaders.

Open Letter

Branham, but certainly not into the kingdom of heaven," the letter stated."

The letter goes on to accuse Branham of using the church as a stepping stone to presonal wealth, power and prestige. It contends that the pastor's loose morals, escapades and scandals are the talk of the nation.

Scandals Recounted

"We have listened to St. Paul referred to as 'The Modern Church,' but should even a modern church condone and hide the Rev. Branham, Prof. Hines and scandal?" The letter recounts the gossip about the pastor's wife shooting at him in an embarrassing situation and tells how the membership refused to believe it was so.

Rev. Branham is heavily censured for attending church socials and remorselessly skipping prayer meetings.

"We concealed and destroyed the anonymous letter from an Eastern city stating that Hazel and Branham were openly dancing and drinking in a well-known nightclub, possibly on funds raised right in St. Paul. And now when he is 'accidentally' wounded by this same person, we accept without question two definite versions of the accident."

Perhaps the most significant paragraph in the letter referred to the resignation of Sister Williams, wife of the late pastor of St. Paul, Rev. S. A. Williams. "The question has never been openly asked . . . why she left St. Paul after the years of religious work and toil in our midst. Why she was never permitted to have her say in an open church that loved her and Rev. Williams for many years? Where are the hundreds of other old and loyal members of St. Paul?"

Sources close to the church have indicated that a group of members are believed rallying around Mrs. Williams in an effort to effect Rev. Branham's ouster from the church.

More Rumors

Concurrent with the circulation of the letter, rumors began flying that Rev. Branham and Hazel Simpson met in Chicago last week and had a big fight. It was said that Branham roughed her up and she had him arrested.

A check with Chicago sources by the California Eagle revealed no meeting of Branham and Mrs. Simpson and no record of a fight or an arrest. Mrs. Simpson is presently in the city. Branham is in Chicago.

An attempt to check with St. Paul church as to the status of the "bench member" group and how large the revolt has grown, brought nothing but silence.

Human Rights Award Goes to Labor Leader

Phillip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO), will be presented with a human rights award during the National CIO Convention here in November according to John H. Dial, Jr., chairman of the Los Angeles NAACP Labor and Industry Committee and president of the Southern California Area NAACP Council.

The award will be given in honor of the trade union movement's achievements and contributions to human rights and the welfare of all working people down through the years. The CIO is being cited at this time, and Murray is to be the recipient. A banquet on November 15 at Hotel Alexander will be the occasion of the presentation.

Murray, whose union has long been a staunch ally in the crusade for civil rights, is a member of the board of directors of the NAACP.

While the award will come from the NAACP nationally, the banquet is being sponsored by the Los Angeles Branch through its Labor and Industry Committee. Serving on the sub-committee on Arrangements for the Banquet are: Woodrow Redo, E. J. Franklin, John E. Hargrove, William F. Anderson, John H. Dial, Jr., and Lester P. Bailey, field secretary.

Plans Upset

On Sept. 13, the day Le Cercle — and the other groups — were holding their party at El Pico Manor, Mrs. Terry telephoned Mme. Brooks to make last-minute arrangements.

To her surprise, she was answered by Mrs. Haynes, who told her that the Brooks had been evicted the day before, and that they owed something like six months' rent.

That night friends who had been invited to the various parties all converged on the El Pico home. But there were no parties. Mrs. Terry had telephoned all the people she could reach, but asked the Eagle to carry her apology to those she had been unable to contact.

Alabama University Bars Two Negroes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Last week two Negro women were denied admission to the University of Alabama, in a case which may develop into a new challenge to the right of Southern states to refuse to grant equal higher educational facilities to Negroes.

Polly A. Myers, 20, and Autherine J. Lucy, 22, both of Birmingham, said they were told by Dean of Admissions William F. Adams at Tuscaloosa that Alabama laws prevented his enrolling them for post-graduate work.

The two said they had sent copies of a transcript of their records at Miles Memorial College here and $5 deposits for rooms. They added that they were assigned to rooms in a dormitory.

The women, June graduates of Miles College with Bachelor of Arts degrees, said they received form letters from Dr. John M. Gallalee, president of the university, and Miss Ola Grace Baker, assistant dean of women, several days ago welcoming them as new students.

"When we appeared this week to complete our enrollment," their account continued, "we were told by Mr. Adams that there was some mistake; that he could not admit us."

Major Williams Returns After Philippine Duty

Major Charles I. Williams has just returned to Los Angeles after completion of a 30-month tour of duty with the U. S. Air Force in the Philippines.

Major Williams, his wife, the former Lucille Simmons, and their 13-year-old daughter, Rita Jeanne, arived here Thursday, and are staying with Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Simmons, 1715 Middleton place.

"It was rugged," the major commented, "but I enjoyed every minute of it." Mrs. Williams and their daughter were in Manila for about a year.

After about a month's furlough in Los Angeles, Major Williams will be stationed at Norton Air Force Base, near San Bernardino. In the Philippines, he served with the 24th Technical Supply Squadron, 24th Air Depot Wing on Clark Air Force Base, 60 miles north of Manila.

In the military service since February, 1942, Major Williams served with various Air Force units at Selfridge, Mich.; Goodman, Ky.; and Lockbourne, Ohio.

Marine Held in Laguna Beach Rape Attack

Pfc. Donald E. Todd, a marine, was being held this week pending formal charges for the same series of crimes for which soldier Donald R. Martin was freed last Thursday.

Pfc. Todd is confined in the post brig at the Marine Corps Base at Camp Pendleton. In reply to an inquiry, the NAACP was informed that the district attorney of Orange county is expected to issue a warrant for his release to civilian authorities to stand trial for the four crimes of rape, kidnaping, grand theft and armed robbery.

Positive Identification

Todd, the NAACP was told, was sentenced to the brig for being absent without leave.

Last Thursday, as carried exclusively in the Eagle, Don Martin, talented young dancer who was formerly connected with the Lester Horton dance theater, was freed on all counts when he appeared in Santa Ana. He had been arrested early in August while on a trip to Laguna Beach at a time when police were looking for a "tan-skinned Negro," who reportedly had attacked Mrs. Virginia Jackson July 20.

Mrs. Jackson, who was vacationing at the beach city, had "positively identified" Martin as the man who had raped her three times within an hour in the presence of four members of her family, had robbed them at gunpoint and then had forced her husband to drive him into Los Angeles.

Approximately 12 witnesses, as well as Army records, placed Martin at Fort Ord, 400 miles distant, at the time of the alleged attack. Some of the witnesses were soldiers who were prevented from sailing for overseas assignment so that they could appear at the trial scheduled for Oct. 13.

The NAACP is now investigating the case against Pfc. Todd.

finish her off. He found her in the garage on the south side of the house where she had crawled.

Mrs. Petty, 46, lay helpless as he reloaded his pistol and shot her several times more making holes in her head, chest, stomarm, hip, left and right cheek.

The violent tragedy was witnessed by Mrs. Barnett's father, L. D. Petty, his son Bruce, 18, and Marcella Turner, 9.

Bruce called the police and the Eagle was notified.

When Barnett was arrested he admitted the double murder and was instantly indicted by the District Attorney, charged with premeditated homicide, two counts.

Due to the immediate indictment there will be no coroner's inquest. Barnett was ordered held to answer following the preliminary hearing, Monday, in Division Four of Municipal Court and will be arraigned in Department 41 of Superior Court.

Funeral services for the two women were held Wednesday at Lincoln Memorial Park by Corner-Johnson Morticians.

Housing Need Spotlighted

housing City Councilmen are so energetically opposing, will have five-bedroom homes for large families. But as of now there are none in any of the projects. And if the housing opponents have their way, there won't be any in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Finnis Grant, 2079 Santa Ana boulevard, together with their 12 children, including three-month-old twins, live in a tumbledown three-room shack, littered as it must inevitably be when so many are crowded into such small space, surrounded by dirt, filth, and weeds.

Their plight became public concern last week when Councilman Kenneth Hahn, seeking election to the Board of Supervisors, discovered the family and tried to see if something could be done for them.

NAACP Makes Nominations for National Board

NEW YORK—Dr. Buell Gallagher, newly named president of New York City College and former president of Talladega College in Alabama, is one of four new candidates nominated for the board of directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Other new nominees include John G. Lewis, Jr., Baton Rouge, La., grand master of Prince Hall Masons of Louisiana and chairman of the legal redress committee of the Louisiana State Conference of NAACP Branches; Earl G. Harrison, Philadelphia, former dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School and an expert witness for the NAACP in the Texas and Oklahoma university cases; and Walter Carrington, founder and president of the NAACP youth chapter at Harvard University and chairman of the NAACP delegation to the Young Adult Council.

The nominating committee, headed by Mrs. Daisy Lampkin of Pittsburgh, also named the following persons for re-election to the board; Kelly M. Alexander, Charlotte, N. C.; Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, Boston; Dr. W. Montague Cobb, Washington; Dr. Nathan K. Christopher, Cleveland; Dr. George D. Flemmings, Fort Worth, Texas; Dr. Harry J. Hit-Run Killer Still at Large

The reckless hit-run speeder who last week killed Orval Lee McIntosh at 56th and Central, dragged his body, and then sped away is still at large.

Police this week reported they have run down numerous clues, but have not yet found the guilty driver.

The coroner's inquest Tuesday threw no new light on the case. The findings were that the death of McIntosh, who lived at 9701 Antwerp, was due to criminal negligence at the hands of an unknown party.

Police urge anyone who witnessed the early-morning race down Central avenue Saturday, Sept. 13, which resulted in the killing of McIntosh while he was in the crosswalk, to get in touch with them.

Passport Denial To Churchman Brings Protest

The Board of Trustees of the First Unitarian Church of Los Angeles Thursday issued a unanimous protest against denial of a passport to their minister the Rev. Stephen H. Fritchman.

Rev. Fritchman was scheduled to address the Australian Unitarian churches on the occasion of their centenary celebration.

The unanimous protest, signed by Paul A. Kelley, chairman stated:

"We uphold the right of every American citizen to travel without hindrance throughout the world, and further, as a religious body, we are convinced that the exchange of religious ideas through personal contact is part and parcel of our avowed purpose to create a universal brotherhood of man.

"The denial of a passport to our minister will lead many Australians, Unitarians, and others to question the good faith of our Government as it proclaims its devotion to freedom."

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

The 'Nix' in Nixon

The fair-haired boy from Whittier, who in the course of a few short years skyrocketed from modest obscurity to where fame, fortune and honor seemed within his grasp, this week suddenly plummeted back to earth with a hard thump.

Whatever the GOP high command decides to do about their vice-presidential candidate, Richard Nixon will prove a serious liability from here on out.

General Eisenhower's well-sounding pronouncement that he will not be guided on the question of whether to drop Nixon by a consideration of votes may reflect the General's personal views. But it is certain that the Republican high command will have little but votes in mind in arriving at its collective decision.

The "mess" in Washington was the GOP's chief war cry. If Nixon is kept on the ticket, the Republican speakers can expect to be reminded frequently of "the mess in California." Even if they drop Sen. Nixon as "too hot to handle" their position won't be greatly helped. Far too many of their spokesmen have already come out in resounding support of the Republican hopeful, his fund and his "morality" to make any subsequent rejection go down well with the voters.

What must break the heart of the Republican command is that Nixon backslid for what to them must seem a paltry sum, a mere $18,000.

But Negroes and others whose weekly salaries don't climb up into the three-figure bracket cannot look with confidence on a man who accepts a subsidy from a small group of millionaires, or on a party which condones such actions. No amount of special pleading will alter this.

Moreover, the small people will not place very much stock in Nixon's "unprecedented" radio revelation that a large portion of this money was used for the innocent purpose of sending Christmas cards to the Senator's constituents.

This is especially so, since a goodly number of the contributors to the tidy little sum turned over to Nixon to help him further those policies "which he and they both advocate," just happened to be real estate dealers, who so bitterly oppose public housing, and oil merchants who are so het up over the tidelands issue. People still like to think that a person elected to public office represents the needs of all of his constituents, and not just the interests of a select group of wealthy men.

Whether Nixon is kept on the GOP slate or dropped back into the obscurity whence he sprang, the Republicans are faced with the touchy problem of explaining to the electorate the peculiar brand of morality which the senator typifies. In all fairness to Nixon, it should be pointed out that he is not the only elected representative with this particular slant on public trust.

Help Mal Whitefield

Our sports editor, Edward "Abie" Robinson, informed us this week that Mal Whitfield, two-time Olympic champion, is in Columbus, Ohio, and sans funds to come to Los Angeles for the big affair honoring Californians who participated in the Olympic Games.

We agree with Mr. Robinson that this should be of prime concern to our community. Whitfield is an excellent athlete and a fine gentleman. He exemplifies all that one could want in a young man. He started his winning ways while attending Jefferson High School and has never looked back.

Whitfield can get permission from the Air Force to attend the function, if he can get his transportation. Whitfield isn't living too high on the hog with a sergeant's pay, and we think it is up to all sports lovers in the community to pitch in and see that this young man receives all the honors due him.

Along with Ralph Bunche, Whitfield is an international champion who developed in our own community. When our community was much smaller, it rallied to raise funds to send Bunche to Harvard, an investment that has been repaid thousands of times. Let's rally together and raise the funds for our Mal Whitfield to attend this important function in Los Angeles Oct. 3.

Contributions can be sent to the California Eagle or to the B & B Department Store, 4362 S. Central avenue.

Other Papers Say

The creeping nature of the campaign of those who are obsessed with catching "subversives" by the loyalty oath device is amply illustrated by Proposition 5, which will appear on the November ballot.

This is a proposed amendment to the State Constitution, and is headed "Subversive Persons and Groups." We advise voters not to be taken in by the heading. It doesn't deal with subversives except by rare accident, but extends to several hundred thousands of Californians, in an arbitrary category, the necessity of taking a loyalty oath to maintain their rights.

The widest possible public should be alerted to the extraordinary and menacing nature of this measure, that they may organize and defeat it. Its novelty is that it would impose the non-Communist oath on certain private citizens.

As most people are aware, the Levering Act of October, 1950, requires every public employee in California to swear that he does not advocate, and is not a member of any organization advocating, the forcible overthrow of the government.

Proposition No. 5 covers the same ground: it provides that public office or employment shall not be held by any person advocating forcible overthrow of the government. To that extent the proposition is redundant.

It goes farther than the Levering Act, however, in that the requirement of innocence of subversiveness is extended to private citizens enjoying any sort of tax exemption; i.e., veterans, to name one large group, and religious organizations, to name another.

No one who advocates or belongs to an organization advocating the government's forcible overthrow, or "who advocates the support of a foreign government against the United States in the event of hostilities shall"—the proposition says—"receive any exemption from any tax imposed by this State or any county," etc.

It is one thing to deprive persons of the privilege of public employment who are unwilling to foreswear subversive ideas or memberships; it is quite another to deprive private individuals of their rights on the score of their refusal to submit to this loyalty test.

It seems to us most probable that the denial of a tax exemption on ideological grounds is unconstitutional, but whether or not it is that, surely the method is nothing a free people wants to have anything to do with. What a roundabout, inefficient, costly way to catch a Communist! It is estimated that an apparatus capable of checking up on the veracity of 367,000 State and local government employees, whose right to their jobs would depend on their freedom from any subversive taint, would cost $20,000,000 a year.

To broaden such an apparatus so that it could check up on every citizen seeking a tax exemption of any kind would run into incalculable millions.

A procedure of the sort contemplated by Proposition 5 would open the doors wide to malicious whispering, tale-bearing and petty vindictiveness; it would pit neighbor against neighbor and set the stage for a carnival of snooping by secret police.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

The editors of the New York Amsterdam News injected a challenging note into campaign discussion last week when they asked their readers to tell them in "letters to the editor" exactly what they think the next President of the Untied States should do, in his own area of responsibility ,to meet the demands of our Negro population. It's a timely request, because in the excitement of the issue of "civil rights legislation" and the like, many of us seem to have forgotten , that administration is equally as important as legislation—and sometimes even more important.

One of the favorite expressions of the typical American voter is, "There ought to be a law!" Sometimes he's right; a law is needed. But for every law that can be passed to accomplish a given result, there are apt to be a dozen ways in which an indifferent or hostile administration can sabotage the law by preventing its intended result.

Up to President

Nobody should know that more clearly than Negro Americans. We have seen law after law passed—and constitutional amendments added— to wipe out some form of racial discrimination, only to find that laws are no more effective than the judges, administrators and administrative assistants want them to be.

The biggest adminstrator in the United States is the President. Enormous spreads of Federal operations either come under his personal authority or are supervised by persons whom the President appoints—and can remove. Presidential directives have the force of law in Federal establishments employing hundreds of thousands of workers.

Any President who makes up his mind to do so can eliminate the greater part of job discrimination against Negroes in Federal employment within the span of a single administration. The reason that the clean-up job has not been done is that we have not had a President who has considered the job important enough to tackle.

Only a Start

President Truman made amiable gestures in the direction of ending Federal job bias by appointing the Fair Employment Board of the Civil Service Commission, but as this column has pointed out, this Board has limited powers within a narrow jurisdictional area.

Similarly, the President's Committee on Governmental Contract Compliance constitutes a good exploratory start, but it can't possibly finish the job in hand. It wasn't intended to finish it, as was plain in the President's directive.

This is one question, therefore, that Negro voters ought to press upon Presidential candidates whenever they get a chance—through letters, in welcoming ceremonies, in conversations with political leaders who will be talking with the candidates: What, specifically, does the candidate plan to do to end Federal job discrimination against Negro Americans?

That question puts to one side, temporarily at least, the argument about Senate cloture, which hasn't one chance in five of getting through, no matter which party wins. It puts to one side, also, argument about on FEPC bill "with teeth," which won't get through unless a sound cloture rule is established.

Has the Power

The question puts it up to the candidate for President. What will he do—within the area of his personal powers of appointment and regulation—what will he do as the President to make his Administration do what his party's platform glibly declares should be done about a square deal on jobs?

We may as well get it through our heads that the interracial millenium is not just around the corner, no matter which political party stays in office during the next four, eight, or sixteen years.

Neither the Democrats nor the Republicans have any yearning desire to solve the American race problem by disposing of racial differentials in citizenship.

Both parties are worried about the size to which the problem has grown on the international scene; both parties are concerned about what Negro voters will do. Neither party means to take any step that will be painful to an even larger number of white voters.

That's "political realism," according to the bosses. It's only political realism for Negro voters to find out what the next President will do, since his party will do practically nothing.

Roy Wilkin.

The Watch Tower

The disclosure of the special fund for Senator Richard Nixon has great interest for Americans generally, but special interest for Negro Americans.

Of course, it has had tremendous impact on the Presidential Campaign because the Republicans have centered their fire on corruption in government. The revelation of additional payments to Senator Nixon by a group of wealthy Californians has embarrassed General Eisenhower and the Republican party no end.

Senator Nixon's "explanation" of this fund has satisfied no one except the most devout and fanatical Republican followers. The fact that Senator Nixon defends himself by saying (1) that none of the money went to him personally and (2) that this is a left-wing "smear" reveals him as a man who is unable to appreciate the immorality involved in such a situation.

People vs. Rich

The point is that Senator Nixon, supposedly employed to represent all the people of California, has been accepting money to the tune of more than $18,000 in two years from a small group of rich men. To whom does Nixon awe allegiance, the people or the small millionaires' club.

It does not matter whether every penny was spent for postage or travel or radio talks. What matters is that Senator Nixon has seen nothing wrong in accepting cash from private individuals to help him run his office.

Hogwash

As for Nixon's claim that this is a left-wing smear, that is so much hogwash. Nixon has not denied the existence of the fund for his benefit. Does he mean that such an arrangement should never have been disclosed to the American public? Is that what he means by a "smear"? Nixon has little respect for the intelligence of Americans if he seriously advances such a smokescreen as an argument.

Tidy Sum

The truth of the matter is that the government has provided Mr. Nixon with more than $60,000 a year, exclusive of his salary and allowances, to run his office. Another Senator has estimated that including his salary Mr. Nixon receives about $75,000 a year.

What kind of mail is it that Mr. Nixon feels should not be sent through on his franking privileges? Are the contents such that this mail should not be sent on a frank? Is so, is that mail in the best interest of all the citizens, or does it concern a special few?

The real significance of the Nixon case is that it shows to the average American who is not wealthy just what he is up against in getting consideration for legislation in which he is interested. For example, young Mr. Nixon is an implacable foe of public housing. He has voted against public housing every time. He has said he will continue to vote against it.

The contributors to Mr. Nixon's welfare fund include big California real estate men. They are, presumably, enemies of public housing. Mr. Nixon says no contributor ever asked him for a favor, but if a Senator knew that some big real estate men were helping to pay $9,000 a year on his expenses, would he be likely to vote for public housing? Would anyone have to say, "look here, Dick Nixon, we think you ought to vote against public housing?"

And the Negroes of California and elsewhere in the nation who so desperately need housing, the housing that these same big real estate men in California and elsewhere in the country deny them or sell to them at rigged prices, have no luck whatsoever in talking with Dick Nixon about their needs. He says if they want public housing they want "socialism." He can't hear them because he is busy listening to the men who have paid $9,000 a year on his expenses.

Oppose FEPC

Nixon is opposed to an FEPC with enforcement powers. Contributors to his welfare fund are also opposed to FEPC. The horrible evil of this arrangement lies in the bold underwriting of a public servant by private individuals and it is of no consequence that Nixon did or did not get so much as a pocket handkerchief out of it for himself.

This is the man who defeated a real servant of the people, Helen Gahagan Douglas. This is the man who rants about corruption among the Democrats. This is the man who wants to be Vice President of the United States. The best that can be said for him, in the words of Arthur Krock of the New York Times, is that he has a "dull sense of ethics."

NO THANK YOU!!

Walter White's Views

(Editor's Note: The following remarks are excerpts of a speech made by Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, at the annual State conference in Columbus, Ohio.)

Four million Negro voters today ask the Republican Party to stop forcing the Negro to vote as a bloc and in opposition to the Republican ticket. These voters believe in the two-party system. They bitterly resent the control, through the seniority rule, of important Senate and House committees by Dixiecrats. Although they appreciate and approve Governor Stevenson's forthright stand on civil rights, they do not like Senator John Sparkman's unbroken record of opposition to civil rights legislation nor his evasion of repeated requests for clarification of his position since he was nominated in Chicago last July.

Negro voters are united on two basic truths.

Taken for Granted

Nobody wants to be taken for granted, individually or collectively, nor have his vote counted in advance. That is what the Republicans did between the Civil War and 1932. That is what caused Negroes to leave the Republican Party. Having done so, and greatly strengthening his political position by proving his political independence, the Negro voter does not want nor does he intend to become the chattel of the Democratic or any other political party.

Second, the Negro voter is bluntly realistic in being aware that the balance of power of any group fighting for its place in the sun is effective only if there are two fairly evenly balanced parties. Next November 4 the Negro vote in seventeen states with 293 electoral votes may determine the next occupant of the White House and, in numerous instances, who shall sit in Congress. That decision will be made by ninety-five percent of Negro voters on the basis of the civil rights issue.

Vote Shackled

I have said that the Negro voter does not relish being forced to vote as a bloc. If the basic issue of getting a job and being free from the shackles of segregation and discrimination were removed, the Negro voter would cast his ballot like other Americans on the basis of the economic, social and other views of the individual. Until that day comes, there is democracy neither for Negro nor white Americans.

Some months ago it seemed that 1952 might be the year for the Negro to demonstrate once again that nobody owns or controls his vote. The speeches and actions of Southern Democrats like Senator Richard Russell in filibustering against FEPC and other legislation, the blatant Negrophobia of men like Byrnes, Talmadge, Shivers and Hugh White of Mississippi, the overwhelming defeat at Chicago of Senator Taft and the enthusiasm of liberal Republicans for General Eisenhower coupled with his great popularity as a war hero, appeared to be setting the stage for the return to the Republican Party of a sizeable and perhaps decisive percentage of Negro voters.

March Through Georgia

And then what happened? General Eisenhower, torn by pressures from both sides, decided to make his now famous "March through Georgia" to be embraced by the notorious white supremacist Herman Talmadge. Obviously uncomfortable, he was forced to capitulate to Senator Taft. Republican "realists" pressured him to accept the support of McCarthy and Jenner to the shock and amazement of both decent Republicans and Independents. And then to cap it all, Senator James F. Byrnes announced that he is voting for Eisenhower.

So far as the Negro is concerned, Byrnes' and Taft's support of Eisenhower is worth 500,000 Negro votes each—to Adlai Stevenson.

What appalls me is the change in General Eisenhower. He is not the man I knew in Europe during the war nor in the United States up to the Chicago convention. In Europe, as supreme commander of the allied forces, he was sure of himself as he dealt with things he knew. When he spoke it was a minimum of words and directly to the point. Now his language is involved and lengthy, apparently indicating an inner conflict between his principles and what some of his advisers are exacting as the price of their support.

Honest Man

General Eisenhower is an honest man. He is a sincere man. He is a man of high principles. He is a man of great personal charm. These facts make all the more inexplicable and distressing his current performance.

But leaving aside the torture which reactionaries of America are inflicting upon him is the lack of even ordinary political intelligence of Republicans which is most bewildering to Negro and many other voters. Every four years the Republicans succumb to the illusion that they can crack the solid South and at the same time preserve some of the moral principles of justice and freedom which brought the party into being. Let us see how this works out practically. Suppose a miracle happens, which will not happen in 1952, namely, that the Republicans win Texas, Florida, Virginia and Louisiana. They will thereby win fifty-six electoral votes.

Practical Politics

But the concessions which they would have to make to the reactionary South on the civil rights issue would automatically alienate important segments of voters, and in particular Negroes, in eight pivotal Northern states with 221 votes in the electoral college. Leaving aside morals and ethics, such a losing deal would not be considered by anybody with reasonable common sense.

Or look at it from another practical point of view. There are today in the United States 22 million registered Democrats, 18 million Republicans and 16 million Independents. Not only must the Republicans hold their own, but they must also win over to their cause 11 million of the independent voters. These independents, moreover, largely reside in pivotal states like Ohio, Illinois, California, Michigan, New Jersey, Massachusetts, New York and Indiana—all states in which the Negro voter clearly holds the balance of power.

How long will it be before the Republicans wake up? How long will it be before the infamous coalition of conservative Republicans with Dixiecrats in opposition to amendment of the Senate rules, FEPC, just labor laws and enlightened social legislation ends?

Jordans Home From Travels

Bishop Frederick D. Jordan, former minister at Ward A.M.E. church, accompanied by Mrs. Jordan, returned this week from attending the Chicago Annual Conference presided over by Bishop George W. Baber at Coppin church, Chicago; and the Colorado Annual Conference which Bishop Walker closed Sunday night at Salt Lake City.

At the Chicago conference, Bishop Jordan was observing the 30th anniversary of his admission to the conference. He presided over several sessions and delivered the closing sermon.

Among others on the program was James L. Flournoy, teacher in the Los Angeles public schools and president of the Los Angeles-Bishop Club.

AME Zion Bishops Feted

Several hundred members of the AME Zion Churches of the Southwest Rocky Mountain Conference gathered in the dining hall of the First Church, Los Angeles, corner of Pico boulevard and Paloma avenue, Tuesday evening, September 16, 1952, to say farewell to Bishop and Mrs. William C. Brown, and to welcome to this area Bishop William A. Stewart.

Rev. E. C. Walkins, pastor of Brown Temple, Los Angeles, was chairman of the committee on arrangements which prepared and served free to all a delicious chicken dinner. Rev. Walkins also acted as master of ceremonies and enlivened the evening with his sparkling wit. Rev. Roger Willis, pastor of Martin Chapel AME Zion church, gave the invocation as the group sat down for dinner.

Expressions of fellowship for Bishop and Mrs. Brown and words of welcome for Bishop Stewart were given by outstanding members of the community, Rev. G. W. Reed, representing the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance of Los Angeles, of which he is the president; George A. Beavers Jr., chairman of the board of directors of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company; Mrs. Alma Covington, principal of the Ascot Avenue school. Musical numbers for the evening furnished a delightful interlude between speeches and included a baritone solo, "Bless This House," by Richard Howard, president of the Youth Council of Pasadena and a member of Randolph AME Zion church of that city. The choir of Logan Chapel, San Diego, sang a spiritual dedicated to Bishop Stewart and numbers for Bishop and Mrs. Brown. Mr. Smart as director and Mrs. Smart at the piano, highlighted the renditions.

Rev. Theodore P. Headen, presiding elder of the Los Angeles-Phoenix District of the Southwest Rocky Mountain Conference introduced the ministers of the district and their wives. In addition to the pastors already named the following were in attendance: Rev. S. H. Marion of First Church Los Angeles, Rev. B. Leon Carson of Logan Chapel, San Diego; Rev. William Coleman of Randolph, Pasadena, Rev. I. S. Thorne of Monrovia, and Rev. Potts of Carver Memorial, Los Angeles. Rev. Maunder of Hanford, California, and Rev. Burkhardt of Prescott, Arizona, were unable to be present.

Bishop and Mrs. Brown will take up residence in Brooklyn, New York, sometime next year. Bishop Stewart is temporarily domiciled in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Collins, 1377 E. 33rd Street, Los Angeles. His permanent residence on the Pacific Coast has not yet been announced.

She lives in a land of glory
'Mid the blue and gold of the skies.

And we, who have known and loved her
Whose passing has brought sad tears,

LOS ANGELES FAVORITE SON IN GREAT NEED OF SUPPORT

Sam Ishihara, owner of B. & B. exclusive clothiers, is spearheading a drive to bring Mal Whitfield to Los Angeles, Oct. 3, to be one of the 43 California Olympic Track Champions to be received and honored by the Helms Athletic Foundation.

Whitfield, two-time Olympic champion and a former Jefferson High school student, is now stationed in Ohio attached to the Army Air Force.

His company commander has assured him a week's leave of absence so he might get here. However, the brilliant athlete is without funds and asks Ishara if he would kindly promote a drive in our community so he might be on hand to receive his outstanding award.

This Corner highly endorses Mr. Ishihara's idea of getting the community behind this drive. The sum needed is only $300 dollars. The money can be sent to Sam Ishihara at 4362 S. Central Ave., or the California Eagle at 1050 East 43rd Place. The money must be in our office by the 30th of this month. Let's not fail !!

Joe Black's Magic Pitching Solved Dodgers' Weakness

By EDWARD "ABIE" ROBINSON, SPORTS EDITOR

Black Magic is what the baseball fans are whispering about Joe Black, 6-ft. 2-in. Brooklyn Dodgers pitching genius. The amazing big fellow clinched at least a pennant tie for his team when he, making the first start of his career after 54 relief appearances, held the Braves to just three hits in an 8 to 2 victory.

Black came from nowhere to carry the feeble Brooklyn pitching staff on his big broad shoulders all during the season. He's appeared in more than a third of the Brooks' games and is directly or indirectly responsible for the winning of approximately thirty of them.

The former Morgan State College graduate is being rated as the most valuable player on the team and maybe in the entire league. You can easily understand why the Ebberts fans are singing the refrain of "Old Black magic. Hail the champions!!!

Carlos Bernier of Hollywood easily copped the stolen base crown with 65, against Bob Boyd's 31.

Sport 'Pics' Score Mark

A fact-finding committee of Los Angeles motion picture exhibitors in cooperation with the Motion Picture Industry Council has released the results of a recently-completed survey. It reveals that the motion picture industry batting average of hits for the period between September 1951 and August 1952 is the highest in its history.

During that period, it is claimed, the stage scored a success in only 13.1 per cent of plays produced on Broadway. Only 6.1 per cent of the total number of books published hit the best-seller list. Motion pictures led all competitors, according to the survey, with 18 per cent of productions scoring as hits at theatre boxoffices.

There were 73 new stage shows produced on Broadway in the 12-month period, of which only 10 were classified as successes, the survey shows. At the same time 1039 books were published and 63 became best sellers. In the popular song field, the number of hit tunes to the total output was only one-half of one per cent.

BAY MEADOWS, SAN MATEO, Calif.—Don Rebelde, the champion from Mexico City, will make his next start in the Peter Clark Handicap this weekend at the northern track.

RAMSEY

He scored his first victory in this country last week, defeating the fleet-footed Danae from the stable of Helen L. Kleaston by half a length, running the mile in 1:36 1-5. Don Rebelde is the son of Alsab-Eva B. In Mexico City he was the outstanding star. Among his other achievements were victories in the Derby Mexicano, which he won by 15 lengths, and the Handicap de las Americas. He will be one of the choices for the Peter Clark Handicap, although two other good 3-year-olds will face the Mexican champion. They are stranglehold and Horse-Trader Ed, who ran one-two in the Colma Handicap last Saturday. Stranglehold ran the six furlongs in 1:10 flat, beating his stablemate by a nose.

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

HERE AND THERE—Hear tell Herman Lewis of Seattle batted a juicy .350 and slammed home 22 round-trippers, with Phoenix in the class S loop. . . . The Philadelphia Phillies of the so-called city of brotherly love, finally broke the iron curtain this week, when it signed Theodore Washington, 18-year-old shortstop, an erstwhile star of the Philadelphia Stars of the Negro National Loop. . . . John Davis, of Cincinnati, one of the country's best known Negro bike riders, was slated to be one of the more than 100 entrants in the National Board Track Cycling Championships here in Oakland Tuesday night past.

Bob Boyd, ex-LA Ram flankman, is doing everything but selling popcorn in the bleachers, with Tay Brown's San Diego NTC team. He raced 95-yards in a recent contest for a score. . . . John Henry Johnson, ex-St. Mary's College star, paced the Arizona State team to its first win over Hardin-Simmons in their 12-year series. The big fullback returned a punt 63 yards for a score and he racked up another score from seven yards out. . . . Hear tell Oregon's Emmett Williams, all but gave UCLA fits down there Saturday in the Coliseum. . . . The report has it, he was perhaps the outstanding defensive player on the field. . . . If UCLA's Don Moomaw and Terry Debay were on the field, I know they were, Williams must have turned in at least an all-Coast performance.

If Brooklyn's virtually ineludible rookie hurler, dynamic Joe Black, doesn't win the National League's "Most Valuable Player" award, it's my honest conviction that he should win "Rookie of the Year" laurels hands down. His 3-hitter Sunday, racking up his 15th win of the season, left nothing to be desired. . . . Lorenzo Piper Davis, the Oakland Oaks' Mr. Everything, had his day here Sunday, and he played all nine positions. The fans gave him a $450 War Bond and numerous other gifts. . . . As of now, this is 25 and 5.

BERKELEY—The University of California Bears are loaded—and two fine defensive halfbacks from L. A. by the names of Sammy Williams and Thelton Henderson, former Poly and Jeff all-city products respectively, are big parts of that load. . . . These lads virtually sent Cal supporters into ecstasies, with brilliant displays of defensive play. . . . Williams literally made tackles, and broke up pass plays all over the lot. He was the author of the game's most spectacular inception. . . . Little 5-ft. 8-in. Henderson made two emphatic saves in the dying moments of the game that killed COP's hopes within the 10-yard stripe. . . . Cal's coming opponents can't afford to just design their defense to stop Johnny Olszewski, for the likes of Don Johnson, Paul Larson, Bob Brooks and Bill Powell will run them raggy. . . . Charles Washington, big 218-pounder, senior from Houston, Texas, played a lot of defensive tackle for COP.

Silhouettes Plan Rummage Sale, Halloween Fete

The first Fall meeting of the Silhouettes, Kappa wives, was held on Sept. 24 at Kappa Kastle.

At the meeting, plans were made for presenting a rummage sale and Halloween party. The group announces that it will work out several other projects in preparation for the Kappa conclave which will be held here next year.

The group is also asking for full cooperation from all its members at future meetings and on projects. Jeri Tarver is reporter for the members.

Women's Auxiliary Builds Big Program on Goodwill

Greetings and welcome were extended by Dr. Geraldine Woods, president of the Los Angeles Auxiliary of the Medical, Dental, and Pharmaceutical Association of Southern California, which convened to open the official 1952-1953 year at the palatial St. Andrews Place home of Dr. and Mrs. James Rawls.

The cabinet of the local auxiliary includes: Geraldine Woods, Ph.D., president; Edith Bailey, Ph.C., vice-president; Lydia McCain, Ph.C., recording secretary; Molley Jackson, corresponding secretary; Ruth Estwick, financial secretary; Lois Carr, treasurer; Helen Garland, parliamentarian; Evelyn Griffin, chaplain; Lady George Forde, historian; and Emily Brown Portwig, Ph.C., National Far Western Zone director.

The ladies are busy formulating plans for their 26th year. They have expressed enthusiastic desire for making a bigger and better program and hoping each month to offer a worthwhile contribution to our community.

The Auxiliary's membership is composed of the wives of medical doctors, dentists, and pharmacists, or women engaged in the various professions mentioned. They have a great interest in improving better community conditions and to prove helpful to needy organizations.

Auxiliary's theme, "Building Today for a Better Tomorrow by Sharing Our Good With Oothers," is a challenging one. Thus a calendar of spot events and projects for the forthcoming year is in the making by competent chairmen and their committees.

The highlights of the evening were the welcoming into the auxiliary of eight new members; presentation of a corsage to each; and the recognition of old members and faithful workers.

Emily Brown Portwig's report, from the Annual Convention of the National Medical Association which was held in August in Chicago, was given. The National Association presented the local women's auxiliary with a certificate of merit for outstanding civic work. Also their annual scrapbook took second place at the national convention.

Visiting the group was Mrs. Stevens, wife of Dr. A. M. Stevens of Oklahoma.

Members and guests were delighted in hearing the highlights and points of interest of Mrs. Eloise Davis' vacation abroad. Also present at the first meeting was Dr. Lucille Fisk, who recently returned from Europe.

The hostesses for the evening were: Mmes. Maggie Rawls, Janice Edwards and Dr. Geraldine Woods. A lovely social hour was held at the end of the meeting, and all present expressed themselves as having enjoyed a most profitable as well as pleasant evening.

Non-Ammonia Hair Lightner Hits Market

This is the era of glamorous hair . . . when hair coloring is as much a "must" as lipstick if Eva's daughters are to make the most of their feminine allure.

Lightening the hair to add lustre and highlights or to achieve fashionable blonde and silver streaks is easy now with the use of a hair lightener conditioned with oil. This revolutionary new product contains none of the harsh ammonia always found in old-fashioned hair lighteners and its wonderful oil base helps leave the hair soft, lustrous and conditioned.

The coloring stirs into a creamy foam which is applied to the hair and shampooed out when the desired degree of lightness has been achieved. It washes out quickly and easily and leaves the hair in a soft condition.

Women may lighten their hair as little or as much as they please, depending upon the length of time the preparation is left on the hair. Delightfully fragrant, the shampoo has no old-fashioned ammonia fumes to provoke tears and cause discomfort and its creamy consistency avoids any dripping or overlapping.

To use as a retouch on hair already lightened, apply to the hair nearest the scalp with a swab or applicator. It is interesting to actually watch the hair lighten and to stop the action at the desired shade by rinsing out the application.

Color can make hair dramatic and attractive and so effective that there is no longer any excuse for drab-loking tresses. Today's woman seeks a modern and glamorous approach to beauty and this new product makes possible the stylish hair effects that are so interesting a part of the current fashion scene.

Eugene Swayne ANSWERS

My hair has always been terribly soft and I have been told it has no body. I still have my fine baby hair and it turns back quickly. Lately I have been doing it myself. My scalp is also very dry. What can I do to help these conditions? W.H.

Doing your hair yourself is not helping matters. Have a reputable beautician give you a series of scalp peels, steam treatments, beer rinses or henna pack. You might suggest that your beautician inquire about Persulan scalp treatments.

I am choosing a color for my hair. Is complexion an important factor? L.B.

Complexion plays a very important part in a person's appearance, so when you color your hair you either add or dertact from your appearance. In selecting the color, remember to make sure your personality, dress and make-up blend.

Our faces would be fain
To feel once more upon them

CHARACTER OF THE WEEK .....

A noted cover or uncover girl (depending upon the fee) is to be congratulated upon "collaring a slave" in a forthcoming "flicker." What with Hollywood seemingly dispensing with the use of black pepper wherever food is served, shooting more daylight scenes to avoid the black of night and even using black ink on scripts . . . any bit handed "brown brothers and sisters," be it ever so humble or lacking in authenticity, at least affords some grits and gravy . . . or postpones a weekly trip to the "bread station."

The only alarming thing about the "slave girl" is the canned copy recently released by a studio relative to her Irish (potato), French (poodle) Scotch (whiskey whenever a sponsor is near) and German (measles) ancestry. Does she not realize that all of us are composed of some extracts (vanilla or otherwise) which makes us truly American?? The GREATEST FACTOR considered by the studio in the "slave girl's" selection was that she was a Negro.

Who can tell, perhaps some day a direct and authentic report will be released from the publicity offices of Hollywood . . . without fantasy and fabrication on the party of the subject or the copy writers.

BOOMING. The movie house attendance via more personal appearances by big names in the film capital is the latest step being taken by MGM, one of the major studios. Frank Whitbeck, powerful MGM figure, is behind the idea. He is directing his attention to the vast population in our outlying areas such as Whittier, the Crenshaw district, and Glendale. We certainly hope he hasn't overlooked such areas as South L. A. and the Central Avenue section. Popular Lionel Hampton always turned them away at the boxoffice and Hamp has been doing it for years. MGM's stars are a big favorite in this section.

HIGH NOON, with Gary Cooper doing an excellent job in putting over a story in western style is a must see item for every Negro. It is about a thing called "gratitude," a word many of us have taken for granted. I dare you to spend 50 cents to see it.

BILL DAVIS, the big man at the Red Hut Broiler, started shifting his employees around to give you better and faster service. We think that Davis rates 15 or 20 minutes wait without blowing your top about the poor service. Just look around you and think of his payroll and how it is kept in the community that helps give you and me that good living we are enjoying. That is more than I can say for that joint on Jefferson and Crenshaw and you wait an awful long time for that service. Oh well! Will we learn?

MICHAEL FANNING is the big difference in comparison to the way the Police and Fire department are operated in such a shameful and disgraceful manner. The post office offers the rare distinction of getting the best out of its Negro brains, whereas the city department lets them idle by refusing to upgrade them. However, we thank them: As some of our finest lawyers were once cops and firemen.

THE LAST trip to Honolulu by a well known sportsman up San Francisco way was made recently. The powerful narcotics office slapped a stiff case of dope peddling against him and his sky blue Cadillac. Both will be out of gas for a spell.

NUMBERS KING isn't seen around his haunts since the T-men started drawing in the line. This ex-eastside operator has turned his wheel over to the so-called boys. However, he keeps a watchful eye on the profits. They say his next love is golf and he'll back any enterprising young golfer. When he's not backing golfers he is backing some heavy games in his westside home. Dont' go knocking on his door to be let in because these games are strictly for the big fellows.

AS USUAL, business is booming in two westside buildings. They say the gal is okay and you can get track odds. Rumors have it that she is in Chicago, San Luis Obispo and other points. My guess is she is very much active. There is a certain eastside lad who wouldn't think of missing those 7th Avenoo poker games.

THAT ex-Elbow Bend waitress must have won out over the other waitress as we spotted her piloting the realtor's sky blue caddie. They claim she picks up the keys anytime. We wonder who snatched at the monthly note? Just a question, lady!

FLEEING in a rush were two L. A. lawyers when they heard the fire alarm sound at the Hotel Scaggs. The Scaggs is known for its many sudden blazes. We wonder what the lawyers are known for?

MONEY BELT. We thought they went out with the war. At any rate a lady stopping at one of our hotels claimed only $70 was missing from a money belt which contained over $300. Better be careful, she might come back after the rest.

TONI PACKERSON, who operates New York's swank Beauty Box and one of the reasons why they say New York brownskins are like the song "Mary Jo." We hope Toni finds time to show our man Elihu McGee one place he hasn't been in the big city. He leaves for the apple Thursday, which means he is there now. Give him a ring at Hotel Statler. You won't want to meet a finer guy. McGee's got $400 riding on the Dodgers.

MEN'S TOGS. Earl _____, a former Jefferson high school student, opened his nifty Men's Shop on W. Jefferson and Western last Sunday. We certainly hope our brothers encourage this youngster to stay by dropping in and picking up a shirt or suit. Earl and his business can be a great inspiration to our youth. And don't think for a second he doesn't know his business.

12 O'CLOCK HIGH. That's a mighty nice feeling at that time of day and you can get that feeling Sunday. Dorothy Knox and her attractive club members are holding forth at 1918 S. Harvard from 7 to 12. You will like Belle Drinkard, Flo Turner and Janice Finnley to name a few.

DAN JAMES and his charming wife were making over old friends at Lionel Hampton's banquet in the Hotel Hawkins the other eve.

SOMEBODY LOVES ME is a neat musical package done up in grand style by Betty Hutton and newcomer Ralph Meeker who will soon be singing his way into the hearts of thousands.

TIMMIE ROGERS, a Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin all wrapped up in one, is heading for the east and a return trip to the coast. He tickets for one of the big Hollywood spots.

HOT SHOTS Skeets and Amiel are half here. Skeets is flicking around town after being away some eight years. Amiel is booked in Chicago and will head west soon.

THE ROCKETS, Johnny, Baby Face and Andy got as far as 500 miles from home and had to do about-face for New York. They tossed a coin—home or the world series. The Dodgers won again. Everybody hits the big town this time of year. Let me look at my chances of going there in "Able's Corner."

ETHEL SISSLE should be pulling into her St. Nicholas Street apartment about the same time a certain guy hits New York. She left the Lord Calvert Hotel in Miami, Fla., last week.

BERNICE GILBERT, eye-catching bundle of joy, was the reason why two guys almost fell into Lena Torrance's swimming pool fully clothed when she made her entrance. Sporting a Enkray jacket with a pencil stripe shirt, it more than brought out her finer points.

MRS. VINCENT HARRIS, pretty wife of dress designer Vincent, caused a mild sensation with wine-cerise created by hubby. A masterpiece in the very latest in women's fashions. This all happened Sunday evening at the Bon Bon Social Affair.

ROY SUTTON, one of the best liked waiters on the avenoo, is sporting crutches. His right leg was broken in an accident recently. Stuff Crouch is heading a group that will toss a benefit for

Hines Talent Quest Begins on Tuesday

On with the show!

That is the battle cry now at Club Oasis where, for the past several weeks, a hassle with a theatrical union had blocked the nitery from putting on a talent hunt under the direction of famed piano maestro Earl "Fatha" Hines.

The hassle has been settled and the quest for new performers will definitely be started on Tuesday evening, September 30, and continued on as previously announced.

With the decks cleared at Club Oasis, several scores of young local hopefuls will get the chances they have long waited for.

Among the participants already entered in the trials are: Dwight Davis, Frances Willis, "Grandpappy" Jones, Ford Hubbard, James Gibking, Percy Smalley, David Dotson, Lonnie Satan, Hal Arnold, Tony Carvin, Jimmy Valentine, Foreststorn Hamilton, Charlie W. Harris, Leonard Pacheco, Bill Dearson and the Chord Clefs.

Other atrists interested in competing may file applications at Club Oasis, 3801 S. Western avenue, or by phoning PArkway 4887.

The talent hunt will be conducted three nights (Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday) of each week up to a late Fall date. On each night of the contests, a top winner will be named on the basis of outstanding performance. The top winners from any one week will compete against each other on the Monday night following their trial appearances for a finalist title. With the finalist title goes a week's work at Club Oasis and an excellent chance to land a permanent spot in a package show Earl Hines plans to lead on a tour of the U.S. early next year.

Singers, dancers, comics and novelty act performers are eligible to enter the trials. But all contestants must be professionals.

Spanish Dancers At Philharmonic On October 11

Antonio and Luisa Triana, recognized as leading exponents of the authentic dances of their native Spain, will appear in their fifth annual Spanish Dance Festival in Philharmonic Auditorium on Saturday night, October 11.

The event will be the first of the outstanding musical attractions to be presented this Fall by the Community Civic Music Association of Los Angeles under the management of Moss, Hayman and Wilson.

A special feature of the dance recital will be the appearance of the celebrated dancing star of Mexico City, Lourdes Chavez.

Olegna Fuschi, concert pianist and Jeronimo Villarino, guitarist, will also be featured.

Antonio and Luisa Triana build their exciting and colorful program around the music of de Fall, Turina, Albeniz and Breton.

Tickets for the Philharmonic Audiorium dance recital are now on sale at the auditorium box office and at all Mutual Theatre ticket agencies.

Auditions for singers and musicians interested in performing with the Southeast Symphony and Grand Opera Company will be held at George Pepperdine College Tuesday, Sept. 30, from 2 to 5 p.m., and Friday, Oct. 3, from 7 to 9 p.m., by Dr. Henri Elkan, musical director for the new Southeast project.

A board of judges composed of Dr. Russel Squires, head of Pepperdine's music department; Mrs. Helen Phillips Cordell, R. B. Tresville and Mrs. Helen Worthum will aid Dr. Elkan in making final selection of talent.

For additional information call Dr. Squires, Music Dept. Pepperdine College, PLeasant 3-1411, or Dr. Elkan at WEbster 1-9835.

NOT SO GAY PAREE—Grim terror is the theme of "Assignment—Paris" as evidenced by the expressions of stars Dana Andrews, Marta Toren and George Sanders at Downtown Paramount.

JOAN CRAWFORD, a terrificly talented thespian, is fearful witness to a climax of horror, in Joseph Kaufman's "SUDDEN FEAR," in which she is starred. RKO Radio distributes this tense romantic drama opening Wednesday, October 1st, at the Downtown RKO Hillstreet, Pantages and Fox Beverly Theatres.

Joan Crawford Has Top Role In New Movie, 'Sudden Fear'

Joan Crawford, outstanding star in the front ranks of popularity, has one of her top-flight roles in "Sudden Fear," the story of a marital adventure that tread the quicksands of tragedy. Opens Wednesday, October 1, RKO-Hillstreet, Hollywood Pantages and Fox Beverly Produced by Joseph Kaufman and directed by David Miller, the film mounts steadily in suspense, to crash into a sensational climax.

Colorful Setting

The story concerns a woman playwright who is also one of San Francisco's wealthiest heireases. Her marriage, after a whirlwind courtship, envelopes her in a happiness she has never before known. Into this idyllic situation comes her shocking discovery that she is the victim of a diabolical murder plot.

Her hysterical terror is replaced by her desperate determination to thwart the plot, and she uses her dramatist's skill to arrange a plan whereby the culprits will be caught in their own net. However, her knowledge of the human equation is faulty, and by the time she discovers her own inability to carry through a key part in her plan it is too late for anything except the most desperate sort of temporizing . . . with death the penalty for failure.

Jack Palance, widely known Broadway actor who gained Hollywood fame for his work in "Panic in the Streets," "The Halls of Montezuma" and "Shane," is featured opposite the glamorous star. Co-featured with him are Gloria Grahame, portraying a girl out of his past, Bruce Bennett, as the heroine's legal advisor and silent admirer, Virginia Huston and Touch Connors.

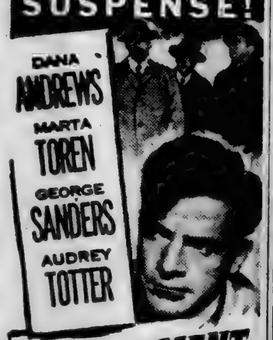
Tense Drama Opens Today At Paramount

Assignment: intrigue and terror! in Columbia Pictures' "Assignment—Paris," starting today at the Downtown Paramount and Hollywood Paramount theatres.

Starring Dana Andrews, George Sanders, Marta Toren and Audrey Totter, "Assignment—Paris" brings vividly to life on the screen the danger encountered by an American newspaperman on assignment in Europe—an American newspaperman on the track of a story that changed the course of history.

Based on the Paul Gallico novel, "Trial by Terror," "Assignment—Paris" travels from the bistros of Paris to the back-alleys of Budapest over a road paved with suspense.

Written for the screen by William Bowers, "Assignment—Paris" was directed by Robert Parrish and produced by Samuel Marx and Jerry Bresler. It was filmed in the locale in which it happened—Paris, city of espionage and intrigue.



As a companion feature, the Downtown Paramount only is offering "Oriental Evil," while the Hollywood Paramount screens a Columbia "special" entitled "Hollywood Fun Festival."

PERFECT PROGRAM REPLACEMENT

DARLING DORIS DAY and her "solid summer static session" over CBS radio each Sunday afternoon was the greatest three months replacement. The "Doris Day Show" substituted (sorry it was not permanent) for the antiquated AMOS 'N' ANDY SHOW.

AT LEAST our unemployment will be somewhat decreased starting Sunday, September 28 at 4:30 p.m. when the two "A's" permeate the atmosphere.

"SUDDEN FEAR" AT RKO

EDDIE MECK, popular and proficient publicist of the RKO Hillstreet, Hollywood Pantages and Fox Beverly Theaters, announced that starting Wednesday, October 1, the great JOAN CRAWFORD will open in "SUDDEN FEAR," a fine follow-up of Frank Yerby's outdoor classic, "The Golden Hawk."

TELEVISION SECONDARY

It is through the unceasing efforts of the good brother EDDIE MECK of the RKO chain, and Mort Goodman, Bernice Johnson and MYRVYN DAVENPORT, downtown Paramount personnel, that attendance records are still being set . . . whereas in all other places . . . television is far and above the very best bet!

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

HAVING HAD SO MANY persons inquire as to good places to WINE and DINE throughout Los Angeles, your CALIFORNIA EAGLE is happy to recommend the following establishments whose major considerations are: efficiency and economy:

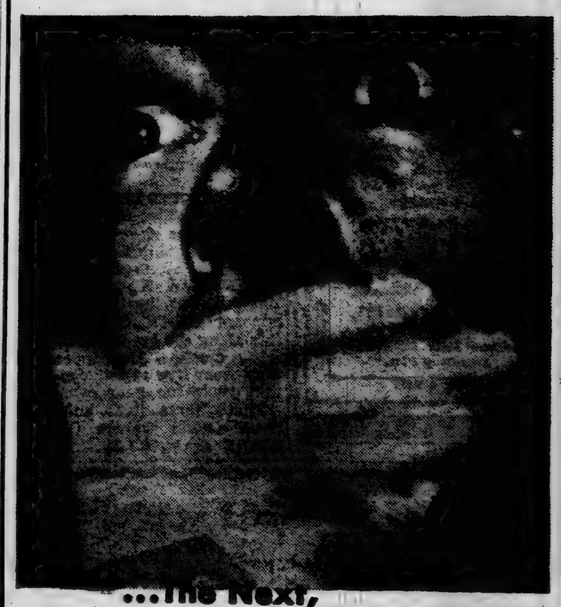
WESTSIDERS may appease their hunger throughout the day or night at Bill Davis' RED HUT BROILER, corner of 31st and Western Avenue. Featuring a modernistic COFFEE SHOP, spacious DRIVE-IN, with ample free parking at all times, and the latest ICE CREAM PARLOR. All are guaranteed to satisfy your most critical food needs.

SOUTH AVALON BLVD. boasts of the unique DOLL HOUSE, at 5117, near South Park, and on the main floor of Agnes Corsey's attractive Southway Hotel. Here from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. your entire family may enjoy the best of food and drink at unequalled economy. One trial will convince you. Of course Agnes Corsey's DOLL HOUSE is open Sunday and caters to parties and clubs.

U AND I CAFE, and is located at 49th place. For over 20 years U AND I CAFE, and is located t 49th place. For over 20 years "MAMA" ADAMS has catered to the most healthy appetites, both day and night; and friends tell friends by an even larger score and day after day they come back for more.

DELICIOUS HOT BREADS, home-made pastries, fresh-made coffee or tea and genuine home-cooked Southern meals, as low as 52 cents each . . . including three fresh vegetables . . . are but a few of the many reasons why people walk,run, ride or fly . . . in order to buy at U and I. The best recommendation possible for marvelous "MAMA" ADAMS' U AND I is: "Here's the place that's nice and neat . . . where EVEN THE CHEFS MEET TO EAT!!"

Aspirants Sought



The formation of a Negro symphony and grand opera company was announced this week by the Southeast Symphony Association.

The association has retained the internationally known Dr. Henri Elkan, formerly with the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company, to organize and train musicians and singers for both orchestra and opera.

Patterned after Philadelphia's famous Dra-Mu company, the local group, headed by Mrs. Mabel Massengill-Gunn, plans to hold auditions immediately in order to gain the talent necessary.

Auditions will be held Tuesday, Sept. 30, from 2-5 p.m. and Friday, Oct. 3, from 7-9 p.m. at George Pepperdine College, 121 W. 70th street, L.A.

The barrel that can't be emptied

Many a man can remember reading by kerosene lamp. For however fast time speeds by, it hasn't been very long since lamps played an important part in lighting the homes of the West and Standard was a small company proud of its ability to get from 5 to 10 gallons of its principal product, "coal oil," from a barrel of petroleum.

Count a few of the hundreds of products made from oil today! ¶ Almost every item in this picture, for example, comes directly or indirectly from oil: (1) the enamel on stove, refrigerator and cabinets, (2) the dryer in the wall paint, (3) the plastic in the clock cover, curtains, apron, (4) the linoleum, (5) the drainboard covering at the sink, (6) the detergents used in washing—(7) the finish on the car and (8) the synthetic rubber of its tires. ¶ Add to these asphalt for paving and roofing, insecticides, cosmetics, dry cleaning solvents . . . and, of course, steadily improving gasolines and motor oils . . . and you begin to see how important oil has become. ¶ More than 1100 products are now being made from petroleum by Standard Oil Company of California, and others are on the way. We have spent $35,000,000 in research and technical service in the last 5 years alone . . . to make a barrel of oil truly "a barrel that can't be emptied" in terms of the good things it contributes to your daily living.

Minister Silent on Ouster

Suqve, controversial Rev. Branham, who slipped into town quietly over the weekend, wasn't talking this week about demands for his ouster; nor were his fellow members of the cloth. But everyone else was.

The ouster demand by some representatives of his flock, the anonymous letter being circulated, and rumors of a new escapade with Mrs. Hazel Simpson, reputedly one of the town's leading bookies, were on everyone's lips.

Rumor False

The Eagle can state positively that there is no truth to the rumor that Rev. Branham was arrested in Chicago as a result of a fight in which he beat up Mrs. Simpson.

The Eagle has learned authoritatively that Mrs. Simpson was in Los Angeles during the entire time that the dynamic pastor of magnificent St. Paul's was in Chicago for the Baptist convention. She left the city at about the same time Rev. Branham returned.

On Monday, the Eagle was able to gain admittance to St. Paul's for an interview with Rev. Branham, but he threw little light on the questions everyone is asking.

No Comment

The reporter had to hurdle scrutiny by two secretaries before she was ushered into Rev. Branham's presence. The smil-

Killer Says Stabbing Was An Accident

By EDDIE LEE KING

"I didn't intend to kill him. He just died after I cut him."

That's the way Le Roy Coklin Calvin described his fatal stabbing of Joe Nerva, who died after a wild cutting spree that took place at 1349 E. 41st place Monday.

The brawl climaxed a drinking spree in which both men, who live at that address, participated and at which Gerald Holman and Arautra Lee, both of 141 E. 49th street, were in attendance.

Witnesses told the police that the quarrel began in the living room but were unable to tell why it started. They said that Nerva, described as an Indian, was sitting in a chair when he and Calvin started arguing.

At the height of the quarrel, Nerva called Calvin a vile name and the latter grabbed a knife out of his pocket and swung at his opponent, cutting his arm. The two men then grappled and Calvin was stabbed about the body.

When interviewed, Calvin in the County Jail where he is held on murder charges without bond, didn't want to talk. He kept on repeating that he hadn't intended to kill his opponent and that it was all an accident.

Ike Gets Dixiecrat Okay From Byrnes

NEW YORK—General Dwight Eisenhower, Republican presidential nominee, and Governor James Byrnes, the nation's leading Dixiecrat, spoke together, lunched together and apparently found themselves in complete agreement on national issues. Byrnes introduced Ike to a crowd that gathered on the capitol steps at Charleston, South Carolina, and punctuated his address with wild rebel yells.

The Eisenhower meeting was in direct contrast to a Richmond, Va., appearance last week by Governor Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential aspirant, which saw the South hold its first mixed political rally with Negro leaders featured in prominent places on the platform.

The contrast carried over into what the candidates said, too. Stevenson told his Virginia audience that he stood firmly on the civil rights planks of the Democratic platform while Ike skirted the issue with a statement that "equality of opportunity was part of the vision of the men who founded our nation."

Stands on Platform

In his Richmond speech, Stevenson told his enthusiastic audience that "In the broad field of minority rights, the Democratic

Frontal Attack Set On 'Equal' Schools

WASHINGTON—In a frontal attack on the segregated public school system, attorneys for the NAACP last week filed briefs with the United States Supreme Court asking for a reversal of lower court decisions upholding Jim Crow schools in South Carolina and Kansas.

Two cases are scheduled for the October 14th calendar—one originating in Clarendon County, S. C., in 1950, and the other in Topeka, Kans., in 1951.

In the Topeka case, the court found that "segregation with the sanction of the law has a tendency to retard the educational and mental development of Negro children and to deprive them of some of the benefits they would receive in a racially integrated school system."

Race Irrevelant

The NAACP briefs, filed on September 23, contend that race as a factor in the admission of students is "a constitutional irrelevance," and urge the Court to ban by judicial decree state laws providing for racial distinctions in education.

The new trend of U. S. Supreme Court decisions has been towards recognition of the unconstitutionality of statutory segregation, the NAACP contends. "Since 1940," the Topeka case brief asserts, "in an unbroken line of decisions, this Court has clearly enunciated the doctrine that the state may not validly impose distinctions and restrictions among its citizens based upon race or color alone in each field of gov-

Fear immediately spread that

Tenant Charges Minister Tries To Evict Her

Rev. Frederick Mitchell, pastor of the Cosmopolitan Christian church, 32nd and Hooper, was accused this week by one of his tenants of attempting to force her eviction from her home by turning off the gas and making it impossible for her to cook for herself and five children.

Rev. Mitchell, however, denies that he has been unkind to the tenant, Mrs. Norma Oliver, 1724 W. 35th place, and claims that on the contrary he befriended her and came to her aid, but that her children have wrecked his home, that she has taken over rooms formerly rented to another family, and that she said she was leaving the premises.

Shared Bath, Kitchen

Mrs. Oliver said that she and her five children, ranging in age from 7 to 17, shared the six-room

Woman Alters Tale; Identifies New G.I.

The second suspect in the now famous Laguna Beach July 20 rape case flatly denied in an interview Monday night that he committed any attack on anybody, or that he was in the beach city when the alleged crimes were being committed.

Following the interview which took place at the post brig of the sprawling Marine Base at Camp Pendleton, an NAACP representative and an Eagle photographer agreed that "Marine Pfc. Donald E. Todd does not bear the slightest resemblance to Army Pfc. Donald Martin."

No Similarity

Todd is the second serviceman to be "positively identified" by the woman who claims she was the victim of three separate acts of rape during a single hour, in the presence of four members of her family.

"Donald Todd does not resemble the first suspect in facial features, complexion, voice qualities or general bearing," stated NAACP Field Secretary Lester Bailey after he questioned and observed the marine for nearly two hours.

California Eagle photographer Irving Smith took several pictures of Todd in order to compare

Fire Housing Manager in Red Inquiry

One Negro employe of the Los Angeles Housing Authority was fired and another answered questions and kept her job in appearances before the legislative Committee on Un-American activities last week.

Fired for refusing to answer the question as to whether or not she is or has been a member of the Communist party was Adina Williamson, assistant manager of Jordan Downs project. She stood on her constitutional right against self incrimination.

Also appearing before the Committee was Mrs. Jessie Terry, manager of Pueblo Del Rio project, who told her questioners that she had unwittingly associated with Communist front groups many years ago but who denied affiliation with the party. Her appearance was voluntary and she was not subpoened, Committee Chairman Hugh Burns said.

Beavers Tells Policy

Miss Williamson's discharge followed a pattern outlined by George A. Beavers, acting chairman of the Authority, who told the Committe that any employes refusing to answer its questions would be discharged. Two other employes who refused to answer questions also got the axe.

In his appearance, Beavers testified that the Authority had made a determined effort to keep Communists out of its employ and that it welcomed any inquiry

Appeal to Save Irvin Filed In Florida Groveland Case

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—An appeal from the second conviction and death sentence of Walter Lee Irvin, surviving defendant in the tragic three-year-old Groveland case, was filed this week in the Supreme Court of Florida by attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Citing numerous errors committed by the lower court in Irvin's second trial, which was ordered when the first conviction was upset by the United States Supreme Court in April, 1951, the NAACP brief says: "From start to finish the trial below denied ... (Irvin) the fairness and justice which our Constitution and this court accord all litigants, especially defendants in capital cases."

The NAACP asserts that "the denial of change of venue, the prejudicial admission of improper evidence, and refusal to admit admissible evidence, compounded by prejudicial argument and the refusal to grant necessary instruction," all conspired to deny the defendant his constitutional rights.

The Groveland case made headlines from its beginning in July, 1949, when a wave of terror flared up in the central Florida area after four Negroes were accused of the rape of a seventeen-year-old farm wife. One of the men, Ernest Thomas, was shot and killed by a sheriff's posse; the other three were tried in an atmosphere of tension and race hate and were convicted. Charles Greenlee, the youngest, was given life imprisonment and did not appeal. Irving and Samuel Shepherd were sentenced to death.

ing, confident, handsomely attired prelate was seated behind his large mahogany desk, flanked by another secretary and Irving Cook, a trustee of the church.

Rev. Branham replied to the reporter that he thought it rather unusual that he should be interviewed about the recent Baptist Convention.

When asked how many sessions he had attended, he said: "I don't think I should comment on that."

To the next question as to when he had returned to Los Angeles, he answered: "I don't feel I should comment on that, either."

Interview Ended

At this point, the cleric closed the interview with the bland remark: "I don't think I should answer any other questions." The reporter was ushered to the door by Trustee Cook.

Tuesday noon the Baptist Ministerial Alliance held its regular meeting. Rev. George Cofield, head of the Alliance, after the meeting, advised the Eagle that the Branham controversy had not been considered. "The Alliance," he said, "does not go into the internal matters of its member churches."

Rev. Cofield said that he, himself, had "no comment" to make on the most recent Branham flare-up.

Rev. C. F. Kyle, pastor of the newly formed International Baptist Temple, who resigned from the Baptist Ministerial Alliance at the time of the shooting of Rev. Branham by Mrs. Simpson, also was noncommital.

Should Sign Names

Referring to the writers of the unsigned, three-page typewritten letter, circulated during Rev. Branham's absence from the city, Rev. Kyle remarked:

"If they (the writers) believe in what they are doing, they should come out in the open. I won't have any part in anything when people won't sign their names."

Mrs. S. A. Williams, wife of St. Paul's former minister, whose resignation from the church she served for many years was commented on in the sensational letter, is out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Defend Branham

Loyal members of Branham's flock stoutly defended their minister. Those who wrote the letter, they claim, represent only a few disgruntled elements, jealous of the tremendous prestige of the popular pastor, the magnificent church made possible by the devotion and donations of his loyal members, and the offerings that continue to pour into the collections.

But other sources insist that some members, embarrassed by the minister's "escapades" which, they say, "discredit the house of the Lord," are quietly dropping away.

Mockery

The controversial letter charged that since Rev. Branham has been its pastor, St. Paul's has changed "from a spirit-filled house of worship to what can be termed now a mockery to religion, a disgrace to the Baptists, a refuge for sinners and a shame in the sight of God."

An explanation for the circulation of the letter stated: "For the sake of the ecclesiastical profession and to help keep the graft, corruption and crime and the unholy trend from true religion away from God's work, we humbly in Christ submit to you a copy of an open letter to St. Paul's Baptist church—showing a situation which you can easily ascertain is a definite threat to churches and religions of all creeds and denominations."

False Leadership

Claiming that the church now has "false leadership," the letter criticized the custom of requiring every person in the service to pass by the collection plate after "half a dozen offerings already have been lifted from the pews."

The practice of buying a candle at the candlelight service for a blessing from Rev. Branham was scored. ". . . perhaps we can buy ourselves into the Kingdom of Branham, but certainly not into the Kingdom of Heaven."

The letter accuses Branham of using the church as a steppingstone to personal wealth, power and prestige. It contends that the pastor's loose morals, escapades and scandals are the talk of the nation.

"We have listened to St. Paul referred to as 'The Modern Church,' but should even a modern church condone and hide the Rev. Branham, Prof. Hines and scandal?" The letter recounts the gossip about the pastor's wife shooting at him in an embarrassing situation and tells how the membership refused to believe it was so.

Rev. Branham is heavily censured for attending church socials and remorselessly skipping prayer meetings.

"We concealed and destroyed the anonymous letter from an Eastern city stating that Hazel and Branham were openly dancing and drinking in a well-known night club, possibly on funds raised right in St. Paul. And now when he is 'accidentally' wounded by this same person, we accept without question two different versions of the accident."

Perhaps the most significant paragraph in the letter referred to the resignation of Sister Williams, wife of the late pastor of St. Paul, Rev. S. A. Williams. "The question has never been openly asked . . . why she left St. Paul after the years of religious work and toil in our midst. Why she was never permitted to have her say in an open church that loved her and Rev. Williams for many years? Where are the hundreds of other old and loyal members of St. Paul?"

Not Re-united, Mrs. Cannady Tells Reporter

Reports of a reconciliation between divorce-bound Camille and Atty. George Cannady are completely false, Mrs. Cannady told The Eagle Wednesday afternoon.

Though she regrets the end of their 10-year marriage, Mrs. Cannady said, ruefully, "Sometimes one has to cut off an arm to save the body."

The beautiful actress filed suit for divorce from the well-known attorney a few weeks ago with Cannady filing a cross-suit last week. Both charge cruelty.

An order to show cause hearing which was scheduled for Department 8 Monday was dropped, Mrs. Cannady said, making it unnecessary for her husband to bring his financial records to court at that time.

Housing Hearing

that would help it ferret out evidences of subversive activities.

Following the close of the hearing, Beavers announced that the Authority would hold a seminar this Friday with committee members in which supervisory employes would be told how to recognize evidences of Communist activities and establish a working procedure for the screening of applicants for jobs.

Sharing the rostum with Hawkins were Supervisor Leonard Roach, Adolphus Clay who discussed cross-filing or Prop. 13; Everett Carr, Prop. 3, the tax on educational institutions and John Watson Prop. 11, Old Age Pension. Ethel Bryant introduced the guest speaker.

Cross Filing Hit by Yorty

"Cross-filing is a system of confusion, the two-party system is not. The primary election, to which cross-filing applies, is a party event. But in California you find thrown together on every ticket Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists and I.P.P.'s. And from the ticket you can't tell the party of any one of them. People are supposed to know, but too many of them don't know," Congressman Sam Yorty said Monday in a plea for a Yes vote on Proposition 13.

"The natural confusion leads to fraud. There are too many candidates who trade on this very large degree of public ignorance of party identities so they become 'all things to all men.'" ernmental activity where question has been rasied."

In support of the legal briefs, the NAACP filed an appendix consisting of a social science statement on the effects of segregation and the consequence of desegregation.

The statement was drafted and signed by 12 of the nation's foremost social scientists who agree that "regardless of facilities which are provided, enforced segregation is psychologically detrimental to the members of the segregated group" as well as to the majority group members. They further asserted that removal of segregation can be and has been "carried out successfully in a variety of situations although outbreaks of violence had been commonly predicted."

Change Rape Story

them with ones taken earlier of Donald Martin.

Changed Story

Mrs. Virginia Jackson, alleged victim, had at first "positively identified" Army Pfc. Martin, former featured dancer, as her attacker. The case against Martin blew up when he produced an airtight alibi that he had been at Fort Ord, 400 miles distant, at the time the attack was said to have taken place. Charges against him were dropped Sept. 18.

By that time, it seems, Mrs. Jackson had "positively identified" Todd as the man who had forced his way into her home by a ruse, and proceeded to bind the other members of her family and then attack her.

Todd is to be charged with four crimes of rape, kidnap, grand theft and armed robbery, previously charged against Martin, as soon as he is released from the camp brig, where he is now serving time for absence-over-leave. He will be released from the brig Nov. 28.

Not Informed

It was learned that photos were taken of Todd by police prior to his being identified in a line-up with several other Negro servicemen. Todd told the NAACP and the Eagle representative that he did not know that Deputy District Attorney James P. Devine was the man who might prosecute him until after the Deputy D. A.'s second visit to the marine base. During these visits Todd had been photographed, questioned and given a series of lie detector tests.

The details gathered by the NAACP representative in his interview with Todd are being studied by the organization's Legal Redress Committee. The decision as to whether or not the case comes within the scope of NAACP legal defense policy will be made by the Association's lawyers.

Tale of Crime

According to Mrs. Jackson and her husband, a Negro in a soldier's uniform feigning illness, gained entrance to their Laguna Beach cottage on the night of Sunday, July 20. Armed with a pistol, the intruder is said to have lined up the other four members of the family and tied them each with strips he tore from bed sheets.

He is alleged to have then raped Mrs. Jackson on three occasions within an hour, robbed Mrs. Jackson, and then kidnaped Jackson, forcing him to drive the family car into Los Angeles in the early morning hours. After the husband complained that he had no money with which to return to Laguna Beach, the suspect is said to have given him $2.50.

There is no explanation as to why the "kidnaped" and his "abductor" were not apprehended by the police during their 64 mile drive from Laguna Beach to Los Angeles.

Todd will be served a warrant issued by the District Attorney of Orange County upon release from his present confinement. The marine is serving the present 90-day sentence for absence from the camp between the dates of July 20 and July 31. July 20 is the date the alleged crimes were committed. His present sentence will end on Nov. 28. Todd was scheduled to ship out with his unit to Korea prior to his being implicated in the Laguna Beach case. He has no previous record.

Two Women Killed When Home Burns

Two women, mother and daughter, lost their lives this week in flames which swept through the rear bedroom of their home at 738 E. 91st street.

Miss Evelyn Briggs, 46, died Friday in the midst of the blaze.

Her mother, Mrs. Grace D. Briggs, was dragged from the fire by a neighbor, Charles Poindexter, of 755 E. 91st street.

She was rushed to General hospital, but was unable to rally from the burns received. She died at the hospital Monday.

Poindexter said the alarm was spread by a postman and that he and another neighbor, Mrs. Virginia Alaniz, of 728 E. 91st street, ran to the rear door of the house where they discovered Mrs. Briggs lying on the floor.

They dragged her outside, and summoned an ambulance.

Ralph Briggs, Mrs. Briggs' husband, was at work when the fire occurred.

Playground Director Trial Set for Nov. 6

Carl O'Neal White, prominent Compton playground director, pleaded not guilty Tuesday to charges of molesting an eight-year-old child Sept. 8.

Trial was set for Nov. 6, in Dept. 45.

White's bail of $1,000 was continued. He is being defended by Atty. Edward Hardwick.

The popular playground head was accused of molesting a little girl left in his charge. The child's grandmother, with whom the little girl and brother live, told police that the child told her she hadn't had a good time at the playground.

Upon questioning, she reportedly revealed that White had sent her brother to the store, and meanwhile had taken her into the playground office, partially undressed her, assured her "it wouldn't hurt," and made advances to her. She also said that White had taken off some of his clothes.

Medical examination revealed that the girl had apparently not been raped, but might have been molested.

White has denied the story, claiming he had taken the two children into the office to give them salt pills when they were overheated from playing in the sun, and that they had followed him around.

Judge Bans Jimcrow in S.F. Housing

SAN FRANCISCO — Contention of San Francisco Housing Authorities that the agency can jimcrow Negroes in one project and exclude them from all others was overruled Wednesday by Judge Melvyn I. Cronin.

The issue was presented to Judge Cronin on a hearing for a writ of mandate to compel admission of Negroes to so-called "white" projects was sought by three residents of the city through Attys. Terry Francois, Nathaniel Colley and Loren Miller. They charged the racial segregation violates California's public policy, laws and constitution and runs afoul of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Attorneys for the Housing Authority rested their legal defense on the 50-year-old "separate but equal" doctrine which was given Supreme Court sanction in a case involving validity of a law requiring segregation on that state's railroads.

Miller, who argued the constitutional phases of the case, refuted that argument with the claim that California does not follow the "separate but equal" doctrine. He pointed to the recent overthrow of the miscegenation law as buttressing his claim. He added that the rule had never been applied in the housing field, in any event.

"Even if the separate but equal rule were the law of this state," Miller argued, "it is plain that there is no state law requiring racial segregation in housing and in the absence of a state law no city or other political subdivision can enforce racial segregation."

Franklin Williams, NAACP regional secretary, explained that the Authority has pursued its segregation rule for more than 10 years. Negroes are admitted to the Westside Courts project only, he said. Chinese are effectively segregated in another project in the Chinatown section.

After Judge Cronin rules on legal aspects of the case, the question of eligibility of the particular applicants will be heard. The taking of such testimony will require several days, lawyers said.

BRING HONORS TO SOUTH CENTRAL AREA—Left to right, Mrs. Alv Vistaunet, Mrs. Thomas Pinchback and Mrs. Lenora Henderson, division chairmen for the coming Community Chest campaign, were among first in the city to secure needed section chairman who will recruit neighborhood workers. Bias Aided by San Bernardino Court Ruling

Restaurants in San Bernardino county which discriminate received encouragement this week when Judge C. O. Thompson denied damages to five Los Angeles residents who had sued the Arky Barbeque, 835 Foothill boulevard, Fontana, for refusal to serve.

The judge found no cause for judgment, apparently because the cafe owners, Milton W. Blair and his wife, Mrs. Hazel N. Blair, had dodged the issue instead of openly admitting that they won't serve Negroes. They had claimed that the cafe was a "club," and therefore not required to serve the public.

Those who had sought damages were William H. James, a World War I veteran, of 118 W. 45th street; his wife, Mrs. Geraldine James; their three-year-old son, William H. James II; Lee Toran, of 116½ W. 45th street; and his wife, Mrs. Ethel Toran. They were represented at the trial Aug. 21 by Atty. Ralph Kaplan.

Judge Thompson delayed rendering a decision pending submission of additional points of authority. The decision was handed down Sept. 25.

house with two other families, all of whom used the same bathroom and the same kitchen. For these accommodations, she said, she paid $60 a month rent.

One of the families moved out a short time ago, and she moved some of her furniture into the vacant rooms. Up to that time, Rev. Mitchell had paid for the utilities, but now expected her to pay these bills in view of the fact that she had moved into the additional space.

The gas bill wasn't paid, and the gas was turned off a week ago. Since then, Mrs. Oliver said she has had neither hot water for washing, nor the use of the stove to cook food for her family.

She said she would like to move out because of the poor condition of the house, but though she has looked for months, she has been unable to locate another place which she can afford and where the landlord will take five youngsters.

Both tenant and landlord made numerous charges against each other, and both are apparently convinced that their position is thoroughly justified.

Health Officer Harold Scott, of the Southwest District office, who visited the home Monday in the company of Rev. Mitchell, told the Eagle this was his first visit to the house, that he found the gas and lights turned off, a condition of overcrowding, and the walls pock-marked with holes, apparently the result of shots from a toy gun.

The Santa Ana Branch will act as host to the special conference. The sessions will begin at 12 noon, Sunday, October 5, at Johnson Chapel, A.M.E. Church, 2nd and Bristol Street, Santa Ana.

Manager Screams, Frightens Burglar

A burglar who lost his nerve, dropped his gun and fled, held up the manager of Reeves Shoe Store, Central and Vermont, early Sunday morning.

Capture of the suspect, Waymond Raleigh Collier, was made possible by the alert action of a citizen who happened to be driving by at the time, saw Collier running, and followed him. Collier was standing nonchalantly beside a telephone booth in a grocery store when police arrived.

Collier, police reported, made a full confession, and was arraigned Tuesday.

Hid in Store

Before the store closed for the night, Collier had entered and managed to hide. The store closed at 10 p.m. Shortly after midnight, certain that he was not in danger of being seen, Collier emerged from his hideaway, opened the cash register, and took a bag containing about $30. As he went out, he left the door ajar, proceeded to his home, 1700 Trinity street, got a gun from his roommate, and returned.

He had seen a locked safe during his prowling in the store, and had apparently returned to get its contents. Again he waited.

About 8 o'clock in the morning, the manager, Lee Warren, 676 Rampart, entered. Collier, according to police, jumped out from hiding, leveled the gun at Warren and demanded he open the safe.

Screamed and Ran

But Warren began to scream instead and, despite the fact that Collier held the gun at him, ran out of the store, police claimed.

This apparently disconcerted the burglar, and he became frightened. He dropped his gun, and also bolted out the door.

As he was running down the street, he was noticed by St. Clair Carrington, 1309 Paloma street, who happened to be driving by.

After police arrested Collier, he took them to his room and there they reportedly found the cashier's bag, which still contained some of the money rifled from the cash register.

Nursery School Tackles Problem Of Child Bias

What can parents do to promote continuing good feeling among children coming from the minority groups represented in our community?

This problem is being tackled by the Heights Cooperative Nursery School, 3875 City Terrace Drive, which is holding a panel discussion, "Children Free of Prejudice," Oct. 3, at the school, at 8:15 p.m.

Participating in the panel, second in a series, are people engaged professionally in the every day practice of teaching children. The speakers will be representatives of the Negro, Mexican-American, Jewish and Oriental groups.

The school has also established a fund to be used for partial scholarships in order to stimulate minority representation in its membership.

Richards' Togs Sets the Pace For Smartness

Recognition and consistent patronage are by no means accidental . . . but are the untiring result of intelligence, tenaciousness and an invincible effort. The good brother, IRVING MOSS, handsome husband, fine father and vital factor in the community, and likewise owner and operator of RICHARDS' CLOTHES FOR MEN, 540 South Broadway, in the heart of the Angel City's retail apparell area, is indeed a master craftsman. Following an extensive college education, Irving familiarized himself with every phase of the clothing industry and cheerfully imparts over a quarter of a century of knowledge.

HIGH STYLES at LOW COST

Fully cognizant of the fact that Los Angeles is still a forty hour per week metropolis, the average "take home pay' is less than $50.00 weekly, for three persons to a household, Irving Moss realized that even though these self same men, had a very good conception of clothing, definitely there was a limit to their "loot"!! (money).

Because the majority of the working men were, 'poor and poorer,' Irving incepted a No Down Payment Policy and based his success on a large quantity of business at a minimum of cost.

Baby Boy for the William Watkins

The new arrival is the first for the Watkins and is named William B. Watkins II, after his father.

Veteran Named To Fill Post of Florida Martyr

Named last week to replace the martyred Harry T. Moore as director of the Tampa, Fla., branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Robert W. Saunders of Tampa faces the unenviable task of defending minority rights in the dangerously vicious territory.

It will be recalled that the late Harry Moore and Mrs. Moore both died as the result of the bombing of their home following his courageous insistence on basic civil rights for Florida Negroes.

Saunders, World War II veteran, is one of two new appointees to the NAACP field staff. The other is Charles McLean of Winston-Salem.

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields — 10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

Editorial

What a Difference!

The difference in outlook of the two major party candidates for president on the civil rights issue was aptly illustrated by what they said—or didnt' say—on their recent tours of the South.

The best that General Eisenhower could manage was a mealy mouthed reference to the language of the Declaration of Independence. He made that reference only once in the course of a dozen Southern speeches, although he took time out to repeat over and over again that he liked the sound of the Rebel yell.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson went to Richmond last week and told his audience in the one-time capital of the Confederacy:

"In the broad field of minority rights, the Democratic party has stated its position in its platform, a position to which I adhere. I should justly earn your contempt if I talked one way in the South and another elsewhere."

There was another contrast in the major speech delivered in Atlanta by Eisenhower and the one delivered by Stevenson in Richmond. Gov. Herman Talmadge was on the platform with Ike. And while Herman basked in the General's reflected glory, the vice-chairman of the Georgia Republican Committee—a Negro—stood out in the crowd trying to shield his eyes from the sun. It is a fair assumption that neither Herman nor Ike wanted a Negro on the platform. At least there were none there.

In Richmond, Negro leaders sat on the platform, along with the Governor of Virginia. The meeting was an unsegregated one in which Negro voters mingled freely with the crowd. It is a fair assumption that Governor Stevenson and his managers wanted Negroes on the platform.

These may be small things in light of the great issues of the campaign, but they are symptomatic things. They show that the Republicans are willing to go the whole hog to cater to the South. They show what lies back of Ike's repeated assertions that he is in favor of state's rights. They shed light on his opposition to FEPC and his refusal to take a forthright stand on civil rights.

The Dixiecrats know where Ike stands. That is proved by the open endorsements he has received from Governor Byrnes of South Carolina and Governor Kennon of Louisiana, two bitter-enders in the fight against civil rights.

Byrnes is the leader in the fight to retain Jim Crow in the South. He is the man who pushed a bill through his state legislature requiring the abandonment of public schools in the event the Supreme Court outlaws segregation. He has waged a long and bitter fight against every attempt Negroes have made to gain the ballot, outlaw the poll tax or get federal anti-lynching legislation. In short, Governor Byrnes is against everything we're for and for everything we're against. He knew what he was doing when he put his blessing on Eisenhower.

The Republican party has become the vehicle of the reactionary Jim Crow South and Eisenhower is its prophet. Negro voters who want the nation to continue its progress toward the goal of full citizenship have an easy choice. That choice is Stevenson.

Benighted San Francisco

Those of us who live down here in the southern part of the state have been told over and over again by the residents of 'Frisco—excuse us, San Francisco—that that northern city is a veritable stronghold of liberalism and decency in race relations.

What with having to explain the bombing of the William Bailey home last spring and to suffer through an assorted variety of other outbreaks of intolerance there have been times when we have had something of an inferiority complex about the matter.

But no more. We've just heard with amazement that the Housing Authority of the City and County of San Francisco—to give it its full title—runs a Jim Crow racket in public housing. It has one project, safely tucked away in the "Negro district," where it houses all Negro public housing tenants and another one in Chinatown for its Chinese. The other half dozen are reserved for whites only.

That's bad enough. Down here in benighted Los Angeles we have long since adopted, and acted on, the sound American assumption that the state and state agencies have no business and no constitutional or legal right to discriminate against American citizens on the basis of race or color or creed or place of national origin.

But the worst thing we've heard about San Francisco is that its lawyers reached up in court last week and tried to convince a California judge that the out-worn "separate but equal" doctrine is the law of this state!

That, we think, is carrying the matter too far. Our lawyers tell us that the California Supreme Court has turned thumbs down on that segregatory device for lo, these many years. They point out that it tied the judicial tin can on our old anti-intermarriage law and that it has cracked down on labor unions, employers and public bodies who've been bitten by the Jim Crow bug.

Maybe news travels slowly up north or maybe the San Francisco Housing Authority has been so busy Jim Crowing around that it hasn't browsed around in the law books in the past decade.

However, we always try to be charitable about these things and we're glad to issue this invitation to the Housing Authority of the City and County of San Francisco to come on and rejoin California and the Union. If the Authority will just give up the Jim Crow ghost it has been hugging to its bosom for the past 10 years we'll just let bygones be by-gones.

And if it will make the Authority feel any better we're even willing to go right ahead and resume our old feeling of inferiority complex and stipulate, as the lawyers say, that San Francisco is a far more tolerant place in the field of race relations than Los Angeles.

See You at the Polls

Los Angeles has more Negro voters on the registrar's list than at any other time in its history, thanks to the efforts of this newspaper and a large number of churches, labor unions, and other public-spirited organizations.

In light of the fact that everybody agrees that California is a doubtful state and that the election is going to be close, it is possible that these voters may tip the scales as between General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson. When that fact is viewed along side of the statistics which show that California has 32 electoral votes which may decide the issue for the whole United States, it is apparent that what the Negro voters do, or don't do, may well determine the fate of the country for the next four years.

We're on record with the belief that Governor Stevenson is the man who ought to be elected to the presidency. We hope that the majority of California voters agree, but whether they do or not we think that each voter ought to cast his ballot.

As Negroes, we have spent a fortune in time and effort fighting for our right to vote in the United States. We've done that because we know that a voteless people is a helpless people. We have the right to vote in California. We ought to use it.

Nobody can cast your vote except you, yourself. And you ought to be planning right now to cast that vote on November 4.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

When Dr. Channing H. Tobias recently delivered his stirring address to the annual conference of the National Urban League in Cleveland, his remarks won headline attention from most of the nation's daily press and the entire address was broadcast over a nation-wide radio hook-up. Next day a number of congratulatory messages were received at the Cleveland sessions, including a wire from Houston, Tex., in which a radio listener declared that the Tobias address had given him "new courage in a time of deepest crisis."

Evidently the officials in our State Department also read or listened to the address; but evidently they were inspired, not by courage but by panic, for a week or so later it was announced briefly in the daily press that Dr. Tobias had not been reappointed as delegate for the United States to the United Nations Assembly, but that Mrs. Edith Sampson of Chicago had been brought back to fill his place. Of course, this latter is a gross misstatement. Mrs. Sampson could never fill the place which Channing Tobias occupied at the Paris deliberations. To do so would require many years of rich experience imposed upon a base of deep, perceptive intelligence such as displayed by the head of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, and there are very few of us who will ever achieve this.

The change-back from Tobias to Sampson must inspire even the most optimistic among us with despair regarding our State Department. It is now evident that the Department's present heads will never be even superficially intelligent in handling the race question. From Secretary Acheson on down, the State Department has shown a remarkable capacity for fumbling the ball in the midst of the most important diplomatic plays. Its officials simply do not know the score in race relations—which, I suppose, is natural when they pride themselves on being far removed from the hurly-burly of our bustling national life. But this time the State Department has not been satisfied to fumble—it has thrown the ball away after beginning what could have been a most satisfying gain.

When Channing Tobias was appointed UN delegate a year ago, there was universal approbation. For here was a distinguished citizen with a long record of public service, seasoned in the arts of public debate and diplomacy and possessed of a stout-hearted courage unusual in public life. It is unnecessary to record that Dr. Tobias' performance at Paris justified the expectations of his public. One member of a UN delegation remarked to me recently: "I have seldom been so proud of anything or anybody as I was of the way Channing Tobias handled himself at Paris. When he defended his country he didn't let his race down; when he interpreted the Negro's situation in America, he told the true facts but in such a way as was least injurious to his country's interests. You expect to find skill in a diplomat, but such skill, plus such courage as Channing Tobias showed—that is unusual!"

The more trusting among us would think that the State Department would have appreciated this service, and that Dr. Tobias might have been "promoted" from alternate to regular delegate status. But it would be expecting too must of State's leadership to look for such a shrewd master stroke. Actually, Dr. Tobias probably made his colleagues very unhappy, in spite of their pleasant words, precisely because he DID handle himself with skill, plus courage. Our diplomats appreciate skill in modest amounts, but courage induces horror—angry horror if displayed by a Negro! At any rate, the Urban League speech evidently decided matters—eloquent as it was, and bluntly emphatic.

I am informed on good authority that Dr. Tobias was not asked to serve again, and knew of the substitution only after it was a fact. He could not have left the Phelps-Stokes Fund again for so considerable a leave, but he was neither asked to do so nor notified that he would not be asked. Now, decency in governmental administration does not permit people of Channing Tobias' caliber to be handled in this fashion. It is not ungallant or unfair to suggest that there is absolutely no comparison between the quality of public service to be had of a Tobias and that which Mrs. Sampson can offer. Why the change, then? Why the brusque disposal of a distinguished, gracious public servant? There is only one obvious answer. State Department does not want from Negro leadership real statesmanship; it wants mouthpiece service, and will change and change until it gets this.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I take this occasion to extend my commendation to your publication for its increasingly superior service to the many people who rely on the Negro press for information. I have found in the relatively short space of time that I have been acquainted with the Eagle only one point of disagreement; this during the recent primary election when you advocated support of Negro candidates (in a few isolated cases) on the basis that the need for such representation was of greater importance than representation by others of greater ability.

Personally, I feel that Negro representation in the various legislative bodies is of immense importance. But I would not consider supporting a candidate merely because he and I belong to the same racial group. Such a position is wholly inconsistent with our crusade against discrimination. I feel too, that we can do more harm to our crusade by adopting the "Eisenhower blanket endorsement" attitude than by a thorough examination of the qualifications of those who seek our support.

To effectively represent our people in the legislature requires more than a dark skin and a dogmatic desire. It requires some special knowledge, training, and experience. Of course, I need not refer these things to you for on a re-examination of your position, I am quite certain that our point of conflict will be eliminated.

By comparison, I find that your publication far excells the other major Negro publications in this area. It is indeed refreshing to look at the front page of the Eagle and find stimulating stories of what is going on politically in the country. And when reading your editorial copy I am not enraged by the thought that the editor has been influenced by the Los Angeles Times.

We need more and more people who are courageous enough to give us the truth and to keep us informed as to the things that are important to the future of the Negro in the United States.

Sincerely,
Charles B. Protho, Jr.

Dear Sir:

Our recent Annual Brokers Picnic was a major success and we feel much credit is due to the consideration and cooperation that was received from your newspaper.

At our last membership meeting of the Consolidated Realty Board it was put into the form of a motion that a letter be mailed your office expressing our appreciaion for the cooperation that your staff gave us in helping to make the picnic one of our most outstanding events of the year.

Herewith is submitted our vote of thanks for your cooperation and efforts as requested by the membership body of the Consolidated Realty Board meeting of August 29, 1952.

Sincerely,

Post-Mortem on Mister Nixon

The Republicans are tremendously impressed with Richard Nixon. They think him even superior to the late William Jennings Bryan. Bryan campaigned on "free silver." Nixon campaigns on free cash.

If, as Ike says, Richard Nixon "stands higher than ever before," it's because he's just bought himself a new pair of elevator shoes.

When Nixon suddenly ended his northwest stump to go on TV, Senator Harry Cain carried on for him. Cain tried to raise Republican spirits. Nixon had raised cash, and the Democrats just plain raised cain.

Nixon apparently accepted more than just the candidacy of vice-president.

Before Ike tries to clean up the "mess" in Washington, D. C., he should try to clean up the mess in Whittier, Calif.

It's only a rumor that the Republicans will promise an additional income tax exemption of $18,235 for each tax-payer.

Death of a Salesman

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

In the State of California there are approximately 250,000 Negro voters. More than 150,00 of these voters reside in the greater Los Angeles area. These voters are predominantly Democratic and whether the state goes Democratic will depend on a number of these votes the Democrats are able to get out.

Thus far little has been done to arouse the necessary interest for a great turnout of this vote.

To date, almost without exception, the same old political hacks and a few new ones have met and set up paper organizations. They have given out with the same old tired ideas of setting up headquarters and organizing precinct workers. An impossibility. Such organizational work needs at least one year.

It seems that most local politicians are not nearly as concerned with winning the election as they are in having some great "white father" think they were responsibile for "getting out the vote."

They hold "showboat meetings" at which they outline grand organizational plans and talk learnedly about getting out the vote. The key to these "showboat meetings" is the fact that they are held for the benefit of the downtown politicos, and one of them is always in attendance. Not knowing any better, he goes back downtown thinking that the black vote is well in hand, and promptly forgets about it.

To date, I've only attended one meeting that was seriously concerned with raising money and using it in some way to help get the vote out. No downtown politicians were present for anyone to try to impress and the meeting was a success. Some money was raised and others pledged money and work. Not to show-off, but because they are genuinely interested in continuing the 20 years of progress that the country has enjoyed under Democratic administrations.

The bitter jealousies and personality differences that exist; the meetings and counter meetings that are held, and the fast and furious infighting and throat-cutting that goes on would be ludicrous if it weren't so tragic. Winning the election this year is so important, that such childish maneuvers cannot be tolerated and it is high time that those who head the state and county Democratic Central Committee wake up to the fact that they are sleeping the election away. There is no such thing as line organization in Southern California and every helping hand must be used. Someone higher up in the party organization must make the decision that the so-called "legal organization" cannot allow prima donnas to block an effective "get the vote out campaign."

In the midst of this despair of the local hacks hacking away for a little crumb of personal prestige, comes refreshing news from the North. A working political organization has been set up and has already invaded the valley as far South as Bakersfield setting up the framework of a "get the vote out" campaign.

Dan Collins is chairman of this activity. Andrew Hatcher is doing a fine job of liason and leg work for the committee. Perhaps the key to the whole situation is that W. Byron Rumford, the only elected Negro in Northern California, a member of the State legislature, is content to be vice-chairman of this potent organization and is willing to pitch in and let others work and assume responsibility. Rumford suffers from no fears of "not getting credit." He is interested in getting a job done.

However, the reflection of organization and cooperation among the Negro wing of the Democratic party is a reflection of the general organization or lack of it. To the extent that Rumford, Collins, Hatcher and Mrs. Tarea Pittman can come up with ideas and working lines to meet the peculair political climate we have in California, so is the general organization under Senator George Miller Jr. doing a fine job of organizing to assure a large Democratic turnout November 4.

However, in spite of Southern California's "little giants" who who do such magnificent jobs of throat slitting and blocking, a strong "get the vote out" campaign is under way.

The Stevenson campaign has not caught on in California like it should, and the responsibile politicians on the national scene know why. Don't be surprised if they adopt the Republican slogan "it's time for a change" and bypass the local "bigwigs" in the interest of inspiring a large Negro vote in the coming election. His vote is the key, make no mistake about it, and the big boys have too much at stake to let it go without even asking.

Peoples Independent Celebrates 37th Anniversary

The Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of Peoples Independent Church of Christ, closed the 37th church year of his congregation with due solemnity as he delivered an "End of the Year Sermon." The church was filled to capacity for the occasion.

Peoples Church of Christ was organized and founded by the late Rev. Napoleon P. Gregg in October of 1915. Rev. Gregg served as pastor for 20 years. Upon his death in 1935, the present pastor, Rev. Russell ascended to the pulpit and the pastorate. The Rev. Russell has served as pastor of the church continuously since his elevation.

The anniversary celebration, which will last throughout October, was preceeded by scores of outstanding events. Notable among these was the barbecue luncheon served by the Progressive League of the church on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Goldie Johnson, 208 West 56th street. Mrs. Adelaide Bibb is president of the league and reported a large sum raised.

On Sunday afternoon, the Organ Guild of the church, Mrs. Naida Bonner, president, presented a successful Fashion Show at the Elks auditorium. Theme of the show was "Review of the Brides." Mrs. Fannie Benjamin is guild advisor.

The closing services Sunday, were also marked with significant occurances. Mal Whitfield, American Olympic team champion, was among the visiting worshipers who arose to acknowledge an introduction that ended with him pledging additional support to the Boys Home project of the church. Whitfield received a tremendous ovation.

Members of the Jolly Girls Social Club, were visiting worshipers in a body. They also made contributions to the Boys Home.

Each Sunday during the month some type of celebration is expected to take place.

New Bible Great Event Of Century

The nationwide attention given to the Revised Standard Version of the Bible marked its publication Sept. 30 as probably the greatest religious event of a generation. The first presentation was to the President of the United States at the White House Friday, Sept. 26. President Truman received a specially enscribed Bible from Arthur Flemming, general chairman of the National Capital Bible Observance on Sept. 29. American church leaders, Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Chief Justice Vinson, 40 members of the diplomatic corps and 10,000 members of Washington churches participated in the Washington observance at the Armory. President Truman was unable to attend because he was absent on a campaign speaking tour.

On the following evening, Sept. 30, millions of church people from more than 100 denominations participated in a nationwide celebration of the publication of the Bible, revised by a committee of scholars under authorization of 40 churches and the National Council of Churches. The latest figures show 3,147 celebrations scheduled in the U. S., Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Latest news from the publishers, Thomas Nelson and Son: more than 1,000,000 Bibles sold before its appearance—a new American publishing record.

James Bailey is chairman of the committee for the day's activities, and features of the day include a spiritual feast at the 11:00 a.m. service, with special music by both the Cappella and Gospel Choirs, and featured soloists as preparation for the message by the minister, the Rev. Baxter Carroll Duke, whose subject will be "Coming Home For What?" This service will reach its high point in the observance of the Lord's Supper.

Immediately after the worship service there will be a basket dinner. Each member is asked to bring his dinner to church and eat it there, and to share it with the visitors.

Stephens in Pulpit Vacated by Jordan

Dr. Fred E. Stephens, who was recently assigned to the pastorate of Ward A. M. E. church, corner of Magnolia and W. 25th street, by Bishop D. Ormonde Walker, was greeted by a capacity throng Sunday morning when he delivered his initial sermon as the resident minister. The noted young clergyman, who in 18 years advanced from a mission church in Georgia to become the shepherd of the historic St. James A. M. E. church in St. Louis, Mo., where he erected an imposing structure, made a profound impression upon the vast throng as he outlined various concepts entertained by people regarding God.

"Ours is a great God," said the dynamic minister, "great enough for all the ills of this troubled, chaotic and broken-hearted world, great enough to unite men in a crusade for right and righteousness, great enough to inspire men to die for truth and live for that which is more precious than life itself. Except men have a consciousness of a great God they have nowhere to turn when disaster otherwise would overwhelm them."

Dr. Stephens succeeds Dr. Frederick D. Jordan who recently was made a bishop.

At the close of the eloquent message there were 12 accessions to the church, including the pastor's wife, his two daughters and his son. Music for the service was rendered by the senior choir of the church. Seldom has a local congregation received a new minister with more fervor and enthusiasm than Ward A. M. E. received Dr. Stephens Sunday morning.

He presented his life-long friend, Dr. Charles Satchell Morris II, renowned preacher, educator and social worker, who welcomed him to Los Angeles on behalf of the entire populace of the city and who assured Ward A. M. E. church that the right man had come to the right place. He declared that Dr. Stephens will make a profound impact upon this community from the viewpoint of civic, business, moral and spiritual values.

Dr. Stephens will formally be presented to Los Angeles at the huge banquet to be held in the church parlors on Friday evening, October 17.

JORDAN PREPS FOR PRACTICE GAME WITH JEFF.

With only four lettermen on hand, Jordan's new head football coach, Kenneth Moy, faces a herculean task in getting his charges ready for their opening practice game with the powerful Jefferson eleven on October 10 on the Democrats' field.

After finishing fifth in last year's league standings, the Bulldogs are hopeful of a better fate this season, despite the meager 180-pound average in the line and a 174-pound backfield. Assisting Moy as line coach will be veteran Bill Pothoff, a graduate of U.S.C. Tom Williams, ex-Los Angeles State ace, is slated for coach duties.

Although the actual starting lineup is still very much in doubt, Coach Moy has named the following tentative opening eleven:

LE—Harold Young (179); LT—Tony Ledesma (227); LG—Tony Castaneda (157); C—Silas Wright (181); RG—Henry Gozales (163); RT—Joe Lewis (180); RE—Harvey Collins (175); Q—Elmer Ross (169) or Perry Williams; LH—Williams Walker (170); RH—Walter Lowe (181) or Thomas Reese (175); F—Anthony Grace (184).

Chesterfields Easy on Throat, Tests Reveal

Liggett & Myers, the first tobacco company to offer smokers a premium quality cigarette, Chesterfield, in both regular and king size, claimed another first last week with the release of a report by a responsible consulting organization which reveals that the nose, ears, throat and accessory organs are not adversely affected by smoking Chesterfields. This report, the first of its kind ever published about a cigarette, gives the findings of a continuing study.

The report states that early this year a group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day (45 per cent of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to 30 years—for an average of 10 years each).

At the beginning and at the end of the six months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ear and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six months period by smoking the cigarettes provided," which were Chesterfields.

Eoline Thornton, top ranking sepia woman golfers, turn in year's upset of the annual Pasadena city feminine links championship Tuesday when she defeated defending champion Mrs. Johnny Weissmuller of Lakeside, 3 and 1; in the first round at Brookside Park.

Mrs. Thornton, representing the popular Vernondale golf club of Los Angeles, took advantage of Mrs. Weismuller's putting lapses and outscored the tourney queen, 40-40-80 to 43-39-82. Mrs. Weissmuller, who was four down at the turn, cut the lead to two by the 16th but her tee shot on the short 17th found a trap and Miss Thornton closed out the starting victory there. This was Thornton's most important tourney victory in her brilliant golfing career.

Texas College In 13-13 Tie

ARKANSAS A M & N STADIUM, Pine Bluff, Ark.—Sept. 27.—Fred Long's spirited and resourceful Texas College Steers rallied for 13 points in the last half here Saturday night before 3,500 frenzied football fans, to gain a 13-13 tie with the rugged and versatile A M & N Lions in the opening Southwestern Conference game for both elevens. The game itself was highlighted by sharp blocking and a rockem style of dashing line play by the hard charging lines of both teams, punctuated throughout by dazzling aerial raids by cagey pass tossers, and sparkling runs by power runners who would not be denied.

ON THE TURF

BAY MEADOWS, San Mateo, Calif.—The $10,000 San Mateo Handicap for fillies and mares will be the feature attraction this weekend at the northern track. They will travel one mile. Expected to head the list and also to be the favored one is Helen L. Kenaston's Fleetfooted Fillie, Danae. In the recent running of the Lawyers' Handicap at one mile she made an excellent showing. It was the first time in her life that she was asked to go that far. All her other races have been sprints. It took the champion of Mexico City to defeat her but only by a half-length. The Mexican, Don Rebelde, caught her in the last fifty yards. In showing her gameness, she bested such able masculine 3-year-olds as Blue Trumpeter, Dixie Lad, Horsetrader-Ed, Minting and the Green Lion. Prior to her defeat here, Danae won four straights in a row. Two at Hollywood Park and two at Del Mar. In her last race at the seaside course the daughter of Sir Damion ran six furlongs in 1:09 1-5 and won by three lengths over Great Dream, who is expected to go postward in the Handicap.

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

SAN FRANCISCO — When Arizona State College officials declared, last year, they would not permit their grid team to play Hardin-Simmons, unless the team's Negro players could perform, . . . This corner was one of the first to laud this brave gesture. . . . Arizona and Hardin-Simmons played on the 20 September in Abilene, Texas, and Arizona's Negro stars played.

According to Alumni and college officials the Negro stars including John Henry Johnson ex-St. Marys star who rambled for two tds in their 26-7 victory, were separated from the team immediately after they arrived in the "South of Freedom" town . . . United Press reports Arizona officials are riled by the poor treatment and segregation accorded their Negro players. In letting their Negro athletes be isolated, humiliated, abused and in plain old everyday English misused, I'm inclined to think Arizona State College isn't any better than the "South of Freedom" school. . . . I once wrote I wished all of the world's battles could be fought on the athletic fields. On the contrary, I'm not sure if the present method isn't better. . . . At least there isn't segregation in foxholes. . . . In not forfeiting the contest, and catering to this unjust appeasement, to my way of thinking Arizona missed the boat. . . .

BAY AREA BITES—

The San Francisco '49ers—Detroit Lions grid-titanic here in Kezar Stadium Sunday was a drama as pulsating and nerve-racking as anything within memory. . . . The hopped-up '49ers sparkled by the rambunctious, aggressive Joltin' Joe Perry, literally gave the rest of the loop the word that they are the team to beat. . . . Charley Powell, brilliant flankman fresh out of San Diego High is still on the '49ers club, after recuperation from early season injuries.

John Finney erstwhile Compton JC and USF grid star is now a big gun for the Petaluma Leghorns Marin Lions, a semi-pro club. . . . In the teams outing Finney racked up two scores. . . . Burnell Jammerson, Bakersfield JC's truly fabulous tailback, should be without a doubt the best junior college back in the land. His bombsight accuracy as a passer and his devastating running leaves nothing to be desired. . . . This is an early season prediction, but don't be too surprised if this young gentleman breaks all precedents and lead the farm boys to the Pasadena Jr. Rose Bowl. . . .

West Contra Costa Comet's work-horses are namely Sam Brown, Doug Peters, Elmo Bradley, Charley Green and Sam Dawson. . . . Brown and Peters have averaged 8.4. and 7.4. yards per-crack.

MAJOR LOOP ROW—

As I see it the lily-white New York Yanks will win their forth straight World Series. . . . Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn was named on Look's All-American first team. Brooklyn's Roy Campanella and Cleveland's Larry Doby copped berths on the magazine's all-Nation and All-American League respectively. . . . Davie Pope centerfield for Indianapolis in the American Association. Montreal's second sacker Jim Gilliam, and L.A.'s Gene Baker of the PCL and Carlos Bernier of Hollywood also in the PCL were named the best in their league at their respective positions. Incidentally Larry Doby is the American Loop's home run champion with 32 round trippers. . . . Luke Easter is runner-up with 31. . . . As of now this is 25 and 5.

SEPIA WOMAN BOXER TO ATTEMPT CHANNEL SWIM

Gloria Thompson, nationally known boxing champion, will launch a swimming career following the completion of several boxing bouts.

Miss Thompson, one of the few Negro women active in the boxing ring, will attempt to become the first to swim the channel. Experts have already tabbed her as a threat to Florence Chadwick's record.

The colorful boxer became serious about challenging the channel swim when she swam a five-mile course in less than four hours.

Miss Thompson's amazing demdurance is the type that is needed to conquer the heavy seas. Close friends of Miss Thompson say she will begin training as soon as she returns from a London boxing bout.

Purposes of Guild

The Los Angeles Urban League Guild is composed of women who carry a civic and cultural interest and who are concerned, in a general way, with the economic and social welfare of minority groups. Consistent with Urban League policy, the Guild is broadly representative of the total community population.

The purpose of the Guild is (1) to give agency representation at social and cultural community events; (2) to aid in giving community interpretation of agency program and projects; (3) to assist in the securing of funds to support agency budget needs.

The Los Angeles Urban League Board of Directors sets the broad framework within which the Guild organization functions. Further, to assure reasonable compliance with agency's policies and working principles, the Board of Directors has assigned a staff member to serve as Guild coordinator. With these somewhat flexible limitations, the Guild members, in their regular meetings, determined their program.

The Guild promotes, encourages, assists and engages in activities of a cultural, civic and social nature. This may include

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

The talk of the week concerns the gala affair given by the Scrollers at the Chase Hotel last Saturday. Yep, the Red and White was again the crowning affair it's known to have been for the past few years. With winsome Jo Ann Leonard reigning as queen, the Scrollers and guests balled till the wee hours out at the Chase Hotel in Santa Monica. Some of the guests, namely Newton Harris and Dorothy Cain, Robert Bolden and Elaine Bias, Preston Johnson and Camille Billopps, Virginia McMichail and Von Baker, Walker Bruce and Rosie Hunter, Valorie Coleman and Charles Edward, Herbert Wood and (real tough) Bette Amey, Walter Woffard and Athelga Simpson, Ken Spencer and Nellie Young, Elaine Da Lavallade and Milton Davis, Archie Durham and Lois Bunn, Mr. and Mrs. George Granberry, Walnetta Dorsey and David Moody, Mr. and Mrs. Herb McCluster, Charles Jackson and Sylvester Ringgold thrilled at the fact that there was an added hour in which to be together.

Party givers de luxe. Bob Moore and Mervin Dymally, catered to the home folks who weren't fortunate enough to be at the Red and White Formal. Those who couldn't afford corsages or even tuxes made this affair the highlight of their would-be dull week-end. Lidge De Green, collection manager for the bitter vetch, profited much from the hat collection in the way of a steach, beverages and a little gas money for himself. But nevertheless the partying kind were quite pleased despite it all. Couldn't help but notice the crowd that gathered around Olympic javelin thrower Bill Miller, among them being Yvonne Watson, Barbara Freeman, Janice Williams and Zoe Wise. This guy's really got something on the ball. Another group of gals had their eyes on a certain sharpster but Delphene Moore had that situation well in hand. Lots of more names made up the guest list and we can't mention them all. But a tip of the bottle to one of the nicest things of the weekend.

People Are Talking About . . .

"Lopin'" Dickie Mundy and Betty Boyd, who sojourned to the land of "Hitchin' Post Nevada" and with that another couple was added to the growing list of snootie weds. . . .

. . . That gal who's telling everybody about her new penthouse in "'ollywood." We'd term it a gent house. . . .

The diplomacy used by one of the Red Hut "coppers" when he got rough with the Tweedsman's public relations manager Julius Boyd. But what chance has a man against a nervous fiend packing a rod? . . . The final divorce decree granted to the long gone couple of Joyce and Eddie Grayson. . . .

Those mad scoffs you can dig at Hazel's Hot Dog stand at Adams and Western. . . .

Social Excerpts . . .

We hear that the near future holds an addition to the family of Peggi and Lou Robinson. . . .

It seems that the Andy Wallaces are making it together regardless of complications. . . .

Eula Narcisse and Dave Williams have planned that final walk for sometime in November.

A well-known model, actress, who was detained in a Wilshire dept. store for suspicion of forgetting to compensate the man for some unmentionable articles.

Omega cheer leader Herbert Bell will be donning Unc Sam's brown uniforms by next Thursday. . . .

We hear that the names of Richard Cunningham and Carole Blackwell are romantically linked. . . .

Theres' a fair-headed newcomer on UCLA's campus that's raising a commotion at that there faraway place. . . .

James Craig was seen lately in the vicinity of Bev. Hills nearabouts where an old flame happens to be working. . . .

"Only 25 more payments and it's mine" says a distinguished young gentleman who's sporting a crazy new short. . . .

Could there be real happenings between Scroller Queen Jo Ann Leonard and Niles Garrett? But wait, where does that put Myra Dickerson, who's been in there for years? . . .

Can you guess this? The suave young gentleman that has been keeping late hours with Carmelita Wilkerson. . . .

Things are still lovey-dovey between Earle Glenn and best gal Beverly Littlefield. . . .

The old-time couple of Lovie Spann and Horace Griffin together at Garnettes last weekend kinda startled us. . . .

The Tweedsmen's Formal at the Elks this Saturday ought to be the end. . . .

The Lampadors, pledge club of Omega Psi Phi fraternity, step forth Saturday with a gig at 3005 Virginia road. Should be tough.

"YOU OUGHT TO KNOW"

Miss Welcome

I was caught in a "whirl" last week end combining business with pleasure. . . . The ladies of the YWCA who serve on the Administrative Committee of the Woodlawn Branch were delightfully entertained at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Lillian Fentress. In spite of the absence of "Mr. Sun" the barbeque was enjoyed in the patio. . . . The hostess is one whose charm is felt not only at the YWCA but throughout the community through her activities in church, Zeta Phi Beta sorority and with other charitable concerns and groups. . . . She and husband are rendering a valuable and capable printing service at The Fentress Press, 1888 W. Jefferson. If you aren't getting your printing and supplies from them you don't know what you're missing by way of personal assistance . . . drop in on them now.

Sale of costume Jewelry for 89 cents was one of the surprises that greeted us on our trip to the GIFT HORN, 3108 S. Western Saturday. . . . The delightful clam spread and hors d'ouevres were left waiting while the ladies simply "drooled" over the wide selections and the intriguing varieties . . . then oh! how they did enjoy the refreshments!! The sale is in full force now . . . don't miss it. . . . Accompanying me on this visit were Blanch Hall, Marie Johnson, Corinne Osborne, Lorraine Nelson, Eulalia Calhoun and Juanita Rollins. . . . It's Men's day next Saturday.

Mrs. Fannie Howard Douglas of Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Florence Cole, Talbert McCleanes of Memphis were guests of honor at Reginald Fisher's "At Home," 2326 Wellington Rd. on Saturday evening last. . . . Celebrities simply adorned the place. . . . Among those present of note were Georgia Laster, Mrs. Foster, sister of Mrs. McCleaves, Mrs. Kathryn Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tresville, Mr. Pat Patterson, Mrs. Ernest Tennell, Miss Myrtle Gilmer, Miss Mae Carter, Miss Cecelia Johnson and Mrs. Nettie Washington Douglas and daughter. . . . A good time was truly had by all and represented a preview to the "Open House" which Reggie is planning for his studio.

Frances B. Vaughn Returns Home After Eastern Jaunt

Still excited and very much enthused over her past experiences while touring the country from coast to coast is charming Frances Bowdoin Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Bowdoin of 2248 S. Harvard Blvd.

Pert Mrs. Vaughn returned home Saturday evening by train which brought her from New York City. She spent Sunday afternoon describing her trip to relatives and friends who found that she had covered quite a bit of ground since her late August departure.

First stop on a crowded itinerary was Chicago where she spent two weeks with the popular Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hall who live in the exclusive Hyde Park area. Dr. Hall is one of four biochemists in the United States and is associated with the chemistry department of Griffith Laboratories.

While there Mrs. Vaughn saw a cousin, Robert Bowdoin, who is stationed in the Army near Chicago. She claimed the Hotel Sherman and the new Club Delisa as favorite spots for sightseeing.

A quick trip to Detroit was made by the personable traveler who caught up overdue visits and made new acquaintances. Then the final and the biggest stop of all was made in New York City.

Following a woman's intuition, Mrs. Vaughn went to a place where all women go and did what all women do when they get thee The place, "Fifth Avenue" . . . the doing . . . shopping. Next round included Coney Island, Statue of Liberty, Empire State Building and Harlem. "Times Square made a definite impression on me with the bright lights, huge signs and noise of the ever flowing traffic," stated the attractive Angeleno.

Listening enthralled were her son, Rueben B. Vaughn, aged 4 and Dr. and Mrs. Julius W. Hill who moved here one year and a half ago. Dr. Hill, formerly of Atlanta, is completing his residency at General Hospital in orthopedic surgery. Mrs. Luella B. Hill is a social worker at the Bureau of Public Assistance. Her home is Nashville. Mr. Bowdoin, Mrs. Vaughn's father, is secretary and treasurer of Angelus Funeral home where he has served since 1944.

Mrs. Vaughn, active in local social circles, is employed in the business office of Bureau of Public Assistance at 5th and San Pedro.

Eugene Swayne ANSWERS

I bought some liquid gray spray to place a gray streak in my hair. After I used the spray my hair turned green instead of gray. What was the cause of this? G.P.

The metallic ingredients in the spray may have been chemically affected by the mixture of the acid that is contained in the perspiration thrown off from the scalp. This condition does not reveal itself in every case.

My job is working in a sewing factory. My face is horribly scarred because I scratch it to remove the lint and dust that gathers on my face and causes it to itch. What can I do for relief? L.G.

Every day before you start to work, apply some kind of lotion on your face and neck. Then, after work, cleanse your skin and apply a face cream.

My hair has changed from a sandy color to a darker shade without any kind of dye being used. Why? B.P.

Your entire body makes a complete change every seven years, including the hair.

Family Festival Has Many Big Stage Stars

One hundred stars of stage and screen this week join hands with the volunteer corps of 350 other men and women for the presentation of the second annual Family Festival to the public on Sunday, October 5, at Gilmore Field. Heralded as an event for the entire family, the gigantic charity benefits has required a tremendous transformation of the baseball field where the Hollywood Stars last summer pursued the West Coast pennant.

Tickets may be purchased from the Eagle office. Proceeds of the event go to Holy Family Adoption Service, a non-profit, nonsectarian, no-fee adoption agency. The funds will be used to find homes for children and infants.

Most attention concerning the Family Festival is being centered upon two outdoor stage shows, directed by Bob Welch, Paramount Studios movie producer, who writes and produces the Bob Hope movies. A four o'clock afternoon show for children features comedy, western stars, the cast of Space Patrol, Beany and Cecil (the "seasick sea serpent"), and many other famed acts and personalities.

Bob Hope, making his first public appearance following his European trip, personally heads a brilliant array of talent in an evening show. The evening show is for both adults and children, and starts at 8 o'clock.

A stage has been constructed between third-base line and the left grandstand, for the two shows.

Other attractions will be found in a spectacular midway which forms a diagonal street crossing, on the green turf of Gilmore Field.

It includes, among 32 other attractions, a "Star Picture Gallery" where visitors may have their pictures taken with their favorite stars. Personalities to be working in this booth number approximately 75, including:

Sammy Davis, Desi Arnaz and Lucille Ball, Jack Bailey, Gene Baker, Beany, Ann Blyth, Champ Butler, Les Brown and his band of renown, Jerry Colonna, Jeanne Crain, Irene Dunn, Mona Freeman, Jimmy Durante, Georgeous George, Goo-Goo The Clown, Vonnie Haines, June Haver, Bill Holden, Bob Hope, Rita Johnson, Elyse Knox, Peggy Lee, Joan Leslie, Bill Lundigan, Freddy Martin, Ricardo Montalban, Bob Ryan, Caesar Romero, Andy and Della Russell, April Stevens, Penny Singleton, Estelle Taylor, Loretta Young, and personalities from the Los Angeles Rams, from baseball, and other sports figures.

A hot foods buffet dinner will be served throughout the day, starting at three o'clock. This permits visitors to dine on a special ribs-&-dinner, with beans, potato salad, olives, pickles, fresh vegetables, dessert, and other food items. Children pay only 75 cents, adults $1.50.

Children under 12 years are admitted free of charge when accompanied by adults. Adults pay only one dollar per couple.

Gates open at 2 o'clock, and the last show ends at 10 o'clock

Sisters Reunite After 27 Years

Mrs. Marie Russell of 152 U street NE, Washington, D. C., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ella Kinney, and Mrs. Maggie V. Thomas of 453 W. 42nd street, here.

Mrs. Kinney is the oldest sister of the two, being 82. She has lived here more than 46 years. Of late, she has been ill.

The sisters were entertained with a delicious chicken dinner prepared by Mrs. J. D. Gordon, wife of the late Rev. J. D. Gordon. He was the pastor of Mrs. Kinney and Mrs. Thomas for some 35 years.

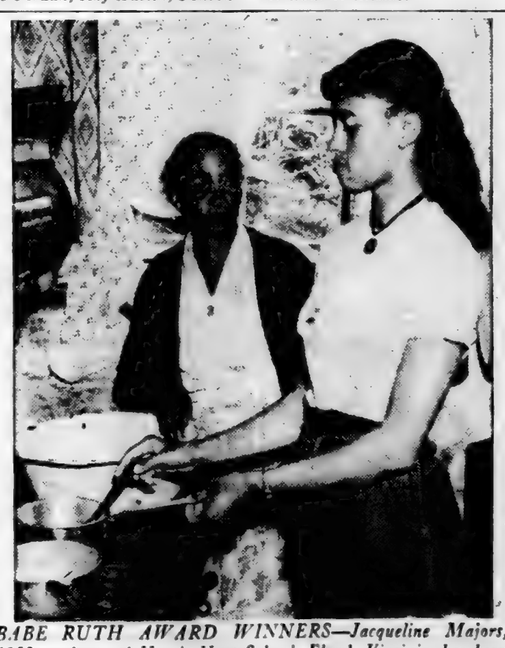
Guests were Mmes. Emma Gordon, Mary Jones, J. D. Gordon, D. W. Wells, and E. Gordon.



Mrs. Mary Jones and Mrs. Kinney have been friends for 46 consecutive years.

Unfaithful Spouses Psychiatric Cases

Husbands who make a habit of "stepping out" with other women are usually suffering from a personality disturbance. They need no moralistic sermons, but good psychiatric help.

Sexual unfaithfulness is widespread through all our social and economic classes, declares Dr. Edward A. Strecker, chairman of the department of psychiatry at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School. Findings indicate, he says, that 50 percent of American husbands are unfaithful some time during their married lives, and many marriages are haunted by uneasy suspicions.

The psychologically sound way for husbands and wives to face the mounting threat of infidelity is to recognize it as a human ill, in some respects much like alcoholism and drug addiction, says Dr. Strecker.

Psychiatrists feel that immaturity and frigidity are the two basic causes of infidelity. A repeatedly unfaithful husband is usually immature in his general outlook on life. Even when there are flaws in the marriage relationship, the well-adjusted man or woman does not attempt to resolve the problem by taking refuge in infidelities.

A chronically unfaithful wife is apt to be frigid as well as immature. She shuttles from one partner to another, seeking the satisfaction she never achieves.

The habitually unfaithful mate, whether it be husband or wife, should be urged to seek psychiatric help, advises Dr. Strecker. The personality disturbance which results in constant extra-marital relationships affects not only sex lift, but also the ability to work ably on the job, to function as a parent, or to achieve any kind of real self-respect and personal contentment.

Stevenson Tells South He Backs Demo Platform

Party has stated its position in its platform, a position to which I adhere. I should justly earn your contempt if I talked one way in the South and another elsewhere."

Eisenhower's mention of "equality of opportunity" was the first utterance that could even be construed as a reference to the civil rights issue in his latest excursion into the South. He kept a complete silence in his tour of North Carolina, Maryland and Virginia last week.

Returning to the civil rights issue in his Richmond speech, Governor Stevenson told his audience:

"I do not attempt to justify the unjustifiable whether it is anti-Negroism in one place, anti-Semitism in another or for that matter, anti-Southernism in many places. But neither can I justify self-righteousness anywhere. Let none of us be smug on this score, for nowhere in the Nation have we come to that state of harmonious amity between racial and religious groups to which we aspire.

What the governor of South Carolina said to the Republican presidential candidate at their luncheon remained secret as no statements were issued. In his speech Ike told his audience that "neither at home nor in the eyes of the World can America risk the weakness which inevitably results when any group of people are ranked, politically or economically, as second class citicens."

Backs Jimcrow

The Eisenhower visit to South Carolina came right on the eve of arguments in the United States Supreme Court over that state's Jim Crow school system. The case, scheduled for hearing next Monday, is the culmination of a determined effort by the NAACP to overthrow the ancient "separate but equal rule."

Following the filing of the case Governor Byrnes forced a law through the legislature requiring abandonment of the state's public school system in event Jim Crow is outlawed. He has been the leader in the fight to retain the segregated system.

In his speech at Richmond, Governor Stevenson pointed out that much of the South's racial problems had resulted from poverty rather than prejudice.

"Economically depressed whites and economically depressed Negroes often had to fight over already gnawed bones. Then there ensued that most pathetic of struggles: the struggle of the poor against the poor," he said.

the two had been kidnaped. City and juvenile authorities were alerted and given a complete description of the youngsters. The hunt was on.

Next day a woman telephoned the Missing Persons Bureau to report another missing child, and in a "by the way" comment reported there were two little girls in her neighborhood who she thought must be playing "hookey" from school.

She was questioned sharply about the appearance of the two and the replies exactly fitted the description of Charlotte and Dolores. Authorities rushed to the scene and retrieved the two little wanderers.

Chased a Dog

It seems they hadn't been kidnaped, nor had they gotten into any automobile. They told quite a different story. They chased a dog. The dog ran, and they ran after him. Soon they were lost, and didn't know their way back. They kept walking, hoping they'd find a familiar landmark. They were pretty miserable, and didn't know what to do, and were mighty happy when they were rescued.

Charlotte is the daughter of Mrs. John Layton, 1507½ W. 35th place. Dolores is the child of Mrs. Henry Williams, 1499 W. 35th place.

Both were examined by doctors, but there was no sign either had been molested.

PTA Paper Drive A Huge Success

Mmes. Ferrol Fortier, president of the Virginia Road School PTA, and Louis Ross, parliamentarian and past president of the same group, attended the Exposition Council meeting held at Marvin Avenue Youth Center recently.

Mmes. Sam Eckesling and M. Aronow, ways and means committee chairman and co-chairman, respectively, announce that the Virginia Road PTA's paper drive was a great success.

The enthusiasm was high among the students and every room did exceptionally well. Many vied for prizes, making it difficult to decide the winners. But Mrs. K. Hamburg, Room 22, won first prize. Mrs. C. Reno, Bungalow 27, won second prize, and Mrs. M. Miller, Room 17, won third prize.

Mrs. A. B. Turner attended the safety conference at Wilshire Crest School.

Baritone Wins Hines' 1st Talent Show

BREEDING violence in the 1700 block on W. 42nd St. is a spineless "gray" whose occupation is gardening and he drives a red truck with California license number 7-1969. He also is the one in the block who is trying to give his Negro neighbors the 'hot foot.'

WORLD SERIES, is packed with its usual drama. Carrying the California flavor in his box seat on opening day was Elhiu (Dot) McGee, big time sportsman and "Sparky" Adams, a swelluv-a-fella. Dot's box included a bevy of beauties out of D. C. and Detroit along with his good friend boxer (Sugar) Ray Robinson.

RESPECT is a thing a certain ex-pool hall operator is lacking, according to the boys in the block. It seems that he is being accused of being too cheap to spend enough loot at his mother's funeral to have the minister follow the body to the grave for the final rituals. The boys along the avenoo are up in arms about the matter. Remember that old saying: "You can lead a horse to water but you cannot make him drink . . . and likewise send a fool to school but you cannot make him think!

SUNDAY DRIVERS can be awfully eye catching such as the two brownskins who were piloting an Oldsmobile with Illinois plates 216 2-526, out westward on Jefferson the other eve. Both were running their traps as fast as the mileage on the speedometer.

HOT GOODS got several well-known figures in more than a nervous state. University 'nabs' hauled in a 'doper' who supplied them with names of buyers of his most heated goods. One well-known waitress accused, claimed that the "heat" got their people mixed when he pointed her out. She is madder than 'ell because it cost her $75.00 to keep from going to the slammers.

"Sudden Fear" Star Enmeshed in Danger

Tense in its treatment, savage in its original premise, fascinating in the development of personal terror in the midst of supreme personal happiness, "Sudden Fear," now playing at RKO Hillstreet Hollywood Pantages, and Fox Beverly Theaters, brings to the screen one of Hollywood's most distinguished actresses in a role which will be long remembered.

Dramatic Favorite

Joan Crawford stars as the heiress-playwright who finds sudden and unexpected happiness when she marries an almost total stranger. In the midst of her marital joy he stumbles upon a perfect plan to kill her. Produced by Joseph Kaufman for RKO Radio distribution, "Sudden Fear' was directed by David Miller from a screenplay by Lemore Coffee and Robert Smith based on Edna Sherry's novel of the same name.

MINUS BILL KENNY—The famed Ink Spots start on a personal appearance tour of the nation's leading theaters, night clubs and ballrooms throughout the United States. 'Ivanhoe' at Paramount October 9

All the pageantry, the fire and color, of Sir Walter Scott's greatest novel, "Ivanhoe," will come alive on the screen of the Downtown Paramount theater on Thursday, October 9. That day marks the starting date of the engagement of the beautiful M-G-M Technicolor production of "Ivanhoe," starring Robert Taylor, Elizabeth Taylor, Joan Fontaine, George Sanders and Emlyn Williams.

A tale of high adventure and exciting romance that has thrilled generations of readers, "Ivanhoe" is set in the England of 1200 A.D., when knighthood was in flower. It is the story of one brave man's attempt to restore to King Richard the Lion-Hearted the throne stolen from him by his brother Prince John.

Entailed in the filming were some of the most elaborate sets, costumes and props ever created for a motion picture, with the production also featuring one of the largest casts ever asembled. Robert Douglas and Finley Currie head up this great supporting cast.

The screen play of "Ivanhoe" was written by Noel Langley, and the picture was directed by Richard Thorpe. It was produced by Pandro S. Bermen.

Two Get Big Roles In 20th-Fox Picture

Two versatile Negro artists portray important roles in the 20th Century-Fox motion picture, "The President's Lady," adapted from Irving Stone's best selling novel of the same name.

Ruth Attaway, noted Broadway stage, radio and television actress has been signed by Producer Sol C. Siegel to portray "Moll," the slave-housekeeper who alone was loyal to Rachel Jackson (Susan Hayward) when the heroine was victim of scandal mongerers.

George Hamilton, best known for his telling of the "Uncle Remus" stories, will fill the role of Susan Hayward's butler. The character is described as "dignified" in the studio's publicity releases.

Hamilton, a lawyer, still a member of the bar in Wisconsin and Minnesota, has been a feature baritone with such famed singers as the Hall-Johnson Choir; has appeared in the Amos 'n' Andy television show and in numerous motion pictures.

Miss Attaway, a social worker between acting stints, is a member of a distinguished family which has done serious research on the slave period in American history. Her first Broadway stage role was in "You Can't Take it With You." She worked on many CBS air shows and acted as program director for the Red Cross military clubs and shows in the British Isles during World War II.

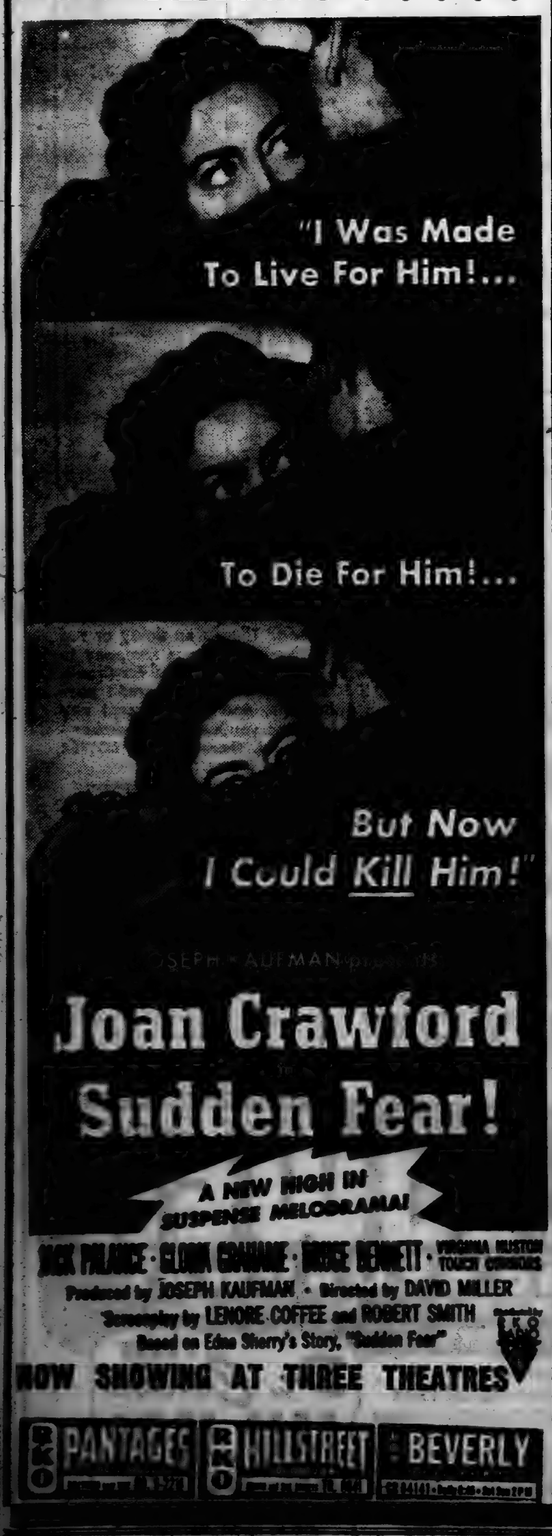
Eckstine Show Breaks Record Made by Him

Billy Eckstine, whose wax records are standard equipment in every collector's cabinet, set off on his third annual tour with a new kind of record for his collection. In Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium, with George Shearing and Count Basie, he made his most profitable one-night stand and broke the record he himself had made in the same spot a year ago.

The show grossed $6,200 more than last year and more than 2,000 people were turned away from the huge arena. The 10-week concert series, the longest and most-in-demand of the popular tours out on the road this season, is already sold out in many cities. Several hundred thousand dollars in advance ticket sales are in the till.

Nat 'King' Cole Starts 60-City Concert Tour



Nat "King" Cole launched a 60-city concert tour September 19. The tour, which includes a recital at Carnegie Hall October 11, will tee off in Syracuse, N. Y., and follow in 59 other leading cities in the next two months.

San-Fern MANOR

JAMES L. CARTER, Sales Director — SALES OFFICE: Eligbo 3-2270 — MAIN OFFICE: WEbster 3-9686

Valley Community Praised by Leaders

Grateful appreciation to the more than 40 civic, community and newspaper figures who attended last week's press party at San-Fern Manor was expressed Tuesday by Edward M. Abrams and Lee Burns, of Gold Medal Homes, developers of the new San Fernando Valley community at Herrick avenue and Filmore street, near San Fernando Road.

A "special "thank you" was extended to guest speakers Floyd Covington, Federal Housing Authority race relations advisor; Lester P. Bailey of the NAACP, and Wesley R. Brazier of the Los Angeles Urban League, all of whom pointed out the importance of such developments as San-Fern Manor in helping to bring better housing for all peoples.

Guest of honor at the party was James L. Carter, sales manager for the new community's 111 three-bedroom, one and two-bath homes, priced from $9999 and available to veterans and non-veterans on new low liberal terms.

Carter said that veterans may purchase with down payments as low as $425, plus impounds, while monthly terms range from $51.80 for principal and interest.

Two furnished model dwellings, fully outfitted by the Brady Furniture Co., typify the many attractive architectural designs and are open daily and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Adjoining the Joe Louis Homes, San-Fern Manor features designs by architect Charles Du Bois, A.I.A., and such luxury advantages as two-car garages, General Electric garbage disposals, French doors to covered concrete terraces, living rooms at front or rear, electric bathroom heaters, dual floor furnaces, lawns with shrubs, etc.

The property may be reached by taking Laurel Canyon Blvd. or San Fernando road to Van Nuys boulevard, turning right to Herrick avenue and left to Filmore street.

There is a defense against atomic warfare. Civil Defense is an important part of it, could cut losses in half—Will your life be one of those saved?

OBSERVED the other eve in the swank club house over on W. Adams the current edition of Life, Esquire and Travelguide. Not one single copy of a Negro publication. Wonder why?

NIGHT AT BOWERY was a likely title given for a popular club affair at a big time radio star's home. Some rather disturbed neighbor couldn't understand the many expensive cars unloading passengers in their block attired in gay costumes and reported to the police that a wild party was in progress. Three loads of blue coats fell in and announced themselves. The star became so nervous she bellowed to the gay crowd in no uncertain terms and with some awful foul English that they would have to leave her home immediately. That was around 11:00 o'clock and the club members were hotter than hell and if she hadn't come up with $71.00 to make up for the club losses they were set to kick her out.

GUMBO, the gang down 25th and Central way is singing praises to Annie Harris who turns out the famous New Orleans dish at the Central Drugstore. Atty. James Reese and Xenophon Lang are two of the lady's steady boarders.

WILBUR HOBBS, easily rated as one of the nation's outstanding pianists, is moving into his fourth year in San Francisco's Swank Plantation Club. Owner Les Armstrong grabbed Hobbs after he gave up residence in Portland, having played that city for 6 straight years. If you make the S.F. trip be sure and make the Plantation.

DUNBAR GRILL, old and established Central avenoo eatery is being operated by Chef Floyd and he has such nice dishes as Millie (Red) Anderson and shapley Tina Tivis to give you that fast brownskin service. SIDNEY WHITE is mixing them in the cocktail room to such pretties as Melba Johnson and Marguerite Mathis.

HAROLD ROWLAND is Cleveland, Ohio's gift to L. A. and they say the westside gals are going for his type.

LOUIE BROWN says that the Club La Salle is the haven for good loking gals, good bourbon and good food. He should know his tour starts after 5:00 in the evening and he just loves his work. Drop in and see for yourself.

BILL DAVIS, dapper Red Hut Broiler manager, resigned his position at the Western Avenoo establishment last week. Owner Martin Lipton received a typewritten letter announcing the sudden change. Davis told us that he felt that he wasn't getting the cooperation from the owner that he thought he should. Chef Ray Mils has been offered the position and we certainly hope the same thing doesn't happen to him. We just can't understand why Davis and Lipton had to split after Davis brought the lowly Frosty Freeze to its present highly respected Drive-In business. We are waiting for future developments before we pass our judgment as to whether both made the correct move in splitting.

BUS DRIVER BLUES is what a certain L. A. transit operator is humming while making his daily runs. He no longer shares bills at a west 25th Street apartment. He packed his grips and skipped the other "yawning." Now wife is singing "Lonesome gal blues" while hopping cars at the Red Hut Drive-In Broiler.

NEW LANDMARK—The 12-ton, 65-foot sign being hoisted to the top of a stand above Thrifty's new 14-acre shopping center at La Brea avenue and Rodeo road is believed to be the largest of its kind in the city. Sen. Richard Nixon, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, faces the embarrassing fact that both of his homes he so eloquently described on television, are covered by racial restrictive covenants.

The California Eagle learned last week that when Nixon purchased his $41,000 home in Washington, D. C., in July, 1950, shortly after his election as senator, he and his wife signed one of the most vicious race covenants devised. This covenant was signed by the Nixons after such agreements had been outlawed by the Supreme Court.

The restriction on the Washington home of Nixon reads in part that "no part of the land shall ever be used or occupied by, or sold, demised, transferred, conveyed unto or in trust for, leased, or rented or given to Negroes or any persons of Negro blood or extraction, or to any person of the Semitic race, blood or origin which racial description shall be deemed to include Armenians, Jews,

South Carolina Set To Defy High Court On 'Equal' Schools

NEW YORK—In a brazen defy and open threat to the Supreme Court of the United States, Gov. James F. Byrnes has clung stubbornly to his plan to place on the November 4 ballot of South Carolina an amendment to the State constitution calling for the abolition of the public school system.

By holding this club over the heads of the judges of the highest court, Dixiecrat Gov. Byrnes apparently hopes to intimidate them as the explosive school issue is slated for a showdown next Monday.

On Oct. 14, the Supreme Court will hear arguments designed to outlaw all jimcrow schools, definitively overturn the prejudiced "separate but equal" doctrine, and declare the concept that segregation in and of itself is discrimination as the final law of the land.

South Frantic

The frantic desperation of the South in the face of this test case is best seen by the proposed South Carolina amendment. Better no education at all except for the wealthy few than mixed schools, Gov. Byrnes is saying to the people of his State.

Further indication—if, indeed, it were needed—of the significance the Dixiecrats attach to the issue is the fact that Gov. Byrnes has retained John W. Davis, eminent constitutional lawyer and Democratic nominee for United States president in 1924, to present the case for South Carolina to the Supreme Court.

Davis will be faced by a battery of NAACP lawyers, headed by Thurgood Marshall, who will ask the nine justices to reverse lower court decisions in two cases, one originating in Clarendon County, S.C., the other in Topeka, Kansas.

14th Amendment

In both cases, the single issue before the High Court is that segregation, regardless of facili-

Pastor Refused U. S. Entry Visa

NEW YORK—Rev. Michael Scott, Anglican clergyman who was to have presented a plea on behalf of South Africa's non-whites to the United Nations, has been denied a visa to admit him to the United States.

The Malan government will not permit any non-whites to leave South Africa, thereby preventing them from pleading their own case before the international organization.

No Dark Hand Touches White Lodge Dishes

By VI MOTEN BROWN

There are no Negroes sufficently well qualified to wash dishes at the Angelus Mesa Masonic Temple, 3125 W. 54th street.

Two Wednesday morning telephone conversations revealed to The Eagle this pronouncement by the Temple's board of directors.

The first call to this office by the caretaker, a Mrs. Whitley, requested that The Eagle send to her two workers, male or female, who could be highly recommended. She offered jobs as part-time dishwashers, but would not run an ad because she feared that employes obtained in that manner would not be high-type enough to wash the Masonic dishes.

Later, hurrying to withdraw her impulsive, generous offer to allow two highly qualified Negroes to invade the sanctity of the Masonic dishpans, the caretaker made a second call. She had, she said, met with the board of directors who told her emphatically that no Negroes could be employed at the Temple.

'Bookie' Booked as Police Get Hot 'Tip'

Police Tuesday afternoon cracked down on a bar at 3111 S. Main street and arrested Joseph Arnett Walker, of 3013 S. Hobert boulevard, as a "bookie."

The arrest followed a spate of sleuthing on the part of University Police Officers O. E. Johnson and R. E. Marra.

Going there on a tip that the place was used as a bookie joint, the officers loitered around outside, keeping their ears open.

Soon, according to their report, they heard the phone ring, and "Joe" answered, scratch pad in hand. They claim they heard him repeat: "Two to win in the 8th race, $5. And in the 9th two to win."

At this point, Walker spied the police, and left the phone booth, scratch pad and all. On the top of the pad were the words: "Records of Wages."

The phone rang again. One of the officers answered and claimed he was "Joe." It was a new customer, they reported, with a new bet.

The arrest was made at 4:20 p.m. The officers took Walker to the station, and the "bookie" was booked.

Army Throws 'Book' at Pacifist

CAMP PICKETT, Va.—An army general courtmartial Monday threw the "book" at a 24-year-old private who refused to report for embarkation because he is a pacifist.

Pfc. Hugh S. Carter was sentenced to two years hard labor, dishonorable discharge, and forfeiture of all pay and all allowances.

Carter was scheduled to report at a West Coast port for shipment to the Far East. Instead, he sat out his 12-day furlough plus five days travel time in the railway station at nearby Blackstone, Va. His action, he said, was a protest against being in the army, in violation of his convictions in opposition to war.

Loren Miller Shares Community Awards

Citations for "outstanding service in the field of human relations" will be awarded to Loren Miller, attorney and Eagle publisher; Judge Isaac Pacht, Postmaster Michael Fanning, Councilman Edward Roybal, Gano Culwell, Mrs. Cumner Spaulding and Mrs. Ruth Kodani at the sixth annual meeting of the Los Angeles County Conference of Community Relations Saturday evening.

The awards will be presented at a dinner to be held at USC's Town and Gown building which will be addressed by Dr. Paul Sheats on "Human Relations—Our Central problem." He is a member of the executive committee of United Nations National Committee for UNESCO.

The dinner meeting will climax an all day session of the Conference at which community problems will be aired and considered.

Franklin Williams, Regional Director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will deliver the luncheon address following which there will be six planning sessions under the headings of education, employment, law enforcement, youth activities, law and civil rights and housing.

In announcing the program, Edward Walsh Mehren, Chairman of the County Conference, said, "The Conference is now a sound, constructive organization with 46 member agencies from the fields of labor, church, education and civic organizations. It is our purpose to work together on common issues toward a day when racial and religious discrimination will not operate to the detriment or exclusion of any person.

Army Medic Snubs Queries In Red Probe

First witness in the Un-American Committee red probe in the Federal Building here Monday was a Negro, Dr. Oner Barker, a medical corps captain stationed at Camp Roberts.

Dr. Barker refused to testify. He was followed in this refusal by Atty. Leon Turrett, UCLA graduate Eugene R. Stone and radio comedy writer Harmon Alexander.

Only 200 persons attended Monday's session at which Cong. Clyde Doyle was chairman. Donald L. Jackson was the only other committee member present.

Stone's 20-minute rebuke of the committee as "diametrically opposed to the interest of the American people," resulted in several sharp clashes with Doyle and Jackson.

Final Rites for Retired Pastor, Rev. McCallum

Funeral services were held here Wednesday for the Rev. L. St. George A. McCallum, who died last Friday in his home, 660 East Santa Barbara, at the age of 74. The deceased was a retired Presbyterian minister. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Carrie L. McCallum to whom he was wedded for 17 years.

The Rev. St. George McCallum, was a native of Jamaica. He received his college education there. Coming to this country nearly 40 years ago, he entered Howard University where he studied theology and established himself as an expert penman.

Later, the minister moved to Topeka, Kansas, where he pastored a Presbyterian church before coming to California. At the time of his death he was conducting a small mission at his home.

The body was prepared for burial by Connor-Johnson company morticians. The chapel and graveyard rites were conducted by the Rev. Granville Reed, p. ident of the Independent Ministerial Alliance. Interment followed at Evergreen cemetery.

Child-Mother Gives Birth To Boy Twins

A 13-year-old mother gave birth to twin boys in Long Beach Tuesday, but one of the babies died at birth. The surviving youngster, weighing 3 pounds 15 ounces, was immediately placed in an incubator at Seaside hospital, where doctors said his condition was good.

The child-mother, Mrs. Mary B. Macon, was rushed to the hospital by a Fire Department vehicle. Her condition is also said to be good.

The husband, Thomas Macon, is only 17. He is a delivery boy for an automobile agency.

40 Years in P.O.

Joseph Oliver, leading member of the local community, on Monday night was the recipient of a gold engraved plaque commemorating his fortieth year of continuous service with the United States Post Office.

Oliver, foreman at the Terminal Annex, was one of nine to be honored, in a ceremony that was televised.

Secret Westside Meeting Protests House Purchase

A church meeting Tuesday night called to protest the moving of a Negro family into a "white" westside neighborhood was hastily transferred to a nearby back yard when news of the plan "leaked out" to the "wrong" people.

The meeting had been scheduled for the Christ Lutheran church, 57th and Ruthellen streets, at 7:30 p.m. At the appointed time, a number of people who went there were told that Pastor W. E. Niermann had withdrawn permission to use the church following receipt of several telephone calls, but that a meeting would be called some time later.

One of those milling around the church was heard to remark: "Seems the Niggers are together, but we're not."

Secret Meeting

Meanwhile, some 200 people, many of them elderly, convened secretly in the back yard of the home at 5510 S. St. Andrews place. There was no haranguing and practically no Negro-baiting, but the property owners seemed determined to try to stem the "invasion" and bring it to a halt at Western avenue.

Cause of the meeting was the recent purchase of an attractive house at 5514 S. St. Andrews place by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hammonds. The Hammonds were scheduled to move into the $11,000 home Wednesday or Thursday.

There are no Negroes now living in the immediate area.

No Violence Wanted

In view of the fact that there has so far been no violence or threat of violence against the Hammonds, Lester Bailey, NAACP field secretary, who is investigating the situation, told the Eagle he hopes that through a direct approach to the people in the community it will be possible to prevent a repetition of the Dunsmuir bombings.

The danger, he said, is that these people "could well be fo-

Police Raid Sigma House; Too Noisy

Blow! Blow! Blow!

And Wardell Gray pulled on his tenor sax, made it moan, and wheedle and reach to the skys. He sent his audience into the clouds, then with a soulful descent brought them back to earth.

Blow! Blow! The party was in ful swing!

At the door police officers were mingling with the late-coming guests at the Phi Beta Sigma house, 2151 S. Harvard blvd. There were a lot of people. And a lot of noise. It was Saturday night.

It was the noise that had brought the police. Neighbors had complained, and it wasn't the first time.

Manager Booked

After a bit, the officers approached Thomas Spann, member and house manager, questioned him, then took him down to the University police station where he was booked on charges of conducting a public dance without a permit and selling liquor without a license.

But they only kept him for a few hours, released him on bail, and when the case came up Monday morning, the charges were dropped.

Spann told the Eagle the party had been an invitational affair, that there was no entrance fee, but that some donations were made. Police seemed convinced that the party was quite legal, though on the noisy side—but then have you ever heard a saxaphone?

Not quite so lucky was Jimmie Walton, who lives in a house at the rear of the fraternity hall. Walton was charged with selling liquor in bottles.

Mrs. Robeson Fails to Qualify In Congress Race

HARTFORD, Conn. — Mrs. Paul Robeson, wife of the world-famous singer, has failed to qualify for the ballot in her attempt to run for United States representative at large as a candidate of the People's Party.

Mrs. Robeson's petition was rejected by Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, secretary of state, Friday on the grounds that it contained insufficient signatures to qualify.

U. S. Grand Jury Probes Florida Bomb Murders

WASHINGTON—Eight months after the Christmas Day bombing murders of Harry T. Moore and his wife, Mrs. Harriet Moore, in Mims, Fla., a Federal grand jury began probing into the series of attacks against minorities that terrorized Florida.

Twenty-five Klansmen were summoned to testify in Miami Monday.

The jury will hear testimony regarding the killing of the NAACP leader and his wife, as well as the bombings of the Negro housing project at Carver Village, and the bombings of a Catholic church and five Jewish synagogues.

Concentration Camp Ready

NEW YORK — Concentration camps for thousands of men, women and children, Negroes and whites, are now being readied in various sections of the United States. Secrecy surrounds their erection. Even people living in nearby towns are unaware of what is going on.

Publicity was turned on one of these camps last week in two comprehensive articles printed in the New York Daily Compass. Those who will be "squeezed" into these barracks will be sent there by virtue of the 1950 McCarran-Kilgore Internal Security Act. They may be denied jury trial and interned indefinitely, in case of war.

Barbed Wire

Reporter Charles R. Allen, Jr., visited the Federal Prison Camp near Allenwood, Pa., 80 miles from Harrisburg. He reports that the 8,400-acre area is completely surrounded by 12-foot-high, reinforced barbed-wire fences. During World War II the area was used as an ordinance depot. In February of this year, Colonel Guy C. Rexroad (Retired) was sent there to convert the depot into a "detention" camp, with 60 prisoners from the Federal Penitentiary in Ashland, Ky.

Col. Rexroad told Allen he was "the first newspaper man we've had here," and admonished him: "If you love your country, you won't tell everything that you see here." He showed the newspaper man a map of the camp. Pointing to one structure, he said: "This building was—and still is—a warehouse. After we fix it up we ought to be able to get 1,500 or maybe more into it."

Uniforms Received

Another structure, he said, was formerly the machine shop. "We can squeeze at least 3,000 down there." Pointing to another building: "If we need the room we can take this and work in another thousand or so."

"So far," he continued, "the uniforms we've received and the material we have is for males, but I guess there'll be women, too. Probably whole families."

Children, Too?

CITIZENS URGE YES VOTE ON PROP. THREE

Broad community support for passage of Proposition 3 on the November 4 ballot was rapidly developing, the Eagle learned this week in a survey of voters. Proposition 3 deals with the taxing of non-profit private schools.

Herbert James, head of local AFofL Voters League headquarters on 41st and Central said, "If there is one measure that deserves the support of the entire community, and is getting it, it is Propositon 3. Most of our parents are products of non-profit private schools and they know the value of such educational institutions. Organized labor is solidly behind the measure, and I'd like to urge all of my friends to visit our headquarters and get literature on No. 3 and the other propositoins."

John Dial and Luther Merriweather, organizers for the CIO, also gave the measure their approval.

"Non-profit schools last year educated 182,483 California youngsters. By so doing, these institutions helped relieve the badly-overcrowded conditions existing in the public school system which has been forced to place thousands of elementary and junior high school students on half-day sessions.

"At the same time, the non-profit schools were saving California taxpayers $41,000,000 in operating expense of plants which would cost $350,000,000 to duplicate," Dial said.

By passing Propositoin 3, the voters are being asked to sustain the State Legislature's action last year granting tax equality to non-profit schools, Merriweather advised. The combined tally of the State Senate and Assembly was 108-to-3 on this measure.

"A 'Yes' vote on Propositon 3 will continue these savings to the taxpayers, but gives no taxpayer a "free ride" he empsasized. "For the parents of children in non-profit schools will continue to pay their share of the public schools cost, and, in addition, will maintain at their own expense those operated by religious and charitable groups."

Proposition 10 Backed by CIO

Attacks by Chambers of Commerce on Proposition 10—the initiative measure that would deny them the use of public funds to influence legislation—"have now reached the fantastic stage" in the opinion of John A. Despol, Secretary-Treasurer of the California CIO Industrial Union Council.

This was the phrase used by the CIO leader in ridiculing charges, by Chamber publicists, that Proposition 10 would endanger the P-TA free school lunch program, the 4-H Clubs, and the Pasadena Tournament of Roses.

"Proposition 10 was unanimously endorsed by the CIO State Convention, as was Proposition 11. We in labor unions know too well what Chamber of Commerce lobbyists have done to block legislation intended to benefit workingmen and their families, the blind and aged, needy children and the physically handicapped.

Leaders Map All Out Push To Aid Adlai

WASHINGTON—A National grass roots campaign to get out the Negro vote for Stevenson was launched by 150 key Negro leaders from 26 states who assembled here Saturday in the Congressional room of the Hotel Statler at the call of Congressman William L. Dawson, vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Senator John Sparkman, Democratic vice-presidential candidate, addressed the group and declared he would fight all the way for the civil rights plank and every other measure of the Democratic platform. "It is the greatest platform ever written by any political party and he helped write it," he stated.

Sparkman charged that opposition newspapers in the South condemn him for having 'northern Leanings" while GOP papers in the North condemn him for being a Southern politician.

The leaders from the North and the South were also addressed by the Democratic National Committee chairman, Stephen Mitchell and the committee's treasurer, Dwight R. G. Palmer.

Carl Murphy, publisher of the Afro-American newspapers, warned the group that Negroes would suffer if Republicans won. Similar warnings were voiced by Philip Weightman and William Oliver of the CIO. Congressman Dawson, who chaired the meeting, declared: "This gathering marks the greatest forward step ever taken by our group in politics. Negroes will not stand idly by and see the great Democratic program started by Roosevelt and carried forward by Truman destroyed.

"The desperate attempt of the Republicans to confuse the issues by falsehoods and half truths is doomed to failure. The Negro is a mature citizen who can no longer be bought, bullied or bamboozled," he added.

A luncheon followed the morning meeting and the one-day conference was concluded with a workshop session. Among those who addressed the workshop meeting were: Mrs. Sadie Alexander of Philadelphia; Mrs. Arenia Mallory of Mississippi; Attorney Henry Richardson of Indianapolis; Edith Sampson of Chicago; and Walter "chief" Aiken of Atlanta, Georgia.

The feature of the meeting was a side-walk poll taken which also showed these candidates running neck and neck.

"The effect of this sampling clearly indicated to me that the winner will not be decided until the last vote is counted," Rayfield Lundy, AVC Chairman, commented.

Kimball Raps Cross Filing

Secretary of the Navy Dan A. Kimball, chairman of the California committee to Abolish Cross-Filing, is strong in his praise of the stand the State's two great labor organizations have taken against cross-filing, it has just been revealed.

Just before leaving for Europe Secretary Kimball sent a message to Jerry Giesler, Southern California chairman of the Abolish Cross-Filing Organization, asking him to make public his conclusions on the part labor has played in the fight to remove California's "obnoxious primary election law" from the books and substitute the "well tried and established two-party system."

Hebrews, Persians, and Syrians."

The covenant then goes on to permit such persons to reside on the property, as domestic servants.

In California

The deed to Nixon's home in Whittier, which was recorded April 11, 1949, restricts the use and occupancy of the land to "white or Caucasian."

The shocking revelations of Nixon's racial bias came as a result of the $18,000 separate expense fund he used in addition to the $75,000 of government funds at his disposal. When the names of the donors to the "expense fund" were revealed, it was discovered that they represented the big oil interests, the dairy interests, and the big real estate interests.

The real estate interests represented in the fund are the same ones who fought to keep race covenants and fought the FEPC measure that was on the ballot in 1950.

Andrew Hatcher, the Eagle representative who attended a meeting with Congressman William L. Dawson and Negro leaders from all sections of the country, reported that all were concerned that Nixon, from California, aspiring to the next to highest office in the land, would sign such a covenant in the face of the Supreme Court decision outlawing race covenants.

"At a time when we need friends all over the world, and the oil of the Middle East is so important to the free world, Nixon insults Armenians, Jews, Persians and Syrians by proclaiming to the world that they cannot be his neighbors. In comparison with the slush fund, this is certainly more shocking and the Republicans should meet the challenge by throwing Nixon out of the party," Hatcher said.

ment by force and violence if we didn't put them away."

Allen asked if that applied also to children and old men and women. The colonel did not reply.

After showing the reporter around the administration building, the Colonel invited him to "get into the car and see where we're going to stick 'em." They drove up to an abandoned machine shop with concrete block walls, cement floor, and flat roof. "This building is in fine shape, the Colonel said. "The only thing we're doing now is maintaining the roof. We'll get to the barracks after everything else is taken care of. But we can easily squeeze as many as 3,000 in here, I think—maybe more. We can even make two floors out of the place and sleep them in tiers—you know those wooden, shelf-like beds. Five levels to a section."

'Don't Blow This Up'

The barracks will be ready in a year, he said. "And if there's a war by then or Congress orders them to be put into prison, well, we'd just have to stick them here right away and have them build their own shelter. They'll have builders and carpenters among their own people, I suspect."

A warehouse, where "I'll be able to get at least 1,500," posed a "particular problem. There are no windows in it" and they've got to have some ventilation."

Rexroad went on: "I don't know when they'll be coming or how they'll be treated. I'm just here to put the place in order." Then he appealed to Allen to keep the secret. "Now look here," he said, according to the reporter, "Don't go blow this thing up. I think the less the people know, the less worrying they'll do. After all—it's part of our national defense."

Allen reported that outside of newspaper editors, hardly any one in nearby towns knew of the existence of the concentration camp. Six such camps are now being prepared. According to the McCarran law, those who will be sent to the camps are those about whom the Attorney General finds "there is reasonable ground to believe that such persons will probably engage in acts of espionage or sabotage."

ties, is a violation of the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constiution.

Briefs in the cases filed by NAACP attorneys Sept. 23 claim that race is a "constitutional irrelevance" in the selection of students for admission to public schools.

As the NAACP sees the question, it is the Fourteenth Amendment which will be on trial before the Supreme Court. The issue, they feel, is none other than whether or not demoracy is designed only for people in this country who are not tagged "Negro."

Sub-Standard Schools

The Clarendon County case is now famous. The action was brought on behalf of 67 Negro school children and their parents or guardians by the NAACP. The first petition was filed with the county board of education in November, 1949, asking for equalization of educational facilities and opportunities.

Over 800 Negro children were forced to attend three rundown wooden structure schools while 276 white children received their lessons in two modern brick buildings. The two "white" schools had all the modern conveniences while the "Negro" schools had neither inside drinking water, clean outdoor toilet facilities nor chairs or desks for the students. The structures themselves were hazards to the health of the children.

Direct Attack

When it became evident that the Clarendon County authorities were not going to take any steps in bringing the schools up to the standards of those maintained for the whites, court action was decided upon.

The original suit was filed in Federal District Court on May 16, 1950, making it the first direct attack the Association had made on the Jim Crow public school system in the South.

The complaint asked the court to issue an injunction "forever restraining and enjoining the school board from making a distinction on account of race and color in maintaining public schools for Negro children which are inferior to those maintained for white children."

Changed Line

In answering the complaint a month later, the Board of Trustees of School District No. 22 of Clarendon County claimed that the elementary and secondary school facilities for Negro children were substantially equal to those provided for white children. The board then asked the court to dismiss the complaint.

The case came up May 28, 1951, before Judges John J. Parker, U.S. Circuit Court, J. Waties Waring and George Bell Timmerman, both U.S. District Court.

At the very outset the defense attorneys admitted "that inequalities in the facilities, opportunities and curricula in the schools of this district do exist." The NAACP introduced nine expert witnesses who told the court of the various types of evils existing in the segregated systems and that Jim Crow schools have a permanent injurious effect on school children.

Strong Opinion

The three-judge panel handed down a 2 to 1 decision on June 21, 1951 upholding the Jim Crow schools. However, Judge Waring, in a separate opinion, said that the practice of "separation and segregation according to race is a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment.

"Segregation in education can never produce equality and . . . it is an evil that must be eradicated," Judge Waring wrote. "This case presents the matter clearly for adjudication and I am of the opinion that all of the legal guideposts, expert testimony, common sense and reason point unerringly to the conclusion that the system of segregation in education adopted and practiced in the State of South Carolina must go and must go now . . ."

The Topeka case, like the Clarendon case, also questions the power of the state to enforce a state statute which segregates because of race or color. It is a direct violation of the Fourteenth Amendment, the NAACP contends.

The unanimous decision upholding the segregation was handed down August 3, 1951. While the Topeka case did not demand the same national attention as the Clarendon case, it is important because Kansas is not a Southern state.

Loss of Arm Doesn't Balk This Worker

Clifford Stell, 47, of 1203 East 127th street operates machines and helps assemble venetian blinds at the California House of Shrager, 1837 West Gage street, but what makes him different from other men is that he does his work without his right arm.

He was a lumber handler until an accident cost him his arm. He got his job through the California Department of Employment, 1100 South Flower St. He has been employed a year. His employer feels he is one of his best workers.

Last year 11,659 physically handicapped men and women found work through the Metropolitan Los Angeles State Employment offices, Thomas C. Campbell, area manpower director, pointed out this week.

That it is good business to hire physically impaired men and women is this year's keynote during National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week which opened here Oct. 5, Campbell said.

Handicapped workers are absent less, do not quit as often and produce as much or more work than their normal fellow employees, according to a recent survey conducted by Dr. Gilbert Brighouse, chairman Psychology Department, Occidental college.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The National Alliance of Postal Employees this week announced two separate actions to step up the organization's fight against racial discrimination in the United State Post Office department.

In Chicago, President Ashby Carter sent letters to both major presidential aspirants, telling them of the injustices suffered by Negro postal workers and asked for conferences with them to go into the situation in detail.

The defendant did not offer much opposition to the divorce charges. He resides at 350 West 70th street. The couple separated in October of 1951. Mrs. Caldwell sought in addition to the divorce decree, the household furnishings and the family television.

Party Politics Out in Group For Stevenson

Formation of a new organization of political independents, and business and professional men and women supporting Adlai Stevenson for President, was announced this week by Loren Miller and City Councilman Edward R. Roybal, co-chairman.

The group, formed to work outside of regular party organization, has taken the name of "Californians for Stevenson Committee," and elected Anna Roosevelt as executive secretary.

"There are thousands of Californians who believe in the things advocated by Adlai Stevenson, yet who have hesitated joining regular party organizations," Miller and Roybal said.

"Every Californian, regardless of political affiliation, who believes in an intelligent and constructive foreign policy, and an expanding domestic economy, is invited to participate by giving time, effort, and dollars.

"In the first five days, since the formation of this committee, more than 400 Republicans and Democrats have pledged their support."

The Los Angeles County Health Department's mass x-ray survey in Willowbrook will be launched Oct. 20, 11 a.m. in front of the Ritter school at 11108 South Watts avenue.

mented to the point of violence if some race hate group comes into the picture."

A plan agreed upon at the clandestine back yard meeting was that every property owner in the Property Owners Association of the Chesterfield Allotment should contribute $5 to make up a purse for the Hammonds to persuade them not to move into the new home. It was also decided to hold another meeting in the near future in a hall at 2nd avenue and Slauson.

'Naturally Uneasy'

Fred Heilman, of Heilman's Realty Co., 1900 West 54th street, long a resident in the neighborhood, told the Eagle that the people in the area are "naturally uneasy" since they want to retain the tract for Caucasians. He gave assurance, however, that "there will be no violence." He added: "I'm positive of that." He told of a visitor some months ago, an Oklahoman, who when the subject of Negroes was discussed remarked: "I know how to keep them out. I can still use the old six-shooter."

Heilman said he gave him a good dressing down. He explained the position of the property owners: "These people have lived here a great many years. They don't want anybody else to come in. We like our neighborhood."

He thought, however, that "in the long run, the whole southwest will be occupied by non-Caucasians."

The transaction was handled by the Horace A. Willard Realty Co., 5701 South Hoover street.

White Asks Immigration Law Change

NEW YORK—Immediate revision of American immigration and naturalization laws to eliminate all distinctions based on race, language or religion was urged by Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, at a hearing before the President's Commission on Immigration and Naturalization Sept. 30.

Because of its racial implications, he said, the present McCarran-Walter Act will prove harmful to the United States not only in Asia but also in Latin America and in the Caribbean area. Immigation from the West Indies, he testified, has been reduced 90 per cent by this act which has aroused "anger" and "shock" in the islands.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

Nixon Okays Jim Crow

Sen. Richard Nixon, who wants to be vice-president, went down South last week and told a GOP audience that he is all in favor of "voluntary non-compulsory" action to secure civil rights for Negroes. That sounds fine until it is weighed against the fact that Senator Nixon—and his wife—specifically agreed to a racial restrictive covenant that would prevent ownership or occupancy of residential property by "Negroes, or any person or persons of Negro blood or extraction . . . or by Armenians, Jews, Hebrews, Persians and Syrians." That agreement covered his swank $41,000 Washington home.

He signed the agreement in 1951 —three years after the United States Supreme Court had held that such covenants were discrimintory and had forbade any state enforcement of them.

Two years earlier — in 1949 and one year after the Supreme Court decision — Senator Nixon, and his wife, had agreed to be bound by a similar covenant that covers their Whittier home.

It is apparent that the senator believes in residential segregation. Nobody needs to be surprised at that.

Nixon's bosom pals and political bedfellows, who gave him $18,000 on the side, are well-known real estate and financial figures who fought in season and out to uphold the validity of race restrictive covenants and who have never given up trying to find some way to get around the Supreme Court decision.

We don't know what Ike thinks of this kind of race baiting by his second in command. What we do know is that the General is on record with the assertion that "he's my boy."

He may be Ike's boy.

He isn't ours.

The Board Deserves Credit

We've been critical of our Board of Education and of Superintendent Stoddard on many occasions. We still think they've flubbed many chances to keep our schools abreast of the times and to make them effective instruments to implement the democratic way of life.

However, the Board and Mr. Stoddard do deserve credit for the manner in which they have moved toward integration of teachers in our schools.

Time was when Negro teachers were all confined to teaching in schools located in the midst of Negro communities. And not long before that they were tacitly barred from teaching in junior and senior high schools.

As of today there is no barrier to Negro teachers who have the qualifications in the high school system.

Even better, the unwritten rules that once confined Negro teachers to "Negro schools" are being abandoned. Today some Negro teachers are being assigned to schools on the same basis as other teachers. We hope that the policy will be extended until the time comes that race isn't a factor in teacher placement.

There have been no incidents of any kind as the result of the change in policy and we're sure that there won't be any. Our children, and our white neighbors' children, don't put the same stock in racism that some of their parents do. What they look at is the ability of their teachers to teach and inspire them.

Practicing the democracy we teach in our schools is the best way we know to show school children we mean what we say.

A Critical Decision

No more important decision will be rendered in our lifetime by the United States Supreme Court than the one that will be handed down in the Kansas and South Carolina school cases.

Those cases present a forthright challenge to the iniquitous "separate but equal" rule—the constitutional doctrine that the states can segregate Negroes in public facilities.

All of us know that none of these segregated institutions have ever been equal to those maintained for whites. They can't be in the very nature of things.

Southern states, for a variety of historical reasons, are too poor to maintain one adequate system of schools or other public facilities and in the face of that disability they have kept up the solemn fiction that they can provide two decent systems.

Negroes, denied the vote and barred all but the very smallest participation in public affairs, haven't had the power to force even a semblance of equality.

All of the experts who have testified in these cases have agreed that the very act of segregating Negroes in schools brands Negro children as inferior to whites. The net result of segregation has been to frustrate Negroes who have had to bow to it and to cut down their effectiveness as citizens.

Jim Crow is a luxury that America can't afford these days. The need for a united nation was never greater than at this moment of crisis in world affairs.

We hope that the Supreme Court will disregard old precedents and old decisions and chart a new course that will bestow on Negroes the first-class citizenship to which they are entitled.

Ike's Unholy Alliance

General Eisenhower's open endorsement of reactionary Republican senators like Jenner of Indiana, McCarthy of Wisconsin and Cain of Oregon, coupled with his endorsement of Jimmie Byrnes of South Carolina, indicates how Ike intends to govern the nation in the unlikely event that he wins the November election.

He's going to build a bigger and better unholy alliance between the Dixiecrats and the GOP Old Guard.

That unholy alliance has been fairly successful in the past few years even with Mr. Truman in the White House.

It has restored power to the House Rules Committee to bottle up civil rights legislation.

It has bolstered the power of a few southern senators to filibuster in the Senate and has made it virtually impossible to impose a rule to limit debate.

It has prevented all attempts to get civil rights legislation out of either House or Senate committees.

It has smothered all attempts to put any of the proposals of the President's Civil Rights Committee on the statute books.

This record of obstruction is bad enough.

But the Republican Old Guard and the Dixiecrats want more. They want to turn the clock back, as witness Byrnes' successful attempt to get a South Carolina law providing for the abandonment of public schools in event the Supreme Court strikes down school segregation.

That's the sort of thing we can expect if Ike and his GOP and Dixiecrat stooges win this fall.

They won't win if the people go to the polls November 4 and vote.

The Dixiecrat-GOP coalition is bad enough in Congress. It would be ten times worse with Ike in the White House.

Editorial

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

It isn't exactly the promised land that Dwight Eisenhower pointed out in his speech last week at Wheeling, West Virginia, but it's a heck of a long way ahead of where we are now in race relations. The Republican candidate spoke to a near-Southern audience. West Virginia isn't South like neighboring Tennessee or North Carolina, but it's South enough for separate schools and the other appurtenances of official segregation. It was an appropriate place for Mr. Eisenhower to state where he stands on civil rights, since he does not believe that the Federal Government should go as far as the President's Committee on Civil Rights recommended.

The Eisenhower speech indicated that he has done considerable homework since he returned to these shores in June—and especially since he spoke four years ago to the Senate Armed Forces Committee on the question of racial segregation in the Army. At Wheeling, the General said this: He has no patience with any idea of second-class citizenship. Vigorous action, especially legislation, at local levels can accomplish much, but the Federal Government must help in a number of ways. Federal action can establish the facts of discrimination and hold them up for national attention. This will be one way of stimulating local action, but the Federal Government, while preaching to others, must practice what it preaches.

End Jim Crow

Segregation must be abolished in the nation's capital. Remaining segregation in the armed forces must be wiped away. Restrictions on the right to vote must be erased; in no operation of the Federal Government can discrimination be tolerated.

It is to be presumed that Dwight Eisenhower included all kinds of employment under "operations of the Federal Government." For not only are there more than two million jobs directly filled by Washington, but there are probably another ten million jobs made possible through the use of Federal funds. Government contracts, state contracts with Federal subsidy, subcontracts and supply orders arising from Federal expenditures—it is no wild exaggeration to estimate twenty million jobs affected by non-discrimination regulations, if the Federal Government should institute them and enforce them vigorously. And this is an area in which the President need not wait for Congress but can move ahead under executive order, just as President Roosevelt finally did when he was pushed into doing so by the March on Washington movement.

Dwight Eisenhower says that the Republican Party can produce all this, and the Democratic Party cannot. He states that the Administration has been good on pointing but weak on moving toward "the promised land." He declares that the Promised Land of the Democrats has always turned out to be a political mirage. And he is so right, so far as "the President's civil rights program" has been concerned. This is not to say that the Truman expedition was all failure. At least the Fair Deal defined an area of Federal responsibility, whether or not it ever had any intention of carrying it out. The Eisenhower speech would not have been made if the Truman example had not been set.

Now the voters can turn to Adlai Stevenson and challenge him, "Beat that!" As this column has pointed out previously, both candidates have been fine on generalities, with Stevenson in the lead. But the Eisenhower speech at Wheeling was an effort to be specific—to get down to the brass tacks of what the President himself can and will do within the framework of his party's platform. It's time for such specific talk; we have five full weeks remaining in which to make up our minds.

In my own book there are four issues determining my own choice of candidate, which has not yet been made. Peace or war, as determined by our foreign policy; inflation or economic stability, as determined by domestic policies; corruption or decency in Federal Government, as determined by appointments and political influences; democracy or hypocrisy in race relations, as determined by Federal action on civil rights. That's all, brother, there isn't any more this election —not for me!

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

No matter which ticket wins in November, the Nixon story is by no means closed. For the Republicans it remains a most unfortunate revelation because of the picture it gives of the essential Republican theory of government.

It could be that the Nixon story and the effect of the young Senator's dramatic, emotional (and unnecessary) revelation of his personal finances will be the gimmick that will win for the GOP; it could be, also, that cold and thoughtful analysis between now and November 4 will convince the great mass of independent voters that, regardless of the mistakes of past years in Washington, the Nixon system is not the kind of replacement the nation needs.

Calls the Tune

For the real evil is in the system favored by Mr. Nixon and his backers, the system that says it is all right for a few rich men to pick out a likely prospect for Senator, contribute to help him get elected, and then make up a private fund to underwrite his expenses while in office.

The immediate question arises: To whom does such a Senator belong, to the people who voted for him and thought they had elected a servant to carry out their wishes, or to a select group of millionaires which pays his bills?

No thoughtful person who knew anything about Senator Nixon believed that he had personally received any money from his angels, put it in his own pocket and used it for the personal enjoyment of himself and his family. That it was wholly unncessary for him to go into his personal finances before a television audience.

Emotional Acts

He did not have to drag in his insurance, mortgages, his wife, children, and pets. He did this emotional act strictly for its political effect. It was an excellent job for the purpose he had in mind; it was Hollywood perfect in its script, delivery, and acting.

But the Senator did not answer the question in the minds of millions of voters. He did not discuss in any detail whatsoever his spending of the fund. He presented an audit of the fund which showed that he did not get any of the money for himself, that it had been spent under several general headings, and that the checks matched these headings and totals, leaving such and such a balance.

At no point before, during, or since the fund came to public notice has Richard Nixon indicated that he recognizes that subsidizing of a United States Senator by a private club of millionaires is ethically wrong and contrary to the theory of Democratic government.

Basic Evils

For here is the real, basic evil. The Republicans, including Nixon, have been yelping about pressure groups. They have been saying that labor unions are "too big" and raise "slush funds" to get what they want from Government. They shake a finger at the Negro and say he ought not to use "racial pressure" to force issues upon Government.

The Nixon case proves that millionaires who have their own money-making interests have their "slush-fund" and move unblushingly to subsidize a Senator who, presumably, will not vote against their interests. Nixon has not denied this subsidy. He sees nothing wrong with it.

While he did not get any of it into his own pocket, it relieved him of paying some expenses so that he was able to buy $54,000 in homes on a salary and allowances totalling $15,000 a year.

Negro Stake

Does anyone imagine that Senator Nixon, in view of his private subsidy made up in part from contributions from real estate men and oil magnates, would vote for rent control or public housing? Is it startling that he is opposed to the Federal Government ownership of Tideland oil Deposits? Every oil man in the nation opposes Federal ownership.

Negroes have a stake in this argument. Despite progress up the economic scale, the masses of Negroes are low-income people. They need rent control. They need public housing because the very real estate men who support Nixon will not sell them houses or rent them apartments except in ghettos at prices and rentals with a color-line premium ranging from 20 to 50 per cent. They need Federal ownership of Tidelands Oil because the proceeds will go to the States for education and thousands of Negro children now being cheated in Jim Crow schools would get a better break in life.

Who Rules?

As I listened and watched Nixon stage his act I could not help but think of the Negro veterans who came home, like Dick Nixon, from the Pacific and Europe only to be denied jobs, bombed from their homes, beaten by sheriffs and constables, insulted and threatened when they sought a decent home for their families.

They had no angels to pick up the check. They had only their government to fall back upon, its elected officials and its courts. At best they have only a fighting chance of winning. Under the Nixon system of private subsidy for elected represatives, they wouldn't have even a fighting chance.

The Nixon story, therefore, is more important than any of the candidates for it involves the basic concept of American Democracy: Government of, by, and for the people, as against Government by a wealthy, powerful clique or rulers on top.

Playing Second Fiddle

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

While there is no joy on Central Avenue and the Dodger fans are giving out with the old saw, "wait until next year," it seems like the local Democrats are waiting until next year to do any campaigning.

When the Kefauver slate won the state, a lot of people thought that some fresh air and blood had been pumped into local politics, but the same old game goes on at the same stand. The big money boys are sitting on their pockets, and will move in to capture the organization when the time is ripe.

While the Dodgers can "wait until next year," Negro voters cannot. This is a crucial election in many ways, and if the gains of the last 20 years are to be maintained and we are to continue to go forward, we must get off the dime.

Small-Time Jerk

We in California know the kind of small-time bigoted jerk the Senator from Whittier and captive of Pasadena has always been. However, this is not true of the rest of the country, and it is up to us to tell the story. The fact that Nixon would sign a restrictive covenant against everybody but blue-eyed, blond Anglo-Saxons while aspiring to public office, shows the type of mentality he has.

When Governor Earl Warren and Goodie Knight put the crybaby act from San Marino down, something really had to be wrong. He only slit the throats of the three biggest Republicans in the state in his mad climb to position.

Nixon is only climbing to position because the power is behind him and used through him.

Nixon is doubly dangerous as I have it from very reliable sources that Ike's health is bad. His campaign managers see that he gets plenty of rest and keep him from worrying about details of the campaign so he can get plenty of sleep. Wouldn't it be hell to wake up one morning and find Nixon in the president's seat.

I didn't see Nixon's historic television performance, but I understand it set the industry back 20 years. The criminal is always caught, justice always wins out and our Nell is always saved. Junior can listen to the Lone Ranger every day in the week, but after watching Nixon's performance and his twisted logic, you can't prove to Junior that you can't steal the jam and get away with it.

Can't Explain Tax

Drew Pearson, who incidentally broke the Nixon restrictive covenant story to the Negro press, says that one thing Nixon cannot explain is his income tax. They've probably burned all the copies by now.

(Aside to Almena: We had the Nixon story last week, but waited until this week to "do it up brown.")

The Nixon fund and the Stevenson fund are as different as day and night, but you wouldn't think so to read most of the daily press. Stevenson used his fund to obtain good government. I didn't get one of Nixon's Christmas cards, but I understand they were lulus.

Nixon got his cash from a small circle of millionaires. The people who want to rob the nation of the tidelands oil, the big real estate manipulators, and the big dairy interests. I'm almost afraid to put cream in my coffee. Those dairy boys weren't plunking down hard cash for nothing.

Negroes Donate

Nixon might have had restrictive covenants as to his donors, because not one brother is listed. However among the Stevenson donors, about ten persons of color were named. Ten people who believed in good government and what Stevenson stood for and paid money to back up their beliefs, a great sign of political maturity.

We can rant and rave about Nixon all day long, and all of us should do it, and as Dawson says, "get mad and get smart—get out the vote."

My Washington pipeline informs me that Dawson and the big politicos are very concerned about the coming election, and particularly the situation in California. They know that the state can be won for the asking, but someone's got to ask. The Nixon story turned several papers completely around that were looking at the Republican green and seeing Ike as a knight in shining armor. They can't see the General now for the stars. Tricky Dick served one useful purpose.

Word from the valley is that things are humming. Attorney Hugh Goodwin has Fresno jumping and things are moving in Bakersfield. Chops Lawrence is rich now with his many enterprises, and was talking a lot about Ike, but between Andy Hatcher and Goodwin, he'll be gladly for Adlai.

Oldtimers in Spotlight at Independent

As the month-long anniversary celebration marking the founding of the People's Independent Church of Christ 37 years ago by the late Rev. Napoleon P. Gregg moved into the second week, Sunday, October 12, was set aside to honor "old-timers" and pioneer citizens.

Mrs. P. L. Williams, chairman of public relations for the Trustee Board, announced that next Sunday will be "Club Day." Church clubs and groups will vie with each other in sending out invitations to various organizations and individual old-time churchgoers to participate in the great renewal of old friendships and "get-acquainted" fellowship fete."

Mrs. Elmira Long, hostess for the day, asks each member to bring a picnic basket lunch so they can remain throughout the day.

In the early evening there will be an interesting gospel program under the direction of Mrs. Fannie Benjamin, director of the N. P. Gregg Gospel Choir. The Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the church, will occupy the pulpit at both hours.

Neighborhood Church 'War' Unique Plan

Replacing Men and Women's Day will be the "War of Roses" which began last Sunday and will close the second week in November. It will be remembered that the War of Roses was a war in England led by the Duke of York and the Duke of Lancaster; the followers of the House of York wore the white rose and those of Lancaster the red rose.

Participants are Clifford Farrar, Sr., as Duke of York, with Miss Sara Collins the duchess, W. W. Hayman, Duke of Lancaster, and Mrs. Buredene Lowry the duchess.

For the past two Sundays, Rev. Collins has given over the morning service to two associate ministers, the Rev. G. Mansfield Collins and the Rev. David D. Thomas.

Religious Survey Compiles Figures On Churchgoers

The Yearbook of American Churches is a scholarly directory of American religion designed for people of all faiths. Compiled annually, it presents all available facts and statistics about U. S. and Canadian religious bodies.

Yearbook figures show that Sunday school enrollment increased from 1950 to 1951 by 909,000; that the number of ordained ministers during the same year increased from 285,014 to 301,000; that the average yearly contribution from each churchgoer increased during that year from $30.51 to $32.33. Commenting on this last item, the Yearbook notes that the cost-of-living rise during the same period absorbed the increase in giving as far as church expenditures were concerned. Surveying 46 U. S. communions, the Yearbook found that contributions during 1950 totalled $1,099,109,855; during 1951, $1,166,437,357.

These upward trends have been in operation for the past 25 years, says the Yearbook, with a temporary slump in membership, attendance and giving during the 1930's.

Pastors Told Psychology Will Further Work

A psychiatrist writing in a religious journal has suggested that ministers should have a speaking acquaintance with psychiatry before attempting to help people solve their problems.

The author, Dr. Alfred K. Baur, is chief of the psychiatric and neurologic service, Veterans Hospital, Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and is well acquainted with the field of religion, having been brought up on the campus of Eden Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., where his father was a professor. Dr. Baur declares that "most of the students of religion who expose themselves to clinical training in psychiatric settings come forth from that experience with a better understanding of themselves as well as their fellow men, and are strengthened rather than weakened in the performance of their religious functions."

N. Y. Ministers Cite Truman for Human Relations

NEW YORK, N. Y.—President Harry S. Truman who made his irreconcilable break with the Dixiecrats in an historic Harlem address in 1948, will return to the same spot for a major speech on Civil Rights Saturday, Oct. 11, at 1 p.m., the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance of Greater New York and vicinity announced this week.

Dr. C. Asapansa-Johnson, president of the group which presented Mr. Truman with the second annual Franklin D. Roosevelt award in 1948, announced that the Chief Executive will return to Dorrence Brooks Park on Oct. 11, to receive the sixth presentation of the same award.

The award, which is presented annually to the person who contributes most during the year to human relations, was first presented in 1947 to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Mr. Truman will be the first person to be so honored twice and will receive a gold medal instead of the bronze medal previously presented.

Young Charlie Green brings to mind another youngster that was moving up the ladder to fistic fame and fortune. It was John Thomas back in 1938. John then was the slender built kind with plenty of speed and quick savvy with his mitts. He came along when boxing was getting a great boom with Joe Louis, Tony Zale, Henry Armstrong, leading the parade.

New Blood

Boxing today is in need of new blood, which means until something is done to stimulate boxing in our city, it is going to remain a second-rate sport. The crowds the Hollywood Legion and the Olympic attract on their boxing sometimes doesn't meet the expense of operation.

Certainly we have more kids roaming the streets with nothing to do than back in the '30s. Boxing in New York is still rated the top sport come baseball, football or what have you. Boxing will always remain one of the big city's biggest attractions and they will always field two boxers that will draw a million dollars through the turnstiles.

Financial Flop

In Los Angeles, our last big outdoor bout was almost a financial flop. What a few sports-minded citizens up and down the avernoo should do is open up their purse strings and sponsor a few neighborhood gyms. The State Athletic Commission should get off their padded seats ad lend a hand in promoting more interest in boxing.

There is plenty of room for several new appointments. We certainly would like to go on record as recommending John Thomas as our next referee, as boxing owes him that. Thomas has always been a good salesman for the manly arts and with him being active as a ring official certainly would create boatloads of interest in the younger set. How about it, Norman O. Houston?

Charlie Green Impressive In Quick Knockout Victory

By Ed. "Abie" Robinson

Charley Green, making his first title defense of his recently crowned California state middleweight champion, made short work of Curtis Moore, 161½, of Newark, N. J. Green scored a technical knockout in 1:24 of the third round of the scheduled 10-rounder. Green floored his foe for a nine count in the second round and in the third had Moore on the canvas again.

Green was out to get his man early for after the second knockdown he flew into Moore with both fists flying that had his foe bleeding and on very wobbly pins. Referee Mushy Callahan sensed the danger and halted the melee in this frame.

Green demonstrated to the fans and the huge television audience that he is a much-improved fighter since his last outing. He boxed with finess of an expert and his punches were sharp as a seasoned veteran.

Huskies Face Valley Fr'day

The "Huskies" of ELA will rip into their first Metropolitan Conference game on Friday, October 10 by hosting the potent and yet undefeated Valley JC "Monarchs" in the ELAJC stadium. Starting time is slated for 8 p.m.

Going into this grid encounter the Huskies boast of a one and one record. In their opening scuffle the Green and White squad toppled the Chaffey "Panthers" by a score of 28-0. The following week they journeyed to the Rose Bowl where defeat awaited them in the form of the Pasadena "Bulldog," last year's jaycee champs.

On the other hand Valley, the newest Metro Conference member, has conquered its first three foes. As an appetizer they downed a powerful Glendale team by a score of 14-6. Taft was their next victim as the Monarchs rolled to a 35-3 victory. Last week they squeezed past Santa Monica by a 7-0 score.

NEW YORK—Hank Greenberg, Cleveland Indians' general manager, told newsmen that he would not trade Larry Doby for any player in the American League.

Dazed Rooter Asks Brooklyn How Come

It took one of the greatest teams in the history of the Yankees to conquer a stubborn National League outfit called "The Bums." The great power-hitting Yankees had to go the route to do it. That hasn't happened in many World Series.

Before you second-guessing baseball experts go accusing the Dodgers of tossing the games away and claiming Manager Charley Dressen is a poor excuse for a baseball manager, let me clear you on one important point. World Series games are not won on past performances. They are won and lost on the same afternoon they are played.

Kindly check our brief on the seven games played under the head of World Series Facts. Compare the hits, runs, and errors of both clubs and you will find the only difference between the clubs is one fact. The Yankees were able to come through with the money-winning hits and the Dodgers weren't.

That's not the manager's fact. It's more nature than anything. Which means the Yankee pitchers were able to nip the corners a bit closer than the Dodgers and the hitters were able to put a little more power in their hits. Although the chart shows that, the Brooklyn fans can't see how come, it is easy; class, and class makes the champions. If facts and figures are correct and the Yankees happen to be just an ordinary good ball club, then the Brooklyn Dodgers would read four games won instead of three.

Just to give you an idea of how much class was involved in the 1952 series games, just 16 World Series marks were broken. One was equalled during the 1952 fall classic.

ON THE TURF

BAY MEADOWS, San Mateo, Calif. — The featured Salinas Handicap for 2-year-olds at one mile will hold the spotlight this Saturday at the northern track will be focused on the performance of Archie Sneed's Hour Regards, who may be the best juvenile developed in California in many years. He has shown himself to be one of the best sprinters of the year but has not been tested at distances past six furlongs. Hour Regards showed his superiority over the best juveniles here when he romped to an easy victory in the Art Sparks Handicap some weeks ago. He was top weighted with 122 pounds and ran the three-quarters in the fast time of 1:10 2-5, beating Abe Hirshberg's Lothario by three lengths.

RAMSEY

In this race he took the lead from the start and was never headed. Hour Regards won the Del Mar Futurity by a nose, beating the Calumet Farm's Chanlea in record time of 1:09 4-5. Chanlea and Lothario will be the ones to beat. Decorated, History Book and Silverado are expected to be in the line-up.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE—Magic Lead, the son of one of Caliente's favorites, romped to a five-length victory in the featured Winsome Allowances, beating some of the best sprinters on the grounds and older horses included.

It was the first time that the son of Leadman-Magic Coat had ever raced older competition. Coupled with his running mate, Second Glory, who set a burning pace to midway stretch, Magic Lead moved up leisurely in the last quarter and then turned in his great speed to pass the leaders and score as his rider pleased. He ran the six furlongs in the fast time of 1:10 2-5. The time was exceptional for a 3-year-old on a track that was dull.

Gallardo Wins Lightweight Title

Charky Wright's hard-punching Dave Gallardo came from behind in a nip-and-tuck battle with Al Cruz at the Olympic Auditorium to win the California state featherweight title.

Cruz, a tricky boxing gem, had lost only one pro bout before this and was completely outclassing Gallardo in the first five rounds with his boxing skill.

However, Gallardo tossed caution to the wind in the late rounds and began exploding with vicious rights and lefts to the head of his foe. He had Cruz on wobbly legs several times but could not floor him.

Judge Reggie Gillmore voted for Cruz 67-65. He was overruled by Referee Frank Van and Judge James Wallace, giving Gallardo 67-65.

Ollie Matson Again Stars for Cardinals

CHICAGO — Electrifying 100-yard and 34-yard touchdown runs by Ollie Matson and another of 59 yards by Charley Trippi shot the Cardinals from behind to a 21-10 upset triumph over the highly rated Chicago Bears.

Top Grid Games

Southern University vs. Paul Quinn, Texas Southern University vs. Grambling, Bishop College vs. Arkansas Baptist, Hampton vs North Carolina, Arkansas A. M. & N. vs. Lane College, Texas College Steers vs. Langston University.

TANK YANKED!!!!

"TANK" YOUNGER, block busting back of the Los Angeles Rams, professional champions of the National Football league, is meeting with nothing but trouble, both on and off the "pigskin patch."

In addition to being a member of a team gifted with everything but the ability to win, "Tank" yanked and spanked his mother-in-law and the judge invited him to be a guest of the "house of slammers" for two weeks.

Last evening, at press time, it was wondered who would suffer most; "Mummy-O" and her feelings, Tank in the clink or the Rams in search of their initial victory against the Green Bay Packers Sunday in Milwaukee.

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

SAN FRANCISCO—It's quite evident, Pasadena's own home-grown Jackie Robinson, the Brooklyn Dodgers' illustrious second-sacker, wasn't the batting sensation of the World Series—On the contrary, as many times as the New York Yanks deliberately put him on in the 5th game, I can't help but think he was the most feared and respected clutch hitter on the field.

A lot of water has passed under the proverbial bridge since Jackie broke the Major League's lilly-white iron curtain in '46. . . . It's refreshing to note the incomparable exploits of this truly tremendously gifted athlete and 100% American in the twilight of his brilliant career. . . . Felicitations as always, Jackie, for a dynamic job. . . .

CAL'S WILLIAMS DAY—

California's q.b., Sammy Williams, who is usually employed as a first string defensive halfback custodian, virtualy had his day back in Minneapolis, Minn., Saturday. He engineered the Golden Bears to two six-pointers in the last two minutes of play. . . . Sammy hit Paul Larson, Bear halfback, after almost being trapped for a huge loss, and the fleet-footed Larson exploded for 27 yards and six digits. . . . Sammy threw another td pass to Larson earlier in the fourth quarter but it was called back. . . . Williams played the last 15 minutes of the game. . . . Give him the chance, Pappy, and he'll produce. . . . Duke Washington is the fullback of the disappointing Washington State grid team. . . .

Wally Jackson, ex-Berkeley High and CCSF halfback, was a big gun for the Oregon State Beavers Saturday, when they literally scared the pants off mighty Michigan State. . . . Ellery Williams, erstwhile St. Mary's star, is now operating as a stellar flankman with the semi-pro SF Broncos. . . . After seeing Michigan's fine all-American end candidate Lowell Perry in action Saturday at Palo Alto, it was the sports scribes' consensus of opinion that he lived up to his press notices, even if he did virtually lose the contest when he was called for pass interference on Bob Mathias in the end zone. . . . Perry scored the Michiganders' lone tally, he all but faked Stanford's backs out of their shoes. . . . He went both ways, on offensive as an end, and defense as a back.

MATSON STARS

Ollie Matson, Olympic Games star, and in this town Mr. Frisco, took off to the races against the Chicago Bears Sunday and sprinted 100 yards on a kick-off return and added a 34-yard dash to lead the Chicago Cardinals to their most impressive win of the season. By doing so, Matson virtually secured his former USF mentor's job. . . Richmond high's halfback, Cadillac Jones, is reputed to be in a class by himself as his namesake, the auto. . . . Back across the Bay here in Frisco, Ashford Jones is keeping Mission high in the win column with the same velocity as the Cadillac. . . . Perish the rumor Larry Doby is for sale. . . . General manager Hank Greenberg says: I would not sell Doby for any player in the American League. . . .

BAY AREA BITES—

Abe Saperstein, the little round father of the truly world-famous Harlem Globetrotters, related here this week perhaps the greatest praise '36 Olympic Games here Jesse Owens was ever accorded. As the story goes, Uncle Samuel used Saperstein's Globetrotters to counteract the effect of a big Berlin Communist Youth rally. For a movieland touch, the Air Force landed Jesse Owens in the '36 Olympic Stadium and Owens in his track suit paraded out. . . . Owens' exhibition and the basketball game which followed was such a tremendously dynamic event the mayor of Berlin, choking up as he spoke in the microphone, said to Owens: "Adolph Hitler refused you his hand. I give you both of mine." This, I should think, is a sign that the world is beginning to become better informed.

TOPS AS DANCE GIVERS—Zooming into popularity in a little more than a year as a unique social club are the Tweedsmen, who gave a dance at the Elks' Auditorium last Saturday evening. Hosting a completely outstanding list of active socialites were Walter Smith, Kenneth Hill, president; Julius Boyd, Hugo Hill, Attorney Ted Schaffer, Teddy Williams, Herbert Howard, Harold Machen, Billy Benfield, Hayward Thompson, Jack Thompson. Missing from the group are Vernon Dancy and Price Cobbs, now serving in the armed forces.

Guests Crowd Ballroom at Tweedsmen's Annual Dance

A little less than fourteen months were needed to develop one of the most popular clubs the community has ever boasted. The Tweedsmen, composed of 14 members, proved that high social status at a semi-formal held Saturday night at Elks' auditorium.

Guests at the invitational dance swarmed over the ballroom floor and in the crowded cocktail lounge until the closing moment, draining as much fun and frolic from the event as possible before bidding goodbye.

The guest list included the outstanding members of town society taken from the youthful collegiate set to the young married couples. At last year's dance, held at the same place, a similar crowd enjoyed the music and hospitality as did this group.

The Tweedsmen, steered by ex-collegiate basketball star Kenneth Hill, was formerly presided over by Sherill Luke, one time UCLA student body president. Luke is now attending school in the bay area.

Attorney Ted Schaffer, partner of Walter Gordon, attorney, is vice-president, assisted by secretary Harold Machen, recording secretary Walter Smith, treasurer Hayward Thompson and sergeant-at-arms Billy Benfield.

Other members of the impressive roster include Julius Boyd, head of public relations; Hugo Hill, Teddy Williams, Herbert Howard and Jack Thompson.

Missing from the group are two members, Vernon Dancy and Price Cobbs, now serving in the armed forces.

One of the guests, making her Los Angeles debut at the dance, was Mickey Avery, who recently moved here from Seattle. She was gowned in white lace and wore rhinestone accessories.

During the holiday season the group plans to celebrate with a number of inner club parties which will be held in members' homes. Its present objective is to build up the strength of the organization and form a stable business club.

Deltas Plan Autumn Ball

The Phi Gamma Deltas held their business meeting at the home of Josephine Bennett on Friday, October 3. Plans were made for a pre-Thanksgiving ball to be held in November.

The meeting was highlighted with the introduction of pledges by their big sisters. Names of the pledges: Wynford Sweet, Juanita Fulton, Ivery Jones and Naomi Witt.

The sorors enjoyed a delightful luncheon served by the pledge club.

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

The unforgetable memories on a shimmering dance floor;
The starry eyed gleams that bound those, during these fleeting moments of bliss,
Still lingers in the minds of the Tweedsmen's never forgetting guests who wonder if,
A chance remains that they will ever substitute another for this.

It's an accepted fact that the Tweedsmen's Formal was the greatest thing that's happened to the set this season. Couldn't get away from the loose tongues that were wagging about the incidents of the evening. This affair was a shot in the arm to the city's diminishing supply of healthy scandle.

Even though it's over they're still talking about:

The fleeting soft-eyed gazes cast by Ellen Bowmann in the general direction of Lorenzo Wallace who was too busy dancing to dig . . .

The trade of blows that were exchanged between two nip-crazed loco's in the little boys' room . . .

That "turned out look" registered by a clubmember when he discussed the reasons why his supposed love showed up missing . . .

The fear that Walker Bruce (with Camille Billopps) would open his half closed eyes and bleed to death . . .

The happy-faced guests who were very nice throughout the evening (no more than a little play here and there) included, Tom Newsome and Imogene Fatherree, Atty. Macie Tolbert and wife, George Brown and Joan Southern, Tony Sheen and Jackie Price, Thomas Greene and Artis Saunders, Sybil Thomas and John Barber, Mary Ann Vandange and John Moore, Loretta and Frank Matthews, June Lewis (looking tough 'nuff), Bill Miller and Betty Norman. It's rough when all faces begin to look the same, however we caught glimpses of some of the night lifers individually, named Janice Shelby, Valoria Johnson, Maude Grimes, Phy Taylor and Turrible Johnny Johnson.

Incidental Chit Chat . . .

Hear that Vanola McHatton along with a contented mush-heart are soon to take that popular trip to the hitching post.

Byron Winston has been released from the Army Hospital, in Japan, where he underwent slight surgery. He's back in action now.

If you're ever in the vicinity of the SC (High-Brerry) and a nip is on your adgenda for the afternoon, just ask Brandon Bolin what he totes in his ever present cologne bottle.

The case has come to light about the dismissal of a "Bandit Beanery" manager and two of his waitresses. Reason being that some illegal transactions were being conducted under the counter which put the food sale trade to shame.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald "Mouse" Abrams have added a crib, a few diapers, a rattler plus a baby to go with them, to their cozy nest, as of last week.

This weeks draftee list contains the names of Charles "Jazzy" Jackson, Evans Fortune, and Fernandes Goode who'll be giving up their titles of free men and be looking forward to becoming freedmen within the next few years.

To the curious minded—Captivating and revealing LoRetta is continuing her studies at the U. of Chicago.

Congrads to Addison Howthorne for finally becoming the first Negro to don and activate a Trojan football uniform in twenty-seven years even without "soiling" it.

Wardel Moss tells of great lifetymes being enjoyed while stationed at some Camp in Virginia. California boys seem to get their way at any cost, especially those sporting B. A. degrees from our Westwood Campus.

There's a statement that was made in last weeks column that we'd like to retract . . . Retracted.

New Oasis Talent Winners Named

GEORGE JESSEL'S position regarding the NAACP's objectives were well attested a few seasons ago. Jessel had escorted Lena Horne to an exclusive New York night club. As they approached the entrance the doorman in a cool manner asked, "Who made your reservation?" To which the quick-witted Jessel replied, "Araham Lincoln," and never missed a stride guiding Miss Horne through the door.

CRISTY MORRIS is the kind of brownskin that the Western avenee wolves are referring to as S.L.D., Stop, Look and Drool. She come by the way of New York and is working her way through college via Red Hut Broiler as a soda jerker.

THE FIELD is often connected with horse racing. Well, several figures took their cue and invited themselves to a social club after-party. The hostess prepared enough for only the members and guests. Instead of singling out the uninvited and showing them the door, she very unladylike went down home shouting from the center of the floor to get out of her house. The party was tossed with the idea that the club members might select her hubby as a member. We shall see!

PASSION WAGONS is the new title hung on the gals that pilot flashy red jobs the likes of our news gal Libby Clark and Mae Crowder. They love red and will make you see red if you crack wise. GLEN NIELSON, dapper man-about-town, is sporting a passion sport model Jaguar. A $4000 deal.

GOLFING, we are wondering if any truth to that unscheduled boxing match by that famous golfing pair of a few years back. The golfing set got it; that the course isn't as smooth as it used to be.

SACRAMENTO is the place Gov. Warren's pretty daughters made popular. However, you don't need to be a governor to have pretty girls. La Vada Barker and Myldra Hill easily prove that point. They're from Sacramento.

HUSTLING, Hucksters really tossed one for us Johns every brand of the popular salesman's label got a call. James Scott's Bourbon De Luxe's, and Steve Lockett's Joe Louis vie for top honors, according to certain newspaper people. One thing is certain that the Hucksters got a good following as some of the town's best lushers were there.

WINI ORR, publicist, is devoting all the time she can in promoting Coru's House of Charm one of the more fashionable beauty shops Owners are two people that really know the beauty business. Ruth Mosby Renfroe in the 30's Ruth's Beauty School ranked high, and attractive Connie Flower trained in New York and owned her shop in Oakland. With Wini as business manager these three outstanding women should be the answer to milady's beauty problems.

MUSIC, and likeable Henry Smith, who suffered third-degree burns about the face and arms, is certainly hoping that his two latest recordings will help heal his wounds. Before his accident, Smith waxed two tunes on his Knockout label titled "The Blues Is Just About to Get Me Down" and the flipover "Saint Louis Boogie."

RADIO, Yocam and Kennedy Jamboree Sunday afternoon KFWB show is good listening. The twosome has a clever way of bringing on their platters.

STAGE, that one-man act you catch about the Hotel Watkins with the extra large "Ike" button is said to be from New York. Will someone kindly give him a map showing Route 66. Oh well! he'd probably get himself lost and wind up back here. Those kind, with small brains, usually do, which accounts for the unpopular remarks about us transplanted Californians.

DENTISTRY is not only a lucrative profession, it's got other interesting points. One being that you can look into the pretty chops of such lovely things as Lena Torrance, if you can swing treadle with the technique of a Dr. Overstreet Gray.

ALICE KEYES and her B.V.A. club members are setting up plans for their forthcoming Florentine Gardens production show Saturday, November 29. The ex-show gals will do most of the work in the production themselves. They have the service of Michael Curtiz, top Hollywood director.

TROPICAL FETE should turn out to be a real hot affair with the Latins mixing Jerry Novak's Christopher Columbus Rum and Coca-Cola. Mac Niles' Virgin Islanders will set the tempo in music Saturday night, October 11, at the Armenian Center.

HONKYTONK, which means Joe Morris will have them jumping over the week-end with groovy Marie Adams.

Big Garden Party Fetes Postal Pals

Mr. and Mrs. Willie M. Robinson of 3613 Montclair street, intertained the Postal Pals Social club in their lovely garden and patio last Sunday.

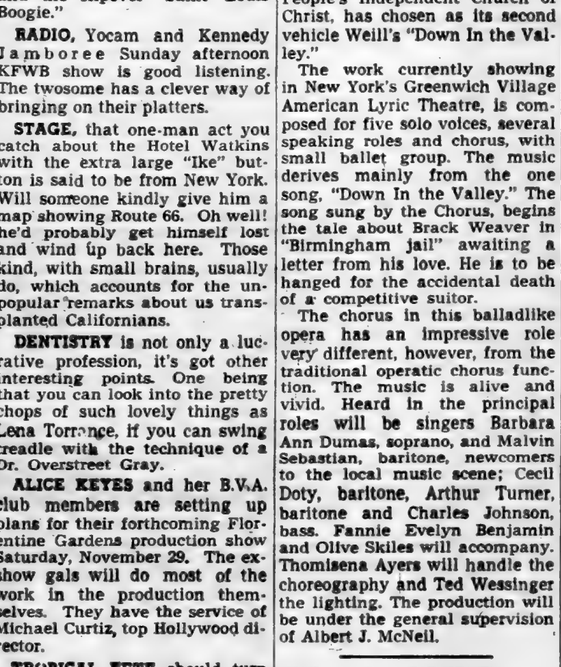
Traffic islands will be installed on Central avenue at 92nd and 95th streets under a $2192 project authorized by the Board of Public Works.

Long Planned Lyric Theatre Opening Soon

A lyric theatre will become a reality Sunday, November 2, and again Wednesday, November 5, with a performance of Kurt Weill's one act opera "Down In the Valley," in People's Independent Church of Christ, East 18th at Paloma streets.

The project was begun experimentally last spring when Albert McNeil and Independent Church's Department of Music presented the religious opera "L'enfant Prodigue" (The Prodigal Son) complete with ballet to capacity audiences at two performances.

Fully cognizant of the need for this type of musical expression locally and frankly soliciting the support of the cultural conscious citizens, the West Adams Civic Chorus of the Los Angeles City Bureau of Music in cooperation with the Music Department of the People's Independent Church of Christ, has chosen as its second vehicle Weill's "Down In the Valley."



The work currently showing in New York's Greenwich Village American Lyric Theatre, is composed for five solo voices, several speaking roles and chorus, with small ballet group. The music derives mainly from the one song, "Down In the Valley." The song sung by the Chorus, begins the tale about Brack Weaver in "Birmingham jail" awaiting a letter from his love. He is to be hanged for the accidental death of a competitive suitor.

The chorus in this balladlike opera has an impressive role very different, however, from the traditional operatic chorus function. The music is alive and vivid. Heard in the principal roles will be singers Barbara Ann Dumas, soprano, and Malvin Sebastian, baritone, newcomers to the local music scene; Cecil Doty, baritone, Arthur Turner, baritone and Charles Johnson, bass. Fannie Evelyn Benjamin and Olive Skiles will accompany. Thomisena Ayers will handle the choreography and Ted Wessinger the lighting. The production will be under the general supervision of Albert J. McNeil.

Dinah With Herman 'Herd' In Concert

Woody Herman and his orchestra and Dinah Washington will be the feature attractions in the latest of the "Just Jazz" concert series, jazz impresario Gene Norman announced today. Scheduled for Thursday, October 23, the event will be held at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium.

Herman's orchestra, the "New Third Herd," has been the cause of much excitement lately, drawing comparisons to his award-winning band of 1945-46. Together with Dinah Washington, whose individualistic stylings rank her among the top vocalists of today, the program promises to be one of the outstanding of the season.

'TAYLOR MADE' for your motion picture enjoyment is the MGM classic, "IVANHOE". Currently showing at the Downtown-Paramount and Hollywood Paramount Theatres, this historical masterpiece features a cast of thousands and was years in the making.

A TROPICANA FETE will be created Saturday night when Rhumba Clubs meet at the Armenian Center, 1501 W. Venice Blvd. Standing participants are: Frances Dabney, Conchetia Rials, Leona La Bot Lacefield, Eloise Jackson, Sylvia James. Seated: Magnus Niles, Mac Niles and George Fahi.

Writers Preview NBC-TV Opening

Columnists for newspaper, magazine and trade publications comprised the studio audience for probably one of the most talent-packed programs ever telecast. NBC's presentation of the "All Star Revue" to open its new multi-million dollar television studios last Saturday was the occasion.

Milton Berle, Dinah Shore, George Jessel, Phil Harris, and Harpo Marx, in addition to Jimmy Durante, Red Skelton and Rosalind Russell packed the star-studded telecast that christened a series of inaugural presentations that will emanate from the new magnificent structure.

The video showing was followed by a party given for the invited guests at the new West Coast NBC-TV headquarters with the above-named stars in attendance.

Construction of the NBC-TV center was begun last April on a 48 acre site at Alameda and Olive Streets in Burbank. Facilities include two theatre type studios seating 500 persons each, connected by a three-floor dressing room section. A one-story service building 180x140 feet running the breadth of both studio buildings at their rear is connected by a large service runway 24½ feet wide. The service building contains two large rehearsal halls, carpentry and paint shops, and storage areas for scenery.

Joseph H. McConnell, president of NBC; Sylvester L. Weaver, vice president in charge of radio and television; Frederic W. Wile Jr., O. B. Hanson and James W. Gaines were among the NBC executives flown from New York to be present at the opening.

The affair was hosted by John K. West, vice president in charge of NBC's Western Division.

Ritzy Party Honors New York Actress

To honor New York actress Ruth Attaway, here to perform in the movie production of "The President's Lady," well-known ceramist Tony Hill hosted a ritzy cocktail party at his home last Sunday.

Miss Attaway will be working about six weeks in the filming of the 20th Century-Fox movie which stars Susan Hayward. Experienced as an actress on stage, radio and television, Miss Attaway comes highly rated for her first movie role. She is married to Allan Morrison, New York editor of Ebony Magazine.

The cocktail party attracted several celebrities from show business, including the act of Day, Dusk and Dawn, Martha

Cocktails Spice Social Meeting

Cocktails spiced the social meeting of the Gay Sophisticates at the home of Mrs. Mary Branch. Plans were made for a gigantic fall cocktail dance which will be given at a later date. Next hostess will be Miss Verna Larry. Davis and Eddie Dudley.

Blues 'Effort' Pays Off For Charley Brown

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The sensational blues star, Charles Brown, who already is tops as a vocalist is well on his way to becoming "the best dressed man in show business."

Currently on a tour of one-nighters headlining a package which includes Billy Ford, Brown wired his New York agency last week (Shaw Artists Corporation) to arrrange for a complete new wardrobe at an estimated cost of $2500. As specified in Brown's 280 word telegram, the new wardrobe will include imported English tweed suits, pastel Tartan plaid jackets, and 15 new pairs of shoes.

Saxsational Bandman Now Sincere Moslem

Lynn Hope's fans have happily welcomed back the turbaned sax playing bandleader but it will be quite awhile before the young maestro forgets his recent journey as a pilgrim to Mecca, the Arabian city which is holy to Moslems.

Hope, who has sincerely adopted the Mohammedan religion, was the only American among 200,000 pilgrims from all over the world to Mecca. Since his visit, Hope has legally become Al Hajj Abdullah Rasheed Ahmad. Al Hajj were names given him as a result of his trip and his participation in certain rituals—the others have been his since his adoption of the religion.

Although there are few of the Moslem faith in the United States, Hope feels that American musicians are particularly attracted to this faith. "Musicians are restless, their continuous traveling about prevents them from having many roots. This religion offers peace and relaxation to counteract these things."

Lynn Hope and his band have just completed an engagement at the Showboat in Philadelphia and are set to begin their regular fall tour. With the exception of Hope's vocalizing sister.

Hines Talent Hunt Scoring Lusty Hit

The Earl "Fatha" Hines talent hunt go off to a flying start at Club Oasis last week with several excellent acts participating.

Winners for the first three nights of the quest were: Tuesday, vocalist Lonnie Satan; Wednesday, vocalist Johnny Burton and Thursday, The Emanons, a vocal quartet with pianist.

On last Monday in the finals for the first week winners, vocalist Johnny Burton copped the first place title and a week's work at Club Oasis. The tall, thin, good-looking young balladier is currently appearing on the show at the South Western nitery. He possesses a rich voice and marvelous control.

The Hines talent hunt was well received by the public. On each night of the first-week contest, crowds jammed Club Oasis. Enthusiasm for the idea seems to be wide spread.

During the talent hunt, the regular jazz shows are being presented at Club Oasis with the brilliant Hines aggregation furnishing the music. Dancing is also a standard feature at the club, a nifty combo playing the danceable tunes.

Club Oasis is open seven nights a week.

Five Keys Open 'Capital' Hearts

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Five Keys, one of the nation's newest group sensations, played here this week at Turner's Arena to an enthusiastic, packed house.

A relatively new group, The Five Keys who skyrocketed to fame with their Aladdin recordings of "Too Late Baby" and "The Glory of Love," hail from Virginia.

The group recently made its New York personal appearance debut headlining the Apollo Theatre show where they were acclaimed as "the greatest group find of the year."

Selective Homes Still Available at San-Fern

Despite weeks of record attendance and heavy sales activity, a selection of homes in a variety of architectural styles remain at San-Fern Manor, three-bedroom, one and two-bath development at Herrick Ave. and Filmore St., near San Fernando Road, in San Fernando Valley.

James L. Carter, sales manager of Gold Medal Homes, the developers, reported the community's location in "the kind of neighborhood you'll want your children to grow up in" has been a major factor in attracting visitors.

Viewers are able to inspect the features in a model home, fully furnished by the Brady Furniture Co. of San Fernando, and open daily from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. The homes are priced at $9999. Down payments for veterans are as low as $425, plus impounds, with monthly terms starting at $51.80 for principal and interest. Low terms are offered non-veterans, also.

Negro Vote Can Elect Stevenson

There are approximately 250,000 Negro voters in California. More than half of them live in Southern California. In 1948, President Truman carried this state by about 17,500 votes. He carried the 62nd Assembly District by about 28,000 votes. This year's election will be as close if not closer.

ADLAI STEVENSON

California has 32 electoral votes. Indications are that the next president will be chosen by a much smaller margin in the electoral college.

The nub of the matter is that California's Negro voters are going to determine whether Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Gov. Adlai Stevenson is going to be president of the United States for the next four years.

We've got a big responsibility — and a big opportunity.

We won't live up to our responsibility unless we roll up an overwhelming majority for Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate.

In the first place, the Democratic platform is forthright on civil rights; the Republican platform pledges nothing. Governor Stevenson has said, in the South as well as in the North, that he stands on the Democratic platform.

Governor Stevenson's deeds match his words. As governor of Illinois he fought for an FEPC in his state; Republican senators killed it.

He eliminated all racial distinctions in the employment service in Illinois.

He squelched school segregation in Illinois.

He called out the state guard to protect the lives of Negroes and put down the Cicero riot.

He forbade all segregation and discrimination in the Illinois National Guard.

He has appointed more Negroes to more important public offices than they ever held in his state.

We don't need to guess where Governor Stevenson stands. We know.

We don't need to guess where General Eisenhower stands either. We know that, too.

We know that General Eisenhower is the choice of the Dixiecrats. One of his chief backers in the South is James Byrnes, governor of South Carolina, who plans to abandon public schools when the Supreme Court outlaws racial segregation.

Another of Eisenhower's Dixiecrat backers is Governor Kennon of Louisiana. Still another is Governor Shivers of Texas. These Dixiecrats know their man. They're for Eisenhower because he's for state's rights—the right of the Southern states to keep the Jim Crow system.

General Eisenhower served in the Army for more than 35 years and he never lifted his hand to halt the Army's segregation system. When President Truman ordered the system abandoned, General Eisenhower told a Senate committee that it ought to be retained.

General Eisenhower is against FEPC—he says so.

General Eisenhower is against all civil rights laws—he says so.

General Eisenhower is against a change in the Senate rules that will break up filibusters against civil rights laws—he says so.

The only argument that General Eisenhower's supporters can muster up is that it's time for a change.

A change to what? Back to Herbert Hoover's breadlines? Back to the good old Republican days when Negroes were barred from the Air Force, Jim Crowed in two Army regiments and kept in the mess service in the Navy? Back to the days before we had unemployment insurance, old-age pensions and social security? Back to the days before FEPC when Negroes were last hired and first fired? Back to the days when Republican-appointed judges upheld the white primary, race restrictive covenants and Jim Crow laws of every kind?

Those are the kind of changes the Republicans want. We're sure they're NOT what Negro voters want.

The choice is plain enough. We can either go forward toward full citizenship with Governor Stevenson or we can go backward with General Eisenhower.

We owe it to our country as well as ourselves to take the progressive path with Governor Stevenson.

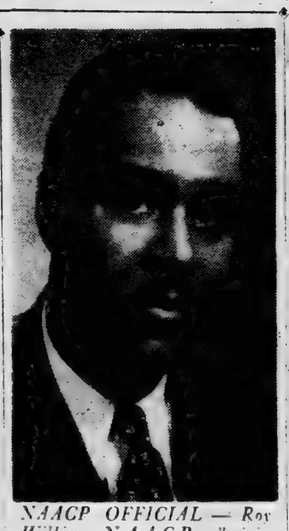
President Hits GOP for Stand On Civil Rights

NEW YORK—Branding the Republican civil rights plank as "the lousiest plank you ever read on the subject," President Harry S. Truman told a cheering Harlem audience that Governor Adlai Stevenson has been "a great Civil Rights governor and he will be a great Civil Rights president."

Turning to General Eisenhower, Republican presidential candidate, the President accused him of "whispering promises" to Negroes while he has been "touring the South to woo the Dixiecrats." He called the Democratic civil rights plank "the best ever written."

The President's speech was made in accepting the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial Brotherhood Award given annually by the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance of New York.

Dixiecrat Front



Referring to Eisenhower's luncheon with Governor James Byrnes of South Carolina, Truman asked his cheering audience "What do you think the Republican candidate and a Dixiecrat governor talk about when they sit down for lunch? Do you think they talk about civil rights? I think maybe they're taking them away. You can draw your own conclusions when the Dixiecrat governor announces, after lunch, he's going to vote the Republican ticket."

The president put the blame

DYNAMIC DAWSON — Congressman William L. Dawson will deliver the principal speech at a rally at the Elks Auditorium Thursday night, Oct. 23, as a climax to a "Civil Rights" week.

Moore Deaths Probed

MIAMI, Fla. — Admitted members of the Ku Klux Klan were being grilled here this week in the Federal Grand Jury probe into the Christmas Day murders of Harry T. Moore and his wife in Mims, Fla., and the bombing of a Miami Negro housing project.

First witness to testify was Klansman Roy Talmadge Luttrell, of Hialeah. After cooling his heels in the corridor all last Tuesday, he was called before the jury Wednesday for a three-hour grilling. He was dismissed until further notice.

Three Negroes on Jury

Eleven other Klansmen were to appear Monday, Oct. 13.

In all, 40 witnesses have been summoned to testify in the hearings which opened Oct. 6.

The 23-member jury hearing the evidence includes three Negroes.

Twenty-five members or former members of the Klan are among those subpoenaed. Other witnesses include officers of the Dade County Property Owners

Tank Younger's Woman Trouble Comes Double

Towering Tank Younger, 6-foot 4-inch, 228-pound fullback of the Los Angeles Rams, probably won't be speaking to women when he plays the Detroit Lions on their home field Sunday.

Last Friday his wife of three months, attractive Wylene, filed a divorce suit against the double-duty star, only two days after he tangled with his mother-in-law, and was handed a 14-day jail sentence.

The 19-year-old Mrs. Younger charged her hero-husband, with mental cruelty, and asked for $500 a month temporary alimony. She claims the $500 bite is warranted since the footballer makes $1200 a month.

In her suit she alleges that Towering Tank slapped her on two different occasions.

Younger was given a two-week jail sentence and one year probation when he was found guilty of beating his mother-in-law, Mrs. Meatheola Olermo, of 2179 West 21st street. She charged the grid giant with battery and disturbing the peace, complaining he knocked her down when she told him he was a no-good football player. He is free on a $1,000 appeal bond, pending a hearing in the Appellate Court.

Tank is now playing his fourth season with the Rams, the first professional football team on the coast to hire a Negro. The Rams broke the lilywhite tradition in the mid-forties when they hired UCLA star Kenny Washington.

The Youngers, during their brief marriage, lived at 3822 West Adams blvd.

Dope Jails Swing Singer Anita O'Day

By EDDIE LEE KING

A lovely 32-year-old song stylist, who just opened at Joe Morris' Club Alabam, was jailed in the wee hours Wednesday morning, charged with possession of dope.

The jazzing, jive, swing singer, Anita D'Day, was caught red-handed, police claim, but by sheer accident.

The police weren't thinking about dope. They were concentrating on traffic regulations. The police car zoomed up out of the night when Miss O'Day's automobile failed to halt at a stop light at Broadway and Jefferson blvd., and the officers ordered the driver to the curb.

Apparently figuring this was "it," Miss O'Day hurled the "pop" (marijuana cigarette) from the car. Alert police officers retrieved it.

Sheldon J. Robbin, 27, who refused to give an address, was driving. Dennis V. Roche, 25, of 825 North Wilcox avenue, had gone along for the ride, without his trumpet (the flute that he toots).

Once before, in 1947, Miss O'Day, who lives at the Langham Apartments, 715 S. Normandie avenue, had a little marijuana difficulty. At that time Federal agents escorted her to the pokey when a sack of marijuana reportedly was found in a dresser drawer in her home, wrapped up in a piece of undies. At that time she was living at 5129 Goodland avenue, North Hollywood.

Dawson Speech Set to Climax 'Rights' Week

Touched off with Governor Adlai Stevenson's motor trip through Central Avenue today (Thursday), Civil Rights Week will be climaxed with a mass meeting at Elks Temple Thursday (Oct. 23). The mass meeting will be addressed by Congressman William Dawson, Illinois representative and author of the Democratic party's civil rights plank.

The Stevenson motorcade is slated to turn on to Central avenue at Slauson and will proceed north to Olympic boulevard. A short stop will be made in the vicinity of the Elks Temple, Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins announced.

The Oct. 23 mass meeting will be replete with music, floats and banners and a number of Hollywood stars are slated to put in an appearance. Hawkins stressed the fact that the meeting is open to everybody and that there will be no charge.

First Come, First Served

Admission will be on a first come, first served basis.

Dawson, who is also vice chairman of the Democratic Committee, is expected to outline campaign issues in full and to explain in detail just where the candidates stand on matters of vital importance to Negroes.

Although the Stevenson and Dawson appearances will highlight Civil Rights Week its sponsors stressed the fact that the entire week will be given over to concrete work looking toward getting out a full vote on November 4.

Dawson, who is the first Negro to serve as chairman of a congressional committee, has been the leader in the fight for civil rights in Congress.

HONORED—Loren Miller, prominent attorney and Eagle publisher, is shown here accepting a citation from the Los Angeles County Conference on Community Relations for distinguished service to the community as Postmaster Michael Fanning looks on. Fanning also received an award.

Dr. Louis T. Wright, Noted Surgeon, Dies

NEW YORK—Dr. Louis T. Wright, preeminent in the field of medicine and one of the outstanding Negro surgeons of the nation, died at his home Oct. 8 from a heart attack, at the age of 61.

Dr. Wright was known and honored both for his medical ability and for his unflagging devotion to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, of which he was chairman of the Board of Directors for the past 20 years. In him, the fight against the diseases that afflict mankind and the fight for Negro equality were fused. Together they provided the motive force for his tremendous drive.

Funeral services were held Saturday at St. Philip's church, 214 W. 134th street, with the Rev. Shelton Bishop officiating.

Researcher

It was under Dr. Wright's supervision that the first tests of the wonder drug, aureomycin, were made on human beings in 1948. At the time of his death he was engaged in cancer research under a grant from the Damon Runyon Fund.

Dr. Wright joined the staff of Harlem Hospital in 1919, the first Negro to serve on the staff of a city hospital in New York. He became surgical director of the hospital in 1943 and president of its board in 1948. He was also the first Negro to hold a post as New York City police surgeon.

A fellow of the American College of Surgeons and a diplomat of the American Board of Surgery, he was a member of the American Medical Association

Man Knifed to Death Over Pawn Ticket

Because of an argument over a $10 pawn ticket a man was stabbed to death early Sunday morning, and another man is being held in jail without bail.

Earl "Speedy" Hunter, of 1604 E. Palm Lane, was the object of a widespread police search after his friend, Fletcher Elgin, of 1765 E. 115th street, was pronounced dead when he was taken to Physician's and Surgeon's hospital in Compton.

Later the same day, however, Hunter gave himself up to the city Homicide Department.

He was indicted by the district attorney Tuesday, and arraigned in Compton Municipal court Wednesday. Held without bail, he has been transferred to the County jail.

According to police detective Lt. Ronald Martin, who is handling the case, the killing followed a heated argument at Lincoln Gardens, 11812 Parmalee street. The argument continued out into the parking lot outside, and there ended in the stabbing.

The quarrel was over the payment of $10 which Hunter had obtained several months ago when he pawned his suit. Hunter, Elgin and a third man, according to police, had spent the money, with the understanding that all three would "chip in" so Hunter could get his suit back.

Elgin, according to the report, refused to make good on his promise, and the fight ensued.

Heidt Ready to Fire Manager

Horace Heidt, internationally famous band-leader, whose Lone Palm hotel in Palm Springs is being sued for refusing to serve Negroes, stated flatly this week that "discrimination is not my policy."

He added: "I'll fire the manager of the hotel."

Heidt, who has given many Negro artists their first "break" in the theatrical world, was named in the suit as owner of the hotel.

Rev. Wm. C. Jackson, of Los Angeles, claims he was refused accommodations when he arrived at the Palm Springs hostelry.

'This Is It!' And Husband Shoots Rival

A 31-year-old husband drilled three bullets into his wife's alleged boy friend when he found the two of them together in an automobile Saturday afternoon.

All three shots found their mark in the victim's chest. He was dead when police arrived.

Preston Durham, 31, of 1326 E. 21st street, dropped bleeding in front of 740 E. 33rd street.

Mrs. Julia Bell, of 613 E. 110th street, told police that when her husband, Wallace James Bell, approached their parked car he said: "Well, this is it!"

Bell told an Eagle reporter that he knew Durham "had been fooling" with his wife. He said he trailed their car on the fatal day and parked behind them on 33rd street.

"I had left home with the intention of having it out," he said, "so I pulled the truck up behind her car. They saw me.

"I told them it was a small world, after all. I asked them for an explanation. I don't remember what they said or if they answered. They seemed very surprised. The car door was open and I fired three times. He ran across the street and I left."

Less than an hour after he left the scene, Bell called the police and surrendered. He is being held without bail.

Carter Regains Lightweight Title

CHICAGO — Jimmy Carter regained the lightweight boxing championship Wednesday by winning a unanimous decision over Mexico City's own Laure Salas, currently campaigning out of Los Angeles.

Boxing beautifully all the way, Carter left little doubt in the minds of millions who viewed the fight that he was definitely right that night.

EDUCATORS URGE YES VOTE ON PROP. THREE

Attorney Rayfield Lundy, president of the board of trustees of the Willowbrook school district, stated this week, "I'm 100% behind Proposition Number 3. While few people realize it, private schools make it possible for students attending public schools to obtain a better education under improved facilities.

"We found in the Willowbrook area that the more children we had in school, the more expensive it was to educate them. Private schools took many of our students, so with the same money we were able to put in cafeterias, new buildings and hire more teachers as we had the same amount of funds, but less students to spend it on.

"The parents of children who send their children to private school pay taxes to support public schools, and make it possible to spend more money per capita on the individual in the public school. That seems enough burden without adding the burden of taxation on the private schools. Actually, private schools save money for the public schools. I urge all my friends to vote Yes on Proposition 3."

Samuel Brown, music teacher at Jefferson high school, is another educator in the public school system who urges a yes vote on Proposition 3. Brown, who was educated in the public schools, said, "I think it is unjust and unfair to tax private schools. Everyone is taxed for public education and to tax again is unequitable. I urge a Yes vote on this important proposition."

Lundy pointed out that the school tax exemption measure now known as Proposition 3 was passed almost unanimously in the State Legislature before being placed on the ballot as a referendum. The vote in the Legislature was 108 "yes" to 3 "no."

Affected by Proposition 3 are 401 Protestant schools, three Jewish schools, 534 Catholic schools, and 56 schools for mentally and physically handicapped children.

"Charitable foundations are serving spastics, cerebral palsied, deaf-mute, mentally retarded and other children who are unable to keep up in public schools. They perform a great and necessary public service which until now has been penalized by a tax which only California collects," Brown stated.

"These schools are being taxed, despite the fact that they are non-profit and save the taxpayers over $41,000,000 each year in school district taxes. No other state in the union taxes its non-profit schools maintained by church and charitable organizations," Lundy declared.

Church groups which support a "yes" vote on Proposition 3 include the Baptist Teachers Association, the California - Nevada Synod of the Lutheran church, the California Association of Christian Schools, the Seventh Day Adventist Schools, the Brigham Young (Mormon) University Alumni Association, the Catholic parochial school system, and the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles. Also included are representatives of the Assembly of God, Christian, Christian Reformed, Free Methodist, Four Square, Mennonite, Presbyterian, and various Pentecostal churches which maintain elementary and high schools.

Westside Club Plans Dinner For Stevenson

The Volunteer Committee for Stevenson and Sparkman in the 63rd Assembly District announced this week that they are holding a dinner at the Nikabob restaurant, 875 S. Western avenue, this Friday, October 17, at 7:30 p.m.

Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, daughter of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, will be the main speaker. She will be introduced by Mrs. Michael D. Fanning, wife of Postmaster Fanning. Music and entertainment will be furnished by Coral Johnson, Thomas and Freida Shaw Johnson.

Allen C. Woodard III, co-chairman of the organization, said, "We are very concerned about the coming election and want to do all we can to help elect Governor Stevenson in November. We have planned an excellent dinner and invite all our friends to come out and support us. This is the only way we have to raise funds to get the Stevenson story across to the people."

Dr. John A. Sommerville, the other chairman of the organization, announced that the group had opened a Stevenson headquarters at 2706 S. Western avenue. Sommerville invited residents of the 63rd Assembly District to visit the headquarters and help in the operation of it. "We need volunteers workers for precinct work, typing and telephone calls. We'll welcome all the help we can get."

Women's Club to Honor Roy Wilkins

The Women's Sunday Morning Breakfast Club will meet at the Crystal Tea Room, 4818 So. Avalon Blvd. Sunday morning, October 19 at 9 o'clock.

Honored guest of the morning will be NAACP's Roy Wilkins.

Guest speaker will be Councilman Kenneth Hahn. Five minute talks on current propositions soon to appear on the voters ballot will be given by Mr. Alfred C. Johnson, Prop. 3; S. B. S. Nelson, Amend. K; Mrs. Myrtle Williams, Prop. 10 & 11.

Candidates Meeting

Saturday evening, Oct. 18 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. residents of the 55th district will have the opportunity to meet the Democratic nominees and candidates. There will be music and refreshments free to all voters. The place is the Democratic Headquarters, 10234 Graham Ave. Regular hours are 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily except Sundays. 'Volunteers for passing out literature and people to make phone calls are needed. Phone LO 68831 to give us the help needed," H. A. Markham, chairman, said Monday.

Wm. Patterson To Speak Here On Civil Rights

"The Battle for Civil Rights and Democracy" will be the subject of a speech by William L.

Wm. Patterson

Patterson, national executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, at the Embassy auditorium, Ninth and Grand, Friday, Oct. 24, at 8:15 p. m.

Patterson has been active in this field for the past 25 years.

The Negro attorney turned his back on his law practice 25 years ago, and threw himself into the battle to extend complete civil rights to the Negro people. He has participated in such internationally famed cases as the defense of Sacco and Vanzetti, the Scottsboro Boys, the Martinsville Seven and Willie McGee.

Navy Policy

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The blueprint for the integration of Negroes in the United States Navy which is now an accomplished fact was first drawn up by Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic candidate for President.

This fact has been established by a review of Navy records which have been published. They reveal that Governor Stevenson, when he served as Special Assistant to the Secretary of the Navy-Frank Knox (1941-44), first perfected the place of the Negro in the Navy. Navy Secretary Knox had, according to the record, resisted pressure to open up branches of the Navy other than messman to Negroes.

Student Meet

Members of the Southwest Democratic Club will give a post-speech party Thursday evening at 8:30 p.m. at Beta Sigma Tau House, 1140 West Adams Blvd., following a Shrine Auditorium talk by Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic candidate for president.

The public is invited to the event.

for defeat of FEPC and other civil rights legislation squarely on the Republicans. "It's no accident that anti-civil rights measures bear the names of Republicans. Republicans introduced them, Republicans approved them. The Republicans deserve this recognition because they are always on top to provide just enough votes to insure the defeat of civil rights measures."

Stevenson's record as Governor of Illinois drew unstinted praise from the President. Speaking of Stevenson he said:

"He has the courage to say the same things about civil rights in New York and in Richmond, Va. He's been a great Civil Rights Governor and he will make a great Civil Rights President.

Let me tell you some of the things he's done. When he gave his inaugural address as Governor in 1949 he listed the matters he wanted the Illinois Legislature to take up. High on that list was an F. E. P. C. But Adlai Stevenson was not asking for the toothless kind of F. E. P. C. So you can imagine what happened to his request. It passed the Democratic House, only to be killed by that Republican Senate.

In the following session both houses of the Illinois Legislature were Republican controlled. That year the House bill died in committee. But now get this. This is really a good one. The Republican-controlled Senate committee reported out Adlai Stevenson's F. E. P. C., but they brought it out with a recommendation that it be not passed.

"That's an example of the same kind of Republican double-talk we get in Washington all the time.

Stevenson's Record Cited

"Now let me tell you some other things about Adlai Stevenson and what he did. He didn't make a lot of noise about them. He just quietly issued an executive order ending segregation in the Illinois National Guard. And he issued another executive order taking race out of the Illinois employment service forms. And it was during his administration that segregation was finally wiped out in the Illinois public schools. I think some of our generals could take lessons from him in how to get things done.

"Adlai Stevenson also helped make it possible for Negro sailors to have duties other than as messmen. That was during the war when he was Assistant Secretary of the Navy."

Explaining his interest in civil rights, the President said that he was stirred by the blinding and beating of a Negro veteran and the upsurge of attacks on Negroes after World War II.

"It is the duty of the state and local government to prevent such tragedies. But, as President of the United States I felt I ought to do everything in my power to find what caused such crimes and to root out the causes. It was for that reason that I created the President's Committee on Civil Rights. I asked its members to study the situation and recommend to the whole country what we should do," he said.

"Their report is one of our great American documents. When it was handed to me, I said that it was a new charter of human freedom. Five years have passed, but I have never seen anything to make me change my mind," he added.

Supreme Court Victories

The President pointed to Supreme Court victories in the school and race restriction cases as great forward steps and pointed to the fact that the government had supported the NAACP in those cases.

"At my request, the Solicitor General of the United States went before the Supreme Court to argue that Negro citizens have the right to enter state colleges and universities on exactly the same basis as any other citizens. And we won that fight. And more than a thousand Negro graduate and professional students have been accepted by ten state universities that had barred their doors to Negroes before. This means that this country will have more men like Louis T. Wright and Ralph Bunche," he told his audience.

"At my request, the Solicitor General again went before the Supreme Court and argued against the vicious restrictive covenants that had prevented houses in many places from being sold to Negroes and to Jews. It was a great day in the history of civil rights when we won that case also before the Supreme Court."

Adlai Stevenson deserves the same support that Negroes have given him, Truman said.

"The Democratic platform this year contains the strongest civil rights plank ever adopted by any political party in this country. Our candidates have taken their stand firmly on that platform. You can count on them to fight to carry it out, he said.

"You placed your trust in me four years ago when I dedicated myself to our great cause, and I've tried not to let yon down. I am here today to tell you that you can place the same trust in the Democratic candidates in this election year. And I assure you with all the sincerity I have that they will fulfill your trust in exactly the same way."

The Planning Committee, headed by Rudolph Mickens, with the capable assistance of Miss Addie McWashington, Grover Harris, William F. Cook, Stack O. Williams, Fred M. Pitts, J. B. Matthews, Travis Moultrie, and Paul M. Aubry, Jr., has arranged a banquet at the Club Alabam, 4215 S. Central Ave., on the night of the 24th, in honor of the visitors.

Many outstanding leaders from the community will be present, including Postmaster Fanning, Congressmen, Assemblymen, Supervisors, Thomas P. Bemar, Superintendent-at-large in the Postal Transportation Service, which was formerly known as the Railway Mail Service.

Mr. Bomar, whose duties cause him to travel over the entire U.S.A., works out of Washington, D. C.; is a very active Alliance member, and at one time was one of the National Officers. Local P.T.S. employees would do well to come out and hear his words of wisdom.

Insurance Men Make Plans for Year's Activity

The Independent Insurance Brokers and Agents association, at its monthly meeting last week at the offices of the Loyal Insurance Agency, adopted plans for the coming year's work.

The speaker for the evening was Al Naar, public relations representative from T. V. Humphrey's General Agents, who spoke on fire prevention and fire insurance.

Future plans envisage an extensive educational program around the general topics of fire prevention and reduction of automobile accidents. In an endeavor to achieve this latter goal, drivers will be encouraged to have their automobiles serviced regularly, brakes and headlights checked, and to observe all traffic ordinances, especially stop-and-go signals.

Attempts also will be made to raise the standards of brokers and agents operating in the insurance field.

Members present were George E. Bryant, president; A. T. Houston, secretary; Mouton Cooper; Mrs. G. DeFrantz; Arthur Houston, Jr.; Mrs. Noami Minor; F. S. Patterson; Mobert Minor, W. F. Fairchild; James W. Parker; Bernard Herndon; Mrs. Eleanor McKinney; and Henry Grayson.

Heroin Jails Daughter of Policeman

Unable to give up the habit of using heroin, the 21-year-old daughter of a Cincinnati policeman was sentenced last Wednesday to a year in the county jail after her probation in a previous narcotic case had been revoked.

Superior Judge Jessie F. Frampton handed down the sentence against Mrs. Janet Caliman, 21.

Mrs. Caliman was placed on probation Aug. 16, 1951, by Superior Judge Clement Nye. As a provision of the probation the judge ordered her and her husband, Hadlie Caliman, 21, to a term of five months in the county jail after a plea of guilty. The couple had been returned from Ohio on fugitive warrants in connection with forgery and narcotics.

Mrs. Caliman, of 311 Griffith st., was arrested Sept. 26 by city police in front of 230 West 40th place. Following her arrest she admitted she had bought heroin with $410 she received from her father as a birthday gift.

Bias Charged to Fishing Resorts

The Muntz Lakes fishing resort was charged with refusing to admit Negroes in a suit filed here Tuesday by Atty. Herbert Simmons, member of the NAACP Legal Redress committee.

The suit was brought on behalf of James C. Taylor, Terry Campbell, Levi and Clarence Irving, and Robert Brown, all of Los Angeles.

The five charged they were refused admission to the resort, located 50 miles north of Los Angeles on the Ridge Route to Bakersfield, solely because they are Negroes.

Wisner Named Executive by Realty Board

Bryce D. Wisner, newly elected executive secretary of the Consolidated Realty Board of Southern Calif., Inc., was congratulated this week by the chairman of the Board of Directors, Lorenzo V. Spencer.

Since its inception, the Consolidated Realty Board has planned to have an executive secretary. The membership has grown from 23 members in 1950 to its present roster of 64 members.

Wisner has been active with the organization since its founding. One of the charter members he gave the organization the name "Consolidated." He served the first year as parliamentarian and chairman of the constitution committee. The second year he served as secretary of the organization. During his secretarialship he was the first member to receive the highest honor given a member, the "Carson Achievement Award" which is presented yearly to the member who gives the most outstanding contribution to the progress of the board.

Roy Wilkins to Talk Here on Negro Vote

Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator, New York City, will arrive here tomorrow (Friday) for a swift series of speaking engagements and conferences with local leaders that will vie in impact and significance with the appearance of the major party candidates.

A mass meeting Sunday, 3:30 p.m., at Mt. Sinai Baptist church, La Salle and Adams blvd., will round out Wilkins' appearances for the NAACP. With representatives of the Democratic and Republican parties sharing the platform, Wilkins will present the NAACP's evaluation of the civil rights platform of both parties and will report on his personal interviews with Governor Stevenson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

How the political winds will blow in this area in the days left before the November 4 election will no doubt be decided by many following the NAACP administrator's evaluation of the party platforms and his report on the reactions of Stevenson and Eisenhower to questions on civil rights legislation.

Wilkins' first appointment here upon arrival will be a press conference in the Desert Room of the Alexandria Hotel. He will be interviewed over the radio by Leslie Claypool, Daily News political editor, at 6:15 p.m., station KFWB. Friday night he will be the guest of George V. Denny, Jr., on his program "Both Sides" over the facilities of KECA-TV, Channel 7, 10:15 p.m.

Saturday, the NAACP official will address a group of 150 key community leaders at a luncheon in the dining room of the Golden State building. Late Saturday afternoon Wilkins will be guest of the local Postal Committee and Postal Alliance at the Pacific Town Club on W. Adams blvd.

Boy, 4, Shot as Youngsters Play

Four-year-old Peter Duffey, 1628 E. 118th place, was not expected to live Saturday after he was acidentally shot when he and other children in the neighborhood were playing "cops and robbers" with a .32 caliber revolver.

By Wednesday morning, however, the child's condition was considerably improved, and doctors at General hospital reported he would recover.

The bullet entered Pete's abdomen and came out under the shoulder blade.

The mother, Mrs. Agnes Duffey, told police she was in the house when she heard the shot, and ran out to find little Pete lying on the sidewalk, the gun at his side. He was taken to Georgia Street Receiving hospital.

Editorial

Dr. L. Wright—Great American

America could ill afford to lose Dr. Louis Wright, Chairman of the Board of the NAACP, who died last week.

Dr. Wright was a distinguished surgeon, one of the leaders in his profession in the United States.

All Americans owe him a vast debt of gratitude for what he did to perfect new techniques to relieve human suffering.

As head of Harlem Hospital, Dr. Wright made that institution one of the outstanding hospitals in the United States.

Dr. Wright's achievements in medicine were equalled, perhaps surpassed, by what he did in the area of human relations.

He was an in-season-and-out fighter against discrimination and he gave a tremendous amount of time and energy to the NAACP. Few men did as much as he did to make the Association the democratic instrument it has become.

All too many Negro professional and business men plead that they don't have time to assist community or racial enterprises. They're too busy, they say. They argue that if they did lend a helping hand their own businesses or professions could suffer. Dr. Wright's opposite example should inspire more of them to devote more time to the NAACP and similar organizations.

The world is a better place for what Dr. Louis Wright did as a physician and as an active exponent of civil rights. Thousands of his fellow Americans will miss him and will have a difficult time in finding a leader to take his place.

Gerrymandering US Again

A couple of months ago we called attention to the fact that the City Council is required to re-district the city this year. We warned then that unless we got on our toes the city fathers would retain the same old gerrymander system under which the Negro vote is split up among four council districts.

Last week, the City Council did take a stab at re-districting. It is apparent that the councilmen went out of their way to retain the gerrymander system and that the net effect of the new plan is to leave the Negro voter with even less power in the Council.

For example, portions of Baldwin Hills are tacked onto the Seventh District, now represented by Don Allen.

The Seventh District will stretch from Alameda on the east to the Baldwin Hills district on the west. The people of the eastern and western districts have nothing in common in the shape of problems that will confront the Council.

The Fifth District, which includes portions of the West Side in which many Negroes live, will take in parts of Westwood and again there is a disparity of interests between the voters who live in opposite ends of the district.

The same thing could be said of other districts.

What it all adds up to is that councilmen can't possibly represent the disparate interests of their constituents under the present, and proposed districting. Somebody is going to be neglected and our experience tells us that the victims of lack of representation are far more apt to be Negro voters than the more powerful and articulate white voters.

The new plan hasn't yet received formal Council approval and we strongly urge that community leaders get together quickly and see if something can't be done to alter the proposed plan.

We've been without direct representation in the City Council long enough.

Jimmy Byrnes' Pal Ike

Jimmy Byrnes, governor of South Carolina, has two big deals going for the November election down in his home state.

One of the issues is a measure which provides for the abandonment of public schools if the United States Supreme Court outlaws racial segregation.

The other issue that lies close to Jimmy's heart is the election of General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower as president of the United States.

We don't know whether Jimmy and Ike talked about the school measure a couple of weeks ago when the General and the Governor lunched together. What we do know is that the Republican-Dixiecrat candidate didn't say a mumbling word against Jim Crow schools while he was in Jimmy's state.

We know, too, that Jimmy showed up at the State House to introduce Ike to a drummed-up crowd and that the General responded to the introduction with fine words of praise for Byrnes' administration.

This series of events ought to remove the last lingering doubt in any Negro's mind as to the candidate for whom he should vote in November.

The plain facts are that the Republican party has sold out to the Dixiecrats and that the South's last fond hope of shoring up and retaining the Jim Crow system is pitched on the hope of an Eisenhower victory.

If you want to help the Dixiecrats, vote for Eisenhower. If you want to help yourself, vote for Stevenson.

Vote for Proposition 13

The complete lack of party responsibility that obtains in California can be traced directly to the cross-filing racket under which a candidate of one party can win the other party's nomination in the primary election.

The result of the lack of party responsibility is that minority groups can't bargain with rival parties and, in its turn, this lack of bargaining power results in the neglect of the minority voter.

If you don't believe what we're saying just compare the position of the Negro in California with that of Negroes in, say, New York, or Pennsylvania or New York or Michigan, where the parties must compete for our vote.

The cure for the situation in which we find ourselves is the passage of Proposition 13 on the November 4 ballot. Be sure and vote FOR Proposition 13 when you go to the polls on election day.

Remember the Chest

We're as concerned as the next fellow with the November election but we hope that our readers won't get so absorbed in the question of who's going to be our next president that they neglect the Community Chest drive.

We haven't the space to list the organizations that serve our community and that get their support from the Community Chest. But we assure you that the list is a long one and that, directly or indirectly, it affects every one of us.

Most of us can't afford to make large gifts to the Chest but each of us can afford to give something and in the long run the sum of these little gifts will enable the Chest to keep on serving us and our institutions.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

I rise groggily to my feet after receiving the well-known Schuyler one-two punch. Dizzy as I still am, I am forced to admire the technique of the Pittsburgh Courier's expert in-fighter. He opens up the opposition with a suavely disarming pleasantry, spars for a moment with one or two politely depracatory remarks, and then—Bam!

But I asked for it, and therefore shall not complain. Thirty-six years ago this fall, when I was a second-year college student, an English professor criticized one of my editorial efforts for the campus semi-monthly journal. He said: "It's all right to write an editorial while you're still angry, provided you tear up the first, second and third drafts of what's on your mind. You leave the fourth on your desk until next day—and then you'll probably tear that up too."

Views Differ

George Schuyler evidently thinks I should have torn up my column on the State Department and Channing Tobias, whether the same day or the next. Other readers took the opposite view and expressed pleasure that I used blunt language to express what seems to be widespread dissatisfaction with State policies. Neither the approbation nor the criticism impresses me as much as the fact that at one important point I evidently wrote too hastily (mailing it the same day) to be clearly understood.

Friend Schuyler is undoubtedly irrascible, but he's no dope. Nor do I believe that he would deliberately misread the intent of a written statement. Thus I am forced to conclude that my comment on Mrs. Edith Sampson neither did that lady justice, nor conveyed my true opinion of her—and for this she has my apologies. And yet I do not consider it a slighting reference to state that a still young woman, even though she has had more than average experience and contacts, cannot hope to match the experience and diplomatic skill of a man who has spent practically the whole of his life in a most difficult field of diplomatic strategy.

Manner Important

If my earlier column seemed to intimate anything more than this, then most certainly it was written too hurriedly and "should of stood" on my desk another day. But on the other Schuyler point, I am on much more solid ground.

It is true, of course, that persons who represent this government abroad are expected to express only official policy. This is exactly what I stated in this column in defense of Mrs. Sampson's speeches in the Scandinavian countries nearly a year ago. But there are ways of expressing official policy—and then there are ways again. And most Negro Americans most fervently hope that the ways of spokesmen of their own race will be different from those of traditional State Department spokesmanship in cases involving racial factors here at home and abroad.

Fumbled Ball

I will hold to this point stubbornly — that our Government does not know the score in race relations, and has again and again fumbled the ball in butter-fingered timidity when our record of racial discrimination is thrown at us by the Communist or Fascist opposition.

And this is curious, that a Democratic Administration which has proven so adept at cozening Negro Americans with pleasant phrases should be so inept when it seeks to present the case for American democracy to peoples overseas. If it were the Republicans, this would be more easily understood, for the G.O.P. has been so far out of touch with the ground level of Negro opinion as to be unable even to take advantage of Democratic mistakes. But the Democrats have been smart psychologists—here at home, at least—and it is a minor mystery that they have not been able to transfer this cleverness to the international arena.

The reason might possibly be this: party politics represents the bread and butter of the professional politicans, and they are the ones who determine party strategy in the last analysis. There is no room in their calculations for empty theorizing or dangerous speculations. Theirs is the pragmatic approach; if it doesn't work, it must be made to work. If they haven't the answers, they'll bring in some one who should have them. There is no hush-hush, hands-off, sacred cow attitude toward party politics, and so it works. Perhaps we need a few professional politicians in the State Department?

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

One great handicap suffered by Negro Americans in their struggle for first class citizenship is that so very many white people in positions of influence are ignorant of facts, issues, and remedies. It is bad enough to have to struggle against the ignorance of the masses, but often this can be borne because of the knowledge that the masses of whites are pretty busy in a struggle to keep alive and move forward in life.

A few weeks ago the wife of Admiral Kirk wrote a little book made up of her letters to her family while her husband was U. S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union. In the book she describes life in Moscow and offers her views (through her experiences) on matters affecting the life of the average Soviet citizen.

Because Soviet citizens have few civil rights as we know them and because this was indicated in Mrs. Kirk's book, a reporter asked her a question in the course of an interview about civil rights in America and the denial of them to the American Negro.

She Doesn't Know

Mrs. Kirk's reply, which I put in approximate language, made it quickly apparent that she is very ignorant on the situation of the Negro and his enjoyment of his rights as an American citizen. Said she:

"I think our Negroes are doing very well. I have relatives in Philadelphia whom I visit frequently. In going over on the train I notice many Negroes. They are better dressed and better behaved than they used to be. I think they are making progress."

The wife of an ex-Ambassador thinks 15 million Negro citizens are progressing toward their civil rights just because on a 90-mile train ride she sees a few of them not in rags and not tearing up the train! How silly can our white people get?

Mrs. Kirk, of course, is not alone in her ignorance, some of which (with her and with others) may be genuine, but much of which is the kind which refuses to see even though the facts are there. The phrase "equality of opportunity" with them does not apply to Negroes. They have a lily-white road-block when they discuss this precious American doctrine of equality. They do not think of equality in employment, in education, in housing, and in public places. They think of Negroes separately, off in a corner somewhere by themselves.

Great Tragedy

The tragedy is that they see nothing in this denial of opportunity of a piece with the things they denounce in Soviet oppression. Many of them profess to be bewildered and angered by the propaganda which the Soviets make out of the denial of equality to American Negroes. They yell "their Negroes" are better than the working man in Russia. And so they are. Chances are that if Mississippi Negroes had a free opportunity to compare living in Russia with living in Hattiesburg or Meridian, they would choose Mississippi. But that is not the point. The point is that Negroes, as American citizens, are not getting what other Americans get. The comparison, to be valid, must be between treatment of minority groups under the American standard, not between treatment under American and Soviet standards.

Mrs. Kirk, like many another American who ought to know better, makes the Negro's road harder by judging the enjoyment of fundamental citizenship rights according to the neat appearance of a few Negroes on a train ride through a tiny narrow strip of the nation. When we do battle for our rights in the great court of public opinion, this is the kind of mentality that blocks and frustrates us.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am not a colored person. I am white. But that does not prevent me from understanding the problems of the colored people, to some degree at least.

About 14 years ago I spoke to several groups and clubs of colored people on the issue I was then interested in. I saw how efficiently and beautifully these meetings were conducted. I recognized and respected the intelligence of those attending, and felt privileged to be there. My eyes were opened.

I began to read articles in the newspapers of treatment given to members of your race which shocked me more and more.

I am interested in politics, and I hope you are.

General Eisenhower has said that segregation in the Army was necessary. President Truman has said it was not, and is proving it. Many of your men have showed great bravery and risked their lives, to save white soldiers who were wounded.

Governor Stevenson tried over and over to get a civil rights bill passed in Illinois, but his Republican legislature defeated it every time. I know that if he is elected he will continue your battle for you with all his might. He is a truly great man, and I hope you will support him as he will support you.

General Eisenhower has said: "If the people want security, let them go to prison. They will have food and bed." He wouldn't say that now that he wants votes, and seems willing to compromise all his principles to get them. He talks a lot about the little home in which he and Mamie will some day live. He hasn't mentioned his mansion at the University, where he employs 12 servants.

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

The time has come to take a good hard look at General Dwight D. Eisenhower. The General who was first accused of running like a dry creek, has lately been running like the tongues at an old ladies tea. The tendency to run off at the mouth has made many a summer Eisenhower supporter cool off considerably as autumn deepens.

The significent thing about the Eisenhower campaign is that all of his original boosters and supporters, are now out of the picture. They're not fighting him, but a deep gloom disillusionment has settled over such ardent Ike supporters as John Cabot Lodge, Senator Wayne Morris, Paul Hoffman and Senator James H. Duff. With the exception of Morris, they're still Ike men, but they're just going through the motions.

Regret Romance

A number of independents who were friendly to Ike at first, now see him for what he is and regret the earlier romance. Drew Pearson is notably among this group. The large number of nominally independent newspapers who praised Ike to the heavens before and just after the convention, have been embarassed by their choice, and are trying to ride it out as discreetly as possible.

Several things have been responsible for this change, but perhaps the most basic cause is the revealing of Eisenhower's true character. Those who saw him as a knight in shining armor to stride into Washington and handling the world crises in one hand while balancing the domestic situation in the other, discovered that their idol, not only has clay feet, but putty for a backbone and sawdust for brains.

Ike is the perfect picture of the politician who says, "we must rise above principle," and then proceeds not to do it. He is the epitome of success at any price. He'd rather be president than right.

Puts Clock Back

This attitude and the results of this attitude is what has driven his original supporters from him. They saw him as the spearhead of a new movement in Washington. A new breath on the political scene to handle world and domestic affairs with a fresh and vigorous aproach. Instead he turned out to be the lackey of those who would turn the clock back twenty years.

Anyone who has served in the armed forces knows what it takes to get ahead. I was an officer and gentleman (by act of Congress) in the last unpleasantness and was able to observe first-hand, the attitude and mentality of the professional soldier.

To get ahead in the army, you must take the program, no matter what. Ability to take the program without a question, to really believe in it when it is handed down, and to change your beliefs when the program changes overnight. That is the key to success in the armed forces, and Eisenhower has been a very succesful professional soldier.

No Principles

Trained in such an environment, why should he be expected to change overnight. The same thing that meant success in army life, means success to Eisenhower in civilian life. Principles and beliefs that can change as quickly as chameleon when expediency dictates, and expediency has been doing a lot of dictating to Ike lately.

Empty Headed

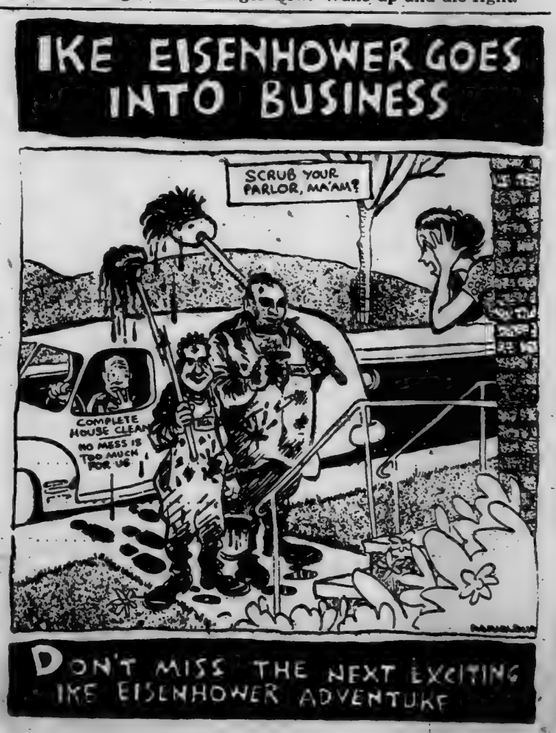
To be more accurate, Eisenhower's changes are not so much changes of convictions as they are convictions poured in and out of an empty barrell. Eisenhower has almost no knowledge of the many domestic problems that face the nation and different sections of the country. Therefore they are poured into him, via the speeches written for him by his advisors. As the political winds shift and change, and stronger forces move in and replace his advisors, they write new ideas into his speeches and to the extent they conflict with other ideas, represent the political philosophy of his new advisors.

Ike's greatest shift and surrender, if you can dignify it by caling it a surrender, was when he realized he had to have Taft if he was going to win. From then on his performance has been a national disgrace.

He meets with Jimmy Byrnes in South Carolina and they have a meeting of the minds. Ike adopts the Dixiecrat philosophy to get Byrnes' support. Less than a week later he arrives in Los Angeles and makes a great pitch for civil rights. As President Truman so truly said, "When he lunched with Byrnes, you can bet they were not discussing civil rights, rather how to take them away."

For Everything

Ike is now currently stumping the tideland states shouting that he is for state ownership. He tours the northwest and shouts he is for public ownership of such projects as the great system of dams that give the northwest new life.



He tells labor he is for unions and the working man, and on the other hand supports all the reactionary labor baiters in Congress.

He is against smear and hysteria tactics, but wraps his arms around Senators Joe McCarthy and William Jenner.

He is against corruption, but when "his boy" Dick Nixon is exposed as a slush funder, he wraps his arms around him and they have a good cry together and kiss and make up.

Such moral corruption raises a stink all over the nation. No wonder his former friends and supporters are holding their noses.

General, you're not in the army now. Wake up and die right.

Presbyterial Society of Area In Westminster Convention

The Women's Association of Westminster Presbyterian Church was hostess to the South District of the Los Angeles Presbyterial, October 7. The Los Angeles Presbyterial, which includes San Diego, has 168 women's associations. These associations are divided into nine districts. South District alone has 14 churches. Representatives from the following districts were present: Central, Glendale, Highland Park, Long Beach, Orange, Pasadena, Valley and San Diego.

The purpose of the meet was to further fellowship in Christ. Mrs. T. J. Davidson of Covenant Presbyterian church presided at both morning and afternoon sessions. The Rev. H. B. Hawes, pastor of Westminster, delivered the morning devotional.

A panel composed of the women of the Executive Board of the Los Angeles Presbyterial Society developed the them, "Open Wide the Door," by illustration and lecture.

The highlight of the morning session was an address by the Rev. Cecil Hoffman, director of Westminster Foundation at UCLA. The Rev. Hoffman was with the 11 students who went to India last summer to study conditions there and to learn more about the Indian people first hand. This trip was the result of a study of India, inspired by a lecture to the students of UCLA by the Rev. James H. Robinson of New York City. The Rev. Robinson was sent by the Board of Foreign Missions on a nine-month tour around the world in 1951.

During the noon hour coffee was served in Fellowship Hall of Westminster church.

The afternoon session began with prayer and song. The main feature of the session was a dramatization of missionary work of Presbyterian women. This year, 1952, marks the sesquicentennial of the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

Thought of the Week

By IVA REED WOODS

Prayer is the soul's communion with God, for the purpose of attunement with source of all good.

Ill health, need, lack, or limitation of any sort, indicate a sense of separation and suggest reunion through prayer. Our wholesome desires are implanted by God to make us aware that, "That which we seek is seeking us."

Effective prayer is not "Vain repetitions," but a joyous declaration of positive faith. "Whatsoever things ye desire, when ye pray, believe ye have received them, and ye shall have them" is not hollow mockery, but it is one of the conditions of prayer. If we can believe that God's will for us is ever toward progression, wholeness and perfection, and know that He does not mock us with clean desires, impossible to attain, it is easy to understand this bit of scripture: "Before Ye Call, I Will Answer." The highest form of prayer is to "practice the presence of God" or to see God expressed through all people and conditions, regardless of how remote. To "practice the presence" is to persistently see the brighter side of life.

Thanksgiving is a very potent form of prayer and we should habitually enumerate and give thanks for our commonplace blessings. Thanksgiving is especially effective in cases of despondency, discouragement, or grief. To try it is to be convinced.

Some of the attitudes that block the answers to prayer are worry, doubt, fear, selfishness, and a sense of guilt.

To pray "without ceasing" is to make one's thoughts, words, and actions corform to his prayer. It is an easy matter to destroy the effectiveness of prayer by thinking, speaking, or visualizing the opposite. Teach us, O God, to remain in attitudes of prayer, praise and Thanksgiving.

Jeff Downs Jordan 21-0

The invaders of the Eastern Marine League were met and turned back by a stiff defense in the game held Friday between the Jordan Bulldogs and the Jefferson Democrats as Jefferson scored an easy 21-0 victory over their long time rivals of South Los Angeles.

The Bulldogs battering ram was in the form of fullback Anthony Grace. Grace gained yards on spinners and bucks through the center of the Democrats' hard hitting defense. Jeffs defense held Jordan all through the game. Not once did Coach Marienthal have a nervous attack from possible scoring attacks.

Jeff drew first blood when Ernie Jones raced 9 yards to the Jordan 4 and fumbled after a ferocious tackle by a Bulldog and Jordan recovered on the 6. On the next play Jordan tried to pull a reverse and Fullback Harold Printers broke through to tackle Lowe in the end zone for a safety. On a pass from Quarterback Willie McMahan, left half James (midget) Fennell raced 72 yards to pay dirt. Willie McMahan converted and the score was 9 to nothing in favor of the Demos. In the middle of the second quarter on a pitch out from quarterback McMahan, Harold Printers, the fullback who ran 70 yards against Venice in the Milk Bowl, then scored from the 15 and the score was 14 to nothing in favor of Jeff.

ARMY'S GREAT GRID END GAINS DRAFT RIGHTS TO L.A. RAMS

Pfc. Jarrod "Jake" Williams, brilliant footballer on the Army Btry A 65th team is the power behind his team in their bid for the championship.

Williams, 22 years of age, is probably the best all-around athlete on the base. He weighs in at 195 pounds and is exactly 6 ft. tall which help him make circus catches of passes tossed his way. He was picked on the all-army team last year as he was a demon on defense and offensive operating from the right end post. His pre-service sports record is phenomenal for he won a total of twenty letters in five sports during a four year period while attending Father Flanhagan's Boys Town, in Nebraska. He was picked as All-State in boxing, football and track and earned letters in basketball and baseball. He also attends the University of Oregon and was first string in his sophomore year.

He is slated for civilian duty and the Los Angeles Rams, on draft rights should he elect to play professional.

ARMY GRID GREAT. Pfc. "Jake" Williams shows off his trophy after being selected on the all-army team. He plays right end.

Smith Shoots Even Par, 71 To win San Diego Tourney

For the second straight year Theophilus Smith, tournament director of the local Cosmopolitan Golf Club, captured low gross honors in the annual tournament held by the Paramount Club of San Diego. The affair, held last Friday at the Balboa course in the border city, attracted one hundred and twelve golfers from the Pacific Coast area clubs and was voted one of the most outstanding tournaments held this year with special credit going to Emmett Williams in his first effort as tournament chairman. Williams' headaches as tournament chief, however, did not interefere with his golf game as he produced a 79 to win class A.

Additional local winners were Al McDaniel, Earnest Lawson, Henry Hunter, Madree Jackson, Owen McDaniel, Dorcus Riley and Maggie Hathaway. The trophies were awarded at a dinner dance held at the Creole Palace Friday night at which time Dr. Jack Kimbrough and Irving Torian, Paramount club prexy, welcomed the contestants and guests, introduced presidents of the affiliated clubs of the newly formed Pacific Coast Golf Association who outlined plans for next year's tournament schedule.

Cosmopolitan golfers will hold their eighth and last tourney of the year on Friday, October 24, at the Santa Anita links. This will be a double-barreled affair inasmuch as the annual Eastside-Westside team matches will be played plus serving as a qualifying round for the President's cup match play tourney that determines the club champion.

A huge perpetual cup that must be won three times for permanent possession is now held by Archie Hairston.

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

SAN FRANCISCO — Ed Fitzgerald, sports scribe for "Sport" Magazine, has launched a plan to get the fabulous of them all, Leroy Satchel Paige, into the hall of fame where he justly deserves to be. . . . Ed writes: "If Satchel Paige isn't a famous baseball figure, then Babe Ruth was unknown." . . . While playing in the Negro loop, Paige amassed one of baseball's most emphatic records ever.

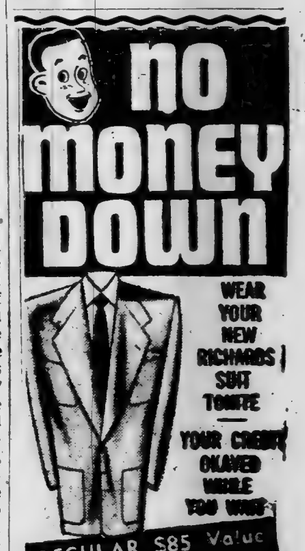
His stellar relief work for the Cleveland Indians and the St. Louis Browns speaks for itself. . . . Baseball fans who have followed the game down through the years know Satch isn't a spring chicken. . . . As Ed puts it, take your pick, 42, 52, 60. Ole Satch's fans who would like to see him get the break due him should flood this office and your daily paper's sports desk, with a two-cent postal card demanding his selection. Time is of the essence. . . . Incidentally, the masterful hurler is again parading on the coast with the best of them in a barnstorm tour.

BAY AREA BITES — Wally Jackson and Marv Ussery, ex-CCSF grid stars, came back to the Bay area Saturday with the Oregon State eleven that lost to the Stanford hustlers 41-28. . . . Jackson accounted for two of the visitors' tds., one of which was on a beautiful 38-yard jaunt. Ussery is a fairly green lad, but what he lacks in know-how he makes up in hustling. . . . Neither of the boys are of the caliber of the departed Dave Mann now of the Oakland Oaks, but both of them have great potentialities. . . . In the PCC crucial in the L.A. Coliseum this Saturday I predict, Red Sanders' battling UCLA Bruins will scalp the Stanford Indians. . . .

However, the Injuns' Bob Garrett and Bob Mathias will give the Bruins a tough afternoon. Garrett is a terrific passer. . . . On the contrary, Paul Cameron in my estimation is the best in the west, if not in the nation. . . . Lewis "Hustler" Williams, UCLA's 180-pound bruser, operating at the blocking back post, should come through with an all coast performance in this one.

Sam Brown, West Contra Costa JC star halfback, literally gave CCSF fits in Kezar Stadium in rolling for four tds. . . . One of Sam's scores came on a 75-yard gallop. . . . To date the lithe fleet-footed back has rung the bell for 60 digits. . . . Backs Doug Peters and Elmo (The Arm" Bradley are also key cogs in the WCCJC eleven. . . . Oh! I chatted with Ed Tucker at the Stanford-Oregon State game Saturday. . . . He's the lad that broke all previous precedent when he became the first member of the race to make a Stanford varsity team. . . . Although he's still pursuing his medical degree, he has used up all of his eligibility.

MAJOR LOOP ROW



Luke Easter, the hot-and-cold man of the Cleveland Injuns, is the recipient of the "Sporting News'" most valuable American Loop Player award. . . . Bill English, ex-Loyola U. of L.A. Ram back, is now a member of the San Jose Packers, a semi-pro club. . . . Sammy Williams made it quite clear in Portland Saturday that he'll be more than an adequate replacement next year for the graduating Billy Mais and Co. at the QB spot. . . . The Big Bear mixed his plays like a seasoned pro. . . . Charley Powell, San Francisco '49ers phenomenal rookie end, turned in perhaps the most emphatic defensive play for a 20-year-old in pro history Sunday against the Detroit Lions. . . . My authorities on this statement is Charley's coach Buck Shaw and local sportscaster Ernie Smith. . . . Charley's only claim to fame is an honor-laden career at San Diego High. . . .

SPECIAL FELICITATIONS

This column conductor's "wifie" Eunice, and baby Jan send special felicitations to curvacious Monna Jones and her Korean hero William Reed. . . . The couple is slated to "center aisle it" this Sunday at 2 p.m. at the well-appointed Good Shepherd Missionary Baptist Church, 54th and Figueroa street. . . . Reed is an ex-Jeff High trackman and grid player. . . . To luscious Lessie and Lewis "Hustler" Williams, the fine UCLA blocking back, who hope to have a member of the '72 Bruin team on the scene come December. . . . To Booker T. Jackson and his vivacious Vivian and their recent baby gal. . . . And to all of my other fine readers, the finest people in the world. . . .

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

Social Excerpts . . .

The most startling discovery of the week has to do with one of the city's most prominent young socialites who is spending the greater portion of his time and money on a Beverly Hills domestic. She is fine tho.

Pneumonia is loosing in a duel against recent draftee Thomas Green. The fight is staged at the Fort MacArthur hospital, with Thos. on the winning side.

There seems to be a love triangle developing on the Westwood Campus whereon the initials D.R., E.McN. and N.H. are involved. D.R. and E.McN. seem to be making it together and N.H. is out to bust it up. But why would this be when she professes to have eyes for L.W. Somebody's a little greedy, don't you think?

Joan Arnold, ex-UCLA coed, who is now attending Miners college in Wash., D.C., writes of the fine happenings at that particular place but the right person just isn't there too . . . Namely local Preston Johnson.

Billy Anderson, one time terror and lady killer around these parts, has been released from the Army and is on the scene again, but not rampaging like in times of old (he's married, you know). . . . Miss personality plus, Rudell Sloy, has her sights and traps set for a young card that answers to the name of Willie Barnes. . . . (We understand.)

Looks like B.G.T. must see a lot in that luscious little J.B. he talks so much about. (We love initials.)

"Stepping out with my baby." The tune whistled by Willy Neulls as he proceeded to do so with his latest, Yvonne Watson, over the weekend.

Sacramento Highlights

A lavish farewell party was held for the prominent Dr. J. M. Morris of 2416 22nd street, Saturday. Dr. Morris will serve 22 months as a captain in the medical branch of the arm forces. He will be stationed at Camp Atterbery in Indiana. He is being accompanied by his wife Lottie and two children, Gwendolyn and Anita. Those attending were: Messrs. and Mmes. Beverly Day, Elbert Desmangles, Jack Hardy, Clarence B. Hill, C. James, Phil Jenkins, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Long, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harris and Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Trent.

Mrs. Ethel Strickland entertained at a breakfast given in honor of Mrs. Gertrude McCard Barclay. Mrs. Barclay is joining her husband, Warrent Officer James, in Germany. Those enjoying the breakfast included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nickolas, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Atchison, Mrs. Ethel Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boyden, Mrs. Ruby Santos, Mrs. Ardell Ransom, Mrs. Marion Pringle, Mrs. Adelaide Henderson and Mr. Otis Renee.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hardy are vacationing in Southern Calif. for two weeks. After visiting friends and relatives in Los Angeles and Ensenada, they will spend several days in the high Sierras at the resort home of Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe Brewer.

Mrs. Marjorie Brandon from House of Charm in San Francisco chose Verle Jordon to model and demonstrate points of charm at a luncheon held by Tau Gamma Delta, Epsilon chapter. Highlights of the demonstration included well dressed business girls make-up, posture, etiquette, business and social. Those present included Thelma Baliard, Pearl Lawson and Lois Smith.

Dinner Party Honors Typist

A dinner party was given in honor of Cortez W. Peters, international typing champion and his wife, by personable Eddie L. Pruitt, Sr., Pacific Coast typing champion, last Thursday at the Rubaiyat room in Hotel Watkins.

High point of discussion was the plans of Pruitt to open Superior School where speed writing and typing will be stressed. A simplified ABC method will be taught in six weeks. Opening will take place the earlier part of the year. The school will be centrally located on the Eastside.

Wesley Brazier, executive diretcor of the Urban League, will serve as director. Welford R. Wilson will assist at the first of the year opening.

Cortez, noted for his exceptional demonstrations, can type on two typewriters at a time holding a conversation. Making a typewriter talk is his most fascinating feat. He can type 140 words per minute for one hour.

Guests included: Mrs. Cora Pruitt-Young, secretary to Mr. H. A. Howard, Mrs. Dorothy L. Scott, Herald-Dispatch; Mrs. Alma Washington; Mrs. Hazel Lamarre, Los Angeles Sentinel, and Joe Harris, Pittsburg Courier.

Federal Jury Grills KKK

Association and the Edison Center Civic Association.

Lengthy Investigation

Calling of the grand jury probe is taken as evidence that government authorities are convinced that Federal statutes were violated in the bombing outrages.

Two special assistants to the attorney general in Washington, L. E. Broome and Emory S. Akerman, are here to work with the jury. Also here to assist in the investigation is Herbert S. Phillips of Tampa, U. S. attorney for the Florida district.

The grand jury is expected to spend three weeks or more probing the Carver Village dynamitings. After a short recess, it will tackle the dynamite murder of the Moores. Moore, NAACP official who was carrying on an active fight for Negro rights in Florida, was killed when dynamite was placed under his Mims, Fla., home, on Christmas. His wife, Mrs. Harriet Moore, was fatally injured and died a few days after her husband was buried.

Klan Records

The Klan members called before the grand jury were ordered to bring with them: "... all minutes, financial records, membership rolls, mailing lists, literature and correspondence pertaining to the John B. Gordon Klavern, Southern Knights of the Klu Klux Klan of Hialeah; and the John B. Gordon Klavern, Association of Georgia Klans, Knights of the Klu Klux Klan, and any and all papers pertaining thereto."

The Carver Village bombings a year ago focused the eyes of the world on the Miami race battles. The outrages occurred on the heels of an explosive controversy involving the conversion of two apartment buildings in Edison Center, in the northwest section of Miami, to Negro occupancy. One of the blasts caused an estimated $20,000 damage.

The Dade County Property Owners Association and the Edison Center Civic Association were in the forefront of the fight over conversion of the two buildings.

Later five Jewish synagogues and a Catholic church were dynamited. Culmination of the terrorism was the killing of the Moores.

Since then the FBI and other governmental agencies have been investigating. No one up to this time has been arrested for any of the bombings.

Dr. L. Wright

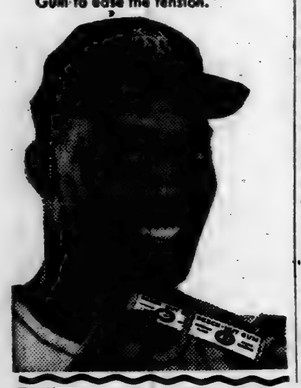
and the New York Surgical Society.

Spingarn Award

In 1940, Dr. Wright was awarded the Spingarn Medal, given each year by the NAACP to the Negro American whose achievement is judged the most distinguished of the year.

The citation lauded him "for his contributions to the healing of mankind and for his courageous and uncompromising position, held often in the face of bitter attack, that Negro men of medicine should measure up to the most absolute standards of technical excellence and, as a corollary, that having done so, Negro medical men and nurses should be accorded every opportunity to serve, without discrimination on account of race or color."

Born in LaGrange, Ga., on July 23, 1891, Dr. Wright was graduated from Clark University, Atlanta, in 1911, and from the Harvard Medical College with honors in 1915. In 1917 he was commissioned a lieutenant in the U. S. Army Medical Corps, serving in France during the first World War. After the war he joined the Medical Reserve Corps and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel.



Dr. Wright was honored last April 30 by more than 1,000 persons at a testimonial dinner at the Hotel Statler, on the occasion of the inauguration of the Louis T. Wright Library of Harlem Hospital.

Surviving are Dr. Wright's wife, the former Corinne Cooke, whom he married in 1918; two daughters, Dr. Jane Wright Jones and Dr. Barbara Wright Pierce; three granddaughters; and a sister, Mrs. Jessie Penn West of Nashville, Tenn.

says MONTE IRVIN

"I've read that scientists at a leading university have proved that chewing Beech-Nut eases tension. Every ball player knows how true that is. Most fellows I know chew through nine innings! In fact, I've noticed that any kind of a job—including snagging long flies—calls for Beech-Nut Gum to ease the tension."

COMFORT, southern style, that heated the room to a degree of a hot June day, was the reason why two well known females are now on the lips of every westsider. Seems like these two gals were in the midst of a torrid love session in one of our public rest rooms when in walks the third person to break up the love nest. Now the third party is humming, "Jelly, Jelly."

HOW'S ABOUT this? Guys like Bill Watkins, Ovis Pierce, and Dr. D. Gray insist to companies that before they buy products from their firm they must hire Negroes. Understand Budweiser put on Earl Griffin and now the Dunbar refuses to handle the suds. Oh well, Stuff Crouch's Turban Room is only a few feet away.

EUCLID TAYLOR, high powered Chicago attorney, planed in over the week-end and all the former Chicago gals kept the telephone busy trying to reach him. Our gal Wini Orr moved him out of the reach of the wolverettes and they dined and wined undisturbed till all hours.

ELHIU McGEE, back from the world series and claiming that nothing is wrong with the Dodgers that a new manager can't cure. McGee told of how the big wheels out of Texas reserved the top floor of the Hotel Theresa and the only ones allowed on the floor were Texans and natch the joint jumped to no end. After the Dodgers dropped the final game visitors got 'e'll out of New York in a hurry. At least those who had enough loot left.

TURNABOUTS, it's about time these gals turn around and face those lumps and bumps for they are way passed the voting age. It is high time they stop "Balling the Jack" and come up with some worthwhile community project to inspire the younger members of our society.

TALL TALES are coming from the lips about how the ex-manager on Western Avernoo made off with all the loot. He even took the accounting book around to prove his point. However, the book failed to show many hours of sweat and nervous tension the ex-manager had to take to build up the business. We think the fellow is being real silly about the whole thing. Why doesn't he 'fess up and realize he has killed the goose that was laying the golden egg which accounts for business being way off. In fact if things keep going the way they are the narcotics officers are going to put the joint on the hot list.

JOYCE BRYANT, the silver voiced song stylist, is creating rave notices galore. The former L.A. neat package of thrills will soon headline a big name night club in the east. She is definitely headed for big time.

PASSING, that awful fair social wheel who can't seem to make up her mind about what side of the fence she belongs. The operators at the Westwood beauty parlors are not interested in her family tree, it's her loot they are after. So don't sneak in the place hereafter, just walk in like the rest.

MABEL BEVERLY, a bundle of brown beauty, recently returned from points north after two years absence. Having applied her skill in beauty culture at some of our foremost "fry shops" (beauty parlors), Mabel is currently "holding hands" with some of the city's finest at La Salle and Adams and stopping more traffic than Jarvis 'citation champion' Reeves.

LEONARD McCLAIN will certainly be resting easier when he learns that as soon as Elhiu "Dot" McGee arrived back from New York, his first thought was doing something tangible for him.

DOROTHY SISSLE threw open her lovely arms and made a warm welcome for the Californians visiting New York for the series. The next time you will hear from Ethel she will be residing in her fashionable New York home and a very wealthy guy will be trying to convince her that his seventh heaven is her. She promises to wire us as soon as the question is settled.

BILL WATKINS is certainly making sure Watkins, Jr.'s road to good Americanism is insured. He is taking a lion's share of the work in the election of Stevenson and Sparkman. More than I can say for most of our other so-called well-to-do businessmen.

SPORTSMEN, the guys that lay and bet the odds, certainly made the big time operators from Times Square take notice when they backed the Dodgers with more loot than lip. One big wheel from uptown sent word out to Harlem to the effect that "now your people are in the World Series, how much in money do you believe in them?"

Two medics out of Texas layed a cool 10 grand that Black would win the opening game.

HAYES MOTEL is just about the smartest looking retreat found anywhere and likeable. Hayes, who pilots a classy convertible MG about our fair highways, is the owner and operator of the East Jefferson Blvd. establishment.

MARSHALL MILES, dapper manager of the former heavyweight kingpin, Joe Louis, breezed into town the other eve. Missed him at the Rubaiyat Room. Will lay you one to ten he was calling for Joe Louis bourbon and bartender Bob Works was only too happy to serve him. It is a mellow drink; try it sometime.

CRYANNO, understand a pretty brownskin was out with the actor doing up the spots out Sunset strip way and natch she goofed the works and maybe a chance to do herself a jam with the movie folks.

JULIETTE BALL BROWN got a new flashy Cadillac to go with her imported French poodle. She and hubby are living in a great big way. Couldn't happen to a nicer twosome.

BON BON, orchids to the club members who are making it a habit to read our Eagle. We love you madly and think the world of club member Louise Morgan and President Thelma Houston.

HOW COLD can some landlords get? A certain West 35th street landlord gave notice to one of her tenants because the tenant's 12-year-old kid was playing with the grey neighbors on her precious lawn. She must be sore because they didn't have green grass when she was 12 years old.

THEATRE

Lincoln Theatre to Host Top Movie Stars In Gigantic Show for Civil Rights Rally

SHOW TIME; members of the Benevolent Variety Artists are rehearsing for the forthcoming fabulous and lavish charity event scheduled for Nov. 29th, at the Florentine Gardens. Club members are: Ruth Givens, Ruth Mills, Suzette Harbin, Myrtle Fortune, Juanita Moore, Doris Pitts and Frances Robinson while popular Marshall Miles approves the clever routines the girls have worked out.

Lena Horne! Richard Widmark! Barry Sullivan!

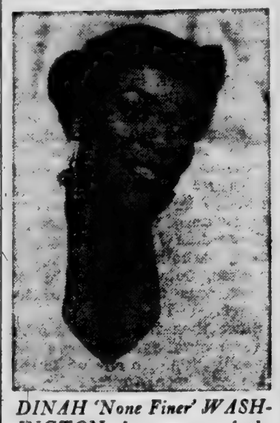
These top stars and many others will be on hand at the Lincoln Theater Thursday night, October 30, in a gigantic show and rally dedicated to civil rights.

Music by top bands, first-class entertainment, a thrilling motion picture and speeches by nationally known fighters for civil rights will feature one of the most brilliant evenings i nthe history of the Lincoln Theater.

Organized under the auspices of the Californians for Stevenson, the Stevenson-Sparkman Clubs, and the Citizens Committee for Civil Rights, tentative plans call ofr a huge motorcade and parade to start at International Airport, wheer the movie stars and civic leaders will land, and to proceed down Imperial boulevard to Central and down Centarl to the Lincoln Theater.

Loren Miller and Councilman Ed Roybal, co-chairmen of the Californians for Stevenson, issued a blanket invitation to all car owners to join the giant motorcade. "We want to make this the greatest show and rally in the history of Los Angeles. Civil rights are dearer than life itself to the Mexican-American and Negro communities. This is our chance to stage a tremendous demonstration and show the politicians that we mean business," said Loren Miller.

Dr. John A. Sommerville, charter member of the Stevenson-Sparkman clubs, indicated that his organization was going to go all-out to make this affair one that wil go down in history. "We want to stir the community," said Dr. Sommerville. "We are in grave danger of losing all the gains that we have made in the past 20 years. We must awaken the citizens to this peril so that they will be aware and intelligent on election day."



"We are banding together in one great concerted effort to make this the greatest show and rally the Eastside has ever seen," said Adolphus B. Clay, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Civil Rights. We intend to pack the Lincoln Theater and the area for blocks around. We will have a star-studded show with movie celebrities and national figures.

Dinah Washington In Mad Jazz Concert

Another first in the field of popular music will be established Thursday, Oct. 23, when Gene Norman presents Woody Herman and his "New Third Herd" and Dinah Washington in concert at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium for their only local appearance.

Queen of the Blues

From the time that Dinah Washington's first records were presented, unheralded, to a delightful jazz public eight years ago, there has been no doubt that she is one of the great blues singers of alltime. Her style, vigorous and imaginative, was great even in 1944, when the first of her many, many recordings was released. But at that time no one could have predicted that she would not only become the "Queen of the Blues" but one of the nation's finest popular singers as well.

DINAH 'None Finer' WASHINGTON, keen queen of the blues, will display her prize 'pipes' at GENE NORMAN'S 'solid session' Thursday evening, October 23, 8:30 p.m.

Third Herd . . . Last Word

Indicative of the praise that Herman's orchestra has been receiving, Metronome magazine said, "This, then, is the great new Woody Herman Herd, an astounding, jumping, versatile, thrilling band, great for listening, great for dancing, and the ultimate answer for all those who insist that you've got to play corn or Glenn Miller music to bring dancers and dance bands back. This, ladies and gentlemen, is IT!"

Tickets for the concert are on sale at all Mutual Ticket agencies, TU. 1144.

Community Aids BVA's Big Benefit

By RUTH MILLS

There are no people like show people and those the show people know. This was clearly evidenced this week by the gratifying and heart warming response to the announcement that the Benevolent Variety Artists, popular show girls' charity club, were staging another of their famed benefit shows, Saturday, November 29, at the Florentine Gardens.

"It's enough to make you cry like a sentimental fool," Alice Key, a B.V.A. member, reported to an Eagle staff reporter. "The blessed truth is that before the ink was dry on the public announcement, we'd gotten a call from Stuff Crouch reminding us to always count on him for any kind of help.

"Marshall Miles, visiting here from Buffalo, New York, kicked in with a substantial check, unsolicited, mind you; Joe Adams, the disc jockey, dropped by to remind us he also was in our corner and that he and his radio time was always available to the B.V.A.'s. Do you wonder that the B.V.A.'s love people?"

The answer to that plaintive question is obvious. If one wonders why people love the B.V.A.s' come to the Florentine Gardens, Saturday, November 29. Not only is the B.V.A.'s cause worthy and wonderful, their shows are always top notch entertainment.

Buddy Johnson 'One Nighting'

FRESNO — Despite arguments to the contrary, Buddy Johnson claims that he loves one-night stands. All the stories about the discomforts of travel daily, the inability to get shirts washed and all the rest are made up for by many other things, according to Buddy.

"Tell me," he says, "where one is likely to have a better opportunity to travel all over the country? In what other way can a fellow make more friends? Furthermore, one-nighters are good business."

Ella Fitz Gets Hudson River's Help on 'Waxing'

NEW YORK — Decca records have set out to flavor the revival of Una Mae Carlisle's "Walking by the River" with even more nostalgia than the song produces by itself.

For their Ella Fitzgerald release on the tune, Decca moguls have gone to great pains and expense to record the sounds of the Hudson river, which flows by old Manhattan, and have dubbed these sounds into the background

"Walking by the River" was a prewar smash and it is currently being revived by a number of top recording personalities—but only Ella's comes equipped with the Hudson.

STEVENSON ~~CAN~~ will COMPLETE THE JOB!

★ Back in 1932 when Franklin D. Roosevelt took over as President of the United States, Negroes were caught in a horrible trap. They had the worst jobs, lived in the worst houses and attended the worst schools. If you are too young to have vivid memories of the early Roosevelt era, ask those who know. They will tell you that the only way to realize the tremendous steps upward Negroes have made is to know how they suffered back in the depression. Negroes had just jumped out of the Republicans' "vest pocket" because they were tired of being third class citizens.

★ Today–20 years later–the Negro has climbed way up the staircase and is nearing equality of opportunity. Roosevelt's New Deal and Truman's Fair Deal set the stage and step-by-step the American Negro has pulled away from third class citizenship. He's reaching for complete equality of opportunity. The New Deal started the Negro up the ladder, the Fair Deal boosted him higher. Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois will complete the job. Reach the top with Stevenson. He'll make the New Deal and the Fair Deal a Good Deal for YOU.

You can help with your Dollars too!

Send your contribution to the Democratic National Committee Ring Building • Washington, D. C.

HERE ARE THE STEPS UPWARD THAT THE NEGRO HAS TAKEN SINCE 1932:

1. Working in more and better jobs than ever before.
2. Living in more and better homes than ever before.
3. Attending more and better schools than ever before.
4. Serving in all branches of the armed services on an equal basis with other men and women for the first time.
5. Millions having the right to vote for the first time.
6. Life and property better protected than ever before.
7. Moving into the "Main Street" of American Life.

Still going upward step-by-step. We can only move forward if Governor Stevenson wins in November. Think back to 1932. Now look at 1952. The Roosevelt-Truman program has worked. Complete the job. FOR YOU AND AMERICA WITH STEVENSON. Vote for STEVENSON for President of the United States, Tuesday, November 4.

To the gigantic Civil Rights rally at the Lincoln Theater Thursday night (Oct. 30), of course. Admission is free and admission will be on a first come, first served basis.

Doors will open at 7 p.m. Top flight Hollywood stars will entertain and a sparkling movie will be shown. All, it was stressed, free of charge!

Lena Horne, Richard Widmark and Barry Sullivan are a few of the top Hollywood stars that will appear on the program.

A nationally known speaker will spark the big rally that bids fair to set a record for a meeting in the Central avenue district.

Sponsored by the Volunteers for Stevenson, the Californians for Stevenson and a Citizens Committee for Civil Rights, the affair will climax a big "get out the vote" drive on the Eastside.

Adolphus Clay, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Civil Rights, announced that every civic-minded person will be on hand for this important rally. "This is the West Coast's answer to the huge rally held in Harlem. We are just as aware of the importance of the coming election and the role we must play in it. We expect a great night for civil rights."

Fay Allen, veteran politico who formerly was a member of the Los Angeles Board of Education, was enthusiastic in her support of the rally. "We've got to do something to create the necessary dramatic effect to help us get the vote out. Our headquarters at Jefferson and Central has received a good response. The voters are anxious to do their part. Stevenson's whistle-stop at the Elks provided part of what we need; it is up to us to do the rest."

"We must all join hands and make this the greatest thing that ever hit the avenue," enthused Ethel Bryant, field secretary for Congressman Sam Yorty and coordinator for the AFofL headquarters at 41st and Central. "We can do it and we must. This is the hour of opportunity for the Negro and Mexican - American communities."

Latest word received in local democratic circles was that Joe Louis, former Republican who is now voting for Stevenson, will be on hand to help at the gigantic show.

Everyone will be there. Be sure to come early to get a seat.

Mrs. Roosevelt In Bid for Stevenson

Ike's Alliance With Dixiecrats Hit by Senators

NEW YORK—Voters who favor civil rights should not vote for General Eisenhower, Republican presidential nominee.

That's what FDR's widow told a nation wide radio audience Monday night. Mrs. Roosevelt said she had arrived at that conclusion after a thorough study of the records of rival candidates. She urged them to vote for Governor Adlai Stevenson.

"We have seen General Eisenhower agree with Governor Byrnes, gladly accept him as an ally in the South," she said. "And yet the Republican party is appealing for the Negro vote on the basis of civil rights!"

In her attack on the Byrnes-Eisenhower alliance, Mrs. Roosevelt pointed out that Stevenson had "the courage to go into Virginia and say just where he stood on civil rights."

Governor Byrnes is the leader

Stages Daylight Stick-up

By IRVING C. SMITH

A calm, deliberate young man waited in line quietly before the teller at the Security First National bank, Vernon and Avalon, Wednesday just before closing. Then in rapid, gangster motions he held up the cashier, left inconspicuously and disappeared.

The robbery occurred at about 2:45 p.m. The suave gunman got away with $400 to $500. Only words he uttered were: "Put this in there, too." As he said this he motioned to some money that was in front of the teller, Miss Betty Langdon.

"I Have Gun"

As the tall, slender, light-skinned man took his place before the bank window, he handed Miss Langdon a crudely hand-

Pair Sues for $400,000 for Torture Burns

The two men who just one year ago were badly burned when carbon dioxide gas from a fire extinguisher was sprayed upon them while they were prisoners at Firestone Police Station this week sought damages of $200,000 each from the Sheriff's Department.

Suit for damages was filed last Thursday.

The two men, Rueben Smith, of 1348 East 42nd street, and Henry Scott, 4711½ Stanton avenue, claimed at the time of the arrest that they were beaten, kicked, insulted and burned with "something that felt like a blow torch." The "something" was the spray upon their bare bodies.

Hospitalized

Both men were hospitalized at General hospital as a result of second and third degree burns.

Argument Over Dice Winnings Ends In Murder

By EDDIE LEE KING

An argument that began over a dice game ended in death for Ralph Manuel of 3423½ Montclair street Tuesday night. He was slashed to death by Robert Allen Bobo at the home of Tommie Owens, 4081 Compton avenue.

Manuel made quite a few passes and was leaving with all the loot when Bobo discovered that he was completely broke and wanted a few dimes to get tokens before streetcar fares go up.

He was rather insistent with his demand and when Manuel refused to give him more than 50 cents, he slashed Manuel on the arm. The victim ran to get away from his bad loser, but to no avail.

Mrs. Manuel ran to her husband's rescue only to receive a portion of the same treatment and was knocked out and thrown into the gutter from the blow on the head.

Dt. Lieuts. Rogers and Shock of the Newton Street Detective Division stated that the mad killer will be caught within twenty-four hours.

A coroner's ambulance picked up Manuel at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital where he was dead on arrival at 11 p.m. Tuesday. An inquest date has not been set.

Eleven Die in Race Riot in South Africa

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa — At least eleven persons were killed in riots which broke out in a Negro reserve Saturday night after native crowds helped two arrested Negroes escape from police.

An estimated 3,000 Negroes battled armed police with sticks and knives, wrecked shops and public buildings and overturned cars before police restored order at midnight.

Police said twenty-seven were injured. Scores were believed arrested, but figures were not disclosed.

The outbreak began when police arrested two natives suspected of theft. The crowds closed in and helped the pair to escape in the confusion.

For the next eight hours the inflamed natives roamed through the streets, killing and wrecking. Police said one shouted: "We are going to kill all the white people in the area tonight."

The mob descended on the rail-

Dawson to Speak at Elk Temple Tonight

Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, will prove to be one of the greatest presidents America has ever known.

That is the considered opinion of William Dawson, Illinois congressman, who ought to know. Stevenson is governor of his state and Dawson has worked closely with him.

Dawson, elected vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will address a Civil Rights rally at Elks Temple here tonight (Oct. 23) and is expected to tell his listeners just what Stevenson has done as governor.

"Under Stevenson's wise and fearless administration Negro America will make giant strides toward complete freedom," Dawson told the Eagle.

Change to What?

The congressman also hit at the claim that it is time for a change.

"Change from what to what?" he demanded. "Do they want to change back to the bread line days of Herbert Hoover? To the Republican days when Negro soldiers were segregated into two infantry and two cavalry regiments? To the days when the Negro was the last hired and the first fired? They say we have been in office "too long." Well how long is too long when it's good."

Dawson who was one of the chief architects of the Democrats' admittedly strong civil rights plank is the first Negro to serve as chairman of a congressional committee. His appearance climaxes Civil Rights Week initiated with Governor Stevenson's motorcade down Central Avenue last week.

Truman, Other Notables Mourn Wright's Death

NEW YORK—Condolences from far and wide, and from high and low were received last week by the widow of Dr. Louis T. Wright, noted surgeon and chairman of the Board of Directors of the NAACP, who died of a heart attack Oct. 8.

Among those who sent messages were President Truman, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Mayor Vincent B. Impellitteri of New York, Judge and Mrs. William H. Hastie, and President Mordecai W. Johnson of Howard University.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche of the United Nations eulogized Dr. Wright at the funeral services Oct. 11 as "a man of strong personality, of unyielding integrity in both intellect and principle."

In his telegram to Mrs. Wright, President Truman said: "I have learned with deep personal regret of the death of your beloved husband, Louis T. Wright. He was a surgeon of rare talent who gave himself unsparingly to public service. To you, and to those who mourn with you, I offer deepest sympathy."

We'll Still Take Stevenson

(AN EDITORIAL)

Herbert Hoover took to the air last Saturday to endorse a presidential candidate. You guessed it. He put in a plug for Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican hopeful.

That just about does it.

Ike has the endorsement of Jimmy Byrnes, governor of South Carolina. Jimmy is the man who proposes to abandon public education when the United States Supreme Court outlaws Jim Crow schools.

Ike has the backing of Price Daniels, Texas Senatorial candidate. Daniels as Texas attorney general argued for Jim Crow schools in the Supreme Court and told the Court that Negroes were unfit to attend graduate or professional schools with other students.

Ike has the okay of Senator Byrd of Virginia, one of the Senate's leading Dixiecrats.

Ike's running mate is Richard Nixon of California. Nixon signed a race restrictive covenant on his Washington home, barring occupancy of Negroes, Jews, Persians and Armenians. His Whittier home is covered by a race restrictive covenant. Nixon voted against FEPC just prior to getting the vice presidential nomination. Ike says Nixon's his boy. We believe him, too. He's Ike's kind of a boy.

And now Herbert Hoover!

Remember Hoover? He's the man who tried to drive Negroes out of the Republican party. He's the man whose do-nothing policy

Local Chest Leaders Seek Volunteers

If South Central Area of the Community Chest campaign is to keep its high place on the Honor Roll of well-organized communities, citizens here will have to answer the call for volunteers quickly.

"We are justly proud of the record we established in being the leaders in the metropolitan area to complete our early organization," said Mrs. DeWitt D. Turpeau, Area co-chairman. "We were proud to show our realization of the benefits of the 160 Chest services in our own community and to take our part in raising the funds to continue these services.

"Now, we are slipping a little. We immediately need a hundred men and women who will volunteer to raise funds for a few half-days or even hours for our hospitals, clinics, children's homes, day nurseries, Scouts and other youth organizations.

was subsequently tried for felonious assault, but was found "not guilty" in a jury trial. The sheriff, Edward Houtz, admitted on the stand that he had struck Scott on the feet many times with an iron-filled sap. He also admitted spraying the men with the gas from the fire extinguisher, but, though he had been a member of the Fire Department for five years, he claimed he did not know the gas would burn human flesh.

'Knocked Us Down'

Smith told the Eagle after he was released from jail: "They beat us. They knocked us to the floor. We were handcuffed and we couldn't get up. They kicked us and said they had ways to make Niggers talk. Then they brought out something that felt like a blow-torch and burned us all over."

Smith and Scott were arrested Oct. 20, 1951. Arresting officers B. B. Meenck and W. A. Foster charged them with stealing a car. This charge was later dropped and Smith was booked on a plain drunk citation and Scott was accused of drunk driving. They were allegedly beaten and tortured in an endeavor to get them to "confess." They said they didn't confess, because they had already told the truth.

Roach Warns Voters Against 'Smear' Drive

A warning of a last minute smear campaign by Supervisor Leonard Roach's opponent was received Monday by the Leonard Roach Campaign Committee from former Councilman Charles A. (Cap) Allen.

Allen's warning to voters and the Roach campaign committee read as follows:

"As one interested in clean government and clean campaigning, I am urging the voters of the Second Supervisorial District to ignore smear sheets and untruthful propaganda circulated by Supervisor Leonard Roach's opponent.

"When this same opponent ran against me, I was victimized by this Communist-type of smearing which is contrary to all decent principles practiced in a democracy.

"In endorsing the incumbent Leonard Roach for re-election, I feel justified that his record of clean government and accomplishments warrant it."

Apprised of Allen's statement, Supervisor Roach commented, "One who honestly believes in clean government and possesses integrity will not resort to any un-American methods of seeking public office. The campaign of any candidate is indicative of his administration."

Man Jailed In Shooting Of Paramour

Fred Douglas Taylor, 29, 1178 East Vernon avenue, walked to the police station and gave himself up to Capt. Edward L. When Mrs. Coleman and her seven-year-old daughter arrived home, Taylor was waiting in the clothes closet in her house and said he wanted to take a walk and have a talk with Mrs. Coleman.

In front of 4668 Compton avenue, Taylor suddenly pulled his gun and began shooting. Mrs. Coleman was taken to Georgia Receiving in a very serious condition and was transferred to General where she is not expected to live. Doctors now say she has a 70-30 chance.

Council Re-District Plan Would Split Negro Vote

City Council, required by law to redraw councilmanic boundary lines this year, last week ordered the city attorney to prepare an ordinance which will continue the present gerrymander under which Negro voters are scattered in five districts. They are in a minority in each district.

San Fernando valley will get an additional councilman under the new plan. Baldwin Hills will be added to the Seventh district, represented by Don Allen, which will then stretch from Alameda to the extreme western portion of the city.

Portions of the Westwood area will be tacked on to the Fifth district, now represented by George Cronk. That district contains a sizeable number of Negro voters in the West Adams section of the city.

The Ninth district, represented by Edward Roybal, will get additional precincts heavily populated by Negro voters. These voters will be detached from the Tenth district. A substantial number of Negro voters in the Venice area will be attached to the Sixth district represented by L. E. Timberlake.

The new plan was attacked by Loren Miller, Eagle publisher, who charged that it was part of the "same old scheme of keeping the Negro vote chopped up in various districts in order to forestall the possibility of electing a Negro councilman."

He pointed out that repeated efforts have been made to change district lines for the past 20 years in order to get voters with the common problems in the same district. "City Council has always prevented that by running district lines from east to west instead of from north to south," Miller said.

He pointed out that the Seventh District will stretch from Alameda street on the east to Baldwin Hills on the West and will include a large number of voters with widely different interests. "No councilman can properly represent people with such conflicting interests," he added. The Fifth district will ramble from the West Adams district to Westwood and will include conflicting groups, he pointed out.

Miller charged that the new plan represented a definite effort to split the Negro vote and concentrate it in various districts where it will be in a minority.

'Native Son' Ban Upheld In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Banning of the film based on Richard Wright's famed novel "Native Son" was upheld here last Wednesday by the State Supreme Court.

Kansas to Bow Out of 'Equal' School Suit

The Attorney General of Kansas will not defend the State's segregated school system when the vital public school issue is heard by the Supreme Court Dec. 8.

The Kansas decision is based upon the fact that the Topeka school board does not wish to defend itself, according to an article in the Kansas City Call, quoting Assistant Attorney General Avis W. Martin.

Attorney General Harold R. Fatzer reportedly is opposed to spending public funds "to pit one race against the other." He has stated publicly that all people are entitled to equal treatment under the law.

This action of the State of Kansas is of the utmost importance as the "separate but equal" case heads for a final showdown.

The Kansas issue and the South Carolina cases were scheduled to appear before the Supreme Court Oct. 14, but were postponed until Dec. 8, a month after the presidential elections. In issuing the order changing the date, the High Court added two new cases to the two already scheduled.

Challenges Segregation

The postponement means that South Carolinians will vote on an amendment designed to abolish all public schools in the State prior to the high court's consideraion of the test cases.

In addition to the South Carolina and Kansas cases, the Supreme Court will also hear arguments on tests in Virginia and the District of Columbia.

In all four cases, the single issue before the justices is the contention that segregation in and of itself is discrimination, and therefore a violation of the 14 Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

The order of the Supreme Court postponing the scheduled arguments stated:

"The court is of the opinion that the nature of the issue posed in those appeals now before the court involving the Fourteenth Amendment, and also the effect of any decision which it may render in those cases, is such that it would be well to consider, simultaneously, the constitutional issue posed in the District of Columbia case."

Killer of Rival Held to Face Murder Rap

Wallace Bell, who fired point blank at his wife's alleged boy friend Oct. 11, was held to answer on charges of murder when he appeared before Judge John Barnes Monday. Nov. 3 was set for the date of the pleading.

Bell, who admits shooting his rival as he attempted to get out of his car, will base his defense on the universal right of a man to defend his home from unwarranted invasion, according to his attorney, Walter L. Gordon.

Bell told the court that he had long suspected Preston Durham, 31, of trying to break up his home at 613 East 110th street, and paying attention to his wife, Mrs. Julia Bell. He said that on the fatal afternoon he followed his wife and Durham to 33rd street, where they parked the car.

He said he approached from behind and told Durham: "This is it!" Then he claimed he fired two shots at Durham as he tried to get out of the car, after which Bell fled from the scene.

Ohio School Segregation Hit By Order

GLENDALE, Ohio—Segregation in the public schools of this southern Ohio town, about 15 miles from the Kentucky border, ended without fanfare last week when Prosecuting Attorney C. Watson Hover told the Glendale Board of Education that to refuse admission of Negro pupils to a formerly all white school would constitute a violation of their rights under the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

The action was taken in response to questions from the board as to what they should do about the request of the Cincinnati branch of the NAACP that certain Negro children, previously not registered in school, be enrolled in the school nearest their homes.

Citing the history of actions taken by the Ohio legislature to abolish segregation in the public schools of the state, and recent anti-segregation decisions of the United States Supreme Court, the state's attorney told the board that the children must be admitted to schools "at such places as will be convenient . . . and such assignments cannot be limited by consideration of race, creed or color."

Self Defense Plea Results In Acquittal

Joseph Grant, 35-year-old employee of Beacon's furniture stores, was acquitted of charges of assault with a deadly weapon Monday, when he appeared in Superior court with counsel, Atty. H. Leonard Richardson.

Grant was arrested last Aug. 5 at his home, 634 East 105th street, after Nina Mae Jones, his common-law wife and her sister, Earline Christian, complained he had slashed them during an altercation.

Atty. Richardson successfully argued before Judge Jesse Frampton that his client was a victim of an attack by the two women. He claimed the wounds they sustained were either self inflicted, or committed by his client in self defense.

The argument reportedly started when Miss Jones told Grant she was leaving, bag, baggage and children. During the argument, Miss Christian seized a pair of large scissors and struck him. He fell but managed to open a small pocket knife while on the floor and warded off further attacks.

Grant testified he fled the scene when his wife grabbed a butcher knife and lunged at him.

Rev. Scott was at first refused a visa, but was later granted one following a protest from the NAACP.

Hits Compton Election Law

COMPTON—James L. "Buddy" Garcia, resident of the north section of this city, told members of the press this week that he is preparing to challenge the legality and justification of Compton's strange laws governing the manner of electing members of the city council.

Garcia said there are four councilmanic districts in the city of Compton. Three of these districts elect their representatives in the council by direct district means. The fourth district is obliged to permit their representative to be elected-at-large.

"This action on the part of the city fathers fails to consider the rights of the residents of the fourth district to elect their own representative to the city legislative body in a manner equal and the same as that reserved by the other three districts," Garcia declared.

Garcia pointed out that the election methods complained of by a large number of residents of the northern section of Compton is quite novel. It was enacted a few years ago, when large numbers of Negro residents of Watts and Willowbrooks began moving into Compton.

ALL URGED TO VOTE YES ON PROPOSITION THREE

Citizens from all walks of life and all political faiths joined this week in urging a Yes vote on Proposition 3. Heading a list of more than a hundred signers of the statement were John Dial of the CIO, Herbert James of the AFL, Ethel Bryant, club leader and Attorney Rayfield Lundy.

The statement pointed out that simple justice requires relieving schools maintained by churches and charitable foundations from taxations.

WELCOMES ADLAI—Assemblyman Byron Rumford of Oakland extends a welcome to Governor Adlai Stevenson as the Democratic presidential nominee arrived in San Francisco last week.

"A large part of the Negro's educational history revolves around schools of this kind," the statement pointed out. "Our great schools like Fisk, Atlanta and Dillard were all established by churches and for many years they kept the light of learning burning."

"Your "Yes" vote on Proposition 3 will sustain the action of the State Legislature which in 1951 voted almost unanimously (108 to 3) to give non-profit schools tax equality as a matter of justice, and as an aid in solving the alarming shortage of schools in California.

Principally affected are two kinds of schools . . . (1) elementary and high schools maintained by more than a dozen religious denominations; and (2) the many schools for the blind, deaf-mutes, crippled, palsied and mentally retarded maintained by charitable foundations.

California is the only state in the Union which taxes schools of this character. The principle of giving these schools tax equality with public schools has been recognized in 47 of the 48 states because non-tax supported schools perform a valuable public service, which otherwise would become a further burden on the taxpayer; also because "Penalty taxation" of church-financed schools is a violation of our traditional separation of church and state.

This principle of tax equality has long been established. In 1914 California granted tax exemption to non-profit colleges and universities. Stanford, University of San Francisco, University of Southern California, College of the Pacific and Pomona, for example were thus given tax equality with the State Universities.

Non-profit schools educated 182,483 children in California last year, and have helped relieve the badly over-crowded public school system which has been forctd to place thousands of our children on half-day sessions. These non-profit schools have saved the taxpayers an estimated $350,000,000 on the cost of providing class rooms, and save the taxpayers an additional $41,000,000 annually in operating expenses.

Clubs Get Refunds

Pico street, due to circumstances beyond their control, they attempted to refund all deposits which had been given them.

Funds Repaid

Attorney Gordon states that prompt notification of intention to return the deposits was made, that restitution in full followed, and that Mr. and Mrs. Brooks will make any further returns, if any remain outstanding.

As to the duplication of deposits for the same evening, this, according to Attorney Gordon, was "pure and simply an administative error, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, respectively, making the rentals separately, each believing that the booking was open."

The Eagle has checked with Mrs. Linay C. Terry, president of Le Cercle club, and was informed that following publication of its story, the club's $15 deposit was returned.

Responsible Action

Attorney Gordon further explained:

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks did not occupy the premises as tenants, but as trustors under a deed, looking toward permanent, full ownership of this business and residence property. Circumstances occasioned payment delinquencies, and restriction was ordered to the holders of the deed of trust. But when the deposits in question were taken, and during a previous period, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks were in the process of negotiating some temporary rental solution to their difficulty, in order to restore rights lost, and maintained connection and interest in the property.

"Eviction occurred contrary to assurances given just previously. These are the circumstances in which bookings were taken and deposits made, deposits taken as part of the effort of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks toward responsible continuation of the property as a going concern. Notification and restitution, when this was not possible, completed into action the good faith of these parties."

Order San Francisco End Housing J. Crow

SAN FRANCISCO—Brushing aside the contention that they had been barred because of personal reasons, Superior Judge Melvyn Cronin last Wednesday ordered the San Francisco Housing Authority to admit Mrs. Mattie Banks and James E. Charley to existing vacancies in any of its seven public housing projects.

His decision was a sweeping victory for the NAACP which had backed Mrs. Banks and Charles in their contention that the Authority's racial segregation policy was in violation of federal and state constitutions and of California's public policy. Attorneys representing the NAACP were Terry Francois of San Francisco, Nathaniel Colley of Sacramento and Loren Miller of Los Angeles.

Testimony offered during the course of the three week's legal battle showed that the Authority had set aside only one of its projects for Negroes and had denied them admission to the others which were labeled for white occupancy only.

"If a Negro veteran applied and he stood at the head of the list would you admit him to any but the project set aside for Negroes?" Miller asked the head of the Authority.

"No," was the short answer. Despite that admission the Authority claimed that Mrs. Banks was barred because of false answers in her application and that Charley was a bad "rent risk."

The S.F. Housing Authority retained special counsel at great expense to the San Francisco taxpayers in a desperate attempt to defend its policy of racial segregation and discrimination.

The case was filed in behalf of Mrs. Banks, Charley "and all others similarly situated" when the S.F. Housing Authority announced the opening of a new permanent housing project in North Beach and stated that "No Negroes" would be permitted to reside there because the alleged "neighborhood pattern" of the community did not include Negroes.

In announcing his decision, Judge Cronin also found that Negroes were qualified for admission to units and ordered that they be certified for admission. Lawyers for the city Authority immediately requested a ten day "stay" in order that they might perfect their notice of appeal — indicating that they intended to appeal Judge Cronin's decision to a higher court.

printed note and a white bag. The note read:

"Fill this bag up and don't make a sound. I have a gun and will use it."

When Miss Langdon, terrified, handed him the filled sack, he walked away casually.

Disappears

Mitchell ran to the door, but the robber had disappeared. Driving away from the curb was a black 1940 or '42 Plymouth car, a dark, brown-skinned woman, with bushy hair at the wheel. It was believed the hold-up artist may have gotten into the car.

Mitchell, who had taken stock of the man who had been immediately ahead of him in the line before the bank window described him as slight in build, about five foot, ten inches to six foot in height, weighing 155 to 160 pounds. He could not have been more than 30 to 32 years old, said Mitchell.

He was light brown in color, with a close cut haircut, and a thin moustache, and was wearing a brown pin-stripped suit.

Police said the robbery patterned a similar hold-up at the same bank last Christmas. That robber has never been caught.

A man who had been passing by the bank just after the robbery said a man, whose description tallied with that given by Mitchell, had come out of the door, taking his time. He hadn't watched where he had gone.

WASHINGTON—High Post Office Department officials, friends and members of his family, saw Thomas E. Bomar sworn in Thursday as Assistant General Superintendent-at-large of the Postal Transport Service, the second highest position in the field service of the Post Office Department. Negro Voters Back Adlai On Civil Rights Stand

WASHINGTON—Governor Adlai Stevenson continued his strong support of civil rights and reiterated his determination to stand by the Democratic platform as he carried his presidential campaign from Wisconsin in the North to New Orleans in the Deep South and to California in the West.

Stressing his party's civil rights planks, Governor Stevenson told a New Orleans audience that he would not say one thing in the North and another in the South. His outspoken attitude brought him a new wave of support from Negroes all over the country and was marked by an increasing number of Negro voters in welcoming parades and in his audiences.

At Louisville, Kentucky, the great mass reception that Governor Stevenson has received was staged by local democrats and volunteers for Stevenson. Thousands of Negroes jammed the sidewalks as the mile long parade of public officials, bands and march groups proceeded to the Seebach Hotel where the entire Stevenson party were guests of the Courier Journal, the Louisville Times and radio station WHAS. Frank Stanley, publisher of the Louisville Defender and members of his staff were guests at the party for the Stevenson party.

Throughout Kentucky, Negroes and whites expressed the view that Governor Stevenson would carry the state of Kentucky. The weight of Vice President Barkley, whose name is magic in Kentucky, appeared to make certain that the whites and Negroes of Kentucky will stick with the Democratic party in November.

In Milwaukee, the Democratic candidate motored through the expanding Negro community while pro-Stevenson crowds lined the streets to see the Governor.

This strongly unionized city, with 25 to 30,000 Negroes, of whom 6,000 are registered voters, will be the key to Democratic control of the state. Special efforts to register more Negroes have been under way for a whole month. The Governor was told that special efforts being made would result in an increase in Negro voters this November.

At the Milwaukee Arena, more than 1,000 Negroes were in the crowd of 12,000 that heard Governor Stevenson blast the Republican candidate for his failure to state squarely his position on major issues.

"The Republican strategy becomes increasingly clear," Governor Stevenson said, "The political hucksters of the Old Guard have now a nice, new, fancy khaki-colored package. They have an honored name and trick slogan. They have nothing in the world to worry about if they can just get the American people to buy that package without opening it. They don't like the New Deal, and they don't like the Fair Deal, but we don't like this Fast Deal. We will not, as the Republicans did in 1930, let this Nation be forced to its knees where there is work to be done and men who eagerly want to do it. We will not let the farms and factories of America lie idle while men and women and children need food and clothing."

On the platform with Governor Stevenson at Milwaukee was Isaac Coggs, Democratic nominee for state asembly. Coggs recently defeated Roy Simons, former assemblyman in the primaries. Coggs has linked his campaign with Thomas Fairchild, who is seeking Senator McCarthy's seat, and with gubernatorial candidate William Proxmire.

Prominent St. Louisians who were on the platform and scattered among the 3,000 Negroes in the audience were John Green; Leroy Tyus; and Walter Lay, all state representatives; and committeeman T. H. Mayberry; Frank Mitchel Jr.; Nathan Sweets; and others.

I Believe in Insurance...

I believe in insurance because it encourages the sense of responsibility, promotes good family relations, strengthens the individual objective of right living and thus leads to the accumulations which would otherwise permit distress and misfortune.

This belief registered itself in the period of my formal education when as a graduate student in economics, I studied specific courses in life and fire insurance.

From this period there was an abiding conviction that insurance was a valuable method of repairing the loss through death of the individual who has obligations to himself, his dependents and his property interests.

I believe that the reduction of anxiety for the future based upon the planned savings of a lifetime is a goal worthy of attainment.

The head of a family who decides early in life to shift the risk of life by paying relatively small sums at intervals can relieve himself of the responsibility for future family care and comfort in case of premature death and also provide for the future if he should survive the time of occupational incapacity.

CHARLES H. WESLEY. Educator, author, historian. President, Central State College, Wilberforce, Ohio. Author "Negro Labor in the U.S." and other works. Ph.D. Harvard University.

Insurance can provide many different benefits for many different people.

One man may wish to set up an educational fund for his children, or a comfortable allowance for his own old age. Another man may need protection against the expense resulting from injury or accident.

Don't you owe it to yourself to find out how insurance can benefit you?

Remember—more than half of all insurance payments go to living policy holders.

THE CHAMP SWITCHES TO STEVENSON—Joe Louis, who will always be the "Champ," meets with Democratic National Committee Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell and announces he has switched to Gov. Stevenson. Stevenson's Backers Set Affair Sat.

Republican, Democratic and Independent voters joined hands in this community this week in an all out drive to roll up an overwhelming vote for Governor Adlai Stevenson on Nov. 4.

Their cooperation took the form of a local headquarters of the Volunteers For Stevenson at 3512 Central avenue where Mrs. Fay Allen is in charge. A gala open house is scheduled for Saturday night (Oct. 25) where local voters will meet with Mrs. Leo Spitz, Mrs. Carl Spaeth and other Volunteer leaders from other parts of the city. Doors will be opened at 7 o'clock and will remain open as long as voters care to visit.

Mrs. Allen stressed the fact that the Saturday night affair is open to the general public and urged all residents of the community to drop by. "We're non-partisan," Mrs. Allen said, "and the Volunteers for Stevenson movement is designed to give persons of every political party a chance to take part in the drive to elect the Illinois governor."

The Volunteers for Stevenson are sponsoring a series of broadcasts which can be heard nightly over KFWB from 8 to 10 p. m.

In a statement on the floor, Hahn stated that by the spirit of good will and sportsmanship that these young men and women displayed in Helsinki, Finland, they accomplished more for America than some of our career diplomats.

Among those who participated from the Los Angeles area were: Malvin Whitfield, First Place—800-Meter Run, and Ed Sanders, First Place—Heavyweight Boxing.

Hawkins Backs Proposition 20

Approval of Proposition 20—the hospital proposition — is of vital concern to all Californians, Augustus F. Hawkins, Los Angeles assemblyman, said today.

"This proposition would amend the state constitution to make the non-profit voluntary hospitals of California eligible to participate in the federal-state hospital construction program on the same basis as tax-supported institutions," Hawkins explained.

Young GOP to Aid Proposition 7

Los Angeles County Young Republicans today urged California citizens to cast a "yes" vote for Proposition 7 and a "no" vote for Proposition 13 at the November 4 election.

Joining forces with a non-partisan Citizens Committee to Vote "No" on Proposition 13, headed by James L. Beebe, veteran Democrat and widely known civic leader, the Young Republicans will campaign to retain cross-filing in California.

Ike Backed By FDR Son

Talks by New Jersey's Gov. Alfred Driscoll and Mrs. Irene Walker highlighted a "Coffee Hour with Eisenhower" rally Tuesday at the Phyllis Wheatley Home, 2125 S. Harvard Blvd.

Mrs. Hicks has scheduled another meeting tonight (Thursday) at the Forum-Starlight Ballroom, 4050 W. Pico Blvd., when John Roosevelt will address an Eisenhower - Nixon dinner at 6 p.m.

Leaders from three pro-Ike organizations, the Democrats for Eisenhower, Volunteers for Eisenhower and Women for Eisenhower-Nixon, attended the Tuesday meeting which was sponsored by Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, president of the West Coast National Association of Colored Women, and Mrs. Valley Knudsen, chairman of Women for Eisenhower in Southern California.

The son of the late president will be introduced by Paul R. Williams, internationally famous architect. Other speakers will be Norman O. Houston, president of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson and George Hamilton, radio and television player.

Daisy Lampkin Bolts Democrats

WASHINGTON—The nation as a whole, and Negroes in particular, will benefit from a change in administration, declared Mrs. Daisy E. Lampkin, a Democrat, and member of the Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, at a press conference here last week.

Mrs. Lampkin, who has been vice president of the Pittsburgh Courier for 22 years, used the occasion to announce that though she had been an ardent Democrat since 1932, she is now a "disgusted Democrat", and will vigorously campaign for the Eisenhower - Nixon ticket. She announced, also that her paper, will edioritally support the Republican candidates.

Roach Hailed

About 50 people plan to meet for breakfast Sunday at the J. B. Bass Lodge of the Elks, 102nd and Beach street, to honor Supervisor Leonard Roach.

Announcement of the meeting was made by Exalted Ruler Robert Bentley Strather. Roach will be guest of honor at the breakfast.

of the Dixiecrat movement and proposes to abandon South Carolina's public school system when the Supreme Court outlaws Jim Crow schools.

Mrs. Roosevelt's attack on Eisenhower's civil rights position came close on the heels of the decision of Senator Wayne Morse, Republican of Oregon, to desert Ike's candidacy. Known as one of the foremost GOP backers of civil rights, Morse said that he had quit Eisenhower because "his election would threaten civil liberties and human rights at home and abroad."

In the meanwhile, Senator Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) this week assailed the reactionary Dixiecrat forces of the South which are backing General Eisenhower as the last hope of defeating FEPC and other civil rights legislation.

Byrd OKs Ike

Humphrey cited the state-wide radio broadcast Friday night of Senator Harry S. Byrd in which the Virginia legislator attacked the civil rights platform of the Democratic party and announced that he would not support Governor Adlai Stevenson for President.

"Senator Byrd's unbridled attack on the Democratic party and its standard-bearer completes the cycle and brings into the open the unholy alliance of all the major Dixiecrat leaders with the Republican party in an open conspiracy against civil rights and other humanitarian and social legislation," Humphrey said.

"It rounds out the picture which General Eisenhower himself brought into focus recently when he journeyed to South Carolina to accept the open support of Governor James F. Byrnes of that state, and by earlier overtures to Dixiecrat leaders in Louisiana and Texas."

Trio Get Damage For Discrimination

Chester Washington, local newsman, his wife and Dr. E. W. Stratton won judgments in the sum of one hundred dollars each against Lindy's Steak House. The trio had charged that they were refused service at the swank Wilshire avenue restaurant.

Judge Ida Mae Adams scored the proprietors for the discrimination and told them that the civil rights laws must be obeyed.

Mortgage Co. Expanding to Entire County

Reliable Mortgage Co. of Beverly Hills this week announced their expansion program to cover the entire County of Los Angeles for real estate loans, according to its president, Robert Bergman. They are dealers in the first and second mortgage business and their volume has considerably risen during this past year in both of these fields.

Reliable Mortgage Co. prides themselves on being in a position to offer confidential, courteous and, above all, speedy service in arranging loans on real estate, either as a first or a second trust deed loan. This has proven of great benefit to clients. Although figures are unavailable for comparison purposes, it is known that this company has had a greatly increased volume in their field during the past year. They are taffed with a year. They are staffed with a sonnel and, due to proper management, have proved themselves very successful.

Reliable's offices are located on the corner of Wilshire Blvd. and L Cienega Blvd in Beverly Hills. They have a 24-hour daily phone service to assist prospective customers in getting information from them. In a comparatively short period of time, this company has risen to be known as a leader in its field.

Main Street to Be Resurfaced

Main Street from Slauson to Florence Avenue will be resurfaced from curb to curb, according to Councilman Kenneth Hahn.

This major improvement was requested by the Councilman so that this street will have a smooth, safe surface. Hahn asked Louis Miller, Street Maintenance Superintendent; to resurface this street because of the heavy flow of traffic on this major boulevard. Approximately $72,000 was appropriated for this major improvement.

REV. DUKE AGAIN AVALON'S PASTOR

The Rev. Baxter Carroll Duke, who for fifteen years has been pastor of the Avalon Christian church, 4272—Avalon blvd., was re-elected to his post at a special meeting of the congregation held Sunday, Oct. 19, after the morning worship.

This church was founded in 1937 under the leadership of Rev. Duke who came to the city from the pastorate of the Second Christian church of Indianapolis, Indiana. Prior to Rev. Duke's coming, the building was occupied by a white congregation. Under the joint sponsorship of the Christian Missionary Society of Southern California and the United Christian Missionary Society, the building was turned over to Rev. Duke who started out with forty-nine members to build a church whose reputation for deeply spiritual worship services and community service has become known throughout the nation and in missionary fields of many foreign countries.

Rev. C. C. Darling, director of the choir of the Friendship Primitive Baptist church and the people of the church, will be featured in a fellowship service at Avalon Christian church at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, October 26.

Thought of the Week

By IVA REED WOODS

Man has many instincts, passions, and emotional reactions, that are immature and of animal origin. These tendencies must be disciplined, subdued, or eliminated before he can enter the realms of wholeness.

Man cannot alter his life, his status his environment nor destructive habits unless he first makes up his mind and then, with persistence, starts to work on the causes that produce them.

The key to self improvement, adjustment and successful achievement, lies buried in the silence of man's thought.

To establish harmony between the will and the desire is to dissolve the conflict that arises, when man launches his drive for self-betterment. A vicious circle is the term ascribed to this inner turmoil that is born out of the strength of man's desire, and the weakness of his will.

Except Divine Intelligence enters every detail of man's being, he has no censor to guide him.

Willingness to surrender one's will, and a desire to attach his faith to the invincible, invisible and intangible power, we call God, may be difficult, but it is very essential, in making vital decisions.

The relingionist who gives no attention to his thought content, has neglected his soul's salvation, let him beautify his body, let him guard his mind. If man would call forth inspiration, let his beautify his thoughts thoughts through sincerity, kindliness and good will.

Man must continuously ferret out his inconsistencies, inadequacies, and base attitudes(as he would a bed of lice—to the last itch.)

Man only begins to live when he ceases to whine and to blame —and starts to search for the hidden justice which regulates his life and controls his destiny.

Once a man gets right himself, he will find that the universe is for him. When man allows his thoughts to be rooted in Godliness, and his emotions to be rooted in love, he is well on his way to complete integration for man is what he thinks.

Youth Week

National Catholic Youth Organization Week will close on a solemn and religious note Sunday when more than a quarter of a million Southland young people pledge their loyalty to God, country and community.

Attending Mass and Communion in churches throughout four counties of this Archidocese, they will pray for young men and women in our armed forces, abroad and at home, and for world peace.

In this they will join some 6,000,000 other young Americans across the nation in a vast Communion Crusade.

"Only through the prayers and living example of Christian young people and their supplications to Almighty God can we hope for world peace and the kingdom of Christ on earth," it was pointed out by Rev. John J. Birch, archdiocesan director of the CYO.

A focal point of closing ceremonies here will be St. Vibiana Cathedral, Main and Second Sts. when representatives of 90 CYO Federation clubs attend Mass Communion in a body Sunday at 9 a.m.

road station with sticks and stones. Police squads which ran to the scene were attacked by the screaming crowd. They fired into the main group.

Next, the Africans overturned and set fire to a private car belonging to a white man. Then they surged toward another part of the suburb and attacked another white man. They dragged him from his truck, stabbed him to death and mutilated his body.

The running battle moved on to the Rio movie house, biggest and most modern native theatre in South Africa. About 1,000 natives stormed through the lobby in pursuit of the manager, his wife and other whites in the building.

They caught up with the white party on the fire escape, killed three of them and slashed their bodies. Most of their possessions were stolen.

The dead manager of the Rio theatre was Rudolph Brandt, who had had a colorful career as an elevator boy in New York, a shoe trade worker in Britain, a translator in Spain, a hospital attendant in the United States and a traveling salesman in Eastern Cape Province.

The victims of the infuriated mob were the manager, the projectionist and the projectionist's 15-year-old son. The manager's wife was assaulted, but escaped. She was in serious condition in a hospital today.

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

SAN FRANCISCO—Perish the report—Sam Washington erstwhile star quarterback and student body prexy at L. A. Poly High has dropped out of the University of California.

Contrary to reports Sam is still in school. However, he has quit the California Rambler football team because of difficulties in securing a part time job. . . . This column conductor wasn't able, before deadline time, to contact Cal's fine athletic director Brutus Hamilton, Olympic games coach, or Pappy Waldorf, head man of the varsity football team to get the word on Sam's dropping from the squad. . . . On the contrary we feel confident Cal's athletic department headed by such a dynamic person as the celebrated Mr. Hamilton will get together with Sam before this issues hits the streets and get this little misunderstanding squared away. . . . To report next week both parties have kissed and made up will be great news in this town. . . .

BAY AREA BITES—L. C. Joyner fleet-footed East Contra Costa JC back is the No. 1 scorer in Northern California Jaycee circles . . . Joyner has averaged 15.2 points per contest, one of the most amazing performances ever recorded in this locale. . . . Jerry Drew, all-city "Player of the Year" for L. A. Jefferson High in '51, theoretically speaking, proved to Cal backers that he'll be ready, willing and able to take fabulous Johnny Olszewski's place scoring TD's come next year. . . . The litthe Bear bulldozer romped for 4 TD's in his debut. However one was called back. . . . L.A. fans I know will get out to the California-USC crucial at the Coliseum early to watch Drew put on his show. . . . Incidentally, I predict USC will beat the Bears. . . . I haven't been wrong thus far in the big ones. . . . Thelton Henderson, all-city back for Mike Marienthal at L. A. Jeff High in '50, injured a knee in the Cal-Santa Clara tussle Saturday and probabley be out for the season.

MAJOR LOOP ROW—An authenic Harlem, New York source states that, Jackie Robinson, the Brooklyn Dodger's second sacker, will open a $100,000 two-floor department store in that city. . . . Jackie will handle household and men's clothing. . . . Bill Burton, oustanding Milwaukee outfielder last season, will be brought up to the parent club Braves for added help next year. . . . According to Bill Veck, headman of the St. Louis Browns, infielder John Britton and pitcher Jim Newberry, for the past season farmed out to Japanese clubs, will be brought on this side of the world next year. . . . Britton boasts of a blazing .320 batting mark.

NATION GRID SCENE—LeRoy Bolden flashy tailback for mighty Michigan State rated by most the No. 1 team in America accounted for two of his team's touchdown against Syracuse. . . . Negro athletes are key cogs in two of the still unbeaten PCC teams. . . . Cal has stellar defensive back Sammy L. Williams erstwhile L. A. High great. . . . UCLA boast of veteran flankman Ike Jones, tailback Whitney Arceneaux, brilliant defensive back Milton Davis, and the blocking demon-Lewis "Hustler" Williams at quarterback. . . . I'm sorry I can't say the same for the other unbeaten club USC. . . . As of now this is 25 and 5.

"Ease the tension with BEECH-NUT GUM!"
says BOY CAMPANELLA

"I've read that scientists at a big university proved chewing Beech-Nut Gum eases tension. Well, how that is. All the fellows I know carry a pack with them and chew through nine innings. In fact, any kind of work—from finishing in an office to catching a ball—calls for Beech-Nut Gum to ease the tension."

LEGION VICTORY—Gerald LaBroi found the Hollywood Legion to his liking stopping Nick Flores in 8 rounds.

Sadism is described as a psycho-sexual perversion in which gratification depends upon the gratuitous infliction of pain upon a human, usually the object of desire. The name derives from the French novelist, Donatien Alphonse Francois, Marquis de Sade (1740-1814), who described such experiences in his novels.

Masochism is described as a sexual abberation in which ill-treatment, either mental or physical, is invited as a pleasure. It is the counterpart of sadism. The name for this version is derived from the Austrian Baron Leopold von Cacher-Masoch, who first described the sensation in his writings.

Marriage, quips Willie the Wag, is the one human institution that seems to bring the French or Austrian out in people.

FIGHTERS OF THE WEEK

C. B. of East 29th got into an argument with his brother and put him out of his house. The brother called him out to talk to him. When he arrived outside, his brother bopped him with a two by four, and C. B. was out for about that long.

A. C. complains that during an argument with his wife she upped and crowned him with a kitchen pot. "Would you call that 'pot luck'."

H. W. of Stanford Ave. got in an argument with L. F. of the same address for not talking in an exactly refined manner to her sister. H. W. also waxed unrefined and hurled a metal chair at L. F. H. W. missed. L. F. retaliated with the same chair and didn't miss. "Clearly no contest."

LOSER OF THE WEEK

W. C. of South Fifth got sleepy at a dance at the Elks. Two girls named Inez and Dumb Dora offered to let him sleep in their apartment on E. Santa Barbara avenue, just to be helpful. He awoke to find that they had helped themselves to 50 bucks that was in his watch pocket. When last seen the "bluecoats" were trying to shake their story, but they denied everything.

L. H. of Paloma St. has heard the loan companies bleed their customers. He is no loan company, but he felt like the man that bit the dog when his friend H. B. of West 45th St. cut him because he refused to loan him ten bucks.

C. C. of West 50th St. is really interested in wife Minnie the Moocher being sweet. During a slight family discussion, C. C. decided she wasn't quite sweet enough, so he sliced her a little, conked her with a sugar bowl. A little irregular but then, that's life.

Mrs. I. W. of West 35th St. has lost all faith in mankind. She left a bag of groceries on her porch for just five minutes and guess what. That's right, someone else had pork chops galore for dinner.

TIME OF ESSENCE

G. G. of Calloway drive has been separted from husband E. G. of West 58th Dr. for 10 months. One day last week she called him up to tell him she was pregnant and to get ready for a blessed event. Brother Glover sorta blessed her out, casting all kinds of aspersions as to her undercover activity since she left his bed and board. In fact he got so worked up that he dashed over to her house, kicked the door in and assaulted her. Mummy was ready with milk bottle swinging, and Daddy-O was contemplating parenthood from the Greybar hotel.

J. W. and W. J. both of South Main St. entered the Smart and Final store on the West side. While W. J. asked for change, J.W. slipped a 25 cent box of mints under her coat. Sharp eyed clerks noticed the fast deal and had them arrested for shoplifting. "You're not so smart, and that's final," roared the Judge as he wafted the book for a slow inside curve.

Pasadena, Compton Battles for Little Rose Bowl Grid Honors

PASADENA, which romped off with the WSC crown and then whipped Tyler, Tex. in the Little Rose Bowl game, is blessed with another power. Coach Bob Blackman had the largest turnout of any football team in the state, some 108 signing. Included are 10 lettermen headed by All-Jaysee Back Al Napoleon.

Also returning are linebacker Mickey Vevilacqua, End Gene Deyling. A brilliant crop of preps is headed by All-CIF End Larry Ross of Monrovia, All-CIF Back Mel Hagmann of Montebello, Harry Dunn, another touted Hawaiian, and so it goes on.

The Bulldogs are favored to repeat, according to the other MSC coaches.

THE TARTARS, now under the jurisdiction of Chuck Williams, have the best and largest group of veterans in the conference—24 It's probably a good thing, too, for the Tartars failed to come up with their usual crop of All-City and All-CIF stars. Best known of the newcomers is All-City back Gene Tonkovich of South Gate.

Returning is the great All-Jaysee Fullback Herman Stokes, tiny Ralph Kubota and linemen such as Joe Kahahawai, Charlie Kaaihue and Mervyn Lopes. Bill Shawhan, who threw two touchdown passes for South Gate, may fill quarterback spot, a weakness at Compton last season.

LACC, under Glenn Ackerman now, doesn't appear loaded for '52. Certainly the Cubs are shy on "name" talent. Passing Luther Robinson looms as top guard.

The prep catch, at least of the known stars, was small. Gerry Finnerman, from Loyola frosh, should be a asset at blocking back or guard.

MUIR FIGURES to continue upswing under Al Learned. Such stars as 240-pound Jack Crawford, Pete Scott and Tim Flaherty return. Auzie Sheard, all 6 ft. 5 in. and 225 pounds, is back at an end spot after a tour of duty.

Walt Gurney, All-Foothill from Burbank, should be a fine running back. Dave Stringer looks good at end. Team is thin in several spots.

GLENDALE probably won't beat the biggies but may threaten. Coach Bill Reinhard has nine lettermen. Several All-League preps—Dick Frederick, Hoover High back, End Dave Rowley from same school, and Fullback George Easton of Burroughs should provide help.

Doubtful if team is deep enough to withstand injuries.

PROSPECTS don't look bright at Ventura where 29-year-old Vic Paulson, from Coalinga JC, takes over for Walt Musial. His turnout was on the smallish side and only a handful of lettermen reported.

The Pirates picked up a few out-of-state prep chizzes. Top linebacker Marvin Goux shifted to SC, leaving a void.

Jamaica Team In New Relay Record

LONDON—The Jamaica 1500-meter Olympic relay team set a new Empire record for the mile relay last week as the British Olympic squad played host to Commonwealth athletes in track and field meet.

The Jamaica quartet, with Rhoden running a 46.8 anchos, was clocked in 3:13. 2, winning by 80 yards over England and Wales.

JEFFERSON vs. MANUAL ARTS FRIDAY

Jeff, Manuel Set For Loop Grid Opener

Jefferson High football team will launch its bid for their second straight Southern League championship when they battle Manual Arts Friday at Jefferson.

The Democrats have scored six straight victories over the Toilers and will be looking for the seventh. This prep game is said to be loaded as Manual looked very impressive in their Milk Bowl game operating form the T-formation. In other league openers are: Fairfax at University, in the Western, Canoga Park vs. North Hollywood, at Van Nuys, and South Gate at Bell in the Eastern.

The 1952 P.T.A. Milk Bowl was a giant success last Friday night as high schools all over the city clashed for the purpose of providing milk for needy children.

The Jefferson Democrats fooled a lot of experts in their snappy win over the Venice Gondoliers. The Demos started off with a nice return of the kick-off by Willie 'Sanford, and marched right to the Venice end zone for a touch down. The TD was made by Howard Jones on a quick thrust through the right side of the line after a beautiful block by Cornel Jackson. The conversion was missed. Venice received the kick-off but didn't go too far. B. W. Muldrow, the Venice ace who was supposed to run through the Democrats' line like it was paper, was stopped cold. Venice realized they couldn't dent the line so they tried to pass. Guard Robert Chappell and End Charles (Tex) Alexander were in his way every time he tried a heave. Jeff took over again when tackle Cornell Jackson and Maurice Giles trapped Muldrow, and Jackson recovered his fumble. End William Alston was hit with a beautiful pass by quarterback Willie McMahan for 25 yards. Captain Harold Printers gained yardage on a pitchout from McMahan. Then Fennell scored seconds before the gun. Standouts for Jeff were not the first string nor the second, but the entire 33 members who were consistently behind the boys on the field.

LA BROI SCORES 8th ROUND TKO

Gerald La Broi, Geary, Ind., 146 pounder, got started on the win ledger by stopping Nick Flores in 8 rounds. La Broi threw more leather in his bout with Flores than he had in three previous bouts. He floored Flores in the first, fourth and a no count in the six rounds. It was a knock-down affair for the very first rounds with La Broi having a big edge in each round but the third. La Broi is trained by Duke Hollway and managed by Calvin Woods and Arnold Hoffman.

GRID SCORES

Fred Long's Texas College Steers defeated Zip Gayles' Langston University Lions 17-6 at Del-Hi Stadium in Dallas last week.

Bishop College Tigers of Marshall Texas broke a fourteen game losing streak here Saturday in a Yam City football game with Arkansas Baptist defeating them 34-0.

With sophomore fullback Roman Gavins lugging the pigskin for 127 yards in 11 tries and quarterback Alkin Hepburn calmly directing the Florida A and M College's five TDs on the ground and uncorked a 33 yarder for another the Rattlers had little trouble in swamping Ft. Valley State 51-0.

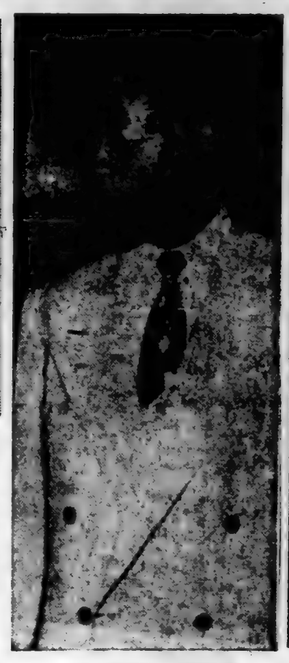
A supply of fruit juices on a Civil Defense Emergency Food Shelf will take care of your family's thirst needs should enemy attack or other disaster cut off domestic water supplies.

Southern Cats Ace Is Setting Hot Grid Pace

Mighty Eddie Lowery, a husky West Palm Beach, Fla., fullback of the blue and gold Southern university Jaguar Cats is pacing the offense on the ground. Lowery leads in the rushing department with 156 yards as a result of carrying the ball 23 times in the three games played this season. He is trailed by Leonard Moore, a Texas Flash, who has carried the oval 34 times for a net of 146 yards. The third place is held by Fullback Sherman Robinson of Pensacola, Fla., with 87 yards in 18 tries. Most versatile Emile Pope, of Galveston, Texas, is the aerial front man. Pope has attempted 24 passes and has completed 14 for an average of 23.8 yards per try. He has also added 85 yards on the ground including a 19-yard touchdown gallop and is credited with throwing a pass that was good for a tally. His nearest competitor, William Harden, completed two for two against Paul Quinn for a total of 35 yards. One of his tosses went for a score. On the receiving end as leader is Charles Gooden of Chicago who has snagged five aerials for 95 yards and in second place, but with a better average, is Moore who has caught two for 66 yards.

ON THE TURF

BAYMEADOWS, SAN MATEO, Calif. — The California Jockey Club's fall season closes this Saturday with the running of the $50,000 added Bay Meadows handicap at one mile and one-quarter for three-year-olds and upwards. This is the first time that this rich event has has been contested over the mile and quarter route. One of the strongest fields assembled in the northern track is expected to go postwards. Among some of the entries in the $50,000 special is the King and Luellwitzs' Moonrush, who has won the stake twice and will be pitching for his third victory. The only other horse to win this event twice was the immortal Seabiscuit in 1937 and 1938. Other winners of the past that have won this event were Time Supply, Head Play, Special Agent, Sweepida, Occupy, Artillery and Mafosta. High interest for the Bay Meadows Special will focus on the Calumet Farm's two Leas. The daughter of Bull Lea may be retired after this race. She is now six years old. The biggest glory in her life was the winning of the $100,000 added Hollywood Park gold cup. She ran the mile and one-quarter in 2:00 1-5, the fastest time ever registered by a member of her sex. In all the running of the Bay Meadows Special no filly or mare has ever won it. Omelet was the closest. She was second to Sweepida in 1940.



RAMSET

New Caliente in Old Mexico: Roux, the gigantic and erratic son of imported Khaled-Better Batter scored a mild upset in the featured Cambridge Handicap last Sunday finding the mile event to his liking and with Jockey Louis M. Leon in the saddle he moved up fast on the outside to score by a neck over the fast closing and favored Bohling, paying in the mutuels $7.80. Another big daily double was registered when Oracle Man paying in the mutuels $14.40, winner of the fourth race, and My Nemesis, a field horse paying $38.20 and winner of the fifth race, combined to produce a payoff of $1160.20. A Canadian apprentice jockey named Irwin Guiney rode both ends of the double.

SPORTS Eagle

OLLIE MATSON, fleet-footed back for the Chicago Cards, sprinted six yards in the fourth period to give his team a razor edge 24-23 victory over the New York Giants. SATCHEL PAIGE, of the St. Louis Browns hit town to open the winter baseball games at Wrigley Field. IKE JONES, brilliant UCLA Bruins 200 pound end, had one of his better days last Saturday.

CHARLES FACES BRION FRIDAY

Hungry Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight kingpin, resumes his bid for another title chance when he takes on Cesar Brion of Argentina in the main event at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Charles knocked out unknown Bernie Reynolds in two rounds 11 days ago. He is a heavy favorite to make it two in a row.

Trigo, Saxton To Box Oct. 28

Mario Trigo, welterweight, has been signed to box Johnny Saxton Oct. 28 in Milwaukee. Saxton is the undefeated New York sepia sensation.

ST. STEPHENS TIE

St. Stephen's tied the Magyars, 3-3, in Rancho La Cienega Playground's featured soccer match. Manuel Garcia scored a last minute goal for St. Stephens.

SPRINT ACES, one time world sprint champion Lloyd La Beach, greets current world title holder Herb McKenley on his arrival here last week. McKenly just completed a successful track tour of Europe and Japan. He left shortly to arrive in Jamaica for a series of meets. La Beach broke into the news last week when the St. Stephens Athletic Club signed him to play soccer. La Beach is the first in the L.A. sport.

Trotters Prep For Opening Cage Season

CHICAGO — Once again the fabulous and incomparable Harlem Globetrotters are primed and ready for another basketball season with thousands of fans in every section of the nation anxiously waiting to see them unfold their court magic.

This will be the twenty-sixth season that the bronze bombers of courtdom have swept across the country setting new records for victories and attendance. They set an all-time record last season when three million fans hailed their stellar play and roared at their hilarious antics while winning 325 games and losing only 8.

A crowd of more than 15,000 is expected to greet the new 1952-53 edition of the Trotters at Chicago Stadium on Friday night, Oct. 24, when they tangle with the powerful New York Celtics in one of the feature games on the annual Herald-American All-Star card.

TEXAS STEERS WILL SHOOT FOR CATS

TYLER, Texas—The Texas College Steers will be shooting for their first homecoming victory since 1945 when they tangle with the powerful Southern Jaguars Saturday afternoon, November 1, in what is expected to be the biggest homecomer in Steer history. It was November 1945 when Coach Alex Durley's charges whipped Prairie View in a 12-7 thriller that the Steers last tasted victory before the big gathering of alumni and followers that flocks here annually for what is generally conceded to be the biggest of all Southwest Conference homecomings.

Politics often make strange bedfellows, but they quickly get used to the same bunk.

Ross Snyder Plans Carnival On Hollowe'en

Plans are complete for the gala Hallowe'en carnival which will be held at Ross Snyder playground, 1501 East 41st street, on Friday, Oct. 31, beginning at 6 p.m., according to William Lacefield, recreation director at the municipal play center.

The Ross Snyder Hallowe'en event is one of the 100 conclaves of ghosts, hobgoblins, spooks and other weird sprites, which will be held under the sponsorship of community committees and the Los Angeles Cley Recreation and Parks Deparement.

Pointing out that everyone, including tiny tots, older children, teen-agers, adults, and entire families, are invited to participate in the Ross Snyder Playground Halowe'en carnival, Lacefield said that the fun will get under way when the playground's huge bonfire is lighted at dusk on Hallowe'en.

Mrs. Frances Dabney, Isiah Israel and Lacefield, directors at Ross Snyder, declared that the playground Hallowe'en carnivals have changed the eagerly awaited occasion from a night of vandalism and delinquincy to one of wholesome fun for everyone.

PAIGE'S ROYALS NIP ALLSTARS

Satchel Paige and his Kansas City Royals opened the fall baseball exhibition season with a thrilling 4 to 3 win over the Major-Minor All-stars at Wrigley Field Sunday afternoon before some 3277 fans.

Willie Bean to Get Legion Bout

Willie Bean, State heavyweight champion, will top the November 15 Hollywood Legion boxing card. Bean holds a very impressive win over veteran Turkey Thompson.

Gala Halloween Set at Central

Plans are being completed for gala Central Playground Halloween Fete. Final touches are now being put to plans for the biggest and best ever Halloween carnival at Central Playground, 1357 East 22nd, it was reported by Joe Lewis, recreative director at the municipal center.

Enthusiasm is something that begins to ooze away after the third installment has been paid.

ABIE'S CORNER

In January, 1946, Owner Daniel F. Reeves transferred the franchise of the world champion Rams from Cleveland to Los Angeles. Since that time the Rams have remained a power in the National Football League. Today they hold the honors of being one of the puzzling clubs in the league. Because the Rams have fallen farther and faster down the league standing, rumors are flying all over town as to the reason. One thing is certain, the team is folding fast.

A & T College are looking forth to their twenty-first meeting homecoming with tough Morgan State College of Baltimore.

TOP GRID POLL. Michigan State's rampaging Spartans continued their hold on the No. 1 spot in the weekly football poll by nosing out Maryland. The result gives Michigan State a record of three out of four firsts. Only in the second week did the Spartans falter. That was when Wisconsin took over the top rung.

State was second then. After third-place Oklahoma came California, No. 4; Georgia Tech, No. 5; Duke, No. 6; Southern California, No. 7; and UCLA, No. 8. The undefeated Spartans, who are making the experts look good they were selected as the best team in the early season poll and are proving it.

BERKELEY—Jerry Drew, two-time all-city back for Mike Morienthal's '50-'51 Los Angeles Jefferson teams romped for three touchdowns on runs of 21, 23, and 51 yards in his debut here Saturday with the California Frosh. Drew scored another touchdown, however it was called back.

This Saturday in the L.A. Coliseum Drew will lead his mates against the USC yearlings in the preliminary game of the California-USC varsity crucial.

If some unforeseen academic happening doesn't detour the brilliant Drew, he will undoubtedly move one of Cal's all-time great backs out of the picture.

McElhenny Sparks Frisco 49er Rally

CHICAGO — Buck Sha's S. F. 49ers are certainly burning up the National League behind the stellar playing of rookie Hugh McElhenny and veteran Joe Perry. Today the San Francisco ball club is sporting an impressive undefeated-untied record and the way they lash out against the Chicago Bears, 40-16 route it appears that they are well on their way to the flag.

Veteran Joe Perry scored three touchdowns in the Bears game while Hustling Hugh, who incidentally was the L. A. Rams first choice in the draft. The front office didn't think much of the brilliant back and the 49ers was happy to have him. He rolled up a total of 103 yards from scrimmage, and roared to a 55-yard touchdown.

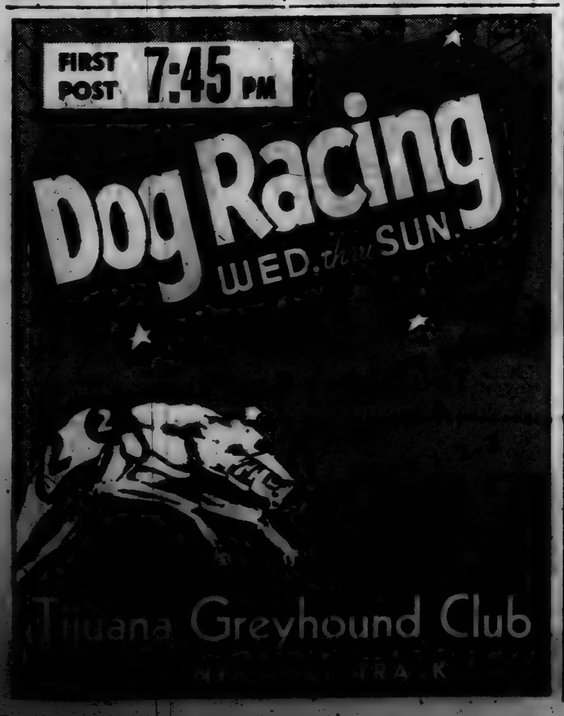
Stockton Prep Ace to Indians

STOCKTON — Cleveland Indians sources announced here this week the club has awarded big 19-year-old Stockton righthander Willie "Big Mo" Moton a $65,000 bonus to sign. According to the Associated Press, young Moton's father, Edward Moton, okayed the deal with Indian scout Mike Catrone. It's reported the youthful powerhouse hurler will be assigned to Bakersfield in a class C outfit in the California loop. Moton rocketed to local fame last summer when he pitched the Northern All-Star Preps to their first victory in the six year history of The Examiner Prep game at Seal Stadium.

In the Hearst Prep Classic in New York Moton pitched two frames retiring six straight batters and four via the strike out route.

Tartars Whip Texas

Compton College footballers stepped over the nation's 12th ranked junior college grid team, San Angelo JC of Texas, by a sound 56 to 7 lacing at the Ramsauer Stadium.



DROPS BOUT

Luis Galvani, 120½, Cuban champion, was no match for Mexico bantamweight champion Edel Ojeda, 121, as he won a dull 10-round decision at Arena Coliso in Mexico City.

MIRIAM CHRISTIAN, Society Editor

This Is The Story

By JUANITA MILLER

Scintillating was the word for the initial Cotillion Ball given Monday by the Los Angeles Links, which drew a capacity crowd at Ciro's.

Gorgeously gowned, jeweled and furred, Los Angeles society turned out en masse to enjoy the season's top flight social affair and give the Links a helping hand to raise five hundred dollars for the purchase of a life membership in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

High point of the evening came when Mrs. Henry McPherson, chapter president, handed Roy Wilkins, NAACP Administrator, the check. Wilkins in turn drew a round of applause when he accepted the gift on behalf of the Association and told the Los Angeles Links that theirs was the first of fifty four chapters to fulfill a pledge made at the

'Bride Wore Blue' as Noted Texans Wed

By ROI LEELAND HOPKINS

HOUSTON, Texas—The bride and her party chose blue with white accessories for the garden setting that united Miss Beatrice Lenora Scott and Horace Lee Smith in holy matrimony last Sunday evening at 3110 Rosewood avenue at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. James Nunn, cousins of the bride. Rev. N. E. Brown, pastor of Progressive New Hope Baptist Church officiated.

The patio of the Nunn's home had been carefully created into an improvised chapel with an altar of white with a white wrought iron arch. Wide ribbon of white punctuated the bridal path and white lanterns holding stately white candles added the solem touch to the occasion.

Promptly at the appointed hour the bridal music began under the direction of Roi Leeland Hopkins, local music teacher.

The music included "O Promise Me"; Nathaniel Simmons, cousin of the bride gave Bond's "I Love You Truly" as a violin solo. The processional began with the "Wedding March" from Lohengrin and Mrs. Vesta Robbins-Hines entered the garden wearing a tailored suit of blue with white matching accessories; the best man, Robert Hines, and and groom entered and waited for the bride at the white-ribboned altar rail. Then the muted notes of hte "Bridal Chorus," filled the air and the bride entered on the arms of her maternal aunt, wearing a suit of blue, a soft hat of white, and carried a nosegay of white gardenias that rested on a white Bible.

The bride's shoes of blue matched those of the matron of honor. Mrs. Pleasane Leonard, aunt of the bride, with whom she has lived for a lifetime, gave her in marriage. Mrs. Leonard wore a pastel shade of printed silk with accessories of pink and a corsage of pink cornations. The men wore blue.

After the ceremony the couple formed a receiving line where they greeted their guests numbering over 200. An iced course was served and the esteem by which the bride is held was well told in the many and valuable gifts she received.

Mrs. Hattie Bowsier of Weimar, mother of the bride and Rev. Jas. Scott of Armaillo, father of the bride, were listed on the out-of-town guest list. Among the others who signed with Mrs. Exa Hardin-Duke, who registered the gutsts were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bradley, Mrs. Freddie Scott, Mrs. Lillie Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Penn, Stafford Dennis, Mrs. Lillie Williams, Mrs. Cecelia Yates, Mrs. Rose Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Maddox, Marvin Oliver, Mrs. Ida Palmer, Mrs. Lillian Samuels, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hopkinds, Mr. and Mrs. John Semedo, and Phillip and many others.

Les Dames Bal Masque Time Nears

Plans are well under way for the third annual "Bal Masque" of Les Dames social and charity club. This event is one of the most entertaining and popular social affairs of the season.

A Plea To The Undigned...

Every week we receive in our little Houndbox, spicy letters signed and unsigned informing us of people of so called prominance, whose names are linked with unbelievably scandalous doings. These people who may sign their names as the Informer, The Telltale Scribe, The Scoopers or Scandlers have heretofore been comparatively mild. But due to the stupifying info received from someone called the Dirt Digger, we'd like him to let us know, via the postal system, where or from whom we can confirm some of this startling lawsuit material before releasing it. WOW!

Telephones and other mediums of vocal expression are buzzing about . . . Beverly Kirkwood's recent marriage to a non-member . . . The nest that is being feathered out Pasadena way by the Melvin Mansfields (Barbara Stovall) since their arrival from the Big D (Denver) . . . The time Monie Moore is taking up with playboy delux Leroy Taylor. . . . playboy deluxe Percy Taylor. . . . Ross Flowers, returns to L. A. They say she's anticipating the pitter patter soon. . . .

Basketball star, Willie Wells came to the recent UCLA Homecoming party alone but wound up the evening by taking two of the Westwood gals home, one at a time. (The real thing, we gather, is that he would have rather taken the spirited Wisconsin bombshell than the spirits that come in a flask. . . . Jackie Dougherty and the mysterious man, Charles Brunard, showing up at a history making shindig. Together again? Together again! (It's all in the way it's written) . . . Cyro Collins, who sauntered into Ciro's with Doris Poppen. (She left a heart in Denver, they say) . . . Ted Schaffer, out with Vivian Beck. (Minus his favorite client) . . . The sparkling love-light that enhanced Army-ensian Pete O'Garro and Jessica Williams as they were re-united for the first time since his induction.

Our service bound Angelino buddy's like Donald McDaniels, who's fitted for bell bottom trousers—also Herbert Bell, Johnathan Leonard, and Randy Moore, who helped to fill up this weeks Army quota.

And they call us PROSTITUTES

We don't care what three gals about town say about us now that we've found out where at least two of them acquired their fabulous bankrolls and new wearing apparel.

Making the rounds with the Houndz. . . .

One of the City's top clubs Los Copitains, or "sumpin" captivated "Ye Olde Forty Goaze" with an affair that's atmosphere defied another Saturday night hassel. Parisian lighting and many other "out" effects made us wonder whether or not this was the famous Vineyard afterhours spot we've heard so much about.

Our boy, Chuck Allen who was wheeling the record machine should be given the Brubeck-Kenton-Porter award for playing such tough selections. Paying guests included Larry Boyd, Evelyn Lenz, Sadie Carter, Milton Crosson, Ed Seals, Fannie Moyes, Da Weyne Vest, Cathy Gaines, Mary Jo Marsh, Doris Watkins, Bobby Stamps and Joyce Wynn.

In our bounds around town we halted on Dalton where Miss Haslett's abode was jumping with her AKA sisters and friends. The UCLA gals hosted campus pals and a variety of party crashers with their own little homecoming. It was pretty obvious as the evening progressed that this was the only home many would see until the sun peaked through the venetian blinds.

Agreeing that this was an outstanding affair were Barbara Freeman, Carl Peterson, Yvonne Watson, Zoe Wise, Lorenzo Wallace, Al Elliot, grid-iron ace Whit Arceneaux and charming wife. Also Carolyn Cooley Barbara Garrow and George Lewis to name a very few of the multitude.

During the course of Saturday evening we got a look at Morris Finnie gleeful face (they say he's in luff again) when we light-footedly slipped into his second ave. apartment announced by the "rips faced" throng of party fiends.

Can't say we saw everybody but did notice the couple of Donnie Patterson and Sally West making woopee. Others whippin' up the gaiety included Elenor Tootie Winston, Ed Roberts, Gene Lennes Barnes, Lorraine Anderson, Micky Camillus, Sandra Carter and Morris Taft.

Picnic to Start Drive For Youth Foundation

The first of a series of annual benefit picnics for the new Henry Armstrong Youth Foundation will be held on the grounds of the lovely old mansion located at 3528 West Adams Street in Los Angeles on August 31, the Sunday afternoon preceding labor day.

The present objective of the Youth Foundation will be to make a cash down payment on the property at the picnic. This will later become the headquarters of the group.

The Better Foods Markets has offered to donate a large percentage of the necessary food and soft drinks for picnic. Local merchants are being solicited for a wide variety of prizes, and outstanding people from the entertainment world will be on hand to make the projected event a gala occasion.

George H. Todt, special events director of the 1952 campaign of the March of Dimes in Los Angeles county, has been selected by the HAYF as co-ordinator of activity. He will be assisted by Austin Edmead and Walter Ramsey, both officers of the foundation.

Esvan Mosby is heading public relations and publicity, and the well known Clarence Muse is top-man of motion pictures committee.

David J. Duvall is in charge of cooperation with local religious groups, and William Jensen will handle the food and soft drinks committee.

According to Henry Armstrong, president of the HAYF, one of the basic purposes of the Foundation will be to aid youngsters of difficult backgrounds and broken homes, whenever possible. They are expected to regain their composure in an atmosphere of properly directed religious and athletic supervised activity together.

What is being planned for the future is nothing less than an eventual establishment of many far flung units on the order of Father Flannagan's Boys Town for youth of all races, creeds and colors.

The goal is to have an operating unit in every state some day.

While Reverend Armstrong is remembered best for his devastating fury contained in his flying punches as a world renowned triple titleholder of the boxing world during the mid-thirties, the facts of the case are that he is now throwing the heaviest blows of his successful career in God's corner now. For Henry Armstrong has been ordained a minister of the Gospel and has found a whole new life in his religious work.

Clubs

'Twas a busy past weekend for numerous club groups:

An enjoyable evening was spent by the members of the Med-De-Phars last Saturday evening when Ann Jackson, a most gracious hostess, entertained. Cocktails and a delicious dinner followed the business session. The hours were filled with music and fun. Unique games were played and first and second prizes were won by Maggie Rawles and Ruth Moore. The evening was highlighted by the showing of colored moving pictures taken in Mexico while Dr. and Mrs. George Jackson and sons were visitors there. With a limited membership of fourteen, the club roster consists of Joyce Cockrell, president; Maggie Rawles, vice-president; Janice Edwards, secretary-reporter and members Dr. Lucille Fisk, Lydia McCain, Lillian Sanford, Paula Giddings, Melba Holley, Thelma Thaxter, Victoria Nelson, Ruth Moore, Lois Carr, Ruth Estwick, and Annie Jackson. The ladies are showing great enthusiasm in discussing plans for their forthcoming annual holiday affair.

The Non PaRell Bridge club was entertained by Mrs. William Bailey on last Saturday afternoon at the lovely new Pacific Town Club.

Bernice Arbor entertained her Club Emmnon ("No name" spelled backwards) last week-end with a bridge-luncheon at her new home at 2208 S. Victoria avenue.

Beverly Mary Lou Tolbert was hostess to guests and members of her bridge club at the Y.W.C.A. on the U.S.C. Campus.

The regular meeting of the Bib and Tucker Supper club was held at the beautiful Serrano Ave. home of Mrs. Josephine Smith. Members were delighted in viewing the objects of art on display which Mrs. Elios Davis brought from her European vacation.

The Charity 12 Club, with Mary Alice Johnson presiding, recently met at the home of Joyce Cockrell and discussed plans for their annual raffle. The lucky ticket holder will receive a beautiful package of "Holiday Cheer" (fine liquors) to be given at Dynamite Jackson's Cocktail Lounge on November 23. These progressive ladies are donating all proceeds this year to the Braille Institute for the Blind.

Another year has come and the Anchorettes are again celebrating their annual Slumber Party this week-end at the 12th Avenue home of Miss Barbara Garrett. Included in the fun and frolic will be the presentation of an interesting play-ette by the group.

Dr. Geraldine Woods entertained the Friday-Nighters as her guests, when they saw "Country Girl" at the Biltmore. Charles Etta Tucker is the new presiding officer.

Mum Society

The artistic invitations for the annual Hallowe'en Masquerade Ball to be given by Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Hayes (Glenna) are in the mail. Los Angeles socialites are eagerly looking forward to this gay event.

Mr. Oscar Clarke and fiance from Phoenix, Ariz., were guests of his mother, Mrs. Velma L. Clarke of 1638½ W. 38th place. While in the city they breakfasted with Mrs. Beatrice Harrison and also were the guests of honor at a dinner party given by Mrs. Winnie M. Alexander. The popular young couple were feted by friends at many social gatherings, and are now enroute home after gay festivities at the Rubaiyat Room, Clubs Oasis, Alabam, and Waikiki and a concert at the Shrine Auditorium.

No worthier cause could be chosen than that of the women of the Beta Pi Sigma Sorority. These business and professional women are busy attending to details which they hope will make their annual Scholarship Benefit Breakfast a huge success as in the previous years. I know you'll want to remember the date to help this worthy cause—Sunday, November 9, at 1801 S. Harvard boulevard from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The gala affairs of the party realm are just beginning. Among the extra special events slated for November, that I have seen in my little crystal ball are: The Introductory Art Exhibit and Tea of the Town and Country Art Club of which Mary Alice Johnson is president; The Kappas Annual "Black and White" formal, and The Doll League Charity Club's annual "Stary Bank" Ball.

Howlywoods Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harvey Jr. (Hermie Williams) entertained a host of friends in their new Gramercy place apartment with an elaborate cocktail party. This affair was prior to attending the Links Initial Charity Cotillion on Monday evening last at "Ciros" on the Sunset Strip.

Santa Claus certainly came early this year! A little birdie told me and now I know the reason Maggie Rawles has been wearing that big beautiful smile. Her husband, Dr. James Rawles, surprised her with a two-tone pearl-grey and tan Cadillac. She must have been a good little girl!

Show Business??

The Women's Auxiliary to the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association of Southern California presented "Josephine Baker" at their second annual "Premiere and Get Acquainted Night." This affair was a joint meeting with the association as guests, given for the husbands and new members of both groups at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Davis on South Arlington. A delightful program was arranged by Mrs. William Cockrell, program chairman of the auxiliary and was highly appreciated and enjoyed by all.

Featured was Mrs. J. O. Garland as Josephine Baker and the mistress of ceremonies. She was attired in a Parisian colored gown and authentic coiffure. The following personalities were introduced. These stars presented an evening of entertainment and talent never to be forgotten. Impersonating artists were: Mmes. Marie Frederick, A. L. Wallace, P. Price Cobbs as the Boswell Sisters who sang "That Old Gang of Mine," "Memories," and "Am I Blue." Phil Harris and Alice Faye were Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Boswell. Dr. Boswell interpreted "O, Say Doctor! He Fails for the Ladies Every Time," accompanied by Mrs. Boswell. A selection of Bach and Brahms was rendered by Hazel Scott, Mrs. Vernice Orvins. Just before the grand finale "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," the seven "little girls" danced with charm and grace, a dance of yesteryear. This special interpretation of "Calling the Jack" was the supreme highlight of the evening. Taking part in the dance with their old fashioned dresses, pantelets, ribboned, ruffled, and belled bloomers, and big hair bows were Mmes. Eugene Hardiman, James Rawles, John Carney, Calvin Edwards, B. C. Sandford, William Cockrell, and A. B. Tweed.

Claude Barnett Tuskegee Club Meeting Guest

Saturday night, October 18, the Los Angeles Tuskegee Club inaugurated its newly adopted policy of bringing to its members in conjunction with its regular business, interesting news about Tuskegee and Tuskegeeans. It was quite fitting that the first person to appear was Claude A. Barnett, of Chicago, a trustee of Tuskegee, who is an outstanding figure in the field of journalism. Among other things he pointed out how sound the philosophy of Dr. Booker T. Washington, founder of Tuskegee Institute of training the hands as well as the head is today. He also told the members how the Chicago Tuskegee Club purchased a club house in Chicago on one of the main boulevards and the pride that its members have for such an accomplishment.

Mr. Demmer C. Griffin, Business Manager of the Club, gave an interesting report on the development of plans for the club's invitational dance, also a progress report on the scholarship fund affair.

The club set December 13 for its annual Christmas Party. Playing games, dancing and the exchanging of gifts will be the main features of the party.

Present were: Demmer C. Griffin, Leroy Brown, Isiah and Johnnie Pillors, Edna G. Whine, Zenobia Clark, William Jones, Walter and Claire Williams, Frank and Claudine Godden, Mr. Claude A. Barnett of Chicago, Augusta Glover, John and Edith Tolson, Ashton and Bonetta Kimmens, Walter L. Hutchenson, Roger L. White, Mayme Turner Martin, Jesse and LaVera Holmes, and Addie Graves, who was the hostess for the evening.

The next meeting will be on the 15th of November at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Glover Sr.

Vacationer Returns

Returning her chores this week as co-owner of Johnson's Bathhouse at 37th and Western Avenue following a month's vacation to Detroit, Chicago, New York and other points east is Mrs. Virginia Johnson, prominent business woman.

Mrs. Johnson, who had the distinction of being the first Negro passenger to travel via the plush "Ambassador," the super deluxe plane TWA recently put into operation, visited various beauty and body building salons in several cities during her stay.

"Children follow a pattern set by the parents," stated Dr. Randall. "We must help them to grow to be happy well adjusted adults by giving them a background of love, protection and security."

Discussing emotional adjustments, the speaker continued that there must be a normal stage between emotions on both sides. In concluding, Dr. Randall stated: "Marriage is made up of many things." We must teach our young people that the cycle of life goes on and on in the making of a home.

Year's Work Stresses Aims Of YWCA

Focusing public attention on the aims, purposes and values of the YWCA will be two objectives of the Woodlawn and Watts-Willowbrook branches of the Young Women's Christian Association along with recruiting and developing program to meet the needs of women in the immediate community during the coming year, Mrs. Kathryn Kinney, executive director at Woodlawn and Miss Lynne McIntyre, teen-age program director at Watts-Willowbrook announced this week.

The announcement followed their recent attendance at the organization's annual Fall Staff Conference at the Presbyterian Conference Grounds, Pacific Palisades.

Eugene Swayne ANSWERS

I have given myself a medium brown tint. Instead of turning brown it turned out black. Do you have any suggestion as to what to do to get the desired shade?

It seems that the hair is very porous and due to this condition the tint was left on too long. A solvent to remove dye should be used and a follow-up of oil steam treatments should be used. Instead of medium, use light brown tint. Leave on for 30 minutes.

Would teeth that are in bad condition have any effect on my hair, such as causing it to fall out?

There have been conditions where the hair has fallen and the teeth have been the definite cause.

"YOU OUGHT TO KNOW"

Miss Welcome

With the November 4 election staring us in the face, I am sincerely concerned about how my readers vote . . just as much about the amendments, propositions and proposed laws as about the Presidential campaign. . . . True, it's important that we have capable and honest men in high positions, but equally as important that the laws by which they must operate are GOOD. . . . Charity begins at home and our understanding of the health and welfare concerns of our own neighborhoods are indicative of our ability to help decide the national and world issues. . . . THINK THIS OVER.

There are many avenues of information . . . Radio, TV, newspapers, magazines. League of Women Voters, YWCA, Special Citizens Committees etc. . . . But BEWARE of emotional propagandists; get both sides of the story; search for hidden meanings; and finally make your own decision on the basis of Justice and Fair Play . . . Freedom and Truth!

Statistics show a great increase in registrations for this election . . . meaning more people will go to the polls to vote—Right or Wrong? Be doubly sure yours is RIGHT.

Joining me in these sentiments are those I serve who want you to have the Best and to Know The Truth. They are:

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards at the Gift Horn, 3108 S. Western Avenue, operating a most unique and charming shop for women and men . .

Reginald Franklyn Fisher PhD. at The Fisher Studio of Music, 2326 Wellington Rd. PA 0128, where private instructions are given also in all academic subjects including foreign languages . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Lee at Lee's High Hat Cafe, 545 E. Jefferson where good food and low prices prevail.

Mr. C. B. Lacy, Streamline Barber Shop, 1861 W. Adams . . . truly streamlined service, manicurist . . . personal attention.

We'll all be seeing you at the polls Nov. 4.

Advisors present at this meeting were Mrs. Wylene Jones, dean of pledges of the Alpha Phi chapter, and Mrs. Mildred Thomas, president of the local chapter.

The local chapter of this national business and professional women's sorority is extremely proud of these carefully-selected and thoroughly-screened candidates for membership. These prospective members have exhibited feminine grace and charm, and have excelled in the character traits and qualifications required for membership in this exclusive organization.

Mrs. Thelma Robinson, leader of the club, is associated with the Federal Bureau of Tax Collectors.

Mrs. Essie M. Keesee, secretary, is the proprietor of "Carver Products" and associated with the Department of Water and Power.

Scout Troops Hold Jamboree At Newport Bay

Thirty-four specially organized Scout Troops, of 38 boys and adults each, from the Los Angeles Area Bay Scout council will be present at the Third National Scout Jamboree on Irvine Ranch, adjacent to upper Newport Bay, next July. John K. Northrop, Council Jamboree chairman, today announced this quota of local Boy Scouts, Explorers, and leaders for the 50,000-person encampment in Orange County July 17-23.

A Jamboree Troop will be made up of four Patrols of eight Scouts each, plus three junior leaders—Senior Patrol Leader, Scribe, and Quartermaster—and three adult leaders—Scoutmaster and two assistant Scoutmasters.

Each of the Council's 16 districts, Northrop said, has been assigned a quota of one, two, or three Jamboree Troops, based on the number of Boy Scout Troops and Explorer units in the district with McKinley district, which includes this area, alloted 1 Jamboree Trop, 38 men and boys.

Districts began this week, he stated, to accept reservations for their Jamboree Troops and he explained that the district quota will be held until January 1 after which quotas not filled will be opened to districts which have over sub-scribed the original allotments. A Council reserve of eight Troops remaining after assignment of district quotas will also be filled this way.

According to Northrop each district will name its own Jamboree Troop leadership but the Council Jamboree committee will select sectional leadership from applications made direct to the committee, Northrop explained.

Autumn Frolic Is Set for Saturday

The Sophisticated Ladies Social club held a meeting Friday night, October 10, at the home of the vice president, Mildred Pilkington, 722 E. 55th street.

Maggie Smith Hosts League

On last Wednesday evening, Mrs. Maggie Smith of McKinley avenue, was hostess to the Assistance League of the Outdoor Life and Health association at her lovely new South Los Angeles home.

The League members were quite jubilant over the report of the president, Mrs. O'Reese Corporal, announcing the generous spirit being exhibited by the other city clubs which will be assisting them at their 7th annual "Pre-Thanksgiving Tea" planned for Nov. 16 at the Harvard blvd. Sojourner Truth club house.

To date those clubs which have pledged their support as cohostesses are: Emergency New Day Club, Civil Liberties Fezz Club of I.B.P.O.E.W., Sunshine Unit of the Outdoor Life and Health Association, Native Californians, Los Angeles Art and Charity Club and Clover Leaf Art Club.

DYNAMITE JACKSON and his adorable wife Lulu are the sole owners of the 47th and Central Avernoo cocktail lounge. They swear they'll run the cleanest spot on the busy Avernoo. We happened by the other eve and caught Eddie Dudley at the piano with an assortment of styles that will easily confuse you with Garner, Shearing, Levant. In short he is great.

CLEAR US. There is a story floating around the westside to the effect that a certain ex-movie actor is threatening his pretty wife's life if she leaves him for that awful nice fellow. Hubby don't want her but he can't afford another setback as it will most certainly deflate his super ego.

STABLES. That riding club affair Sunday eve was an empty stable and it is plain the club needs some young membership. Only one thing wrong with the event and that was they should have never attempted it.

BLOWING UP the joint in all ways of hustling Joe Morris' Club Alabam is Anita O'Day, Harry (Awful Booted) Hipster, Vido Musso. They certainly attracted the Hollywood trade as well as the 103rd street brothers and sisters.

BIG BREAK is what Stuffy Bryant has been waiting 10 years for and it appears that he is on his way. He opens a swank New York club this week and will head for Paris following his eastern run. Couldn't happen to a finer performer.

BLUE NOTE has got a well known saxophone down on his luck. The once looted horn blower is just about out of that green stuff and his gal is resting in the slammers, no doubt waiting for someone close to her, like him, to go her bail. She's got a settlement coming from her ex but may not be at the address if someone doesn't rescue her.

COFFEE served in the ultra California style was the reason for that impressive gathering at the popular Widafandel house Sunday eve. Two sisters, Mrs. Byron Kenner and Mrs. Magnara Tynes honored their charming Boston school teacher friend, Frances White who is stopping off here for a few days before heading for Honolulu.

CHITTERLINGS will be the offering Thursday night Oct. 30, the night the goblins and trick or treat kids get a workout. Three attractive gals invite you to what they term a "Witches' Chitterling Switch" 4818 S. Avalon Blvd.

FRUIT CAKE is Joe Green's latest tune with Toni Harper doing a wonderful job of putting it over while Harry James ably backs her with his groovy band. It's on the Columbia label.

STROLLING down busy Central Avenoo the other eve and causing the wolves to leer menancingly as they passed were Juanita Berry and Lena Torrance Cooper, a couple of attractive members of the B. V. A. They were out peddling good points about the club's forthcoming Florentine Gardens show Nov. 29, and why you should be on hand.

GETTING TALKED about in the fashion circles as three of the city's most impressive dressers are: Betty Howard, Ramselle Bagnerise and attractive Eloise Davis. Some of Betty's creations are designed by a clever westsider, while Ramelle could easily suggest her own stunning styles, being a big wheel for Zukor's fashionable stores. Eloise wears all her garments well.

PIGEON—a high powered eastside sportsman is madder than hell after nabs kicked in his doors the other eve. What they had been told they would find, they did! The boys along the avenoo are pointing an accusing finger at a well known roly poly figure as the song bird. Which reminds us of what our grandma used to quote: "Never let your left hand know what your right is doing." May cross you up! The sportsman did, and it crossed him and is going to cost him plenty.

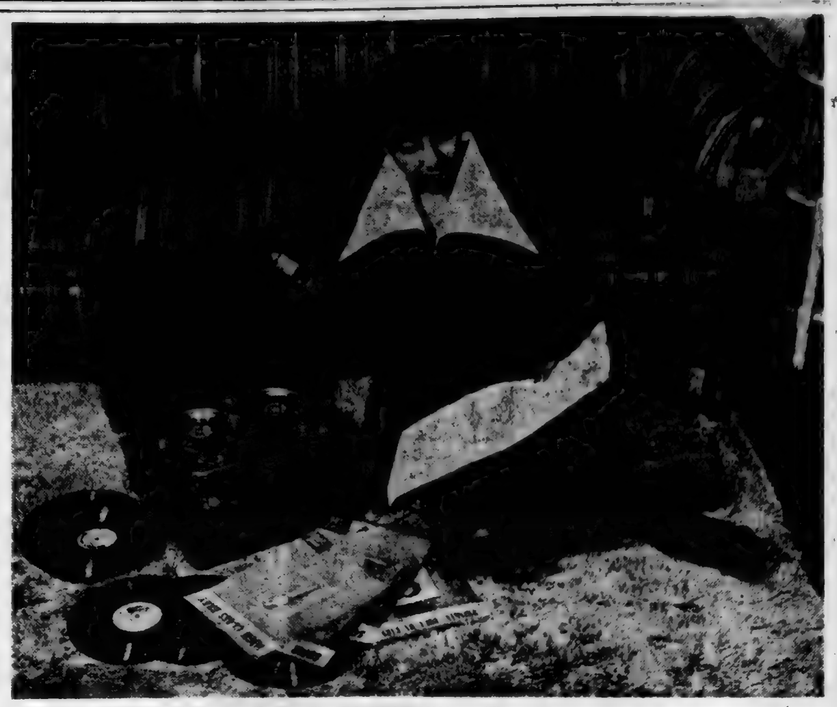
Georgia Carr, New Singing Star, Praised

Capitol Recording artist Georgia Carr is labeled by several topflight disk jockies as one of the finest new brownskin singers to come out in a long time. She looks luscious, her voice is full and rich, yet sultry. Her interpretation is superb, and she puts full meaning into every phrase. Since the former San Diego song stylist changed her name from Mary Louise and adopted Georgia Carr she is a new person and seems headed for the big times.



Joe Adams A 'Deejay' Prysock Lauds

RICHMOND, Va.—In answer to queries as to how he explains his meteoric rise as a single, Arthur Prysock stated this week that "the disc jockies have been the best friends I've had. I can't give them too much credit or can I stress my appreciation to them enough."

"I wouldn't know where to start if I had to name them all," says Prysock, "but certainly among them I must list Joe Adams in Los Angeles, Hot Rod Hulbert in Baltimore, Dr. Daddy-O in New Orleans, Ken Knight in Atlanta, Raymond Bruce in Philadelphia—well, this could go on forever. With every new city I visit the list grows."

Prysock has discovered in the youth of his new career what many old timers in the music making business have known for a very long time—that fellows who twirl discs throughout the day and night across the nation have a big hand in who gets the notice and who doesn't. His crooning style has appealed to them and they have passed their interest along to their listeners.

Prysock is now headlining the "Little Big Show," a Gale Agency package which is touring the near southland. Bill Hutchins, Varetta Dillard, Joan Shaw and Peppermint Harris are part of the same troupe.

"TUNESMITH JESSIE MAE ROBINSON wrote the words and music to the nation's number one hit song, "I Went to Your Wedding." The attractive song writer is an ex Jordan High School student and the hit tune was recorded by Patti Page for Mercury Records. It has sold over 7,000,000 copies. Another tune of this Jordan High School graduate is "Old Maid Boogie."

Local Woman Is Author of 'I Went to Your Wedding'

Jessie Mae Robinson, 5112 McKinley St., is the author of the current nation's number one hit tune "I Went To Your Wedding." Her song today has sold well over 7,000,000 copies since its release. Music critics and record sellers claimed it is the greatest hit since Tennessee Waltz which rocked the country a few months ago.

Modest Jessie Mae has been writing music for seven years. "Blue Light Boogie" was a special tune she wrote for Louis Jordan and "Once There Was a Fool" was done by her for songster Jimmy Grissom.

The hit tune "I Went To Your Wedding," Jessie Mae attended the wedding of her niece and was inspired to write the song after witnessing so many tears at the wedding.

Song stylists Patty Page and Damita Jo made recordings and it soon skyrocketed to the nation's current hit.

Jessie Mae is a native of Los Angeles and makes her home with her 16-year-old daughter, June, who attends L.A. High School. She is a staff writer for Superior Bernstine Music Publisher with offices in Hollywood and New York.

She will soon release another tune titled "Keep It a Secret," on the R.C.A. label with Jo Stafford and Columbia's Dinah Shore.

With her rare natural talent and with her ability, Mrs. Brown may soon become one of the outstanding song writers of our times.

Fine Dinah Sings At Pasadena Civic

An exciting new composition in the modern jazz idiom will be featured by Woody Herman and his orchestra when they appear in a Gene Norman concert at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium Thursday, Oct. 23. Entitled "Terresita", the tone poem comes from the prolific pen of Ralph Burns, one of musicdom's foremost contemporary composers.

Sharing the spotlight with the "Herman Herd" will be Dinah Washington, the buxom, smiling little lady whose absolutely unique singing style has earned her the title of "Queen of the Blues". Acclaimed by critics and fans alike as the finest female blues singer since Bessie Smith, there are those who aren't willing to accept even the immortal Bessie as her peer.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at So. Calif. Music Co. and all Mutual Ticket agencies, TU. 1144.

New dance attendance records have been established by the celebrated Jose Greco and his Spanish dance company, which will make a Los Angeles debut in eight performances, beginning on Thursday night, Nov. 20, at 8:30 p.m., in the Wilshire Ebell Theatre.

The troupe was brought from Spain to New York for two weeks engagement at the Shubert Theatre, but the ticket demand proved so great that the company was held over for eight weeks.

Norman Granz Jazz At Shrine Nov. 7th

Impressario Norman Granz's world famed troupe, "Jazz at the Philharmonic," is now on its 13th tour of the United States and Canada and will appear here at the Shrine Auditorium on Nov. 7 at 8:30 p.m. The illustrious jazz artists Granz has collected for this year's record-breaking concert trek are among the most outstanding personalities in the music business.

They are: Vocal queen Ella Fitzgerald; top drummermen Gene Krupa and His Trio, Buddy Rich; piano discovery Oscar Peterson and His Trio; tenor sax stars Flip Phillips and Lester Young; trumpeters Roy Eldridge and Charlie Shavers, bassist Ray Brown; pianist Hank Jones; guitarist Barney Kessel, and Willie Smith, alto sax.

Granz, who's won fame and fortune from his original idea of "Jazz at the Philharmonic," his recorded albums of the organization, and his guiding hand in the careers of many of the top jazz artists of the age, is one of musicdom's most colorful and unique leaders.

Not only has he built "Jazz at the Philharmonic" into the largest money making jazz venture in the world, but he does virtually all the work himself, renting the hall and arranging for all advertising and promotion. Long before the nationwide tour begins each Fall, Granz personally flies to each city, in the neighborhood of 57, to make all the arrangements.

Buckner Rocks Boston, Books Return Trip

BOSTON, Mass.—Swing organist Milt Buckner, the former Lionel Hampton sideman who now fronts his own dynamic combo, is developing into the biggest repeat act in show business.

With a new contract already inked for a return engagement at Boston's High Hat Club, where Milt's trio just closed a week's stand, the Buckner Trio is just completing the seaboard cycle with return engagements already set in each club. Milt is currently appearing at the Celebrity Club in Providence, R. I., and will open next week at Sporteres in Youngstown, Ohio.

Playing to standing-room-only at the High Hat Club, the management's announcement that Milt Buckner would return shortly for a two weeks' engagement brought a roof-raising 15 minute ovation.

Columbia Releases Lunceford Album

"Lunceford Special," the newest release in Columbia's "Golden Era of Jazz" record series, memorializes the lamented bandleader who directed one of the most talented and enterprising dance bands of all time. Riding on the crest of the swing era of the middle thirties, Jimmy Lunceford developed new musicians and new arrangers, working out a repertoire that ranged from flag-waving stomps to sophisticated blues.

The initial Lunceford sensation was created by wild, fast arrangements, like his old theme "White Heat," heard in the newly released Columbia anthology. During his famous Cotton Club debut run, Jimmy began to employ more subtle material, scored mostly by his talented trumpet player Sy Oliver, who set a new style not only for the band but for the entire arranging field. In later years other brilliant arrangers, with fresh ideas added to the Lunceford repertoire.

Jimmy Lunceford's first real break came in New York City when his band was signed to follow Cab Calloway at the celebrated Cotton Club.

Play Will Tell Real Central Ave. History

Do you know when the first street car appeared on Central Ave? Do you know when the first horse driven cab was riding on Central Ave? Can you tell what newspaper was published by Edward Gering, well known "Our Town", which is now casting: "Our Town" will be directed around 1918 on Central Ave? And can you answer the question when electrical lights were put on our Main Street?

If you can answer one of these questions and many others about "Our Town" around Central Ave., you will get a ticket for every answered question to the show director, who has directed over 30 shows in Southern Calif., producing most of the shows himself.

Upon suggestion of some of his friends, Gering decided to organize "Los Angeles Negro Repertory Theatre", and he has chosen the famous Pulitzer prize winning play for the first production.

Negro's Influence Strong In American Dance and Music

TALLAHASSEE — "The influence of the Negro on music in America represents an outstanding and significant contribution to American culture," writes William P. Foster, head of the music department at the Florida A and M College.

Professor Foster makes this statement in an article, "The Negro's Influence", which appears in "Music and Dance in the Southeastern United States," publication of the Bureau of Musical Research of New York. The 291-page book is just off the press.

The distinguishing character which makes American expression different from European expression arises from the Negro element. Foster says that the minstrel is the medium through which Stephen Foster was able to give expression to his talents.

"During the period of the late nineteenth and early twentieth century ragtime was struggling to become jazz. Ragtime emerged from obscure night cafes to occupy a place in exclusive society. It became America's dance music and dancing became America's chief social recreation.

"Jazz came about through an evolutionary process, wherein growth and fusion were so gradual as to limit the perception of the change. The fusion of American musical culture occurs more completely in jazz than in any other musical resource indigenous to America," Foster states.

He concludes that the results of a survey by Claire Reis indicated that half of the representative American composers consider the Negro element important enough for their attention in composition.

Editorial

Stick to the Stage, Jo

Josephine Baker is busy as a little bee these days telling all who will listen that Negroes are being held in practical slavery in her native land South America Reds on one hand, Juan Peron's Argentine Fascists on the other, are providing her a big audience and plenty of applause. It's not that they love Jo but that they hate the United States that makes them so generous.

Unfortunately, it's easy enough for Miss Baker to make a case by taking isolated incidents out of their context, stringing them together and presenting them as our total way of life. There's "Hummon" Talmadge and his Georgia race baiters; there's Jimmy Byrnes and his plan to abandon public education in South Carolina when the United States Supreme Court outlaws school segregation; there's the whole fabric of Jim Crow that knits the South together; there's Cicero, Illinois, and there's our own Dunsmuir bombing. There's more too and it makes a pretty shabby picture.

There's another side of the same coin. Since 1940 eight states and twenty cities have enacted FEPC legislation. The Supreme Court has outlawed judicial enforcement of race restrictive covenants, overthrown the white primary, struck down segregation in interstate commerce, ordered equalization of teacher's salaries and required admission of Negroes to graduate and professional schools in the South. In that decade Negroes have broken into professional sports of all kinds, a Negro has been named to the United States Circuit Court and Ralph Bunche has risen to high diplomatic status. There are a whole scad of advances in all phases of our lives. And there's the undeniable fact that the economic status of Negroes is far better than that of most of the people of the rest of the world.

Frankly, we're among those who think that we haven't moved fast enough but that doesn't blind us to the fact that there is an accelerating trend in the direction of complete democracy.

Josephine Baker isn't helping us by playing footsie with the Reds and snuggling up to Peron's Fascists. Not many of us will be foolish enough to follow her advice to forsake the broad highways of democracy for the blind alleys of totalitarianism.

Jo Baker, like Paul Robeson, is a good entertainer and a lousy sociologist-politician. Both of them should stick to the footlights where they belong.

Cast Your Vote Nov. 4!

If past figures are any guide only about seventy five per cent of those who are registered to vote in California will go to the polls on November 4.

The rest will stay at home and grouse about the kind of representatives who are put in public office.

We pointed out last week that President Truman carried California by a scant eighteen thousand votes in 1948 and that chances are the 1952 election will be even closer.

Balance that against the fact that there are some 250,000 Negro voters in California and that most of them live right here in Southern California.

It is plain that the Negro voters of Southern California can turn the tide any way they want by going to the polls on November 4 and choosing a presidential nominee.

More than that, the probabilities are that California's thirty two electoral votes are going to decide the issue as between Eisenhower and Stevenson.

What the Negro voter does in Southern California on November 4 will be fateful for the entire United States.

There isn't any excuse why every Negro who has his name on the voters' register shouldn't vote. If you're working during the hours the polls are open you're entitled to time out to vote—WITH PAY. You can get it for the asking.

Of course, we hope that when you go to the polls on November 4 you vote for Stevenson for president. But whoever you're for be sure to exercise your right to determine your country's future.

You won't be a good citizen unless you do!

Toward Real Democracy

California took a step forward last week when Superior Judge Melvyn Cronin of San Francisco held that his city's Housing Authority can't Jim Crow Negroes in one of its public housing projects and bar them from others.

The Authority says that it is going to appeal and, in a sense, we hope that it does because we know that our higher courts won't sanction racial segregation in this state.

The San Francisco ruling is important because it foreshadows the end of similar practices in other cities in the state.

There isn't any sense in public housing Jim Crow in California, or anywhere else for that matter. Here in Los Angeles our city Housing Authority admits applicants to public projects on the basis of qualification and need and without reference to race or color. The policy has worked well just as it has in San Bernardino and other cities where Housing Authorities have followed the American way. It will work well in San Francisco too.

We think that it's important for all of us to mark the fact that the San Francisco case was initiated through the efforts of the NAACP. The individuals who were the victims of the Jim Crow racket up north lacked funds and lawyers to do the job that needed to be done and, as usual in such cases, the NAACP stepped in and did what was needed to be done.

It can do more with our help.

Nixon Talks, Nixon Acts

Richard Nixon, darling of the reactionaries and Republican vice presidential candidate, says he's all for ending segregation in the nation's capital.

Well, he has a mighty poor way of showing it.

Richard Nixon is the man who endorsed a race restrictive covenant in 1951, three years after the Supreme Court had outlawed judicial enforcement of race restrictive covenants.

That covenant forbade occupancy of the house he bought by Negroes, Jews, Persians and Arabians.

In the words of our own District Court of Appeals "racial discrimination is inherent in the covenant . . . its purpose and impact is to . . . segregate" Negroes.

The District Court is right.

And Richard Nixon knew what he was doing when he and his wife signed that covenant.

He was guilty of "racial discrimination." His "purpose and impact" was to segregate Negroes.

Richard Nixon's words sound fine.

The trouble is that his deeds speak so loudly that no Negro voter will pay any attention to what he says.

We Need a Probe, Too

We hope that the United States Grand Jury investigation into the Harry Moore murder and home bombings down in Florida ferrets out some of the guilty parties.

We would like to see a similar probe here into the Dunsmuir bombing and other acts of vandalism against Negro home owners.

We're convinced that unless the federal government does step in nothing will be done.

The brave and indignant words uttered by our mayor and chief of police just after the bombing have been forgotten. But the bombers are still at large.

It's a cinch that they will get off scot free unless we get some help from the federal government. Our local law enforcement authorities just simply aren't up to the task.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

The Democrats exploded their "exposure" of Senator Nixon too early in the campaign, and gave the Republican Vice-Presidential candidate a chance to capitalize on his financial predicament in front of millions of TV viewers.

It appears now that the Republicans have matched their opponents' error by firing their big guns against Democratic Vice-Presidential Candidate Sparkman too late for the broadsides to do much good. As this column long ago pointed out, and as Governor Dewey thumpingly emphasized recently, Senator Sparkman has absolutely no claim to consideration from Negro voters who place primary importance upon his record on civil rights. That record is: against civil rights, 23 votes in the Senate; for civil rights, none. A final score of 23-0 leaves no room for argument, and G.O.P. spokesmen are going to try to get this point across during the short time remaining before November 4.

But that's the trouble; the time is too short.

Allegiances have already been given; most minds have been made up, and the odds are that anywhere from 60 to 80 per cent of the urban Negro vote will be going to the Democratic ticket. Not because that solid a majority of Negros prefer a Democratic administration, but because the Republican party has not yet made a better offer.

For instance, even yet, the G.O.P. is still dealing in negatives, by deriding Sparkman and by discounting Democratic claims of civil rights gains. This is much like trying to persuade a family to move out of a house by announcing that it is full of rats and vermin, while failing to provide a new shelter. A house with rats and vermin is horrible—but it's still better than being homeless. And it's pretty late now for the G.O.P. to start building—unless it is prepared to get to work with everything it has. And it probably isn't!

Again, for instance, the word is that the old pals of the Republican Party have been making up manuals to serve as speakers' aids in addressing Negro audiences. These manuals are going to blow right up in their users' faces the first time they address an audience of reasonably intelligent colored voters. Claims of progress in the armed forces are false, they advise; audiences should be told that the Air Force and the Navy are still practicing Jim Crow and nothing at all has happened in the Army. Similarly, G.O.P. spellbinders are urged to dwell on discrimination in defense employment—to "put the bad mouth" on the new President's Committee on Defense Contract Compliance. Jim Crow in the Nation's Capital is cited as a Democratic disgrace, and so on.

Well, if the G.O.P. paid any important money for any such stupid, dishonest advice, it is entitled to sue for the money's return. Any family with a young person in uniform these days, or any individual who keeps his eyes open on the city streets, knows that while the millenium has not yet come to our armed services, there is no comparison between the Army, Navy and Air Force that Roosevelt left and what the Truman administration has thus far produced. The Army has made great strides and is still advancing and the two other branches are at least four years ahead of the Army. And as for discrimination in defense contracts—what has the G.O.P. to offer in the way of legislation?

It is still not too late for the Republican Party to make an effective appeal for the votes of Negro Americans—that is, if it considers those votes essential to a G.O.P. victory. But the appeal cannot be made merely by a Dewey, a Lodge or a Driscoll in the relatively advanced states of the Northeast. And it must be on a positive, rather than a negative basis—must point out, not how mad the Democrats are but what the Republicans have to offer.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

It is certainly a revelation in the breadth and variety of America to come across the country in the closing weeks of a presidential political campaign. New York City, of course, is a stronghold of the Democratic party. Although several hundred thousand Republicans live there and are making noises about their candidates, the Democratic overtones are strong. Stevenson is the man.

Through Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana Republican sentiment is much stronger and more noticeable. In the "Taft country," there are, of course, many Democrats, but the GOP seems to be on top of the conversations and discussions. Chicago would seem to be for Stevenson, but the rest of Illinois outside of Cook county, must be reckoned with. Although Stevenson carried Illinois in 1948 by a whopping 572,000, no one expects him to repeat that majority, although he is given the edge as far as the state is concerned.

However, from Ohio through Kansas the Republican influence is to the fore. The Chicago Tribune doctrine and Taftism have made their marks. The "wisdom" of the Tribune thinking and preaching which is pretty much sneered at in the East is here gospel.

California Doubtful

In the all-important Golden State it is hard to judge. Southern California had just had a dose of Stevenson when I arrived. The Democratic candidate had just left the city. Apparently he had made a tremendous impression on his second appearance and this was to be found not too much in the claims of his followers as in the way in which the daily newspapers that are supporting Eisenhower shaded their stories of events. They gave headlines. They gave pictures. They carried little human interest items. But in a phrase here and a sentence there they so undersold the Illinois governor that one's suspicions were aroused that the tide to Stevenson was much greater than appeared on the surface. One paper admitted that the principal Stevenson demonstration "almost succeeded" in outdoing that of Gen. Eisenhower. This admission by a pro-Ike paper inclines one to believe that Stevenson really did surpass Ike in his appearance here.

The singular aspect of the whole matter is the way in which Negro voters have shown their keen understanding of the issues involved in the election. No one has pulled the wool over their eyes. Eisenhower has his supporters among them and they are working for their candidate. But they understand Dick Nixon and they don't think too much of him. They are uneasy about Eisenhower's fumbling on issues and his apparent acceptance of the Taft Old Guard guidance, but they hope that their man, if he is elected, will shake off the Old Guard and be himself.

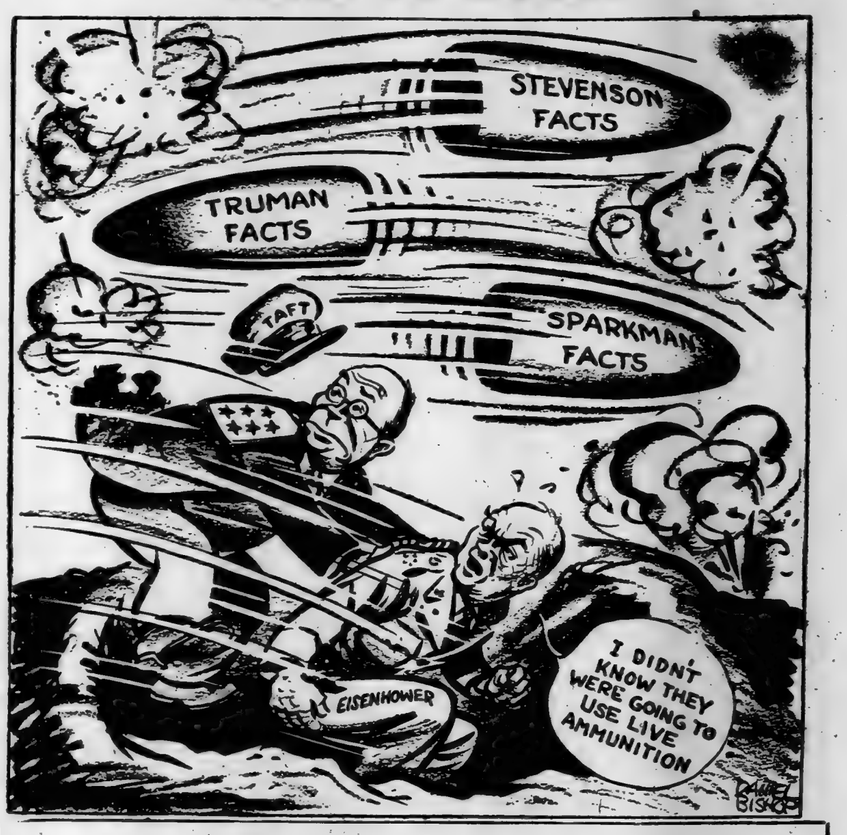
Too Many Dixiecrats

The Negroes, too, recognize that Senator Sparkman has a bad record on civil rights, but they are supporting Stevenson in spite of Sparkman, hoping, like the Republicans, that if their man gets in he will not do too badly. They like the way Stevenson talks and the fact that he comes from Illinois, although many of them would like a little more of Harry S. Truman in their man. They are "hep" on FEPC, the Senate fillibuster rule, and public housing.

According to all the polls, Gallup, Scripps-Howard, New York Times, Associated Press, and Newsweek magazine, most Negroes will vote Democratic. A lot of them became discouraged with Ike when he embraced Byrnes of South Carolina, Byrd of Virginia, Talmadge of Georgia, Kennon of Louisiana, and Shivers of Texas. Most Negroes with one or two ounces of sense are extremely suspicious of any candidate, no matter how fine, who plays ball with the Dixiecrats. They may get as a President the man who has said he likes to hear rebel yells, as General Eisenhower did, but there is no indication that, in the mass, American Negroes will help such a man with their votes.

RESERVE CORPS

The Los Angeles Police Department Newton Street Reserve Corps won the Bert Gutterman Trophy in the city-wide inspection during the past week.



This is the third consecutive year that Newton has won the inspection and it is therefore entitled to the permanent possession of the perpetual trophy.

This year 77th Street, Hollenbeck and Hollywood Divisions were second, third and fourth, respectively.

The Police Reserve Corps is composed of community-interested male citizens who voluntarily serve as reserve police officers to augment police forces during special events and major disasters. They also assist actively in the Deputy Auxiliary Police Youth Services program.

Gutterman, a well-known wholesale furniture dealer whose hobby is police officers, attended a meeting of the Newton Street Reserve Officers Monday evening and presented certificates for meritorious service to eight members of the Corps: Porfirio Vasquez, Bernard Verbeyen, Leslie Howard, Eddie Moultrie, Walter Saunders, Arthur Cade and Albert Brown.

Time To Duck!

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

This is straight from the horse's mouth. Senator Tricky Dick Nixon, when he was campaigning against Jerry Voorhis for congress-man was entertaining a group of friends in his home. Jackie Robinson had just been signed by the Brooklyn Dodgers. Nixon exclaimed, "There will be riots all over the country. This will set race relations back fifty years." Typical Nixonion thinking.

This one is on the General. Seems that the board of regents of Columbia was looking for a president. "How about Eisenhower," inquired one. They set up a committee to interview Eisenhower. The chairman of the committee returned two weeks later and gave his report. "We interviewed the General and he seems most amicable." "The General?" spouted the chairman, "We were talking about his brother."

The board was stuck, so Ike got the job. Hope nothing so disastrous happens this time with the big job at stake.

Leon H. Washington Jr., who is carried by the Sentinel as publisher and editor, was a very interested spectator at the Stevenson meeting at the Shrine Auditorium. He was on the platform. "That's the man," said Wash. I don't know what Dora's going to do, but if she doesn't support him, she's wrong." Wonder what Dora's going to do? She looked mighty pleased at the Mitchell dinner at the Biltmore. The food wasn't that good.

As the campaign roars to a conclusion, it bears several observations for posterity. One is that the Negro vote is solidly behind Stevenson. The only Negro Republicans one meets are of the Pop Saunders variety. "My grandmother always told me to wear red flannel underwear in the wintertime and vote the straight Republican ticket."

The absence of Negro supporters at Ike's rally and parade was something that made Republicans tear their hair. Much sympathy can be extended to Louie Cole, Leon Giles and Marc Neal.

They are really like salmon going up stream, except that they are not going anywhere.

On the other hand, the airport looked like the Union picnic. Everybody was on hand. Looked like a dirty Republican trick when all the cars were held in the parking lot. About 3000 cars wanted to join the motorcade, but were held up. While the Stevenson trip was the best kept secret since the Inchon invasion, the word managed to leak out and thousands lined the avenue.

The Elks were a little sore because no one told them that Stevenson was coming through. They could have helped to swell the crowd. Don't know what those "coordinators" are thinking about.

One Mans Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

We would not like to give the impression that we are out to join the poll takers who got such a licking in consequence of the last general election. However, we would like to pass on to you an experience we had last week in connection with our daily work. Wednesday we went to a Stevenson-for-President headquarters and carted out some 157 Stevenson buttons and about a hundred small pamphlets regarding his qualifications for president of these United States. Thursday morning, as we went about our work, we made it a point to offer either a pamphlet or a button to each person with whom we had occasion to talk. When the day's work was over, we did not possess a single Stevenson button nor one of the pamphlets about his candidacy and, what is more, we had not encountered a single person who hesitated to accept whatever it was we offered—a button or pamphlet.

Now your question doubtless is, "Where on earth did you go?" That being a fair question, we do not hesitate to answer. We went into some fifty beauty shops, barber shops and drug stores. Every beautician was eager to wear a Stevenson button and every patron in their shops was pleased to get such a button. In the barber shops and drug stores the same results obtained. These beauty shops and drug stores were between E. 28th and San Pedro to E. 52nd and Avalon. Some were on E. Vernon, Main Street and Broadway, and some were on the West Side along and near West. Jefferson. The drug stores and barber shops were over the same areas.

Friday, armed with another such number of Stevenson buttons and pamphlets, we tried the same plan in South Los Angeles with almost the same results. One patron of a beauty shop explained that, having been in the Army during the latter war, she felt called upon to support an Army man. One of the beauticians exclaimed, "Lady, we aren't voting for a leader for our Army. We want a leader for our country and that is a very different matter." So we found one Ike supporter to 300 for Stevenson.

Thus it appears that the women among us are not only for Stevenson but bitterly against the Republicans if this sampling is indicative of anything. However, we are not sufficiently naive to believe that in general that proportion of the ladies agree on anything—politcal or otherwise. These women in question, for the most part, deal with the public and are more concerned about public questions than are home bodies. However, the men approached were 100 per cent for the Illinois governor. We shall offer no further opinion concerning this experience at this time. Next week we shall present this matter to the shops and stores on Central avenue, and there is doubtless where the plot is sure to thicken. We shall also do the shops and stores on Western Avenue, Hooper Avenue, Ascot Avenue and Compton Avenue. You will most assuredly have a further and more conclusive report regarding trends political on our extensive and always very interesting beat.

SLUSH FUND

Railroads, public utilities, oil companies, international bankers and other Eastern-controlled financial powers were singled out today by George McLain as "principal donors to the lavish slush fund being raised by Chamber of Commerce 'campaign experts' to fight Propositions 10 and 11."

REPORT OF THE U.A.W.-C.I.O. FAIR PRACTICES AND ANTI-DISCRIMINATION DEPARTMENT

We in the UAW-CIO are proud of the fight we have made in cooperation with the NAACP and 52 other national, civic, religious and community organizations toward strengthening the forces of civil rights and equality of opportunity.

Our Union has kicked Jim Crow off the production lines throughout our industry;

Fought for the enactment of Federal, State and local FEPC laws and removed the color line from bowling;

And with men and women of good will across the country, we will march together to complete the job on the Civil Rights front.

Last year a campaign was launched to remove the roadblock to the enactment of Federal civil rights legislation. The vicious, anti-democratic Senate Rule 22 makes it impossible to break a filibuster so that a majority may vote on FEPC and other long overdue Civil Rights legislation.

In testimony before the Senate Rules Committee, the UAW-CIO showed conclusively that Rule 22 was unconstitutional. It is Rule 22 that blocks passage of FEPC, anti-lynch, anti-poll tax, equal accommodations, and other civil rights legislation. We pledge cooperation with other groups in the continuing fight to establish majority rule in the United States Senate.

Today, Civil Rights, including the abolition of Rule 22, is a top issue in the campaign.

We are in this fight for Civil Rights for three reasons:

1. We are for Civil Rights as a matter of human justice and human decency.
2. We are for Civil Rights because we understand that human freedom is indivisible and that, unless everyone has freedom, no one's freedom is secure.
3. We support Civil Rights because, in the world in which we live, civil rights is the Achilles heel of American democracy. No where else in our national life is there such a serious discrepancy between our noble promises and ugly practices.

★ 20 YEARS OF CIVIL RIGHTS PROGRESS ★

ROOSEVELT STEVENSON TRUMAN

To Continue The Progress On Civil Rights:

86 Years With 12 Republican Presidents And Very Little Progress On Civil Rights

Since passage of the first Civil Rights law over the veto of a Republican President in 1866, Negroes and other minorities have been working to wipe out discrimination, segregation and rule by mob terror in the United States.

86 years is a long time to fight for first-class citizenship—for democracy.

More has been achieved in the past 20 years under the New and Fair Deals than under 12 Republican Presidents during the preceding 86 years.

20 Years Of Civil Rights Progress With Roosevelt And Truman

Before the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, Negro workers, both men and women, were last hired, first fired, and seldom, if ever, promoted above the heavy, dirty, low-paid jobs.

Two Democratic administrations have cut away and reduced this injustice on the job.

- The right to organize and bargain collectively has been established.
- More than 1,500,000 Negroes belong to unions and are working in jobs based on their qualifications, skills, and training, not on race or color.
- A measure of security is provided by unemployment insurance, old age pensions, and minimum wages.
- President Roosevelt's wartime FEPC Executive Order 8802 opened employment opportunity so that more Negroes got more work in better jobs and at better wages than in any other period in our history.
- When the Republican-Dixiecrat coalition killed Franklin Delano Roosevelt's wartime FEPC and reinforced the filibuster roadblock so that a permanent FEPC could not be enacted, President Truman issued a new Federal FEPC Executive Order prohibiting discrimination in all defense work.
- President Truman and Governor Stevenson have pledged to fight for the abolition of Senate Rules 22 and the enactment of effective FEPC and other Civil Rights legislation as spelled out in the 1952 Democratic platform.

ADLAI STEVENSON FIGHTS FOR CIVIL RIGHTS IN NAVY, AS GOVERNOR AND AS CANDIDATE.

Adlai Stevenson's deeds have matched his words. Specifically:

- As special assistant to the Secretary of the Navy early in World War II, Stevenson pioneered by wiping out the Jim Crow restrictions which relegated Negroes to "mess boy" ratings. He opened higher ratings to them.
- Stevenson, as Governor of Illinois, called out the National Guard to stop the Cicero riots.
- As Governor, Stevenson removed all race labeling from state employment service placement records and prohibited the acceptance of discriminatory job orders from employers.
- As Governor, Stevenson wiped out discrimination in the Illinois National Guard and Naval Militia, and saw to it that this order was strictly enforced.
- As Governor, he barred discrimination in all state park concessionaires by the insertion of a non-discriminatory clause in their contracts.
- As Governor, he increased the number of non-whites in high government positions.
- As Governor, Stevenson revived a World War II state law in order to set up a little FEPC prohibiting discrimination in defense employment in Illinois.
- As Governor, Stevenson has fought in each of the two legislatures during his administration for the enactment of an effective state FEPC law. Each time the bill has been killed by Republican votes.
- As candidate for President of the United States, Stevenson has repeatedly pledged unequivocal support of the 1952 Democratic platform which calls for an effective Federal FEPC and action at the beginning of the new Congress, January 3, 1953, to abolish Senate Rule 22.

A Man Don't Know What He Can Do

By Elsie Miller Davis

(Reprinted from Readers Digest, October, 1952, with permission of the publishers.)

Just before midnight last February 18, Roy Gaby, driving for a Houston, Texas trucking company, ran out of gasoline while returning from Waco in a heavy 14 wheel truck-trailer. From a house nearby he telephoned his wife, "SOS, honey, I'm out of gas." Mrs. Gaby sighed, bundled up the baby and set out to the rescue in the family car.

On the way home Mrs. Gaby drove ahead of Roy. About ten miles from Houston a speeding car with an apparently drunken driver who never stopped, darted out of a side road, forcing Mrs. Gaby's car off the highway on the right. In the rear-view mirror she caught a glimpse of Roy's truck swerving to avoid a collison. Then she heard a crash.

The engine had smashed into a mammoth oak tree, the trailer had piled up on the cab and Roy was trapped in the twisted debris.

A passing motorist rushed into the village of Fairbanks and notified Deputy Sheriff Don Henry.

Henry decided to try "untelescoping" the wreck. "We attached a wrecker to the front of the mashed-in engine, hoping to pull it straight enough to get Gaby out. But the idea didn't work. We added the power of a truck at the front of the wrecker. Finally two more trucks were attached to the rear, and they pulled in the opposite direction, but still, no soap."

Small flames appeared beneath the truck, and there was no extinguisher at hand. Halting passing drivers, Henry set helpers to working frantically at the crumpled doors with hammers and crowbars. The twisted doors refused to budge. Henry crawled onto the hood of the cab and turned his flashlight on the victim. The steering wheel was crashed against Gaby's waist and his feet were pinned between twisted brake and clutch pedals. Tiny flames were licking at his feet.

"I'm an accident investigator," Henry told me later, "and I've seen a lot of terrible sights. But I've never seen one more terrible and I've never felt more helpless. I looked at Mrs. Gaby and the baby, then back at the poor guy in the burning cab, and I felt like praying for a miracle."

At that moment, a husky Negro appeared out of the darkness "Can I help?" he asked quietly. Henry shook his head. Nobody could help if three trucks and a wrecker couldn't budge that cab, and by the time cutting torches and fire apparatus arrived it was going to be just too bad. The Negro calmly walked over to the cab, put his hands on the door and wrenched it off.

Speechless, the crowd watched the Negro reach in the cab and tear out the burning floor mat. Then he put out the flames around Gaby's legs—with his bare hands.

"It was just about then that I caught a glimpse of the big fellow's face," said one of the witnesses. "At first I thought he was in a trance. Then I saw that set expression for what it was—cold, calculated fury. I'd seen it before—at Pearl Harbor, on Okinawa. I remember thinking: Why, that guy's not calm, he's enraged. It was just as if he despised fire."

Swifty, almost as if rehearsed, the Negro worked on, poking large arms into the truck cab. "He straightened that steering wheel like it was tin," the driver of the wrecker said. "With his left hand on the brake pedal and his right on the clutch, he all but uprooted the whole works to free Gaby's feet."

But the crucial job wasn't done. The victim still lay encased in what witnesses called "a bonfire."

Patiently, then stubbornly the big man struggled to squeeze in beside Gaby. The space was too tiny, stepping back from the cab, he hesitated fleetingly. The flames were growing. He glared at them, slumped to a squatting position and began pushing into the cab, fighting crazily. At long last he was in far enough to rest his feet firmly on the floorboard. He started rising slowly. His muscles bulged in the half-light and the sleeves of his shirt tore.

"My God, he's trying to push up the top!" a woman's voice called.

Neck and shoulders against the caved-in cab roof, he pushed hard.

"We actually heard the metal give," reported a farmer who had come to the scene. Discussing the rescue afterwards, deputy Henry shook his head, still baffled. "And he held that top up until we could pull Gaby out."

In the excitement of attending Gaby, no one thought to thank the Negro or even ask his name. Later, at the hospital with Gaby deputy Henry told newsmen: "The mysterious Samson disappeared as quietly as he'd come. If I hadn't witnessed it I'd never believe a lone man could do a job we couldn't do with three trucks and a wrecker."

"I wish I knew his name," put in Mrs. Gaby. "He was a giant."

Actually 33-year-old Charles Dennis Jones is not a giant. He is six feet two inches tall and weighs 220 pounds. He'd been out to nearby Hempstead to change tires on a disabled truck when he came upon the accident.

By morning the whole city of Houston was wondering about his identity. Newspapers throughout the country carried the story. But Jones didn't tell even his wife about his experience. His boss, C. C. Myers, became suspicious however, when he noticed the big fellow walk away from a group of employees who were discussing the amazing rescue. Remembering the mission he'd sent Jones on the night before, Myers grabbed a photograph from company files and headed for the Sheriff's office. "Yes that's him," agreed Deputy Henry.

And Myers knew immediately how Charlie Jones found the strength to lick that fire.

One December night 14 months before, Jones had come home to the three-room house where he lived with his wife, Mildred, and their five small children. Under one arm he carried a tiny pine tree and a single string of Christmas lights.

They'd had a lot of bad luck that year. Only two months before his mother and Mildred's had died within a week, leaving grief, doctor bills, funeral expenses. But Evelyn Carol, his eight-year-old first born, wanted some real Christmas tree lights, and he had them. He'd manage. He was healthy and husky and could stand a 16-hour day. Double work meant double pay. And they had a roof over their heads. Paid for.

Mildred left for church, where she was singing that evening. Jones tucked in the children. As he undressed, he wondered if he should risk leaving the tree lights on. He decided he would. Evelyn Carol wanted to surprise her mother, and he'd promised. He fell asleep.

Mildred's pillow was still untouched when Jones awoke, sure he was having a nightmare. There was a burning in his nostrils, a crackling sound in his ears. He heard a child's cry: "Daddy!" Instantly he was on his feet, awake in a world on fire, pushing through choking waves of smoke, grabbing small bodies until he counted five, finding his way to the open window, pitching the children out.

People gathered. And Mildred came running through the darkness, crying his name. Then Jones heard a man's voice, maybe his own: "No, No! Evelyn Carol, come back, come back!" A child's answer: "But I must get my Christmas lights!" And like a fleeting spirit Evelyn Carol in a little white nightgown ran back towards the flames.

Later a neighbor told how the men couldn't hold Jones. How he'd raced after his child but hadn't reached her because just as he neared the dwelling its last remains exploded. How the blast had thrown Jones to the ground unconscious, and he'd been dragged out of danger.

The next morning, for the first time in 10 years, Charles Dennis Jones failed to report to work at Robertson Transport. Everybody there had heard. When a man loses a child and his home, has four children to support and another one on the way; what can other men do?

Before nine o'clock a paper was circulating—from workshops to offices to yards. By noon it bore the names of 84 Robertson employes, and was sealed in an envelope and delivered to Charlie Jones. In the envelope Jones found $765.50.

The following day friends at the Hughes Tool Co. where Mildred had formerly worked sent in $80. By mail from strangers came $16. There were countless offers: Can you use an ice box? An army cot? A boy's coat, size 6? It seemed everyone had united to help the Jones family. And before long Charlie began to work on a new home. He figured that before the new baby came he'd have his family back under their own roof.

You could understand why he always would hate fire.

Reading a newspaper account of Jones' heroic rescue, R. A. Childers, Houston businessman, wrote the papers saying that he would give $400 to start a fund providing an annual college scholarship for a Negro high school graduate. The rescue had taken place during Brotherhood Week. "Could anything be more characteristic of brotherhood than the fact that Jones walked away without waiting for thanks?" Childers asked.

And so it came about in the new house Charlie and Mildred and their children had built with their own hands that they received a group of citizens who informed them of the proposed Charles D. Jones Endowment Fund. Jones heard the committee's proposal in his faded blue overalls, eyes glazed by unshed tears. His wife stood beside him, his children huddled near. He didn't say a word.

Finally, Mr. Childers broke the silence. Somehow Charlie must give a statement to the press. There was the mystery he might yet clear up. How in the name of heaven had he managed to wrench off a steel door, beat out flames with his hands, raise with his own back the crushed-in top of a driver's cab?

Charlie Jones looked at Childers and at the hushed group around him. He cleared his throat and said, simply:

"A man don't know what he can do until another man is hurting."

Smokers Gain Peace of Mind From Editorial

An editorial entitled "No More Propaganda" which appears in the Oct. 6 issue of the U. S. Tobacco Journal, leading trade publication in the tobacco industry, should bring peace of mind to cigarette smokers.

This editorial says in part: "Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, in its current campaign presenting solid scientific proof that the smoking of its Chesterfield cigarettes is absolutely harmless to the human respiratory organs, has poked a large and pointed needle into the inflated eccentricities of the crackpots who make their living out of the dire warnings that almost everything pleasant is dangerous.

"There have been no arrogant assumptions in Liggett & Myers' new ad drive; a dependable research organization was engaged to employ a medical group which —without fear or favor—investigated the effects of smoking Chesterfields for a period of six months on a number of average consumers. Science has placed a tremendously powerful weapon in the hands of Liggett & Myers, and the company already has begun to use it for the general welfare.

"Aside from the natural benefits derived by the Chesterfield brand itself from this effective blending of medical science and the art of public relations, Liggett & Myers' investment in this type of research will produce substantial benefits for the cigarette industry at large and for the smoking public as well."

Window Burglar Takes Clothing

Iron bars prevented a burglar from entering Duke's Army and Navy Store, 1765 E. 103rd street, last week, but he did manage to reach through a window and take $100 worth of clothing, proprietor Bessier De Have, of 336 W. Rosecrans avenue, Compton, reported.

Police said the burglar pried boards and wire off a window and reached through to the counter. The victim reported two dozen assorted boys' and men's pants and jackets missing.

TWO MINDS with a single thought. Richard Gilmore, left, manager of Thrifty Drug Co. store at corner of 43rd Place and Central Ave., and Carl Haley, handsome huckster, and retail representative of Segram's Distillers Corporation, as they complete the gigantic Segram's 7 Crown display following the theme of voting. Messrs. Gilmore and Haley stated that: "Regardless of your individual political affiliation, the important factor is that you GET OUT AND VOTE!!!!"

NEW TERRITORY—Manny Borun, left, vice-president of Thrifty Drug Stores, and Pat Gallagher load last-minute items aboard TWA plane for transhipment to Las Vegas in time for opening of new Thrifty store. The new unit in the Nevada city marks the first time Thrifty has opened a store outside California in its 23 years of operation.

Negro Voters Like Adlai Fear Ike, Roy Wilkins Says

Roy Winkins, NAACP administrator, told thousands during a three-day speaking tour in this city that from all poll reports "most Negroes will vote the Democratic ticket on Nov. 4." The top-ranking NAACP official through the facilities of radio, television, and the press, and at a packed mass meeting Sunday stated that "Negroes will not vote on the civil rights issues alone, but will cast their ballots with the equally vital matters of public housing, social security, federal aid to education and labor legislation in mind."

"Through continued integration in employment, labor unions and other phases of community life, this largest of our nation's minorities will vote just like other citizens: For those men and parties who best represent their interests. Any party or candidate who fails to recognize this will fail to gain their support," Wilkins declared in his many appearances in this area.

In commenting on the two presidential candidates, Mr. Wilkins stated: "Governor Stevenson was better informed and was forthright in giving his views on civil rights. He is for Federal Fair Employment Practices legislation with enforcement powers; this is the bread and butter issue with Negroes and other minority group workers. Governor Stevenson, following our discussion of the subject, announced that he would support a change in the Senate rules to block fillibuster."

Burr to Speak On 5 Years Spent in India

Lawrence C. Burr, founder and director of the famed YMCA Boys' Town in Madras, is home on furlough after spending five years in India and is scheduled to address the citizenry of Pasadena in an open meeting to be held at the First African Methodist Episcopal church, 117 North Vernon Avenue, 8 p.m., Wednesday, October 22.

A YMCA World's Services secretary, Burr's first assignment abroad was to help India 'Y' leaders develop programs for boys, particularly for the underprivileged youth of the streets. His period in India covered the historical days of the coming of National Independence, Ghandi's death, and the continuing crisis of the post-war years.

Soon after reaching India in 1946, Burr's activities in the slums of Madras began making newspaper copy at home and abroad. Fascinating accounts appeared of his searching the streets at night for homeless boys, the launching of the Boys' Town, and of the transformation wrought in under-privileged youth from juvenile delinquency to conscientious citizens. National leaders such as the President of India and Dr. Rajendra Prasad, became enthusiastic backers and Boys' Town is now a study-attraction for visitors from all over the world.

An authority on boys' work in India, Burr has been much in demand by the India Press and radio.

This program is sponsored by the Metropolitan District of the Pasadena YMCA under the auspices of the First African Methodist Episcopal church.

Ninety Homes Already Sold At San-Fern

Public approval of San-Fern Manor, popular three-bedroom, one and two-bath development at Herrick Ave. and Filmore St., near San Fernando Rr., in San Fernando valley, has been underscored by sale of 90 homes, totaling approximately $900,000.

This was announced this week by James L. Carter, sales manager of Gold Medal Homes, the developers, who cited as chief sales factors the popular prices from $9999, the quality construction and the convenient location in the nation's fastest-growing area.

Schools of all grades, churches, theaters, shopping, and recration areas combine with excellent transportation and other advantages, Carter declared, to arouse the interest of homeshoppers.

Down payments for veterans, he noted, are as low as $425, plus impounds, with monthly terms beginning at $51.80 for principal and interest. Liberal terms are available, also, for non-veterans.

Lucky Millinder Takes to Road For Joe Louis

What's happened to Lucky Millinder? This seems to be the $64 question among the "Guys and Dolls" who always got a big kick out of listening and cutting a rug to his sweet and hot music.

Well, in case you haven't heard, Lucius "Lucky" Millinder is on the road, but not with the band! He shelved his band in favor of Joe Louis Bourbon.

Lucky is now the national sales representative for the Joe Louis Distilling Company, which keeps him on the road most of the time. He moved about a great deal with the band and got to be pretty well known in a lot of places. He's doing some journeying too in the interest of Joe Louis Kentucky Straight Bourbon.

Lucky had as a traveling companion on his most recent trip none other than the gentleman whose whiskey bears his own name, Joe Louis. This particular trip was planned at Joe's request.

He had expressed the desire to be part of all promotions in the various cities, since he is exceptionally active in the planning and management of The Joe Louis Distilling Company. Lucky and Joe teamed up in Baltimore the early part of September and have since been to Louisville and Lexington, Kentucky, St. Louis, Missouri, East St. Louis, Kansas City, Little Rock and they wind up this trip in New Orleans and Shreveport, Louisiana.

Fireman Hits Suspense Order

OAKLAND—An appeal from the order of suspension for ten days levied against Ernest Allen, Negro fireman of Engine Company No. 22, Oakland, will be heard by the Oakland Civil Service Commission on November 5, at 2:30 p.m., at the Oakland City Hall, it was announced Monday by Tarea Hall Pittman, Field Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Allen is one of more than 24 Negro firemen of the Oakland department who requested transfer from the segregated company that has been maintained by the Oakland fire department for more than 30 years. Stevenson Deserves Your Vote Nov. 4

You're going to vote for a president of the United States next Tuesday, November 4.

You have a choice between Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and General Dwight Eisenhower.

No matter how you're registered you can vote for either of them.

We think you ought to vote for Adlai Stevenson. We'll tell you why.

Let's take a look at Governor Stevenson.

To begin with Stevenson is running as a Democrat.

You know the Democratic record of the past twenty years under Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman.

First the New Deal and then the Fair Deal brought you—brought all of us—gains in every phase of our lives.

Social security, old age pensions, unemployment insurance, better housing and, above all, a chance to work at decent wages are gains we've made under the Democrats.

Jim Crow was kicked out of the navy, the army and the air force by Democratic administrations.

In that twenty years we've knocked out the white primary, race restrictive covenants, segregation in graduate and professional schools and Jim Crow on the railroads and busses.

Through the NAACP we—all of us—took the leadership in the court fights but it is worth remembering that the Solicitor General of the United States appeared on our side, under the orders of President Truman.

Adlai Stevenson is running on the Democratic platform with its pledge to enact civil rights legislation and to stop the senatorial filibuster.

You may say "That's fine but what is Stevenson going to do? What kind of a man is he?" Fair enough. Let's look at his record.

As governor of Illinois Stevenson ended segregation in the schools in his state.

He banished Jim Crow in the state employment service.

He called out the National Guard to put down the Cicero riot.

He tried to put an FEPC law on the Illinois statute books, only to have Republican senators stymie his effort.

Drives Truck at Reporter

By Edward "Abie" Robinson

"You know damn well we don't want you Niggers here!"

After hurling these words at four Negro newspapermen who were investigating the latest housing incident in Pasadena Tuesday morning, the short stocky man backed up his truck, and then came directly at me.

I didn't realize at first that the man was deliberately trying to run us down. I stood where I was.

Ripped Jacket

Then he backed up again, and once more came directly towards me. This time I ducked.

He backed up a third time, made a sharp turn, and headed toward Photographer Irving C. Smith. Smith dodged, but only just in time. The car barely missed him, ripping his jacket as it passed.

As the driver pulled away, his car clipped the ankle of John Lee, another newspaper man.

By this time there was n

Suspect Arrested in Local Bank Hold-Up

The suave, deliberate young man who last Wednesday calmly held up the Avalon-Vernon branch of the Security First National Bank was in custody of Federal authorities this week, charged with the current robbery and with one at the same bank last Christmas.

Richard Allen, 22, of 1612 Griffith avenue, was picked up Friday as a suspect and taken to County Jail. In preparation for appearing in the line-up, he reportedly switched from the pinstriped suit he had worn Wednesday.

The switch, according to police, was one of the links that also made him the likely suspect for the previous robbery.

Allen was identified by five separate witnesses. Following the identification, he was turned over to Federal authorities.

Last Wednesday, a few minutes before bank closing time, a quiet young man stood in line before Teller Betty Randall. When he came up to the window he handed her a note and a bag instead of a deposit slip. On the note were the words: "Fill this bag up and don't make a sound. I have a gun and will use it."

The man got away with just under $300 and disappeared before Miss Randall could spread the alarm. Accurate descriptions of him were given police by witnesses, and within 24 hours Allen had been arrested as the suspect.

Judge Gets Death Threat Over Housing

SAN FRANCISCO — A death-threat message was mailed last week to the San Francisco judge who ruled recently that Negroes cannot be barred from the North Beach housing project.

"You shall be killed to give other traitors to learn their lesson," warned the anonymous postcard, adding that the judge is a "traitor to our white race."

Judge Melvin I. Cronin, to whom the card was addressed, was out of town when it was received. It was turned over to police and postal inspectors.

Judge Cronin, in ruling on the issue, declared that the San Francisco Housing Authority had been guilty of an "abuse of discretion" when it said Negro families were ineligible for homes in the project because they are "unreasonable credit risks."

The test case was brought by Mrs. Mattie Banks, 1292 Turk street, and James Charley, Jr., 2353 Bush street. It was handled by the NAACP, through Attorneys Loren Miller, of Los Angeles; Terry Francois of San Francisco; and Nathaniel Colley of Sacramento.

Largest Turnout Predicted As Hot Election Nears Close

By WENDELL GREEN

As one of the hottest political campaigns in the history of the country roars to a finish, indications point to the largest vote in the history of the community.

The presidential campaign, which was slowly dragging its feet three weeks ago, has suddenly caught fire and is raving along like a brush fire with a 34 mile tail wind.

The start of the great rush of the Stevenson campaign was the "grass roots" conference called by Congressman William L. Dawson in Washington, D.C. three weeks ago. Recognizing the importance of the Negro vote, Dawson was given complete control of that phase of the campaign, and the wiseness of that move is reflected in the great swing for Stevenson noted in the past two weeks.

Stevenson's "make sense" speeches; the consistency in his statements and ideas; the tremendous emotional impact President Truman generates in his whistle-stops; and Stevenson's final swing around the country set the stage for the great outpouring of emotional enthusiasm.

Nixon Nix's Votes

Another factor has been Eisenhower's campaign, and the disclosure of Nixon's restrictive covenants in Washington, D.C. and California. Eisenhower's consorting with Jimmy Byrnes and Senator Harry Byrd, his apparent willingness to do anything to win has turned many Negro voters away from the General.

In the key states of California, Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey and New York, the Negro vote can be the balance of power.

Political pollsters expect every one of these states to go heavily Democratic in the Negro dominated wards. Just how heavily they will go Democratic might tell the tale of the election.

New Jersey is expected to vote Republican. This is due to the direct influence of Governor Driscoll, who has done an outstanding job in the field of civil rights in the state. He has built up a machine that is loyal to him, and they are expected to follow him into the Eisenhower camp.

Doubtful Key States

The key southern states of Texas, Louisana, Alabama, Tennessee, South Carolina and Virginia have been pegged as doubtful, and might be headed for the Republican column.

Most political pundits forget that there are 200,000 Negro voters registered in Texas who don't give a hoot for tidelands oil. Louisiana has approximately

Hattie McDaniel Funeral to Be Held at Church

By EDDIE LEE KING

Loveable, laughable Academy Award winner, Hattie McDaniel, is dead, a victim of cancer, after playing Negro roles in films and on radio for 22 years.

Miss McDaniel won the coveted award in 1939 for the best supporting actress for her role in Margaret Mitchell's spectacular "Gone with the Wind."

Beulah

In recent years she was best known for her portrayal of "Beulah" on radio and television, but had been absent from the broadcasts for the past 15 months.

Hattie, who was loved for her cheerful smile and her comfortable and reassuring size, had fallen off sharply in weight during her long months of illness. She died Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m. at the Motion Picture Coun-

Postal Purge Victims Seek Back Salary

WASHINGTON—Attorneys for the National Alliance of Postal Employees last week went before the U. S. Court of Claims and filed motions in the cases of fourteen NAPE members seeking back pay for time lost while they were suspended in the "postal purge."

Attorney Howard Jenkins argued for the NAPE, with Dean George M. Johnson of the Howard University Law School, as observer. The Government failed in an effort to have the cases dismissed on the grounds of "prematurity," claiming that all resources within the P. O. structure had not been exhausted. Their motion was lost.

Wife Held for Shooting Husband

"If you come any closer, I'll shoot you," said Mrs. Estelle Wilson, 1509 East 112th street Saturday evening as she sat watching a television program at the home of a friend.

Her husband, John Wesley Wilson, 26, took a step closer.

Mrs. Wilson reportedly carried out her threat, shot twice, both shots finding their mark in the victim's abdomen, according to Det. Sgt. Reginald Flyod of 77th Street Station.

The shooting occurred at 1965 E. 114th street, home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Grissom.

Wilson was rushed to hospital in critical condition. His life was still in danger, following two operations.

Mrs. Wilson was arrested and was being held in jail.

Reporters Attacked

doubt in our minds that the driver was deliberately trying to injure us and make it "unhealthy" for us to "interfere" with the efforts of the whites — some of them — in the swank Poppy Peak section of Pasadena to prevent a Negro veteran from having his house built there.

Police Stall

We immediately went to the police department in an attempt to get the driver of the car arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. But we were stalled off, kept waiting, cooling our heels. We were sent from one department to another, told to wait for a police department investigation, and then return at 1:30 p.m.

We waited. We returned. Then we waited some more. The incident had occurred at 9:30 in the morning. At 3 in the afternoon, we finally left.

No Warrant

No warrant had been issued. Police were still investigating.

I couldn't help reflecting on what would have happened had the situation be reversed — had four white men sworn that a Negro truck-driver had deliberately attempted to run them down. I was willing to bet my hat that a John Doe warrant would have been issued in three seconds flat.

We had driven up to the lot at 19 Sequoia street, in Pasadena, to investigate reports that neighbors were resorting to every type of harrassment to interfere with the construction of the home being erected for Thomas W. Nelson, 35-year-old veteran who spent five-and-one-half years in the Adjutant General's Department in World War II, ending up as a first lieutenant, company commander in the Transportation Corps.

Work Halted

As we approached the lot, excavation work had been halted and workers were idle. We heard Paul Sims, general contractor, and Larry Conran, cement contractor, arguing with the truck driver, whom they later identified as a contractor named Wheeler. One of them said to Wheeler: "If you don't want them to live here, why don't you buy the lot?"

It was then that Wheeler saw us and went back to his car.

Nelson, a counsellor with the Veterans' Administration, who is married and has two chidren, and is a graduate of the Fresno State College in the class of 1940, later told the Eagle that he purchased the lot in October, 1949, but that ever since actual construction started last Wednesday a group of white neighbors has been using every harrassing tactic they could think of.

When they lined up their cars bumper to bumper in front of the lot where the excavator was dumping dirt, Nelson went to the police. He reported the police were slow to act and were uncooperative.

Locate Suspect

NAACP Field Secretary Lester Bailey interviewed Police Chief Clarence H. Morris late Tuesday afternoon, and the chief reaffirmed to him what the police, the detectives and the district attorney had told us earlier—that they were still investigating, that they had not been able to locate the suspect by the name of Wheeler, and that the license number we had given him, P-4101, was apaprently incorrect.

Bailey said that later Tuesday night, he, in conjunction with the head of the Pasadena NAACP branch, Dr. I. B. English, ascertained that there is an R. C. Wheeler, who lives at 75 Malcolm Drive, two blocks from the site of construction on the Nelson house.

Ask Protection

Bailey also said that NAACP Attorney Everette M. Porter is writing to Chief Morris, demanding protection for the builders and arrest of the driver who attempted to run us down.

In his letter, Porter will include a report of an interview Nelson and his contractor, Sims, had with Asst. Police Chief Robert Sears. In the discussion, Chief Sears referred to the fact that another Negro, a policeman, Ray W. Bartlett, has also purchased a lot in the area and expects to build there.

Chief Sears is reported to have said: "If we give Nelson this super-protection, then we'll have to give the same to Bartlett, and the community will say the Police Department is behind this move."

Horsewomen Take Honors in Parade

Two expert horsewomen, dressed exactly alike from the top of their trim fitting caps to the tip of their glittering spurs, won first place Saturday in the silver-mounted, matched-pair competition at the Pioneer Days of Old Monterey parade in Monterey Park.

The two trim young women, alike in size as well as clothes, rode two beautifully matched brown and white pintos.

Stiff Competition

The crowd, almost entirely white, roared its approval as the pair approached—the only two Negroes in the entire competition. And competition was stiff. There were at least 1000 horses entered, with their riders, in the various classifications.

The blue ribbon winners were Miss Emily Boone, 1387 East 57th street, and Miss Lucylle Jefferson, of the Maylord apartments, Pico and Western. In addition to winning the blue ribbon, the two also won a handsome gold-plated trophy.

The whole town turned out for the great day, the annual turning back of the clock to the rollicking, swashbuckling period of the pioneers.

Best Riders

But there was nothing swashbuckling about the parade itself —the best riders in the area, the most magnificent ponies, the most skilled feats of expert horsemanship.

Miss Boone and Miss Jefferson knew what they would be up against, and left no details to chance. The two Pintos on which they rode could not have been more alike if they were identical twins—both with four white feet, identical markings, same manes, same height.

And the two young women, atop their beautiful mounts, were attired with pin-point accuracy to detail—same red and blue habits, same quirt, same gloves, same silver-mounted spurs. And both have been riding for a long time and know how to handle their horses.

The parade lasted for more than four hours, after the judging that took place at 11 a.m.

Miss Boone and Miss Jefferson are both members of the Bronco-Ettes Riding club, whose members take a weekly canter at a ranch out in North Hollywood. There are a dozen members of the club, and we'll be hearing more of them, for they take their competitions seriously, and they have what it takes.

Marin City Girl On School Paper

MARIN CITY—Studious little eighth-grade Eleanor Toney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Dent of this city recently became the first Negro to hold the post of assistant editor of the Richardson Bay Junior High school paper. Eleanor has been cited by her teacher, Mrs. Thurston, as one of the most outstanding students she hasever taught. The Richardson school which student body is predominately Caucasian has only two race teachers. According to Mr. Dent his daughter contemplates continuing the study of journalism.

Incidentally, Eleanor's brother, is getting an early start in the newspaper circulation department by selling the CHAMPION CALIFORNIA EAGLE.

Organization Centered On Compton Aid

Backed by leaders of several South Los Angeles areas and tracts, residents of the north section of this city, who have had the unwanted role of "forgotten children" for too long, met Sunday afternoon in St. Peter's Community Church, 131st and Willowbrook avenue, to organize a group to fight for local improvements.

This area of Compton, located roughly between 127th street, 139th street, Paulsen and Central avenue, has long been at loggerheads with the City Fathers over the small amount of funds for public improvements spent there.

Joseph Williams, school teacherin the Los Angeles system, was coordinator of the meeting which was presided over at the start by Dr. William S. Hendricks.

Speakers included Wesley Brazier, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Urban League; A. M. Davis, president of Avalon Gardens tract; Atty. Xenophone Lang, member of Enterprise School Board; Atty. Welford Wilson and Malachia Monday, of the South Los Angeles Golden State Mutual insurance office.

Officers elected were Dr. William S. Hendricks, president; Leon Stewart, Jr., vice-president; Mrs. Fannie Leonard, secretary; Isaiah Scott, treasurer; and Rev. Roy Roberson, chaplain.

DOUBLE AWARDS GIVEN—Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator, and Postmaster Michael D. Fanning receive Certificate of Awards. They were cited by the Postal Employees Committee for their outstanding contributions in the field of better human relations. From left: John T. Hall, liaison contacts; Wilkins; Dr. E. I. Robinson, president local branch NAACP; Postmaster Fanning; Jesse L. Robinson, ranking postal supervisor and co-ordinator for the group, and Lester P. Bailey, field secretary, NAACP.

P.O. Workers Cite Wilkins and Fanning

Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator from New York City, was given a Certificate of Award at a luncheon tendered him during his recent visit here. Receiving similar honors on the same occasion was Postmaster Michael D. Fanning. The awards were made by the Los Angeles Postal employees at the group's newly erected Pacific Town Club.

The awards read as follows: "To Mr. Wilkins: In recognition of his humanitarian contributions to mankind by ever constantly working for human rights so essential to the dignity of man.' . . . "To Postmaster Fanning: In recognition of meritorious service rendered in effecting better human relations in the Los Angeles Post Office and throughout the community."

Dr. E. I. Robinson, president, local branch NAACP, extended a welcome to both guests. He paid tribute to Postmaster Fanning for his non-discriminatory policy in elevating postal personnel. This democratic practice was further evidenced recently with the appointments of colored supervisors to three postal stations which do not embrace Negro districts and almost one hundred percent all-white personnel.

Wilkins said that he often pointed to Postmaster Fanning as an example which other Post Office officials could well follow. Jesse L. Robinson, ranking postal supervisor and co-ordinator for the Postal Employees Committee, hosted the affair. Included among those present were several members of the National Alliance of Postal Employees. They were: Marion D. Walker, Paul M. Aubry Jr., Lawrence G. Swain, Gwendolyn McDaniels, Perry C. Parks, Melvin Taylor, Eugene J. Pickett.

Acting in the capacity of master of ceremonies, John T. Hall lauded his fellow employees for the fine co-operation they had shown in helping to improve working conditions among their co-workers.

Child Swallows Penny; Dies of Strangulation

Little two-year-old James Lane III saw the pretty, shining penny. His eyes gleamed as he saw its brightness. It must be good to eat.

The toddler plopped it into his mouth. Then he began to gasp, struggling for breath.

His frantic mother was unable to dislodge the penny, rushed the child to Georgia Street Receiving hospital, but he was dead from strangulation when he arrived.

JAMES LANE

Still another influential group representing thousands of members in its 38 branches—the California League of Women Voters—has gone on record urging a "YES" vote on Proposition 2, its State board announced today.

Indorsement of the measure increasing State support of the public schools was voted at the board meeting just concluded in Los Angeles after individual consideration by its numerous branches throughout California.

Veterans are especially invited to come early and stay late.

Insurance Ass'n in Annual Convention

HOUSTON, Texas—The National Negro Insurance Association opened its 32nd annual convention with a public mass meeting at Texas Southern University here Oct. 21.

E. M. Martin, vice president-secretary, Atlanta Life Insurance Company, Atlanta, Ga., delivered the main address, dealing with "Progress of the Negro from Slavery."

Approximately 368 delegates from 27 states and the District of Columbia were in attendance. The 60 member companies of the organization have $137 million dollars of assets to secure the more than one billion dollars of insurance in force.

The convention continued in session from the opening Oct. 21 to its final session Friday morning, with the report of various committees and the election and installation of officers.

Charles A. Shaw, president of the Watchtower Life Insurance Co. of Houston, was elected chairman of the Board of Directors.

Other members of the Board are:

B. G. Olive, Jr., Universal Life Insurance Company, Memphis, Tenn.; E. M. Martin, Atlanta Life Insurance Company, Atlanta, Ga.; L. C. Blunt, Secretary and Manager Great Lakes Insurance Company, Detroit, Mich.; Joseph A. Faison, Provident Home Industrial Mutual Life Insurance Company, Philadelphia, Penn.

Vote Turnout

60,000 Negro voters. Virginia and South Carolina have about the same amount. These votes can tip the scales in any close election. Byrnes and Byrd coming out for Eisenhower might well have been the kiss of death, in so far as splitting the solid south is concerned.

Local Race Close

Locally, the only hot election is the one in the Second Supervisorial district. Councilman Kenny Hahn and the incumbent Leonard Roach have been at it hot and heavy. The second district encompasses practically all of the Negro vote in Los Angeles.

This figures to be a very close race. Hahn will carry a big vote on the Eastside. Roach will have to make it up on the Westside.

With 27 propositions on the ballot, voting becomes very complicated. Proposition two, three, ten, eleven and thirteen have created the most stir. Thirteen will probably have the toughest sledding.

As the election nears one gets the feeling that democracy must be worked at all the time.

Eagle Tells Stand On Propositions Appearing On November 4 Ballot

As usual the ballot presented to the voter when he goes to the polls on November 4 will contain a large number of propositions, state, county and city.

Some of them are technical. A few present matters of little interest while others make fundamental changes in our law and are highly controversial.

Of most interest are Propositions 2, 3, 10, 11, and 13, and the Eagle urges a Yes vote on all of them.

Proposition 2 would increase state support for public schools from $120 to $180. The vast increase in pupil population makes this increase imperative.

Propositoin 3 would lift the burden of taxation from private schools and in light of the fact that these schools save the taxpayers millions of dollars each year the taxpayers ought to exempt them from taxation.

Proposition 10 would prevent appropriation of public funds to Chambers of Commerce and other private organizations. This measure has been made necessary by the misuse of such funds. For example, our own Chamber of Commerce has been getting large grants from the Board of Supervisors and in turn using some of these funds to lobby for or against legislation of general interest. It bragged two years ago that it had played a large part in defeating a state FEPC. That is its privilege but there is no reason why Negro taxpayers should help it do that kind of a job.

Proposition 11 is a social welfare measure that is being opposed, principally because it was fathered by George McClain and his organization. That kind of opposition shouldn't cut much ice. The measure would wipe out the relative responsibility payments for the aged, eliminate costly duplication of governmental agencies and put old age pensions on a sliding scale based on the cost of living. All of these ends are desirable and should certainly appeal to Negro voters.

Proposition 13 would eliminate cross filing. That practice eliminates all party responsibility and rebounds to the direct disadvantage of minority groups. Under the law as it now stands a Republican can win the Democratic nomination by merely getting a few more votes than his nearest Democratic rival.

Negro voters can't bargain with the political parties under the present set-up. They have to take whatever the candidate wants to offer — and that isn't much in most cases. Proposition 13 is a matter of prime concern and every Negro voter should cast his ballot for it.

Of the other propositions on the ballot Propositions 5 and 6 ought to be defeated, although they will get the assent of many voters who won't bother to investigate them. They purport to strike at Communists by requiring detailed oaths of office and denying tax exemption to suspected organizations. The difficulty with them is that they write into our constitution procedures and methods that smack of the dictator states. Both should be defeated.

Proposition 7 would require candidates who cross file to indicate their party affiliation on the ballot when they file and were it not for the fact that Proposition 13 is a much more effective means of dealing with the cross filing evil it would deserve support. As the matter stands a no vote on 7 is indicated.

Proposition 1 provides for a bond issue to assist veterans and should be supported.

Yes votes on Propositions 8, 9, 11 and 13 are indicated since each of them will accomplish something for the public good.

Proposition 14 would remove an old and vicious section of the state constitution which permits discrimination against Chinese. The section has long since been held unconstitutional by federal courts but there is no reason why it should be permitted to clutter up the constitution.

Propositions 15, 17 and 18 should be defeated. Propositions 19, 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24 all deserve Yes votes although the issues presented are somewhat debatable.

There are two county proposals on the ballot, Propositions A and B. Proposition A would give the supervisors a deserved salary raise and put them on a par with the judges in the pay scale. Proposition B is a flood control measure. Proposition K is a city measure that will permit the Department of Water and Power to expand its services. All of these propositions should attract Yes votes.

Business, Labor, Churchmen Urge Yes Vote Proposition 3

Outstanding leaders in business, labor, church and civic activities in the community urge the voters to carefully weigh the real issues involved, and then vote Yes on Proposition 3 on the November ballot.

Norman O. Houston, president of the Golden State Mutual Insurance Company and a member of the Californians for Justice In Education said, "California is the only State in the Union collecting taxes from non-profit schools operated by charitable foundations for mentally and physically handicapped boys and girls! Forty-seven of our United States have long since seen the unfairness in such taxation and it is high time we did away with it in California."

"After six weeks of thorough debate and study in the California State Legislature last year," said Augustus F. Hawkins, veteran legislator from the 62nd Assembly District, "we passed the tax equality measure for non-profit schools by a lopsided 108-to-3 count. We fully expect the electorate to sustain this action."

Adolphus B. Clay, director of the Civil Liberties Department of the Elks and veteran leader in the AF of L said, "Parents of children with afflictions which force them into specialized training schools, in the same manner as parents of boys and girls attending church-sponsored, non-profit schools, are paying State taxes for the operation of our fine public schools.

"They pay these taxes gladly, cognizant of the great educational program being carried on there. On top of that, they finance the operation of the church and charitable schools, paying for the buildings, books and all plant equipment. To tax them again is most unfair."

Speaking on the amount of money the operation of private schools save the taxpayer, Rayfield Lundy, president of the Willobrook School Board and outstanding attorney in the Watts area said, "Annually the operation of non-profit schools save California taxpayers $41,000,000 in operation costs alone."

Hahn Is Endorsed In Supervisor Race

Leonard Roach, the incumbent, and Councilman Kenneth Hahn are staging a bitter battle for the office of supervisor from the Second District. Roach has held the office for eight years and this is the first serious challenge he has met. The Eagle favors Councilman Hahn.

Roach is not the ogre that he has been painted by his opponents and the truth of the matter is that there are many things to be said in his favor. He has been vigilant enough on the small issues that confront the Negro voter but has been lax on larger matters. For example, he has never given public housing any real support and, in addition, he never took any serious steps to end the segregation policy maintained by the County Housing Authority for many years.

Hahn, on the other hand, has been even more vigilant in meeting small issues that have arisen in his councilmanic district and he has received a tremendous amount of support for his zeal in seeing to it that his constituents have had adequate street lighting, cross walks, traffic signs and good paved streets. In our opinion he has a far better record in those respects than Roach.

Looking beyond day to day matters, Hahn seems to have a much more complete and better considered outlook on the larger problems that confront Negroes. In City Council he has been a standout supporter of public housing and can always be counted on to speak out against discrimination or segregation. He voted for FEPC in City Council.

The long and short of it is that Hahn represents, much better than Roach, the new look on civil rights. He is the kind of a public servant that Negroes must help into public office if they expect to reach the goals they have set for themselves.

-VOTE, Nov. 4th-

YES ON 13

COMMITTEE TO ABOLISH CROSS FILING; DAN KIMBALL, CHAIRMAN

Recommend Yorty; Back Harter in 16th

Ordinarily interest in Congressional races centers on the 26th district but Sam Yorty who represents that district has only token opposition from Horace Alexander who is the candidate of the IPP. Yorty has an excellent record in Congress and while Alexander presents the usual IPP arguments against him there is no sound reason why Yorty shouldn't be the overwhelming choice in his district.

In making this choice the Eagle is aware of the fact that Alexander is a Negro and while we follow the policy of endorsing Negro office seekers in most instances this is an exception that is founded on the party affiliations of Alexander and his lack of qualifications. Alexander has no chance of success and in the event of his election would not be free to follow his own wishes. Manipulated as it is by Communists, the IPP selects only puppets for candidates.

Race Decided

Gordon L. McDonough, Republican incumbent in the 15th district which has a large Negro population, has no opposition although he deserves it for his bad votes on FEPC and his willingness to go along with bills that lodge power in the House Rules Committee to bottle up civil rights legislation.

Cecil King, incumbent in the 17th district, formerly had many Negro voters in his area but redistricting cut most of them out. Those who still remain should certainly cost their votes for him.

Jerry K. Harter is seeking to oust Donald Jackson in the 16th district which includes parts of Santa Monica and other beach areas and should receive the votes of Negroes who live in his district.

Other candidates with serious claims on the comparatively few Negroes who live in their districts are Joseph M. Kennick in Long Beach; Everett Burkhalter in the 21st; Dean McHenry in the 22nd and Will Hays in the 13th.

Chet Holifield in the 19th and Clyde Doyle in the 18th districts, are both incumbent congressmen who have token opposition from the IPP but neither is concerned about the outcome. Both deserve the support of Negro voters.

FDR Son Urges Stevenson Vote

James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President, today issued an unqualified and wholehearted endorsement of Governor Adlai Stevenson's candidacy for president.

"My support of Governor Stevenson is not based on any emotional grounds," Roosevelt declared.

"It is based on facts, which show that Stevenson is notably qualified by experience to conduct our foreign and domestic affairs.

"Due to the excellent work of Supervisor Leonard Roach during his term in office, and believing that the County and its residents would greatly benefit by his continuance in office, I therefore, urge Mr. Roach's retention and offer my services as endorser.

"As a qualified voter of Los Angeles County and registered, I take this opportunity to thank Mr. Roach for the battles which he wages in behalf of minorities gaining recognition in sports and County employment.

Thought of the Week

By IVA REED WOODS

RELATIONSHIP

One of the most beautiful quotations describing man's relationship to God is, "Man is but a fragment torn from the heart of God." Yet, who can endure the thought of being severed from that which is Life-Giving and Life-Sustaining? There is no sorrow, no torture and no insecurity like the feeling of being cut off from the source of love, light, power and usefulness. Many of us still think of God as a despot, a dictator, and of our relationship being, that of frightened subjects, yielding through fear, instead of love, and devotion to cause.

To think of God as a cruel and suspicious judge, causes many a man to feel that he is ever on trial. One often hears this—"God does not put any more burdens on me than I can bear." The psalmistic conception of man's relationship to God was that of "The shepherd and the sheep," and he wrote, "The Lord is my shepherd and I shall not want."

Jesus taught humanity an even more loving idea of kinship, That of Father and Son, and during his ministry, He established the truth of "Oneness" with all. "I and the Father are one." He continued—"Fear not, little flock, it is the Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom of heaven."

If every one could think of himself as a cell in the body of God, he would glean a clearer understanding of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.

There is forever, a double search in progress, God is seeking to unify with man, through ideas, impulses, and inclinations. Man instinctly returns the search, as he sheds his hatreds, greeds, selfishnesses and discordant attitudes.

Teach us O God to unify with our innerselves, our fellowman, and our Creator.

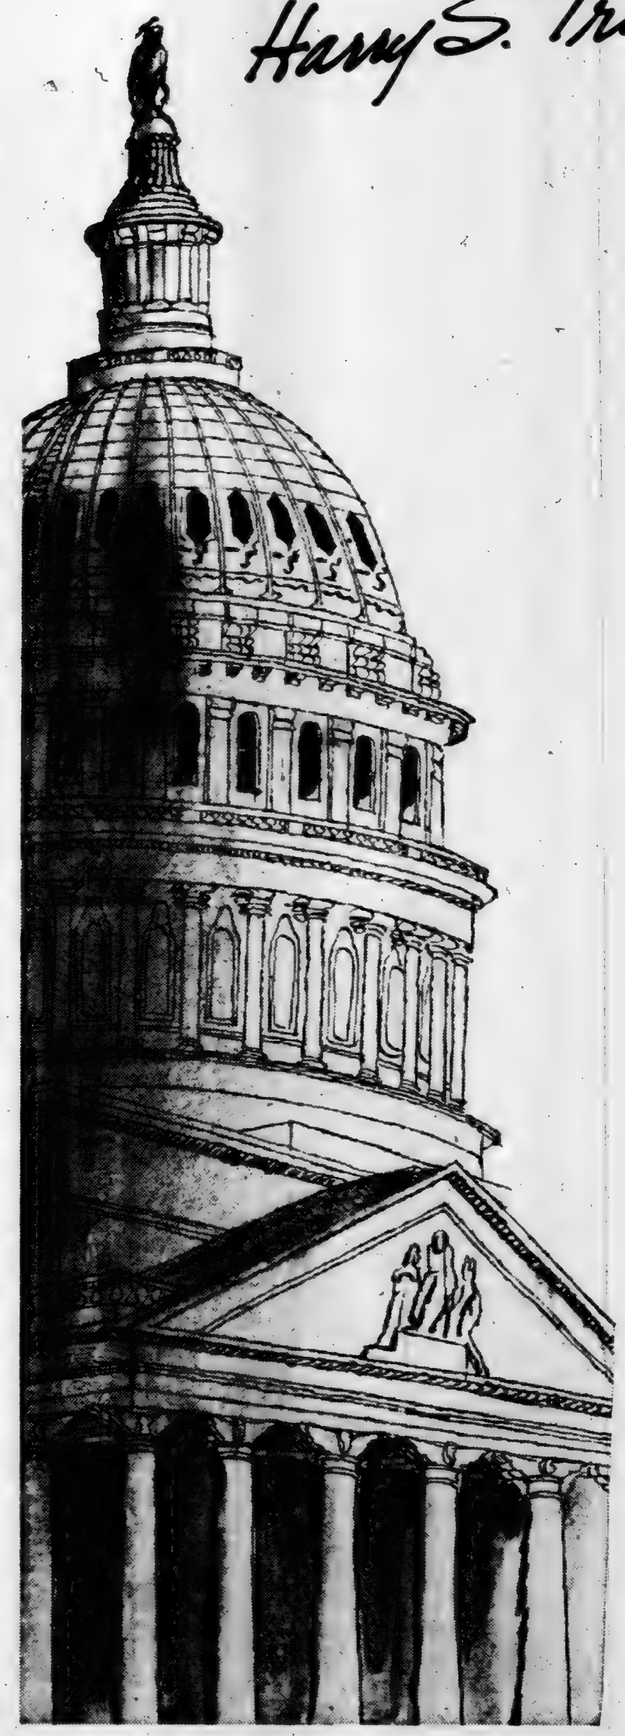
"Adlai Stevenson will make a Great Civil Rights President"

Harry S. Truman

"Adlai Stevenson will make a great civil rights president"
—From a speech delivered by President Harry S. Truman, New York City, October 11, 1952



★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

In his speech accepting the Dorrence Brooks Award, President Truman said, "Adlai Stevenson has shown by everything he has done and said that he believes deeply in the equality of human beings. He will bring new courage and new energy to the fight for civil rights. He has the courage to say the same things about civil rights in New York and in Richmond, Virginia. He has been a great rights governor and will make a great civil rights president!"

What Do Eisenhower and Byrnes Talk About at Lunch?

"While the Republican candidate is whispering promises to you, he has been touring the South to woo the Dixiecrats into the Republican fold. What do you think the Republican candidate and a Dixiecrat Governor talk about when they sit down together for lunch? Do you think they talk about civil rights? Maybe they talk about taking them away. You can draw your own conclusions when the Dixiecrat Governor announces, after the lunch, he is going to vote Republican this year."

—President Harry S. Truman, in a speech at New York City, October 11, 1952

"I don't believe a society is truly free where race, creed or color is a bar to equality of opportunity to earn a living."
—Adlai E. Stevenson

STEVENSON WILL FIGHT FOR YOU!

IN NEW YORK CITY—

"The record of our progress is a proud one, but it is far from over. Brave and important tasks remain. We cannot rest until we honor in fact as well as word the plain language of the Declaration of Independence."

IN LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA—

"We can never stop in the battle against racial and religious bigotry, discrimination and fear. We must by effective legislation, ensure equal opportunities of employment for citizens of all colors and creeds."

IN RICHMOND, VIRGINIA—

"In the broad field of minority rights, the Democratic Party has stated its position in its platform; a position to which I adhere. I should justly earn your contempt if I talked one way in the South and another way elsewhere."

IN SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS—

"We can ill afford to exhibit to the world either incompetence or injustice in dealing with the relations of racial groups."

IN NEW YORK CITY—

"The American dream belongs to every American . . . The answer to communism is democracy; not less democracy or just enough, but more. And democracy is color blind."

IN ILLINOIS RADIO ADDRESS—

"It is not doing a favor to discharge a duty which all American citizens owe to each other—the duty to live, as well as talk, democracy. The right of every man to equal treatment regardless of his creed, color, or the origin of his grandfather is an implicit American right, basic to the whole concept of our democracy."

STEVENSON will complete the Job!

SPORTS Eagle

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

SAN FRANCISCO—It appears the PCC representative in the fabulous Pasadena Rose Bowl come Jan. 1 is doomed to emerge the coast's first victor in its six long years of famine. . . . I want to go on record, picking Red Sanders' battling UCLA Bruins as the coast representative. . . . I fear not El Trojan, for I'm of the school of thought, the Bruins have finally arrived.

The Bruins' potent defensive unit which is primarily the same outfit that dealt the Trojans out last semester are back better than ever. . . . Donn Moomaw, Joe Sabol, Milton Davis, a product of Bert Watson's powerhouse '46 L.A. Jefferson High Bee team, Bill Stits, and Terrible Tery Debay should again have the numbers of such Trojan stalwarts as Bill Hattig, George Timberlake, Bob Peviani, Jim Sears, Bob Van Doren and company. . . . True the Bruins will have to get past Pappy Waldorf's (sometime) explosive Bears. . . . I can't see the bruising Bruins having much trouble disposing of the Bears.

As I see it the Bruins should have Prancin' Paul Cameron going all-out in this one. . . . With lithe 180-pounds of dynamite Lewis "Hustler" Williams, who just loves to put the occupants of opposite color shirts in the nickle seats, paving the way, Cameron may turn school out. . . . If the Hustler isn't mentioned on the all-coast team somewhere it will be a miscarriage of justice. . . . While mentioning the Bruins Ike Jones is undobutedly one of the finest offensive linemen on the coast if not in America . . . To date he has scored 3tds. and has been on the receiving end of passes galore. . . . Incidentally I'm sure many bay area grid fans will remember UCLA's Williams from his brilliant exhibition as an East Los Angeles JC fullback in Kezar Stadium against the CCSF eleven, in '50.

BAY AREA BITES—It's good news to report the University of California's Rambler football coach Zeb Chaney is willing to get together with Sam Washington ex-L.A. Poly High and get his job difficulties squared away. Sam wired this scribe from L.A. Monday of this week: He declares he is willing to make another go of it.

I can't help but believe, Coach Chaney and the entire UC athletic department wil give Sam Washington or any other deserving athlete a fair shake. . . . If the said athlete carries out his part of the obligation. . . . In my dealing with Bob Rubin, athletic publicity man I can honest state that he's gone all out to be helpful.

Sam Brown heralded the greatest running back in the short circuit history of West Contra JC rambled for 228 yards and scored twice Saturday night in his team's victory over Sacramento JC. . . . Todate Brown has scored 71 points to rank second behind L. C. Joyner of ECCJC, northern California's top jaycee scorer. . . . At the San Diego MCRD halfback Tom Carodine and guard George Lockett are two of the sparkling spokes in the Leatherneck's undefeated grid wheel. . . . As of this writing Carodine has romped for four tds. . . . He scored on seven other occasions, however, penalities nullified them. A check through the record book reveals that Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn, while a collegian at UCLA averaged 21.0 . . . Maybe Jackie should have stuck to the grid sport . . . Who knows . . . Milton Gross of Sport mag picks Hector Rodriguez of the Chicago White Sox as the best '52 rookie prospect . . . QBWillie Thrower, and tailback LeRoy Bolden are two key backs for the nation's No. 1 grid team Michigan State. This Saturday mighty Michigan State will tackle Purdue . . . I'll take the Spartans in this one by a romp . . . "Mr. Frisco," Ollie Matson scored three touchdowns for the Chicago Cardinals Sunday but the Pittsburgh Steelers came out on the long end of the score . . . As of now we are looking forward to catch CCSF's Jet Jones ramble against ELAJC Friday. Abbie Robinson our boss tells us that ducats will be at the Kezar will call window.

Buddy Young, Dick Hoerner To Pace Dallas In Sun. Tilt

Fullback Dick Hoerner, holder of two all-time Ram offensive records and a central figure in Los Angeles' widely discussed 12 man trade with the Dallas Texans last spring, returns to haunt his former Ram mates next Sunday in the Coliseum.

Hoerner and 10 other L.A. chattels were turned over to the Texans in exchange for Les Richter, University of California's All American guard, now in the Army.

It goes without saying that the six-foot four-inch, 220 pound Hoerner would like nothing better than to disprove the swap by leading Dallas to an upset victory over the Rams.

He will have good support in his quest from one of pro football's most dangerous offensive backfields. Flanking Dick will be George Taliaferro and Buddy Young, at left and right halves, respectively.

Young, the Ex-University of Illinois All American halfback and sprint champion, has had some of his greatest games in Southern California, with the Fleet City Navy team, the Illini Rose Bowl squad, and the New York Yank pro club. He rambled 78 yards to T.D. on a punt return against the Rams last year.

In his five seasons with Los Angeles, 1947-51, Hoerner racked up a pair of all-time club records—most yards gained rushing in a career (2,020) and most times carried ball in one season (155 in 1949).

Hoerner was runnerup to Deacon Dan Towler in ground gaining for Los Angeles in 1951. He ground out 569 yards in 94 carries, a 6.05 average, and six touchdowns. Dick also snared eight passes for 102 yards.

In addition to Hoerner, the Texans will have four other men that they picked up from the Rams in the Richter deal. They include Center Joe Reid, End Dick Wilkins, Halfback Billy Baggett and Tom Keane, quarterback and defensive halfback. Keane and Reid were with the Rams last year.

The Texans were stopped, 48-21, by the unbeaten San Francisco 49ers last Sunday while the Rams were keeping within shooting distance of the aNtional Conference leaders by dumping the Chicago Bears, 31-7.

"Ease the tension with BEECH-NUT GUM!"

says MONTE IRVIN

"I've read that scientists at a leading university have proved that chewing Beech-Nut eases tension. Every ball player knows how true that is. Most fellows I know chew through nine innings! In fact, I've noticed that any kind of a job—including snagging long flies—calls for Beech-Nut Gum to ease the tension."

ELA Huskies Test SF Rams At Kezar Fri.

Coach Clyde Johnson and his ELA Huskies of grid wars will take to the air lanes this Friday as they travel to meet the San Francisco City College Rams at Kezar stadium in San Francisco with starting time set for 8 p.m.

The San Francisco Rams at present possess a one-win and three-loss record. They have bowed to Menlo, 12-26, to Santa Rosa, 6-13, and to Contra Costa West, 6-7. Their only win has been over the LACC Cubs, 21-6. Last year the Rams captured Seven Conference and suffered their only defeat against ELA. Off their LACC win, the Rams rate no worse than even with the visiting Huskies.

The San Francisco team coached by Grover Klemmer, will be sparked by four men who saw a good degree of action last year. They are End Bob Oliver, Guard Phil Thompson, Tackle Ed Hayes and Left-half Bernie Kelly.

Eastside Golfers Wallop the Westsiders in Cosmo Tourney

Keeping alive a victory streak extending back to pre-war golf days on the Sunset Fields courses, the Eastside golf team of the Cosmopolitan Golf Club again beat their Westside opponents in their annual team match play held last Friday on the Santa Anita course. The margin of victory was 11½ points to 6½ points with Henry Barabin and Willie Rayson shooting sterling golf for the victors. Barabin and Rayson tied for net honors in class A of the President's Cup play held simultaneously with the team matches. Barabin having a 72-2 net 68 and Rayson scoring 74-6 for the same net score.

Jess Hutten won the first place class B trophy with an 80-9 net 71 with Jess Colbert winning second honors with an 80-8 net 72. Doug Shaw was in third place one stroke back with Frank Adams and James Neal trailing. Clifton Walker won class C with a 95-21 net 74 with Henry Wolfe in second place with a 93-16 net 77. U. S. Thompson was in third place one stroke back.

Other low scorers in class A were Lavelle Mayfield with a 75, Theoph. Smith at 76, Ed Shaw and Milton Rayson at 78 and Sam Smith with a 79.

In last week's big Santa Anita Open, Barabin and his professional partner Tom Satchell won the pro-amateur class with a net 62. After teaming with pro Bill Spiller in the pro-amateur tourney, Dr. C. A. Bradford shot excellent golf for fifty-four holes to win second net honors in his handicap class.

For the next five weeks the Cosmo members will engage in match play, one match each week at handicap, to determine the 1952 club championship with winners of the last two years' play, Archie Hairston and Theophilus Smith along with Anderson Howard being favored to reach the final round.

GLOBETROTTERS CAGE DEBUT SET FOR GARDEN FANS

The Harlem Globetrotters, greater than ever, more popular than ever, are once again headed for Madison Square Garden and another showing in New York City, where they have consistently broken attendance records the past three years.

A capacity throng is expected to storm the famous "Palace of Basketball" on the night of Nov. 1 when the bronze magicians of courtdom make their 1952-53 debut against the strong Washington Generals in one of the feature games on an attractive doubleheader card.

In the other contest, the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association meet the Baltimore Bullets in a league encounter.

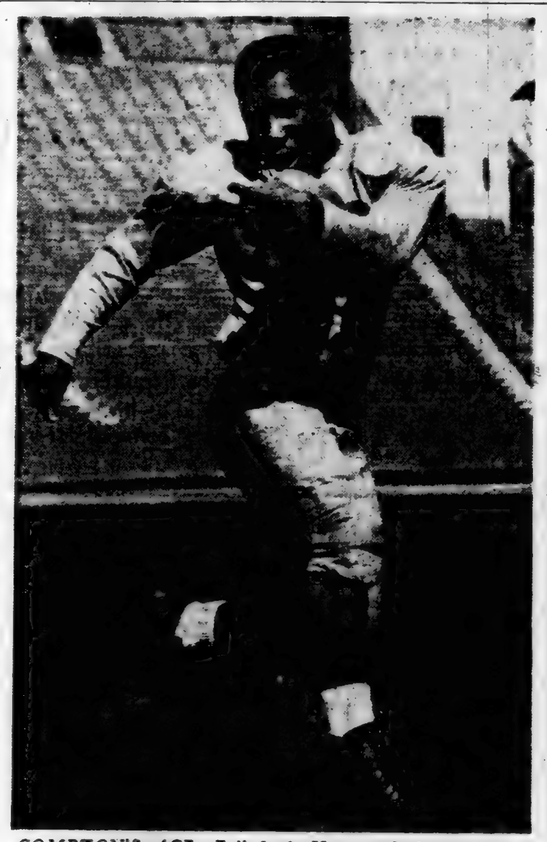
The Globetrotters are the greatest attraction in New York's long basketball history. The record will substantiate that blunt and factual statement.

Last March, for example, the Globetrotters set an all-time one-day attendance record when they played the 1952 College All-Stars in the Garden before 35,548 fans.

They set an all-time Madison Square Garden matinee record when they beat the All-Stars in an afternoon tilt, 75-60, before a selout throng of 18,317. Then the two teams came back that night and clashed before 17,231 with the Trotters winning again, 71-69.

Now they are going back to the Garden again and from all indications another banner crowd will greet them. New York fans have virtually adopted the Trotters whose stellar performers—Goose Tatum, Marques Haynes, Clarence Wilson and others—have been superb in every Garden appearance.

After they unfold their cage magic in the Garden ,the magicians of basketball move on in successive days to the following cities: Nov. 2, Scranton, Pa.; 3, Toronto, Ont.; 4, Ottawa, Quebec; 5, Burlington, Vt.; 6, Barre, Vt; 7, Montreal.



Matson Best Says Kuharich

Joe Kuharich, coach of the Chicago Cardinals, one of the most improved teams in the National Professional Football League said he would rather have Ollie Matson than the San Francisco 49ers' Hugh McElhenny.

"Matson is a better all around player in every respect," said Kuharich, who coached the ball carrying star to 1951 All-America honors at the University of San Francisco. Matson, a fine defensive player, was Kuharich's first Cardinal draft choice over McElhenny.

DORSEY, FAIRFAX TOP PREP GAME

Dorsey and Fairfax, unbeaten prep grid team will hurl insulting fullbacks and split T's at each other this Friday afternoon on the Fairfax oval. Other games in the Northern League find Wilson vs Eagle Rock, Eastern's Belmont vs Huntington Park, Western's Los Angeles vs Hamilton, Valley's Van Nuys vs North Hollywood. Southern's undefeated Jefferson Democrats vs Garfield in their first night game of the season.

COMPTON'S ACE—Full back Herman Stokes, who has scored in every game that the Compton College has played. He will lead his team against the powerful Pasadena Bulldogs in the game of the week.

COMPTON, PASADENA TUSSLE MAY DECIDE TITLE FOR BOWL

Herman Stokes, brilliant Compton College fullback, will lead his team against the powerful Pasadena College in what has been rated as the "Game of the Week." The tussle may decide the Western State Conference championship and a trip to the Little Rose Bowl, it will be played Friday night at East L.A. Stadium.

The two powers of the WSC have been at each other every year since 1929. The series favors Compton, 15, 8 and 3. Big rambling Stokes, "The Tartars" ace has scored a total of eight touchdowns and has scored at least one in every game played. While Stokes is the Tartars great offense threat, rugged A. C. Glenn leads the defense unit and his work in the line is sensational. Compton is counting on their brilliant defense unit to hold back the highscoring Bulldogs who have scored a total of 182 points in five games played and boost a undefeated loop record — while the Tartars sport a perfect league record.

The two schools have drawn the largest crowds in regular-season jaysee history. Jackie Robinson led the Bulldogs to a 20-7 win back in 1938 before 42,000, the largest crowd ever to attend a regular season game.

JOHNNY SAXTON WINS 33rd BOUT

MILWAUKEE — Johnny Saxton of Brooklyn won his 33rd straight victory last week with a fourth round t.k.o over Mario Trigo of Mexico City. Trigo was saved by the bell in the second and was floored again in the third round. He attempted to regain his footing but fell forward and the referee halted the bout at this point.

Harold Printers Pace Jefferson To 12-6 Victory

The Jefferson Democrats staged a spectacular fourth quarter rally to defeat the Manual Arts Toilers, 12 to 6, on Fulton Field.

Fullback Harold Printers made the longest run of the day when he galloped 66 yards for a touchdown, only to have it called back. Tackles Lloyd Hooks and Cornell Jackson threw the key blocks on Printers' long run.

Backs Jon Arnet and Armstrong were at their best for the Toilers, as Arnet ran beautifully and Armstrong caught a pretty pass to set up the Toilers' lone score. Willis carried the ball over on a quarterback sneak. Arnet missed the extra point. Manual ruled the first half and gained most of the yardage for the first two periods. At the half Manual seemed to be threatening to score again, but linebacker Willie Pennix threw Arnet for loops as he tried to run his side of the line.

Fired up after a half time pep talk, the Demos went out and played like champions as they held Manual to a net of minus 6 yards. Pictures were taken of this game and the Demos, like all Hollywood stars, came back in the last stanza to defeat the villians. Standouts for Jeff were Printers and Fennell in the back field as they went for much yardage through the Toilers' line.

NORTHERN GRID GAMES TO LURE MANY LOCAL FANS

SAN FRANCISCO — The bay area will get the big football games this week. Undefeated UCLA Bruins goes against once beaten California Bears in the important college set. In the pro ranks following the Sunday in Kezar Stadium, San Francisco 49ers will be trying to make it 14 wins in a row and six straight league victories when they face the Chicago Bears. Thousands of Angelenos are taking in this grid double bill. The 49ers, behind the stellar playing of Hugh McElhenny and Joltin' Joe Perry routed the Dallas Texans 48 to 21. Perry clicked off a 77-yard touchdown run in the second quarter. McElhenny went 83 yards in the third period and Buddy Young of the Dallas team scored on a 45 yards pass play from Bob Celeri.

It' the concensus of this pillar that the UCLA Bruins are the team to beat for the Arroyo Seco New Year's traffic jam. The Bruins defensive unit is as good, or better, than the Trojans. At the end of the first half in the Wisconsin game, the Badger team could only gain a net 6 yards on the ground. The Trojans caught the California Bears flat-footed in the first four minutes of the game and they could never get going. Wisconsin, on the other hand, was a fighting ball club at the start. They went to the air and whirled 97 yards. The Bruins snared five passes and turned two of them into scores. Old Man Misfortune greeted the Bears not only in the first four minutes of the play but repeatedly throughout the game. At times when they seemed well under way tearing SC's defense to threads, penalties or fumbles halted them in their tracks. While the boys from Westwood's hills were playing their usual daring game plus smart coaching by the able Red Sanders. The shrewd coach has been building his team in the direction of Pasadena since Spring and you can bet he concluded that the whole loop would be touch. His team is clicking like a well oiled machine.

Ike Jones is catching passes and faking like mad. His faking was a big factor when Cameron set up the Bruins' second TD with a 12-yard sprint around right end. He had previously passed to Jones. On the next play, fullback Cappy Smith went wide to the right as a flanker and Jones split to the left faking a catch and Cameron set sail for the yardage. It appears from where we are seated, and we do hope it isn't a cloud, that the Bruins will romp off with eleven straight.

PRO STUFF, Tank Younger, the rambling L.A. Rams' back, is evidently been doing allright as a footballer. He was suffering from mothering-in-law trouble resulting from being kidded about his poor showing with the Rams just before the team headeast, and almost spent 14 days in the slammers. His wife followed by filing a divorce suit against him. The Rams won their second straight game in a row last Sunday and the big Tank figured in both team victories. Last Monday his pretty wife rewarded him by dropping the divorce suit. Hamp Pool must be happy and thinking about a league playoff with new steam in the Tank.

The Tigers from Marshall, Texas gave way to the onslaught of the Lions early in the first period, and mounted four touchdowns that closed the quarter 28-0. Arkansas took a Texas punt on the 45 and did not relinquish it until scoring. On a fake handoff Winbush lateralled the ball to Clifford Bradford who passed to Dave Walton for the score.

FLORIDA EDGES PRAIRIE VIEW

DOAK S. CAMPBELL STADIUM, TALLAHASSEE—Frank Merriwell couldn't have written a better script last Saturday night as Charlie Herout booted a 35-yard field goal late in the fourth quarter to put the Florida A and M College Rattlers ahead of the Prairie View Panhers 10-7 for what proved to be the winning margin in a brilliantly played football game.

Some 8,000 fans saw the local squad build up a seven point lead during the second quarter only to have the Panthers tie the ball game at 7-7 in the third period.

Last year 450 people were killed in accidents involving autos and bicycles. National Safety Council figures show that 350 of these fatalities were betwen the ages of 5-14.

A FURTHER REPORT BY THE UAW—CIO FAIR PRACTICES AND ANTI-DISCRIMINATION DEPARTMENT

The UAW-CIO is dedicated to the practical day-to-day fight to abolish discrimination on the job front, to obtain early enactment and enforcement of the entire Civil Rights action program recommended by the President's Committee on Civil Rights and thereby to end the shameful, costly and weakening double standard of citizenship in America.

To wipe out every form of discrimination, we shall continue our work with the NAACP and other civic, religious and community organizations.

Specifically, we stand for and actively support:

- FEDERAL, STATE, AND MUNICIPAL FEPC WITH ENFORCEMENT POWERS;
- EQUAL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY WITHOUT SEGREGATION OR OTHER DISCRIMINATION;
- ANTI-POLL TAX LEGISLATION;
- ANTI-LYNCH LEGISLATION;
- EQUAL PUBLIC ACCOMMODATION BACKED BY LAW;
- MEASURES TO WIPE OUT DISCRIMINATION IN HOUSING AND ELSEWHERE THAT STILL FORCE SECOND-CLASS CITIZENSHIP UPON NEGROES AND MEMBERS OF OTHER MINORITY GROUPS.

THE GOP SELL-OUT ON CIVIL RIGHTS

The 1952 Republican platform and General Eisenhower have sold out civil rights.

No amount of high-powered advertising can rub out or cover up this fact.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM SOLD OUT CIVIL RIGHTS BY—

(1) retreating from the 1948 and 1944 pledges for a Federal FEPC and

(2) keeping silent on abolishing the FILIBUSTER, now protected by the GOP-Dixiecrat gang in the Senate.

GENERAL EISENHOWER SOLD OUT CIVIL RIGHTS BY—

Saying again and again that Federal FEPC legislation is bad.

He did not bother to state in what years or century his method of education and local action would get Negroes jobs in those states where employment offices are still closed to Negroes, or are open only on a Jim Crow basis.

His silence on the filibuster echoes the silence of the Republican platform. In the ears of all who are fighting for full civil rights, this silence speaks louder than words.

THE PAY-OFF CAME OCTOBER 1 IN COLUMBIA, S. C.—

When General Eisenhower and Governor James Byrnes of South Carolina met, had lunch and embraced each other's political philosophy to the extent that Governor Byrnes declared that he will vote November 4 for General Eisenhower.

WHAT DOES THE BYRNES PAY-OFF MEAN?

Byrnes is the evil genius, the real brain and leader of the Dixiecrat movement. On March 16, 1951, he said that, if the United States Supreme Court decides against segregation in public schools in cases now before the high court, he will close the public schools in South Carolina. Here are Byrnes' own words:

> "Of only one thing can we be certain. South Carolina will not now, nor for some years to come, mix white and Negro children in our public schools . . .
> "If the court changes what is now the law of the land, we will abandon the public school system."

Byrnes, a former Justice of the Supreme Court, tries to intimidate that Court in a pending case. He attacks the Court's possible verdict in advance.

Eisenhower could not have made the Republican alliance with the Dixiecrats plainer than he did by his personal surrender on October 1 to the Dixiecrats' commander-in-chief.

James Byrnes, the Dixiecrat Governor of South Carolina, wrote General Eisenhower's Columbia, S. C. speech delivered October 1, according to NEWSWEEK Magazine. In its October 13 issue, NEWSWEEK said Byrnes, "the Truman-hating Dixiecrat," shipped the speech to Eisenhower's New York headquarters and it was accepted.

THE GENERAL SURRENDERS TO THE DIXIECRATS

COLUMBIA, S. C.—General Eisenhower made a pilgrimage to Columbia, to surrender to Governor James Byrnes, the evil genius of the Dixiecrat movement. The magazine NEWSWEEK reported October 13 that Byrnes wrote the speech Eisenhower delivered in Columbia on October 1, the day this picture was taken.

"WE ARE NOT GOING TO TURN THE CLOCK BACK," SAYS H. S. T.

President Truman, speaking in New York, October 11, 1952, said: "You and I are not going to let this happen. We are not going to turn the clock back.

"While the Republican candidate is whispering promises to you, he's been touring the South to woo the Dixiecrats into the Republican fold. What do you think the Republican candidate and Dixiecrat Governor talk about when they sit down together for lunch? Do you think they talk about civil rights? I think maybe they talk about taking them away.

"You can draw your own conclusion when the Dixiecrat Governor announces after the lunch, he's going to vote Republican this year."

"SUPPORT STEVENSON," SAYS MRS. F. D. R.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said October 20, 1952: "We have seen General Eisenhower agree with Gov. Byrnes, gladly accept him as an ally in the South. And yet the Republican Party is appealing for the Negro vote on the basis of being for civil rights. The two don't go together.

"Adlai E. Stevenson has shown us a quality of courage and integrity which is not often seen in political life."

Mrs. Roosevelt appealed to every citizen who believes in Civil Rights to support Stevenson.

IT'S EASY TO MAKE A CHOICE NOVEMBER 4

AGAINST CIVIL RIGHTS

THE 1952 REPUBLICAN PLATFORM, drafted to accommodate the Dixiecrat gang, ran out on earlier GOP pledges in 1944 and 1948 to support Federal FEPC. The 1952 platform avoided any pledge on FEPC or ending the filibuster. In President Truman's words: "It is the lousiest plank you ever read on the subject."

EISENHOWER, as long ago as 1948, opposed FEPC and opposed integration of Negro troops in the Armed Forces. Eisenhower now double-talks about "human rights" and says FEPC should be left to the states. Like the platform, he is silent on ending the filibuster. This means continuation under Republican-Dixiecrat rule of NO FEPC, NO Anti-Poll Tax Law, NO Anti-Lynch Law, NO Educational Equality, and NO unsegregated train travel.

FOR CIVIL RIGHTS

THE 1952 DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM talks straight. It pledges an effective Federal FEPC. It pledges action January 3, 1953 to break the filibuster roadblock (Rule 22) which now bars passage of FEPC and all other civil rights legislation.

STEVENSON supports a Federal FEPC with enforcement powers. Stevenson has pledged himself to support action to get rid of filibuster rule and to substitute majority rule, thereby opening the road for immediate enactment of effective FEPC, anti-poll tax, anti-lynch, equal accommodation and other civil rights legislation.

WE BELIEVE . . .

A VOTE FOR STEVENSON IS A VOTE FOR CIVIL RIGHTS

Duffy-Williams Reception Is Outstanding Occasion

The home of Mrs. Joseph Duffy at 2425 Sixth Ave. was a bevy of activity from six until ten o'clock last Sunday evening. A stream of guests were continually coming and going in response to the wedding reception invitations issued by Mrs. Duffy in honor of her daughter, Lillian Frances, and Zack Williams.

The bride, a native of Toledo, Ohio, has taught in the Los Angeles city school system since 1943, in Lafayette and also Gompers Junior High Schools. She is a member of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. Mrs. Williams was attired in white lace with gold accessories. Her matching gold and rhinestone earrings and necklaces were gifts from the groom. Her rolex gold bracelet watch was bought in Switzerland when Lillian spent the summer last year. Gold sandals and two exquisite orchids with gold centers completed her costume.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Florence Williams of Oakland, and the late Robert L. Williams. Williams, a native of California, graduated from McClymonds High School and continued his education at the University of San Francisco. He majored in physical education, making outstanding records as a track and football star.

In the reception line were the mother of the bride, attired in a gown of rose lace, the mother of the groom in navy blue lace, the sisters of the bride, Mamie, Laura and Ethel, in slipper satin, the sister of the groom, Mrs. Geraldine Lilly in black lace, and the niece of the groom, Mrs. Gwendolyn Green in taffeta. Others in the receiving line were Paul, M. Jackson, who originally introduced the bride and groom to each other, Mrs. Edward Williams, Miss Eloise Jackson, Mrs. Frances Duckett and Mrs. Blanchett.

Among the hostesses were spotted Mrs. Anne O'Ferrel, Mrs. Eva Skanks, Mrs. Margaret Beard, Mrs. Mollie Lawson, Mrs. Nellie Gilchrist and Miss Inez Franklin.

Mrs. Laura Brewer officiated at the piano.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Dunlap of San Diego, Miss Jean English of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Green of Berkeley, and Mesdames Florence Williams, Aurelia Miner and Geraldine Lilly of Oakland.

Among the many guests were noticed Mesdames Maude Rambeau, Mary Prickette, Minnie Lomax, Josie Llewellyn, Nellie Smallwood, Margaret Moore, Claudebelle Parker, Laura Forrester, Vassie Wright, Anita J. DOINGS ABOUT TOWN

The Ambassador hotel held a circle of real friends of the community last Wednesday morning when the Women's Committee of the Welfare Federation presented George Beavers, Jr. with a medal of honor for his outstanding work in community welfare. Besides stars of stage and outstanding members of the Welfare Council were Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Mrs. De Witt Turpeau, Libby Clark, Ida Miller, Urban League Board Member, Juanita Miller and of course George's proud wife, Lola Beavers.

Jack and Jill had a three-point program Saturday when at eleven o'clock the 2-6'ers donned their masks and guns and proceeded to the spacious grounds of the Dr. Wm. Henry Atkinson's castle—spouse Florence was the chairman and ably assisted by her committee they scared goblins and devoured party fare until nap time—2 o'clock.

As the clock struck 7:30 the 7-10 group emerged form their lairs and presented a picture of uninhibited activities at Denker playground—under the capable supervision of Willa Jean Lewis.

A more serious note was struck when the teenager group 14-17 were confronted with a round-table discussion of Teen-Age Problems. Headed by psychiatrist Dr. Jean Bordeaux as moderator the panel consisted of Joanne Garland, Haroldine Browning Brewington, Bill Henderson, USC Political Science major—Julia Murrell was chairman assisted by a hard-working committee—Teen age problems and Teen-age parents (who present as much a problem if not moreso than their offspring) were brought out in the open and discussed in a wonderfully healthy atmosphere.

Incidentally, Jack and Jill organizer Emily Brown Portwig has been called by the national president to install the newly organized Phoenix chapter.

The Add Club will welcome one member from her travels around the World, Hilda Allen, and Bon Voyage another couple the George Hurds of Santa Monica who will explore the land of the pesos for three months.

The Little Club was royally entertained by Mrs. Newell Eason, a perfect hostess to her club members and guests present. They included Mesdames Warner Wright, Earl Broady, Eugene Hardimon, Tom Griffin, Elvin Neal and Harold Young.

The generous and thoughtful Elois Davis invited a few of her myriads of friends for brunch and to meet the fabulous Mary Jackson of Beaumont, Texas—you'll remember the Jacksons of Ebony Magazine fame. Relaxation and the enjoyment of close friends was the keynote interesting sidelight was Baby Jase Weaver's account of the reaction that the bigwigs at Ciro's had

Fraternal Leaders Meet in Cleveland

Much public attention is focused on Cleveland as plans are rounded out for the joint conventions which will bring 5000 Greek-letter organization members to that city Dec. 26-30. Local Greek groups have been busy for months, planning the joint conventions of the member groups of the American Council on Human Rights. Over the past weekend, the city was host to several persons influential in the planning of the mammoth event.

The Grand Board of Directors of Kappa Alpha Psi held an all-day meeting Sunday at Hollenden Hotel, its chief purpose being the formulation of an agenda of the Kappa Conclave during the joint conventions. Meeting with local Kappa men were Past Grand Polemarch James E. Scott of Washington, D. C.; present Grand Polemarch Frank Sommers of East St. Louis, Illinois; Grand Keeper of Records and Exchequer J. Ernest Wilkins, Jr., of White Plains, New York; Dr. Ezra D. Alexander and Guy L. Grant of Indianapolis, Indiana, founders, and members of the Grand Board of Directors; and Dr. G. Cecil Lewis of Danville, Illinois, James T. Carter of Washington, D. C., and W. Dickerson Donnelly, publicity director of Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee. Meeting with these gentlemen was Lawrence J. Powell of Cleveland, East Cntral Provincial Director, and members of the local planning committee.

One of the key figures in the convention planning is Mr. Scott, chairman of the board of directors of the American Council on Human Rights, who was largely responsible for the idea of the joint conventions of 1952. He serves as national convention co-chairman, along with Lowell Henry, president of Delta Lambda Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha, Cleveland.

Another planning session was held in Cleveland when Mrs. Sallie Nuby Edwards of Los Angeles, Grand Basileus of Sigma Camma Rho Sorority stopped off en route from the A.C.H.R. Board meeting in Washington, D. C. She met with the membership of Alpha Lambda Sigma Chapter, the Sigma Gamma Rho hostess chapter, heard reports from convention committee chairmen, and planned with them the detail of their individual Boule. Mrs. Leonora Yancey, at whose home the meeting was held, is the local basileus, and Mrs. Beatrice W. Fox of Cleveland, who serves as convention secretary, is also national secretary of Sigma Gamma Rho.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority's Boule plans were reported to a conference of basilei and graduate advisers called by the Great Lakes Regional Director, Mrs. Fanette Norris of Detroit, over the weekend. The conference was held on the campus of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, and presenting the convention picture were Mrs. Caribell J. Cook, Basileus of Alpha Omega Chapter, Miss Naomi Adams, Basileus of Omega Chapter, and Miss June Gilliam, graduate adviser. Mrs. Cook had conferred during the previous weekend with Mrs. Laura Lovelace of Cincinnati, Supreme Basileus of Alpha Kappa Alpha, on the agenda and arrangements for their Boule. Intense interest in the Boule was shown at the regional workshop, and it is reported that whole chapters in the Great Lakes Region are planning to attend. One of the weekend workshops was led by Dr. Marie Edmunds, a Hungarian specialist in group dynamics, recently initiated by Alha Rho Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha in Detroit.

A direct result of the Board meeting of the American Council on Human Rights was an audience granted them by President Harry S. Truman at which time they extended to him an invitation to speak before the Public Meeting in Cleveland, December 28, when he will be cited for "distinguished, immeasurable contributions to the cause of civil rights." The public meeting promises to be one of the highlights of the convention week. It is to be held at Cleveland's Public Auditorium with a seating capacity of over 10,000.

Halloween Fun For Families At Playgrounds

Approximately 290,000 witches, ghosts, spooks, hob-goblins, and other weirdly attired merrymakers are expected to throng more than 100 Los Angeles municipal playgrounds Friday night, October 31, to participate in the evening-long series of fun-packed activities which will await them at the play centers' "bigger-and-better" 1952 Halloween carnivals, it was reported yesterday.

Sponsored by the City Recreation and Park Department and community civic committees, the gala carnivals have as their twin slogans "fun for the whole family" and "the place to be seen on Halloween is the Los Angeles municipal playground nearest your home," according to George Hjelte, general manager of the Recreation and Park Department.

Getting under way at dusk, when huge bonfires are ignited, the festive carnivals will offer costume parades for tiny tots; games, contests, and thrilling trips through "haunted" houses for older children; and dancing on brilliantly illuminated tennis courts and in community clubhouses for teen-agers and adults—all amid the glow of colored lights and the glare of the giant bonfires.

Highlights of the funfests will include vaudeville acts, music, feats of magic, and other entertainment on outdoor stages; apple-bobbing contests; tugs-of-war; and greased-pole climbs.

Lemonade, popcorn, hot dogs, cotton candy, and other Halloween-type "goodies" will be available at nominal prices in gaily decorated carnival booths.

In preparation for the playground Halloween carnivals, which have been credited by Chief of Police W. H. Parker with changing the Los Angeles observance of the spooky occasion from a night of destruction and vandalism to one of wholesome fun for everyone, tremendous stocks of burnables have been assembled for the bonfires, locations of which have been designated by the Los Angeles Fire Department, and vast numbers of volunteers have been given their assignments for duty in various capacities.

The Recreation and Park Department and the community committees sponsoring the carnivals reminded Angelenos that every member of the family is invited to visit their neighborhood playground and join in the fun.

PTA to Hold Fall Carnival

Plans for the Fall Carnival, to be held Friday, November 7, were discussed by the executive board of the Ascot Avenue Parent Teachers Association at their last meeting which was presided over by president, Mrs. James Rials. Membership chairman, Mrs. Dotra Johnson, is hopeful for one hundred per cent attendance at this event.

Top Hatters Plan Benefit

The recent meeting of the Top Hatters Social Club, held at the home of Leonard Jackson, was one of much importance. Final arrangements for the club's forthcoming invitational dance to be held on Nov. 26 at the Zenda Ballroom, were made. The canned food donation, as in the past, will be the theme for the dance. Admittance will be by card and one can of food per couple. The club is asking that there be no soups, juices, or liquids donated. The proceeds are being given to the Outdoor Life and Health Association.

Bids will go in the mail about November 1. The club is asking that the men wear dark suits and the ladies semi-formal gowns. Music will be by Jeep Smith and the Jeepsters. Edward Greenwood is club prexy.

Leisure Time Activities for Young and Old

With their fall programs now in full swing, more than 100 Los Angeles municipal playgrounds are offering a wide variety of leisure activities for every member of the family, the City Recreation and Park Department reported.

Activities for children include boys' and girls' clubs; sports, games, and special events; dramatics, and handicrafts. Teenagers are participating in hobby crafts, club meetings, music and dramatics, organized sports, and folk dancing.

Playground activities for adults include "Slim and Trim" classes for women, the Recreation and Park Department's city-wide organized sports program for men, square and folk dancing, social events, handicraft classes, and meetings of "interest" groups, such as those whose members' hobby is collecting stamps.

Democracy Theme of Omega Week

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., announces its annual National Achievement Week Observance, Nov. 9-15. Theme — 'Democracy: Now or Ever?'

The frightening realization is the thought that America is fraught with the idea that we can sell the world "our way of life" by power of our might; that we need not strengthen our principles; but strentghen our arsenal. That our technical "know how" is sufficient to subdue the opposition and make him conform.

An adherence to such a concept may be the great weakness in our armor. The cry of the peoples of the earth today is "freedom." Freedom of the individual so that he may, without handicap of oppression, compete openly with his fellows; develop his personality to the fullest extent; and thereby make his contribution to the culture in which he finds himself.

Since the trend of world thought is in the direction of individual freedom; and since communism is holding this as a bait for world dominance; it is vital therefore, that America do two things: (1) Regear her thinking to the end that Democracy be revitalized for all to the point of superiority over communism; and (2) Do it now. It is quite appropriate therefore, that the Fraternity use as its theme this year "Democracy: Now, or Ever?

Major objectives of 1952 National Achievement Observance:

(1) To show that unless democracy makes a genuine bid for world leadership, the pendulum of ideologies may swing to so far in the other direction,

(2) To make clear that our problem is not one of insufficient funds for "the Voice of America" but, rather one of something convincing to say to the rest of the world,

(3) To sell the idea to ourselves that unity at home can and will defeat the common foe.

(4) To convince America that "the time is now." We may never get this opportunity again.

(5) To suggest methods of both stimulation and activation into a dynamic program of practical democracy across the board.

Lambda, and Lambda Omicron, Los Angeles Chapters of Omega Psi Phi fraternity, have announced a series of public programs during the week of Nov. 9-15 at which time "Outstanding Omega Men" of Southern California will be presented by Dr. H. R. Butler, 1951 award winner.

Another important phase of "National Achievement Week" is the annual National High School Essay Contest, which is open to all high school seniors.

The essay must be entitled: "Practical And Immediate Steps Toward An Improved Democracy." It must be original, between 700 and 750 words.

Students may secure further information from their local high schools or by calling the Omega Psi Phi fraternity house.

IN THE TRADITION—White and gold chrysanthemums colored the background when Miss Bettye Louise Maxwell became the bride of Airman Third Class Marvin Edward Bryant. Preceding the bride was Miss Barbara Johnson, maid of honor. James Crawford stood with the groom. The quiet ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Williams. The bride is a graduate of Los Angeles Academy and a student of Los Angeles City College.

YWCA Announces Teen-Age Program

Girls who are new at Jordan High School this year were invited this week to become better acquainted with the school and their fellow students by joining a YWCA-sponsored Y-Teen club.

In issuing the invitation, Gertha Davis, president of the Y-Teen Inter-Club council, said membership in any of the five Y-Teen clubs at Jordan High is the quickest way for newcomers to make friends and become active in school affairs.

The clubs are sponsored, she said, by the Watts area of the Los Angeles Young Women's Christian Association, and membership is open to any teen-age girl.

In addition to regular weekly meetings, the Y-Teens have a full schedule of fall events, Gertha Davis said, including dances, week-end trips and special club projects.

Complete information on Y-Teen Club membership and Teen activities may be obtained from Lynne McIntyre, teen-age program director, by calling LO. 9-8711 between 1:15 and 5:15 p.m.

These clubs will shortly release more detailed information on their plans and objectives for the year.

Eagle's Guest

after the Link's fabulous affair —never in their experience had they witnessed a more model assembly, beautiful and well-mannered above and beyond any group that had ever hired them en masse.

At this writing Eagle Publisher, Loren Miller is completely floored with the virus bug—hope he rallies to the cause and is much better soon.

FAIRY TALE

Once there was a lovely society matron bored with nothing to do applied for a stock room job in a Beverly Hills glamourhouse. The personal director looking over her excellent qualifications asked her why she low-rated herself thusly and promptly placed her in charge of an office unit!!! The place? Lane Bryant's.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

The super elite will be masked to the teeth when the League of Allied Arts drape themselves over the fabulous Grecian balcony of the Starlite Roof for their annual Beaux Arts Ball—this is absolutely an If-You-Ain't-There —You-Just-Don't-BELONG - type thing. Seriously, it's loads of Fun. This year the club members theme will be the cast of characters from the opera Carmen (wonder who will be de booo!?) but for the patrons the theme is general—which means anything from Mickey Mouse to Mary Magdalene. The cause celebre—scholarships for the city's most promising artists—as year's winner is still abroad. Incidentally, there will be a fabulous prize for the club presenting the most provocative entry.

NICE GESTURE

The Negro Art Theatre's Open House once a month that forges the bonds of mutual interests and an exchange of ideas and whot's hoppening in the theatrical world—Lena Torrance's maison was the setting this month and a more wonderful bunch of kids you couldn't find. And if you didn't see Joel Fluellen in "Billy Budd" at the Pasadena Playhouse you missed a real treat—he was a stellar attraction with absolutely no reference to his racial identity.

ADD SMALL-WORLD CLICHES

Ruth Attaway, winding up her terrific role in "The President's Lady" with Susan Hayward, happens to be the daughter of a physician in Greenville, Miss., who was a very dear friend of friend husband's father 15 miles away in Indianola, Miss. and said husband went to U of Illinois with said Ruth's sister—soooooo one night, they called Mississippi and chatted about the OLD DAYS—(hate to see that phone bill).

Eugene Swayne ANSWERS

My fingernails split on the ends after so long. What can I do to stop this?

If you would try a series of manicures it would help.

I have little white spots coming on my face, arms and neck. Would facials help remove this?

No. First see your physician. Makeup might hide the spots you get the right blend of base and powder.

My beautician tells me that due to the fact I am nervous my hair will not hold a curl. I realize I am nervous, but is this true?

Nervousness will affect your hair in many ways such as causing it to have little elasticity, to fall or to break off.

Noted Jazz Artists Hold Jam Session

The nation's most successful jazz concert troupe, Norman Granz's "Jazz at the Philharmonic," will make its annual appearance here at Shrine Auditorium on Nov. 7. Now a tradition in jazz annals, JATP began its 13th countrywide tour on September 12th and will spend ten weeks playing 57 major cities in the States and Canada followed by 3 ground-breaking concerts in Honolulu and 2 in Alaska.

Last Spring, Granz took his JATP troupe to Europe for four weeks, playing the large cities in Sweden, Denmark, France, Holland, Belgium, Germany and Switzerland. This initial tour on foreign territory drew throngs of eager fans and received front page newspaper ovations in each city in which the unit appeared. They broke all existing records for American jazz bands or attractions in Europe, and Granz has now signed contracts for a six-week tour of Europe for the Spring of '53.

"Jazz at the Philharmonic" roster of jazz talent this year is more impressive than ever before. On deck will be such great stars as: Ella Fitzgerald, The Gene Krupa Trio, Buddy Rich, The Oscar Peterson Trio, Flip Phillips, Lester Young, Roy Eldridge and Charlie Shavers. Ray Brown, Hank Jones, Barney Kessel and Willie Smith will also be featured on the program.

Goodman and Henderson in Band Reunion

There was a rapturous reunion at Columbia's 30th Street recording studio this week when Benny Goodman invited a group of his 1937-38 band members to hear some music they had played together—and forgotten.

Huddled around the Columbia studio loudspeaker with Benny were vocalist Helen Ward, and sideman Hymie Shertzer, and Arthur Rollini, as well as a special and distinguished guest, the band's incomparable singer, Fletcher Henderson, still recuperating from a long illness. The turntables in the control room began to whirl; the studio was filled with the exciting strains of never-recorded five-minute-long "St. Louis Blues" Henderson arrangement. Present company was enchanted, to put it mildly, as they heard more selections from a new Columbia Benny Goodman Jazz Concert album, containing the cream of a crop of 1937-38 evening radio broadcasts.

THEATRE

THIS IS GOING TO BE ALL RIGHT!—Appreciative smiles on the faces of B.V.A. members and friends watching a recent rehearsal for the club's mammoth benefit show slated for the Florentine Gardens Saturday, November 29th, indicate whatever is happening on that stage is both amusing and delightful. Spotted among the show girls and fellow performers who have volunteered their talents for the production, are club patrons Attorney Walter Gordon, Steve Lockett, West coast representative for the Joe Louis Bourbon, the Pittsburgh Courier's Libby Clark whose attention is momentarily diverted by Ruth Mills, Andre of Andre's Charm School and Maxie Thrower of Vina's Cafe. Tickets are on sale for the affair and going fast. The public is urged to make their reservations early.

RED CAPS' HALLOWEEN BARN DANCE TO BE TOPS

The popular Red Caps are holding their first social affair of the 1952 season. The Red Caps are well known in the community and any one entering or leaving the Union Station has seen their smiling faces.

The affair is set for Halloween night, Oct. 31, at the Masonic Hall and the club plans to give cash prizes for the best dressed couple and instruced the men to wear jeans and awfully loud shirts while the ladies are invited to wear their very best cotton dresses.

The affair has all the indication that it will be a lively one. The officers of the Red Caps are: J. Corther, M. Cheatman, and H. P. Parker, business manager, and Allen (Polka Dot) Jeffries, public relations, Bud Wilson treasurer. The Red Caps are calling their Halloween social a Barn Dance and the Masonic Hall will have all the trimmings of a real country barn. Don't miss this one.

Amos 'n' Andy 10,000th Airing On Nov. 16th

A significant milestone in radio history will be celebrated over CBS Radio Sunday, Nov. 16, when "Amos 'n' Andy" chalk up their 10,000th broadcast.

This figure was determined by the two comedians after going through the files of years and listing broadcasts and rebroadcasts, interviews at local stations, special charity and relief drive performances and overseas broadcasts.

For their 10,000th broadcast, Freeman Gosden and Charles Correl, the flesh-and-blood men behind "Amos 'n' Andy," plan a program recreating the highlights of their show over a quarter century.

Through the program will parade the most famous of the more than 190 characters they have created.

For years, Gosden and Correll wrote all their own scripts and played all the parts. Now they have a staff of writers and many fine supporting players. But they still participate in the script writing and play numerous roles other than Amos and Andy. A 15-piece orchestra is conducted by Jeff Alexander, in contrast to the simple theme music of their earlier days.

Brown-Ford Show Starts Eastern Tour

NEW YORK — The Charles Brown-Billy Ford package is moving eastward this week on a sensational one-nighter tour which will take the group through Alabama and Tennessee for the duration of October. Ford and Brown, one of the top drawing Rhythm and Blues teams, paired up last month, opening their dual-billed act in Texas. Reports indicate that the 45-day tour of the package will rack up a near-record gate-receipts report.

Friends Mourn Death of Actress Hattie McDaniel

by study and experience—that was Hattie McDaniel.

First Appearance Here

We first met when I was staging nightly and Sunday vaudeville shows in 1931 for the Gore Brothers at the old Tivoli Theater, now the Bill Robinson. "My sister Hattie has just come in from Denver, Harry," said Sam, her brother, whom I had met long before on the old TOBA circuit.

"She's just in from our home town and we will both appreciate it if you will introduce her to the Tivoli audience. I am going to try to get her on our Perfection Do-Nut program over KNX, and hope as she becomes known, she will get some movie work," he said.

Of course, I presented her gladly, and as she sang that night with the late Sarah Butler's Old Time Southern Singers, her sparkling smile and naturalness at once won the applauding audience.

Great Day

A few days later she met me, joyfully exclaiming that she had worked as a movie extra that day for the $7.50 then being paid for "atmosphere" players. Before long she was much in demand for this type work, because she had been on the stage since childhood, and had been a featured entertainer in vaudeville, until the Pantages, the Orpheum, the all-colored TOBA circuit, and others faded out.

Soon she had her own radio program with McVey's band, called "Hi-Hat Hattie and Her Boys." She rose rapidly into dialogue "bit" parts in the movies, following her first two with Marlene Dietrich and Ginger Rogers, and became a favorite at Twentieth Century-Fox, after she obtained a contract there. Her largest role in that period was her "queenie," to Paul Robeson's "Joe" in Universal's "Show-boat."

Highest Achievement

Among others in her long career of some 300 pictures were Warners "Till The Clouds Roll By," Paramount's "Judge Priest" series, "The Little Colonel," "The Male Animal," "Margie," "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie," "Janie Gets Married," "The Great Lie."

The climax of her success was when she became the first Negro to receive an Academy Award, for her supporting role in Selznick's "Gone With the Wind."

She accepted this high honor modestly and gracefully several years later when Jimmie Baskette became the first Negro man to win an Academy Award, in 1947, she rejoiced in his success. One of the best motion picture assignments Miss McDaniel received, was when Walt Disney Studio sent her and the late Anita Brown to Arizona under contract for a month's work on location in "Song Of The South."

When the United States entered World War II, Hattie worked actively in war work, serving as a captain in the uniformed American Women's Volunteer Service.

Miss McDaniel's first Los Angeles home was on 43rd street. Later, after she had gained prominence, she purchased the second home sold to Negroes on famed Sugar Hill. It was a two-story mansion at 22nd and Harvard.

In these sumptuous surroundings, she frequently entertained top Hollywood stars and people prominent in the musical world. Among those who trooped to her were such greates as Ethel Waters, Lena Horne, Cab Calloway, and Count Basie.

Two years ago, shortly before her final illness, Hattie sold her Harvard blvd. home and bought a modest eight-room residence on Country Club drive. She was married twice, but both times was divorced.

Hattie loved life and no doubt would have preferred to have enjoyed it much longer than she did. But the example of race pride, loyalty to friends and devotion to her art that she demonstrated will keep her memory fresh among all those who knew her.

SHOW BUSINESS

"Television: A device that permits people who haven't anything to do to watch people who can't do anything" . . . It's our guess that if Somerset Maugham hadn't said it, no one would have quoted it, but Somerset Maugham has observed, "In Hollywood the women are peaches—it makes one long for an apple occasionally" . . . Rex Harris tells us a lady asked Fats Waller what rhythm was. Fats flipped back, "Lady, if you have to ask, you haven't got it" . . . Then there's John Cameron Swayze's story about Louis Armstrong command performance on one of his European tours: Louis Armstrong was uncertain as to how to address the monarch, but, never a man long at a loss, he read the program carefully and noted repeated use of one word. Came the great night. Armstrong stepped to the front of the stage, raised his golden trumpet toward the royal box, and, in his best gravel voice called: "This one's for you, "Daddy-O."

People and Places

If Ike is my shepard, I shall be in want.
He will maketh me to lie down on park benches.
He will restoreth my doubt in the Republican Party.
He will guideth me in the path of unemployment,
For his party' sake.
Yes, though I walk through the alley of kitchens
I would be hungry.
I would be in fear, for thou would be against me.
The cabinet and the senate, they would discomfort me.
They would prepare a reduction in my wages,
In the presence of my creditors.
Surely poverty and hard times would follow me through
All the days of the Republican administration,
And I would dwell in a rented house forever.
Amen.

CHINA DOLL, a bang cut classy little westside number came very close to a battle the other eve. She latched on to the arms of an ex-big time boxing figure that a certain model had eyes for.

Seems like the champ went for her too as when the model caught up with them they were having dinner together at the Red Hut Broiler. A certain young man in the catering business offered the model a big bill to walk in and slap the doll face; she wouldn't go through with it. Giving us reason to think that the doll is on her way up now to be dropped later as flat as the model on his return visit. Which is slated for the second week in November.

B-GIRLS, not the kind you are thinking! . . . brave girls are the three popular ladies that are tossing a Witches Chitterling Switch on the 30th at 4818 Avalon. We used our awful private line to find out who they are. Wini Orr, Lorraine Garland and Maxie Sayles which tells us it should be a way out affair. I'll be swinging there.

ORCHIDS, to Eloise Patton and Ora McClain for just being nice people. Ora's chums would like her to recover from that cold she is suffering.

BIG TEARS, came from the eyes of a certain well known waitress on her birthday. Tears came when she was overjoyed by a dozen big red roses. Tears came when she motored out to the airport to bid her lover bon voyage only to find the job being well filled by another.

SOAP SUDS, and the peasants aren't picking up the numeral name beer as fast as they formerly did. Seems like they are silently protesting the firm's ignoring the many fine sepia radio shows by selecting Alex Cooper to air its all Negro TV show. Few radio listeners will will Joe Adams, KWOL shows, Bill Sampson, Robin King Brun, Jerry Hemphill, and Charles Trammell. It seems awfully silly thinking by the company's front office to imagine that they should make all the money off the Negroes and yet slight them when they hand out the big fat contracts to guys like Alex Cooper, who only recently got caught playing more than a dozen or so sepia recordings and can't touch our disc masters when it comes to platters. We look to see Jack Fortson's job get tougher. Better wise the boys up downtown, Jack, cause I've switched to Earl Griffin's Budweiser.

LA TANYA, is silently getting together five numbers for Gladys Hampton to wear during the fall. Gladys is paying the tidy little sum of $37.00 a yard, just for coat material alone. Nice quiet work and the wages make Tanya's living very very good.

STEVE'S LIQUORS, you should try and make a habit of dropping in on one of our city's proudest young businessman. Steve deserves your support and once you drop by and meet him you will agree that he is a fine young man to do business with. We need more like him.

BUD MARSHALL, the handsome, looted, young Ascot street barber said, despite those rumors floating around the town to the effect he almost said yes to a ravishing brownskin, there's not a word of truth in it. He pointed out that it's been years since he attended a wedding for fear he might weaken.

BRANHAM, REV. JOHN, likes his football and Jefferson Democrats play so well they rate his attendance. From his congregation at the Jeff-Manual Arts game were such illustrious names as Officers Walter Goodlow, Chas. B. Scott, W. C. Harris and unofficers George Hyman, Tbie Robinson, Sam Davis, William LaMaster, the groceryman C. File. Three rows behind them was Rex (De Lawd) Ingram. Jeff finally won after three quarters of some awfully nice rooting by this group.

AL. AUSTIN, popular 54th and Central figure, was driving along with his wife last week when his car was rammed. He suffered two broken ribs and his wife suffered serious back injuries. Al is up and about while wife is still confined to the bed.

SUGAR RAY ROBINSON, former great boxing figure now launching a night club career, just paid $18,000 for a pure white convertible Caddie, with white upholstery. Brother, it's a lulu!

NORMA STORMS is giving up the westside for a trip east and the boys are asking each other why?

LENA GREEN, a brownskin number with plenty of everything in the right places, caused a mild rumble when she stepped daintily about the Bubaiyst Room the other eve.

JOE MORRIS, the Club Alabam operator, is bringing big names back to the avenoo. November 11, Foxx & White return with the Ravens, plus Savannah Churchill, Nov. 25, The Blazers with J. C. Hurd Ork. The Blazers are riding high on their hit record, Mary Jo.

JOE HARRIS, Courier's columnist, is creating rave notices with his Saturday night air show from the newly remodeled Cosmo night spot.

WHAT'S UP? A certain West Adams Room is getting to be one of the favorite spots for some of William Parker' grey boys. Wonder what is wrong with the joints on Sunset or Hollywood? O'yeah, lest we ferget, they are owned and operated by the Morrisons and the Sherrys and that doesn't sound like Sam and Jackson.

CLASS PLUS, the art of making a good meal enjoyable is the manner in which it is served. The guys in the Hotel Watkins dining room really put their art in the works. To the fellows like Roy Washington, Don Brown, Lonnie and Ernie Eskridge, Henry Wilson, Geo. Green, Ike Lewis and Lurl Martin its a pleasure to dine with you.

CARL (SPEEDY) FULLER, dapper San Francisco figure, motored into town with his attractive wife. Miller Harkless took them into tow along with Mrs. Harkless and they did up the town madly. Harkless operates the Miller Service Station at 480 North Western and Speedy will soon open the Regal Club next to the popular Booker T. Washington Hotel in S.F.

DOROTHY WIDEMON, cashier at People's Drug, exhausted after her enjoyable San Francisco trip. She found Bagdad by the Bay awfully interesting and may sneak off to the majic old city anytime now.

The Unrest In Africa

News from South Africa, from the Gold Coast and from British and French colonies reflects the fact that a wave of unrest is sweeping over Africa.

That unrest is bottomed on the fact that Africans are sick and tired of exploitation and that they're in a mood to do something about it. They're not going to accept segregation any longer. They're not going to be satisfied with having their wealth siphoned off to provide luxury and well being for a handful of whites.

We're sure that Americans can understand that kind of sentiment. One the proudest boasts of our own history is that we rebelled against England and carved out our own destiny and our own freedom. Africans who hold those same sentiments deserve our support and our sympathy.

As is to be expected, the Reds are trying to make political capital out of African discontent. They are pursuing the same policy they followed in Asia where they seized leadership of Asian independence movements. They were able to do that, because the free nations did nothing to help exploited Asians.

They will do the same thing in Africa unless the free nations wake up and move quickly to satisfy the legitimate demands of the Africans.

The free world lost China and many other portions of Asia because they turned their backs on the demands of the Asians for land reforms and for a fair share of the wealth they produced. They must not make that same mistake in Africa.

American Negroes ought to take the leadership in trying to forge a new attitude toward African strivings for a voice in the government of their own lands and for the abolition of age old color barriers that keep them powerless and helpless.

We American Negroes are fighting a facet of that same battle right here. We can understand what is involved and we ought to try to interpret that sentiment to other Americans.

The United States has a powerful voice in world councils. What it says and does about Africa will prove decisive. It is up to us to see that our country takes the correct stand.

New Day A'Coming

More than a million Negroes will cast their votes in the South this year.

The manner in which they cast their ballots will probably prove decisive in many state elections. In Texas, for example, there are more than two hundred thousand Negro voters on the rolls.

Those two hundred thousand Texas Negroes can determine how Texas will cast her electoral votes and most of them will go along with Adlai Stevenson.

There are almost a hundred thousand Negroes registered to vote in South Carolina and they will probably supply the loss that Stevenson will sustain as a result of Governor Byrnes' support of Eisenhower.

Similar figures obtain in other southern states and it is ironical that the Solid South will remain solid for the Democrats because of what Negro voters will do.

Before another presidential election rolls around the number of Negroes on southern voters' rolls will probably double or even triple.

This continued and steady increase of Negro voters will certainly give pause to Dixie politicians and cause many of them to abandon the outworn White Supremacy racket. Within the next few years we venture the prediction that white southerners will be campaigning for office on the basis of their support for civil rights.

The Attack On Pearson

The attempt to drive Drew Pearson from the air is another example of the spirit of intolerance that is abroad these days. The common answer to those with whom we disagree is to try to stifle their voices.

Pearson has been outspoken in his column, on the radio and over television. Some times we have believed that he was wrong in the stands that he has taken.

That doesn't alter the fact that he has been a very healthy influence in American life. Time and again he has exposed crooks in political and business life and his exposés have helped put some of them in prison where they belong.

Back of the drive to still his voice is the hatred he has engendered because of his stand on the current presidential race. He has been one of the leaders in exposing Richard Nixon's double dealing and the powerful interests backing Nixon don't like it. Their answer to the charges is the attempt to hush up Pearson.

From the Negroes' point of view the attacks on Pearson are doubly unfortunate. He was one of the first of the Washington correspondents to report accurately and fairly on matters of particular interest to us and he has kept up that practice over the years.

Where others ignored the civil rights fight or twisted and distorted the facts Pearson told the truth.

The silencing of Drew Pearson would be a tragedy for Americans and a disaster for Negroes.

Answer That Knock

Some time after November 10 one of your friends or neighbors will knock at your door and ask you to make a small donation to help yourself.

The solicitor won't put it that way. What you will be asked to do in plain words will be to give the most you can to the Community Chest.

The Community Chest isn't something far away, or an organization that exists for its own sake.

The Chest is the agency that collects gifts to keep our community organizations functioning.

A good example is the Los Angeles Urban League. The League isn't a spectacular organization that gets its name in the headlines very often. It does a day to day and week to week job of finding jobs for you and your friends and your neighbors in industry. It strives to break down barriers that prevent your full participation in the life of Los Angeles.

The League gets its funds from the Community Chest and some portion of every dollar you give will go to the League to enable it to do a better job next year than the excellent one it did this year and that it has done for twenty-five years.

That example could be multiplied many times. Chest supported agencies affect every phase of our lives.

When the Chest solicitor comes around give what you can to help yourself and your family and your neighbors.

Cast Your Vote Tuesday

All of our readers know where we stand on the various issues and candidates on the November 4 ballot.

We hope that all of you agree with us and that all of you will vote as we have suggested next Tuesday.

However we hope that you will vote even if you think that we're all wet on every issue and one hundred per cent wrong on all candidates.

Negroes have fought a long and bitter battle for the right to vote in the United States. It took a Civil War to abolish the color bar in voting.

Ever since that time we've been fighting in the courts, in the legislatures and on the battle ground of public opinion for our right to vote.

There are no strings on that right in California. Everybody who is registered is eligible to cast his ballot on November 4 and every person who doesn't exercise that right does a disservice to all of us.

Be sure that you vote and urge your neighbor to cast his ballot next Tuesday.

MANHATTAN AND BEYOND

It's an amazing inconsistency on the part of our press that so little attention has been given to a most important development in the State of California, since this development has to do with civil rights legislation and since civil rights legislation is given such high priority of interest in this hectic Presidential campaign.

Less than four years ago the issue of a state FEPC was referred to a voters' referendum in California and FEPC went down to a catastrophic three-to-one defeat. Except for the metropolitan centers of Los Angeles and San Francisco, there was no important support for the proposition; in the rural areas a tremendous majority was recorded in opposition.

Powerful Opposition

Of course, hindsight proved the advance warnings of experienced commentators to have been thoroughly justified. The proposition for a state FEPC never had a chance under the circumstances. There was a powerful and well-organized opposition. Support for the reform effort was confined to the more aware members of "minority groups," together with a part of the labor movement, the more socially-conscious church leadership and that heterogeneous political group known as "liberals." Many in these groups worked hard, but there were not enough of them.

Ranged with the opposition were a majority of the members of employers' organizations, most of the state's newspapers, (in fact, practically all!) the important farm groups, and the conservative wing of church leadership. In between the pro-FEPC and the anti-FEPC factions were probably a majority of the population. Whether they were tentatively inclined toward or against the proposed law, these voters were still pliable. They would vote the way of the crowd that got to them "fustest with the mosest."

Smothered Area

As the political realists had wisely warned would be the case, it turned out that the pro-FEPC-ers got there "the latest with the leastest." The anti's turned on the full force of their wel-financed organizations. They smothered the countrysides with posters—some of incredibly vicious character—and blanketed the air with radio denunciations of this "Moscow-made contraption, FEPC."

Because of their weak organization as well as because of their limited political know-how, the FEPC supporters confined their work to cities, and a few cities at that. The result was a complete defeat which many thought had settled FEPC's fate for the next ten years or more.

Changed Situation

Now the California Poll — a Golden State variation on the Roper and Gallup poll techniques —has come out with a finding on public opinion regarding FEPC in the State of California at the present time.

Released nearly two months ago, the poll's result shows that 61 per cent of the people would like to see a law passed that provides that "no one would be refused a job because of his race, color or religion." Of these supporters of an FEPC, approximately three-fourths favor a Federal law; the balance stop with a state law.

Opinion Shifts

Why has the balance of Californian public opinion shifted so radically in so short a time—from a three-to-one choice against FEPC to a three-fifths majority in favor of some fair employment law? Partly because American thinking on the subject has matured rapidly of late, probably. Partly because of the public education that has been going on while bills have been debated in Congress and state legislatures for the past few years. Probably because Californians with open minds can see that similar bills have been passed in other states and have been successful.

But "probably" isn't enough in this case. Before Golden State leadership tries again with an FEPC bill, it should know more of what has gone into this changing public trend, so that leadership can accelerate and protect that trend. There are scientific methods available for getting information of this sort. They cost money, but if a leadership is sincere about getting such a law passed in so important a field, that leadership will figure up what such a job will cost and present the public with its estimate. A public that won't pay for architect's plans can't really be serious about getting a construction job done. It's time to get down to brass tacks on FEPC.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

There are any number of issues affecting the Negro which have been discussed in the election campaign, but one among them has received little attention. This has to do with the cry of Communism, with the campaigning of Senator Poor Richard Nixon, and with the rantings of Senator Joseph McCarthy, the man who more than two years ago said there were 207 Communists in the State Department, but who, to date, has not uncovered a single one.

The Nixon-McCarthy, Communist-hunters are a danger to Negro citizens because we, too, have been the victims of group smearing. Every time we agitate for our rights as citizens someone rises up to accuse us of being communistic. If the Nixon philosophy should be established as policy by a Republican government it is fair to assume that Negroes would have a far rougher road to travel than they now have.

Who among us does not remember the wholesale accusations and suspensions involving Negro postal employes in various parts of the country? More than a dozen employes in Cleveland lost their jobs on disloyalty charges simply because they had continued to protest, over the years, against racial discrimination in their postoffice.

Who in Southern California does not remember the case of Frank Barnes of Santa Monica, who was suspended from his job in the postoffice because he, as an NAACP official, had joined other organizations in demanding employment for Negroes in a retail store?

It is true that these incidents took place under a Democratic administration. But Senator Nixon and the Republicans in this campaign are accusing the Democrats of being "too soft" on Communism. This could mean only one thing, namely, that if Nixon and the Republicans win, Negro protests on racial discrimination will get rough treatment and, more than likely be branded and dismissed as "communistic."

The one item that makes a democracy, however imperfect, preferable for minority groups is the opportunity to protest and demand and work for a change for the better. Negroes in America do not enjoy all their rights as citizens, but under our system we can keep fighting for improvements. We have won many great victories and have made a once unpopular cause almost popular. If we are now to enter an era where a political regime is to smother all protest by branding it as subversive, then neither we nor our white fellow citizens will be living in a democracy. America will no longer be the land of the free, but a land where the people are afraid to speak out.

We Negroes have been talking about civil rights, and rightly so. We have spoken of FEPC and the Senate filibuster rule. We have talked about discrimination and segregation, and lynching and the right to vote without a poll tax. All these are good yardsticks for candidates and parties. But at the same time we need to concern ourselves with the right to think and speak freely, the right to protest, the right to demand a change.

The Nixon-McCarthy principles which are supported by General Eisenhower and the Republican alarm among Negroes. The fight for equality will be difficult enough, no matter which party wins November 4. It will be doubly difficult if we have to battle a Nixon hysteria on Communism which blankets our legitimate fight with the fight which must be waged to root out the real Communists. Negro Americans are not Communists. They do not want these termites in the government. But neither do they want a Communist bugaboo dreamed up by McCarthy and Nixon, to block their path to full citizenship.

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

Well the chips are really down. This is it! The big question of whether we will go forward to a greater tomorrow with Adlai Stevenson, or retreat from the age of the little man to control by big business and the vested interest that will suck our economic structure dry and cause another economic collapse as we suffered under Republican rule and ruin right after Woodrow Wilson.

There is no question about it. America and the world are at the Crossroads. Will we be ruled by General Motors, General Electric, General Petroleum and General Eisenhower by leave of Senator Taft, or will the progressive program of the Democratic administration continue to its fruitful fullment.

Make no mistake about it. If we think hysteria is abroad in the land today, it will be nothing compared to what will happen if Ike wins and Nixon and McCarthy are turned loose on the land. No individual or institution will be safe. Everybody will go when the wagon comes.

The Republican strategy is to make a great to-do about Senator Sparkman. They know they can't sell Ike to the Negro, so they are trying to confuse the issue by pointing up Sparkman.

Many Fooled

It is a sad commentary, but far too many Negroes are being foled by that sort of smoke-screen.

As Al Smith said, "Let's look at the record."

Senator Sparkman voted against the civil rights program. No use to deny it, he did. Senator Sparkman is from Alabama. To vote for civil rights is to commit political suicide, and suicide is against the law in politics as well as in everyday life.

Civil Rights is a part of the whole picture of human rights.

Senator Sparkman voted for low cost housing. This is a direct benefit to minority groups who benefit the most by a housing program.

Senator Sparkman voted for the extension of the social security program. This is a direct benefit to Negroes as the groups to be included were domestic workers.

Senator Sparkman voted for increase in old age pensions.

Senator Sparkman voted for price and rent controls.

Senator Sparkman voted to raise the minimum wage.

All of these votes were directly beneficial to minority groups in the country, the Negro in particular.

Nixon on the other hand voted against FEPC.

Nixon voted against price controls.

Nixon voted for cutbacks in the Social Security program and fought the expansion program.

Voted to exclude 1,000,000 workers from the minimum wage protection. This would have excluded a large number of Negroes.

Twice voted against the "21 Day Rule" under which civil rights measures could be cleared for House action.

In other words Nixon has been against civil rights and all the social progress made under the Democratic administration.

Sparkman's vote on civil rights can be understood in the

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

Well, one of the toughest jobs for which we have volunteered recently was trying to find someone who would accept an "Ike and Dick" for president lapel button. While out in South Los Angeles last Friday we passed by an actual Eisenhower-for-president headquarters, the likes of which we have yet to discover on Central Avenue. An acquaintance called us in to "give us the works." However when she saw our Stevenson button in our coat lapel her enthusiasm slowed to a walk and we spent a few minutes in levity. Upon leaving I picked up an Ike button with the promise that I would try to find some one to wear it.

We worked at the job faithfully and, believe it or not, it is still in our pocket. There were no takers.

We are pleased to report that we have distributed over 600 Stevenson buttons in some 200 beauty shops, drug stores and barber shops in all parts of the community and found only four against wearing them. Two, inspite of being for Stevenson, and two being for the General. Strangely enough, one of the later two was in a shop next door to a Stevenson headquarters on Central Avenue. By-the-way, some 200 motorists accepted Stevenson Stickers when they were offered. No one said "no." Which appears to indicate that Stevenson is already "in" in minds of these neighbors — if only the people take time out to go to the polls.

It's Up To Us

Saturday afternoon we learned that in the 15th Congressional district the precincts in which Negro people are predominant didn't show up well in the recent "get 'em registered" effort. In fact some of the precincts of smaller populations registered more than they did. This is a sad commentary on people who spend so much time griping about their lot. Do they really believe that "Mr. Cholly" is going to look out for them? Not much.

This is a serious matter. But we had better be thankful to those of us who did register to vote. They are the ones who will save the neighborhood from abject disgrace when those cards are posted in the trees and posts on the night of Nov. 4 or early on the morning of Nov. 5. We do hope that those who have qualified to vote will let nothing stop them from doing so. They will have two hours off from their work in many cases for that purpose.

While serving in the polls during the primary election we noted that many people came in to vote for one candidate or for one proposition. Well, if you are short of someone for whom to vote just vote for Adlai Stevenson the Democratic candidate for president and for your Democratic candidate for Congress, if you have not then grown weary we would suggest that you give our good friend Kenneth Hahn a vote for Supervisor in the Second District. And vote "yes" on Proposition numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, "No" on 5, 6, 7, "Yes" on 8 and 9. We expect to vote "yes" on 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16; "No" on 17, 18, 19; "Yes" on 20, 21; "No" on 22; "Yes" on 23 and 24. If you have registered go to the poll. No one can take your place.

I CAN'T VOTE A TICKET WITH SPARKMAN ON IT!

NEW YORK Herald Tribune

The Sparkman Hypocrisy

...Sparkman's voting record is something the Democrats dare not mention and cannot defend. Here is how the Senator from Alabama voted on Civil Rights on twenty-three occasions since 1937:

April 15, 1937—To outlaw lynching. Senator Sparkman—No.
Jan. 10, 1940—To outlaw lynching. Senator Sparkman—No.
Oct. 13, 1942—To abolish the poll tax. Senator Sparkman—No.
May 24, 1943—To abolish the poll tax. Senator Sparkman—No.
May 26, 1944—Appropriation for $500,000 for fair employment practices during World War II. Senator Sparkman—No.
June 12, 1945—To abolish the poll tax. Senator Sparkman—No.
Feb. 21, 1946—To prohibit discrimination in funds for school lunch program. Senator Sparkman—No.
May 13, 1948—To eliminate Jim Crow in colleges in the South. Senator Sparkman—No.
June 7, 1948—To abolish segregation in the armed forces. Senator Sparkman—No.
June 7, 1948—To outlaw lynching as protection to members of the armed forces. Senator Sparkman—No.
June 7, 1948—To exempt members of the armed forces from payment of poll tax. Senator Sparkman—No.
March 11, 1949—To stop the filibuster in the Senate. Senator Sparkman—No.
March 17, 1949—To permit a majority to stop a filibuster. Senator Sparkman—No.
April 21, 1949—To prevent segregation in public housing. Senator Sparkman—No.
May 3, 1949—To deny Federal funds to Jim Crow schools. Senator Sparkman—No.
May 31, 1949—To stop segregation in the District of Columbia without a referendum. Senator Sparkman—No.
Jan. 18, 1950—To outlaw lynching. Senator Sparkman—No.
Jan. 18, 1950—To outlaw the poll tax. Senator Sparkman—No.
Jan. 18, 1950—To permit a vote on fair employment practices. Senator Sparkman—No.
May 19, 1950—To permit a vote on fair employment practices. Senator Sparkman—No.
June 21, 1950—To end segregation in the armed forces. Senator Sparkman—No.
July 12, 1950—To permit a vote on fair employment practices. Senator Sparkman—No.
March 7, 1951—To protect service men from assaults by civilians and local police. Senator Sparkman—No.

This is the same Sparkman who said in a speech at Mobile, Ala. on April 17, 1950: "I am against the civil rights proposals—always have been and always will be." This is the same Sparkman whom the Democrats propose for the second highest office in the land, while at the same time President Truman and Governor Stevenson profess to be crusading for civil rights. What sort of nonsense is this?

FACT!

The cost of living has never been higher and neither have your taxes!

YOU WILL UNDERSTAND

I think why I object to the idea of "white supremacy" ... why I object to a man who has voted many times against the outlawing of lynching ... and a man who voted "no" against the abolition of the poll tax ... and a man who voted "no" to end segregation in the Armed Forces. I am only one generation away from a deadly fear of the KKK and I don't believe a man who believes as strongly as Mr. Sparkman does in "white supremacy" should be the next V.P. of the United States. So I think you'll understand why I am going to vote for the Republican candidates this year.

Central Playground Set For Huge Halloween Fun

Everything is in readiness for the gala Hallowe'en carnival scheduled to be held at Central Playground, 1359 E 22nd St., it was reported yesterday by Joe Lewis, recreation director at the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department operated center.

The Central Playground fete is one of the more than 100 Halloween carnivals slated at Los Angeles City playgrounds which are expected to attract record-breaking throngs of merrymakers.

Promising visitors to the Central Playground Halloween carnival "more ghosts and spooks than a haunted house" and "more fun than a barrel of monkeys," Joe Lewis reiterated that everyone—tiny tots, older children, teen-agers, adults, and entire families—is invited to join in the festivities.

Launched by the lighting of the big bonfire at dusk, the evening-long Central Playground parade of Halloween fun will include a colorful costume parade for younger children, with prizes for various classifications of garb, games, sports, and typical Halloween contests, variety acts on an outdoor stage; visits to an eerie "haunted house," music, and dancing on the center's brilliantly lighted tennis courts, transformed for the gala night into an outdoor ballroom, and hosts of activities in the gaily decorated playground clubhouse.

Mrs. Leoa Harvey, chairman of the community committee in charge of the Central Playground carnival, pointed out that the playground Halloween carnivals have been credited by law enforcement officers with reducing vandalism and delinquency to a low point, while providing opportunities for a night of wholesome fun for everyone.

Actress Dies

try House hospital in San Fernando valley.

Her death was hastened by complications arising from a heart condition and diabetes.

Funeral Services

Funeral services were originally scheduled for the Angelus Funeral home, but were changed to the Independent Church of Christ, 1025 E. 18th street, in order to accommodate the hundreds of mourners who are expected to attend. The rites, which will be conducted at 1 p.m. Saturday, will be open to the public.

Miss McDaniel's film career included roles in some 314 movies both as a dramatic actress and comedienne.

Born in Wichita, Kas., the actress started her career as a vocalist with road shows in 1924. Her road to stardom, however, was not an easy one.

ODD JOBS

Miss McDaniel's rise was studded with one-night stands supplemented by between-show jobs as a waitress, dish-washer and cook. She often recalled that it was while working as a cook in a Milwaukee restaurant that she got one of her first real breaks.

Some patrons yelled for entertainment and the restaurant owner, knowing of her background, told Miss McDaniel: "Do something, quick."

Hattie grabbed the chance. She was so "quick" about it, she launched right into "St. Louis Blues" without even taking off her apron. The patrons loved it. They applauded again and again, demanded encore after encore. The proprietor gained a singer—and lost a cook. He kept her as an entertainer for the next three years.

Her first film role was "Queenie" in "Showboat." Others in the great career of Hattie McDaniel included: "Judge Priest," "The Little Colonel," "The Great Lie," the "Margie" series, the "Janie" series, "Never Say Goodbye," "Flame," Song of the South," "Mickey," "The Male Animal" and "George Washington Slept Here."

During her career she appeared as a maid in at least 83 films.

When she was 15 she won a Women's Christian Temperence Union Medal for elocution. It was then that she decided to become an actress. She was the daughter of a Baptist minister and had 12 sisters and brothers.

Miss McDaniel's survivors include a brother. Sam "Deacon" McDaniel, movie actor; a sister, Marian Mumphry, movie actress, and nephew, Elzie Emanuel, movie actor and entertainer.

Emanuel is one of the current sensations in the theatrical world. He can currently be seen in "The Snows Of Kilimanjora."

Sounding Off

light that he represents an Alabama constituency.

Nixon is from California. What's his excuse?

Now let's take a look at General Eisenhower.

Eisenhower publically opposed ending segregation in the armed forces. He publicly insulted Negroes by stating that they were not as good as white soldiers, therefore couldn't stand the competition and would all be buck privates.

He went to South Carolina and had lunch with Governor James Byrnes. They shook hands and smiled, then Byrnes announced he was supporting Ike. Byrnes is the same guy who will abolish schools in South Carolina rather than end jim crow schools. He and Ike saw eye to eye.

Another bigoted race hater is Senator Harry Byrd. He and Ike are real chummy. He likes Ike and is supporting him.

Governor Shivers of Texas has embraced Ike. Another top Dixiecrat. A man is known by the company he attracts. They like Ike because he thinks like they do and make no mistake about it.

Ike tours the South and says nothing about civil rights that could be heard out loud. He then comes to Los Angeles and is all out for eivil rights.

On the other hand, Adlai Stevenson has proven himself. He fought for an FEPC bill in Illinois, only to have it killed by Republicans.

He abolished segregated schools in Illinois.

He abolished segregation in the Illinois National Guard.

He acted immediately in the Cicero riots and dispatched the national guard to keep order and protect the rights of the Clark family.

The choice is easy. Stevenson and Sparkman stand head and shoulders over Ike and Nixon. Sparkman is a greater liberal than Ike or Nixon can ever be.

Disaster if Ike gets in. Forward with Stevenson. Get out and vote Tuesday. Vote right. Vote for Adlai. The future is in your hands.

— Thousands Mourn —

GOODBYE, HATTIE—A crowd of 5000 people, including many of the most famous people of Hollywood, overflowed the large Independent Church of Christ Saturday afternoon to say a sorrowing goodbye to beloved Hattie McDaniel. Shown in the doorway, being helped by friends, is the actress' brother, Sam McDaniel. (Arrangements by Angelus Funeral Home).

How Negroes Voted

According to a sample of 27 precincts in the predominately Negro areas of Watts, the West Side and Central Avenue, Los Angeles Negroes voted almost four-to-one for the Democratic ticket.

Totals are given below on the presidential race and on the Hahn-Roach Supervisor race.

5,000 Attend Rites For Hattie McDaniel

The City of Los Angeles mourned last Saturday as the final rites were said for beloved actress Hattie McDaniel.

More than 5,000 people, including some of the best-known stars of Hollywood, mingled with church members and friends and admirers of the actress from all walks of life in the solemn services at Hattie's own church, the Independent Church of Christ.

Many Tributes

Magnificent floral wreaths banked the coffin and filled the church. There were so many of the impressive tributes that they filled a huge van when they were transported to Rosedale Cemetery where Miss McDaniel was buried.

In honor of the actress, the City

'Oscar' to Howard

Hattie McDaniel's "Oscar," emblem of her great acting achievement in "Gone With the Wind," was willed by the actress to Howard University in Washington, D.C.

The will, dated Dec. 10, 1951, directed her executor, John Charles Gross, to give the coveted statuette to the school.

The document, probated Monday in Superior Court, showed that Miss McDaniel's fortune had dwindled during her long illness to less than $10,000. This was to be divided among friends and relatives.

City Council Pays Tribute to Hattie McDaniel

The Los Angeles City Council, learning of the death of the famed Hattie McDaniel, last Wednesday adopted a resolution honoring the beloved actress, and adjourned in her memory.

The resolution was submitted by Councilman Kenneth Hahn, and seconded by Councilman Don A. Allen.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas the City Council of the City of Los Angeles is deeply sorry to learn of the passing of Hattie McDaniel, famous motion picture actress, radio and television star; and

Whereas Hattie McDaniel was the first Negro woman to win an Academy Award for her part in "Gone With the Wind," and played many feature parts in motion pictures during her brilliant theatrical career, and was the first Negro to be commercially sponsored on a coast-to-coast radio program as "Beulah"; and

Whereas during World War II Hattie McDaniel contributed great public service to the Armed Forces by heading a Woman's Division of the Hollywood Victory Committee and entertained the Armed Forces at camps, hospitals and naval stations; and

Whereas Hattie McDaniel was born in Wichita, Kansas and raised in Denver, Colorado; and

Whereas Hattie McDaniel received a citation from President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Governor of Colorado for her outstanding contribution to American life;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the City Council of the City of Los Angeles does hereby adjourn in memory of Hattie McDaniel and that the clerk be instructed to send a suitable copy of this resolution to her bereaved family.

Rally at Lincoln A Great Success

Over 1800 persons jammed their way into the beautiful Lincoln theater last Thursday night for the biggest show and political rally ever held on the Eastside.

Lena Horne, Paul Douglas, Jan Sterling, Charlton Heston, Lydia Clark and Joe Adams provided the scintillating entertainment that thrilled the huge crowd.

Anna Roosevelt, Adolphus B. Clay, Bill Bassett, Irving DeShettler, Vince Monroe Townsend and Councilman Ed Roybal were some of the speakers that electrified the crowd with dramatic appeals to vote for Governor Stevenson.

The doors of the theater opened at 5:30 p.m. sharp and within an hour the theater was beginning to fill, waiting for the program that was slated to start at 8:00.

At 7:00 the theater was so full that the program was started with a showing of the film, "The Life of Stevenson."

Actor Paul Douglas told the audience why he was supporting Stevenson, and introduced the various celebrities that were gathered backstage.

After the speeches, lovely Lena Horne sang several numbers that sent the crowd home talking about her radiant beauty and her lovely voice.

Adolphus B. Clay, chairman of the Civil Rights Committee, expressed his thanks to the Volunteers for Stevenson, Californians For Stevenson, CIO, AF of L, the Benevolent Variety Artists and the many other cooperating organizations which helped to make the affair such a huge success.

Hahn and Pensions Get Big Local Vote

By WENDELL GREEN

Despite the national swing to Eisenhower, the predominantly Negro precincts in Los Angeles gave an overwhelming vote for Governor Adlai Stevenson.

In bucking the national tide, it became readily apparent that the record of the Democratic party and the record of Stevenson, was paramount in the minds of Negro voters as they trooped to the polls in record-breaking numbers.

A sampling of precincts in the Westside area, the Eastside and Watts area showed a strong vote for Stevenson. The Westside, stronghold of most Negro Republican votes, went for Stevenson almost three to one. The huge Negro population on the Eastside went for Stevenson seven to one. The Watts area went to Stevenson five to one.

The concerted campaign by the Republicans to split the Negro vote in Los Angeles over the issue of John Sparkman's civil rights record met with little success as the samplings of two precincts in each area indicate that Stevenson got a slightly larger ratio of the Negro votes than President Truman did in 1948 and with the larger turnout of voters, got a larger popular vote.

Largest Vote

Long lines formed at the polls early in the morning and some polls were unable to close until after eight o'clock due to the number of people standing in line at the closing time of seven o'clock.

Political experts checking the polls indicated that over 90 per cent of the eligible voters turned out to register their votes.

The I.P.P. ticket headed by Mrs. Bass and Horace Alexander, did very little damage to the vote for Stevenson. Mrs. Bass and Alexander polled less than a tenth of the votes that went to Henry Wallace in 1948.

In the hot Supervisorial race between Kenneth Hahn and the incumbent Leonard Roach, Hahn led in all three areas. In the Watts area Hahn led Roach five to three. On the Westside Hahn led Roach by approximately the same ratio and in the big Eastside vote, where Hahn serves as City Councilman, Hahn led Roach two to one. Undoubtedly the large Negro vote Hahn received was more than his margin of victory over Roach.

Voted For Pensions

Another vote against the general vote of the city was registered on Propositions 10 and 11. Proposition 10 was sponsored by George McClain and would prevent the State from giving money to local chambers of commerce.

Hidden Funds To Be Used By New Band

Monday, November 3, the Maywood Chamber of Commerce got the green light to organize a boys' band with the money from a $2716.19 fund that was set up in 1944 to enforce race restrictions in property covenants.

The fund has laid in a bank since the State and U. S. Supreme Court ruled the covenants unconstitutional and the Maywood group petitioned Superior Court for permission to spend it.

Judge William R. McKay appointed Chamber secretary Hugh Brady custodian of the fund to form the all-white band.

Funeral Held for Acquanetta's Son

The many friends of Acquanetta, the beloved actress, share in her sorrow over the death of her five-year old son, Sergio Baschuk.

Funeral services were held yesterday at 2 p.m. in the Little Church of the Flowers, at Forest Lawn.

The young lad, Acquanetta's son by a former marriage to Luciano Baschuk, died last Friday of cancer.

Hearing Slated in Race Row

The Pasadena contractor who is accused of driving his truck deliberately at four Negro newspapermen when they were investigating a racial housing row last week is slated for a preliminary hearing today, Thursday, at 1:45 p.m. in Pasadena.

Contractor Royal C. Wheeler, of 75 Malcolm drive, was freed without bail last Wednesday when he gave himself up to police before they had served on him a warrant for his arrest on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Housing Row

The charges grew out of an incident the previous day at 191 Sequoia street, in the fashionable Poppy Peak section of Pasadena, where a Negro veteran, former First Lieut. Thomas W. Nelson is attempting to have a home built for his family.

The four newsmen, including Eagle reporter Edward "Abie" Robinson and Eagle Photographer Irving C. Smith, claim that Wheeler deliberately attempted to run them down, backing up his truck several times and then coming directly at them.

To Press Charges

The complaining witnesses, Robinson, Smith, John Lee and Donald Wheeldon, were to appear at the Pasadena court today to substantiate the charges they made against Wheeler.

With them will be NAACP Attorney Everette Porter. Also expected to be present are the president of the Pasadena NAACP branch, Dr. E. I. English, NAACP Field Secretary Lester Bailey, and other prominent members

Madman Wounds Mayor's Assistant

By EDDIE LEE KING

Near panic reigned in the City Hall yesterday when 25-year-old Prince Juan Christ, of 236 E. Second street, seriously wounded Marshall W. Julian, a field secretary on Mayor Fletcher Bowron's staff.

Witnesses stated that the visitor, apparently determined to see the mayor, burst through the door leading to the mayor's suite of offices shouting that he was "the reincarnation of Christ," and that he was "the boss of the United States."

He had passed by the receptionist at the outer door and was almost to the door of the mayor's office itself when Julian intercepted him to ask what he wanted.

After Julian stubbornly refused to let him by, Prince Juan lashed out with his fists, inflicting cuts which later required stitching and which spurted blood over both men.

After being separated from the fray by a city employee, Christ was turned over to the police psychopathic detail by Homicide detectives, where his record revealed he had formerly been a mental patient at the Camarillo State Hospital.

Tuskegee Students 10 to 1 for Demos

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Alabama — Tuskegee Institute undergrads voted Wednesday, a week before the election, more than 10 to 1 in favor of Democratic Nominees Stevenson and Sparkman over GOP Nominees Eisenhower and Nixon in a straw vote poll.

The final count showed 829 for the Democratic slate as against 82 for the Republicans.

Denies Guilt in Murder Charge

Wallace James Bell, who three weeks ago drilled two holes into the chest of his wife's alleged boy friend, Monday pled not guilty to a charge of murder.

Trial date was set for Dec. 9, in Dept. 45 of Superior Court.

Bell is being represented by Attys. Walter Gordon and Theodore Schaffer.

Bell, 31, of 613 E. 110th street, followed the car in which his wife, Mrs. Julia Bell, and Preston Durham, of 1326 East 21st street, were riding Oct. 11.

They parked on 33rd street, and Bell drew up behind them. He walked over, approached their car and said, "Well, this is it."

As Durham attempted to get out of the car, Bell fired. Both bullets hit their mark, and Durham died within a few minutes.

Bell left the scene, but later called police and surrendered.

TALKING OVER RALLY—Jack Chazan, owner of the Lincoln theater; Anna Roosevelt, Lena Horne and Gerry Chazan talk over the program backstage at the giant Stevenson rally last Thursday night. Over 1800 persons jammed the theater to see the show and hear the political talks.

Venerable in Gala Opening Of New Store

The ultra modernistic C. B's Ice Cream Store No. 2, located at 9211 South Central Ave., will hold a formal opening next Friday and Saturday, Nov. 14 and 15, Owner C. Blaine Venerable announced this week.

"We actually opened our store to the public last week and have been heartened by the many customers and friends who have already been in to see us,' Venerable related. "However, we plan bigger and greater things for our grand opening. There will be free ice cream for the kiddies each day between 4 and 5 p.m., and various favors and features for the adults."

Vitally Needed

The store, a combination drive-in and ice cream parlor, features a complete line of famous Carnation ice cream and dairy products, as well as giant-sized hamburgers. The large distinctive neon sign display atop the building makes this store the most colorful in the entire section.

The popular refreshment center is open every day, including Sundays, from 11 a.m. in the mornings to 2 a.m. at night. Delicious Carnation ice cream, hand packed to take out, is also featured.

The public is invited to come out next Friday and Saturday and look over this modern, new C. B. Venerable enterprise.

Another store, C. B's Ice Cream Store No. 1, has been in operation at the corner of Normandie and Jefferson on the westside for more than a year.

Hahn, Pensions Win

Proposition 11 was to place the old age pension under the supervision of the State, instead of the counties.

While the rest of the city registered a strong No vote on both of these propositions, the predominately Negro precincts gave them a big Yes vote. In the Watts area the pension plan was voted Yes better than three to one. In the Eastside area, the pension plan received Yes votes better than four to one. The more conservative Westside voted for the pensions two to one.

Proposition 10 received approximately a two to one Yes vote in all three areas.

Crossfiling Wins

Proposition 13, to end cross-filing also received a much larger vote in the Negro communities than it did in the rest of the city. This vote was slightly over two to one in favor of the measure.

While the local Democrats were downcast and the gloom was heavy in Negro districts, local Republicans were jubiliant. Attorney Rayfield Lundy stated that he firmly believed that the Republican party would, under General Eisenhower, return to the principles and standards that it espoused when it passed the 13th and 14th amendment. "When it demonstrates this," Lundy continued, "Negro voters will return to the fold in greater numbers than ever belonged to the Democratic party."

Bright Spot

All was not defeat among local Democrats as Kenneth Hahn's victory was something for local leaders to smile about. Gilbert Lindsay, who headed the campaign in the community for Hahn expressed his thanks to all the friends and well-wishers who gave him such sterling support during the campaign. "We especially want to thank the press, C.I.O., The Women's Sunday Morning Breakfast club and hundreds of others," Lindsay said.

Next week when the complete returns are available, the Eagle will give a complete breakdown of the vote in the community on all the important issues on the ballot, and a comparison with the rest of the state and nation.

Many Grieve

Council adjourned early last Wednesday.

Prominent individuals who attended the ceremonies included the brother of the star, Sam McDaniel, Actress Lena Horne, Actor Clarence Muse, Boxer Henry Armstrong, George Beavers, Ernest Whitman, Actor Edward Arnold, and City Councilman Kenneth Hahn.

Edward Arnold, veteran movie actor with whom Miss McDaniel appeared in many films, expressed the grief of the motion picture world in a brief talk at the church.

Rev. Russell Officiated

Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the church, conducted the ceremonies, assisted by Rev. William J. Taylor of Grace Memorial Church. The Rev. Arthur A. Peters of Victory Baptist church, and the Rev. H. Mansfield Collins of the Neighborhood Community church.

Lillian Randolph, of the Great Gildersleeve show, sang "I've Done My Work," and Arthur Lee Simpkins sang "O Dry Those Tears."

Choral numbers were sung by the Jester Hairston choir.

An area of four blocks surrounding the church was blocked off by police to accommodate the tremendous crowd, and to direct the hundreds of automobiles, including 125 limousines which participated in the funeral procession.

Politicals Fete 2nd Anniversary

The Political Prisoners' Welfare Committee, which regularly supplies funds to Wesley Robert Wells and Joe Brocks, is being given a second anniversary dinner and dance Nov. 16 at 6:30 p.m. at the North Star Auditorium, 1631 W. Adams Blvd., by some of the people it has fought for—the Los Angeles Smith Act defendants.

The sponsors are making this a dual celebration. It will celebrate their own freedom on bail as well as the birthday anniversary of the welfare committee.

The committee came into existence two years ago, immediately after the passage of the McCarran Act, and went into action a few weeks later when the "Terminal Island Four" were jailed.

700 Free X-Rays In Willowbrook

Over 700 x-rays were taken by residents of Willowbrook during the first two weeks of the survey conducted by the Los Angeles County Health Department at 11108 Watts avenue, announced Dr. P. R. Auriemma, Compton district Health Officer.

The mobile unit is now stationed at the corner of Wilmington and 11th St. where x-rays will be given until November 14.

There is no charge for x-rays since the survey is a tax supported service of the Los Angeles County Health Department.

CLEAN, MODERN LINES—Characterize new Angelus Funeral Home, opening this Sunday in Long Beach at 718 E. Anaheim. Like Los Angeles Angelus, at 1030 E. Jefferson Blvd., design was by eminent architect Paul R. Williams. Public is invited to Open House from 3 to 6 p.m.

Angelus Funeral Home To Open in Long Beach

Formal opening of the new Angelus Funeral Home in Long Beach is scheduled for this Sunday afternoon from 3 to 6 p.m.

Marking the first expansion into outlying areas of Los Angeles county by one of the local community mortuaries, Angelus has completed a $65,000 subsidiary at 718 E. Anaheim blvd.

Prominent Citizens

Officials of Long Beach, including the Mayor, and other City and County dignitaries will be on hand, along with community civic and religious leaders to greet the first large scale Harbor area business venture by Negroes.

Brief dedication ceremonies will begin sharply at 3:15 p.m., with Mrs. J. O. Garland, wife of the Harbor area's only Negro physician, cutting the ribbon, signalling the opening. Benedictions upon the new enterprise will be pronounced by prominent Long Beach ministers, the Reverends N. J. Kirkpatrick, moderator of the Providence Baptist Association and pastor of New Hope Baptist church, and the Rev. Herman W. Gore, pastor of Long Beach's Second Baptist church.

Designed, as was the Los Angeles Angelus by the eminent architect Paul R. Williams, the Long Beach Angelus is of modern design in white stucco and brick.

Traditional features of the funeral home in Los Angeles, one of the show places of the local community, are continued in the Long Beach subsidiary. The chapel is a smaller replica in cardinal and white, with electrically operated white satin drapes, of the recently renovated Los Angeles chapel.

Private Parking

The new Harbor Area funeral home has its own parking lot.

Installed this week was a Hammond electric organ.

The motor pool of 13 limousines, including 11 Cadillacs, maintained at the Jefferson boulevard mortuary, is to be drawn on by the Long Beach plant.

Manager in Long Beach is Joseph McAllister, formerly of Georgia, where he gained wide experience in mortuary management. The Los Angeles staff of 24 also serves the Harbor area under the direct supervision of President-General Manager John LaMar Hill and Secretary-Treasurer Lorenzo Bowdoin.

Young Hill, who worked his way up to the presidency and to become chief stockholder after World War II service in the South Pacific, said this week that Angelus went into Long Beach in response to repeated appeals from ministers and other leaders of the Harbor area for such service. Angelus hopes to expand this service throughout Southern California, he said.

Members of the Angelus board of directors, in addition to Hill and Bowdoin, are Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, widow of the late co-founder and mother of the current president, and David W. Williams, local attorney. Williams will preside over Sunday's dedication ceremony.

The Angelus was founded in 1925 on its present site at 1030 E. Jefferson blvd. by the late John L. Hill, Sr., L. G. Robinson, and the late E. G. Hill.

Rev. Robinson will be on hand for Sunday's milestone in the firm's history.

Others to be present, in addition to the general public, are Supervisor Raymond V. Darby and representatives of the County Coroner's office.

SAN FRANCISCO—Franklin H Williams this week announced receipt of a check for $500 from the Most Worshipful Prince Hall Grand Lodge, California Jurisdiction of the Masons.

The sum was forwarded by Grand Treasurer Roy Treece to the NAACP regional office following the recent convention of the Masons in San Jose.

Grand Master Starling J. Hopkins informed the NAACP regional director that the sum was to be used for the support of the association's legal program.

of both the Los Angeles and Pasadena communities.

It is not customary for the court to release a man charged with a felony without bail. The fact that Wheeler surrendered himself, however, may have influenced the judge to permit him to leave on his own recognizance. Also apparently the police did not press for the imposition of bail in this case.

Ugly Developments

Trouble began in the Sequoia street area two weeks ago when Contractor Paul Simms began excavating the hillside lot for the Nelson home. Efforts were made by neighbors to prevent the dumping of the dirt on a nearby lot, although permission for the dumping had been received.

The neighbors parked their cars bumper to bumper to prevent the dump-truck from obtaining access to the empty lot. They also lined cars on both sides of the narrow street, thus limiting the free passage of traffic. Nelson reported other forms of harrassment, and finally complained to the police.

When the situation began to assume ugly proportions, community newspapermen went out to investigate. When they arrived, Wheeler, who lives in the neighborhood, was arguing with the contractor, and work on the construction had been temporarily halted.

Death Sentence Of Two Guam Vets Appealed

WASHINGTON—In another effort to save the lives of two Negro ex-servicemen now under sentence of death, lawyers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have filed a petition with the United States Supreme Court, asking for review of a lower court decision, which held that the men were not entitled to a writ of habeas corpus.

Robert W. Burns and Herman P. Dennis, now being held in Japan awaiting execution on court-martial convictions in the murder and rape of a white civilian worker in Guam in 1949, are seeking an opportunity to establish their innocence.

Contending that at their trials in 1949 coerced confessions were used, illegal evidence submitted and favorable evidence suppressed, NAACP attorneys filed a petition in the Federal District Court here, for a writ of habeas corpus to review the convictions.

The District Court decision denying the writ was upheld by the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. The present petition, filed on Oct. 29 and prepared by NAACP attorneys Thurgood Marshall, Robert L. Carter, David E. Pinksy, Elwood H. Chisolm and Frank D. Reeves, is an appeal from that decision.

Philadelphia Plant Drops Jim Crow

PHILADELPHIA—As a result of a concerted anti-discrimination campaign by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Negro workers are now employed in virtually every department of the huge Philco plant here, Herbert Hill, NAACP labor relations assistant, reported last week.

Calling the racial employment pattern at Philco "fundamentally altered," Hill said that at the present time there are 156 Negroes in production departments throughout the plant, two Negro engineers in the laboratory, and a Negro personnel executive. Before the NAACP entered the Philco case, Negroes were employed only in two service classifications—scrap and shipping.

French Colonial

NEW YORK (Global)—Delayed—James R. Lawson, president of the United African Nationalist Movement, narrowly escaped death Oct. 13 in Tunisia, when a bomb exploded in a drug store a few minutes after he had left.

The incident led to the belief that members of the "Red Hand," French Colonial terrorists, had set off the bomb in an attempt to kill Lawson.

The New Yorker had been to Ethiopia as guest of Emperor Hailie Selassie to attend the ceremonies attendant upon the merging of Eritrea with Ethiopia, and had stopped in Tunis to confer with nationalists.

About 9 p.m., Lawson visited the Pharmacie Ben Yehmed on business, and had just stepped out the side door when a thrown bomb exploded with shattering force. No one was arrested. The "Red Hand" society is composed of white Frenchmen oposed to the aspirations of the Tunisian Nationalists. It loses no opportunity to attempt to terrorize African Nationalists, and their leaders. It is believed that the Terrorists knew of Lawson's close association with the Tunisian Nationalists and his work with the African Nationalist organization in the United States.

Mr. Lawson visited also in Egypt, Eritrea and Ethiopia. In Cairo he conferred with the Foreign Ministers of Egypt and Saudi Arabia, and the Minister of Justice of Tunis. He brought back valuable information from Tunis to representatives of that colony at the United Nations, who will plead the case against France.

Mr. Lawson said that in all his travels recently he was particularly shocked to see the destruction wrought by the British at the ports of Massawa and Assab, where $50,000,000 worth of installations were deliberately destroyed by the departing British to render the ports inoperative and thus stall Ethiopian trade.

"The shame of it is," said Mr. Lawson, "that Ethiopia has been set back at least 10 years by this wanton destruction. Even if we give Ethiopia material and technicians, it will take 60 to 75 million dollars and five to ten years to rebuild these ports.

"The United States maintains a security force in Eritrea now, so the Defense Department knew that Britain was committing this destruction, yet they did nothing to stop it. Now, the American taxpayer will have to pay."

Mr. Lawson is making a full report on what he terms the "outrages against our ally, Ethiopia," by a series of speeches before church congregations and organizations.

Lyric Theatre Presentation

On last Sunday, November 2, and this Thursday, November 6, at 8:30 p.m., the West Adams Civic Chorus in cooperation with Department of Music of the People's Independent Church of Christ was presenting Kurt Weill's one-act opera "Down In the Valley." The presentation of this work in the main auditorium of the church, located at Eighteenth and Paloma streets, heralds a new lyric theater begun experimentaaly last year with a presentation of Debussy's "The Prodigal Son."

Barbara Dumas, soprano, Suma Cum Laude, Phi Beta Kappa, graduate of Western Reserve University with a major in music, sings one of the major roles. Malwin Sebastian, baritone, former student at the University of Cincinnati, and Cecil Doty, baritone, music student at the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music, along with Arthur Turner, baritone, and Charles Johnson, bass, recently of the American Opera Laboratory, appear in supporting roles.

High Court to Rule On Florida U. Bias

WASHINGTON—The United States Supreme Court last Thursday was asked to reverse a decision handed down by the Supreme Court of Florida which upheld the right of the University of Florida to exclude qualified Negro students.

Seeking admission to the Florida university are Virgil Hawkins, who applied to the law school; Miss Rose Boyd, the school of pharmacy; Oliver Maxey, the graduate school of engineering; and Benjamin Finley, the graduate school of agriculture.

Three-Year Effort

The petition before the U. S. Supreme Court, filed by attorneys of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, asks that the university be ordered to admit these applicants at once subject only to the same rules and regulations applicable to all other students.

When the Negro students first applied for admission in 1949 the courses they desired were offered by the state only at the University of Florida. Later, establishment of these courses at the Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College for Negroes was authorized. On August 1, 1950, the Florida Supreme Court ruled that this authorization was sufficient compliance with the requirements of the U. S. Constitution and refused to issue a final order.

The state court reiterated this refusal in June, 1952, on the ground that the required courses established at Florida A and M College were equal to those offered at the University of Florida. Meanwhile, the U. S. Supreme Court had refused to review the case because no final judgment had been entered by the Florida court. Justices Hugo Black and William O. Douglas dissented from this decision.

'Y' Anxious to 'Lift Face' of Dorm Rooms

During the past year the 28th Street YMCA has made tremendous progress towards lifting itself out of a desolate financial situation, and has now reached a point where it is actually operating in the black.

During the last four months of 1951 the branch, under the administration of its new executive secretary, Kenneth A. Morris, cleaned up a $1900 deficit, thus enabling it to end the year clear of any financial encumbrances. This is the first year since 1948 that the Branch has ended the year in the black.

Throughout 1952, the 28th Street YMCA has maintained a progressive uphill battle to meet its financial obligations in addition to enlarging the scope of its program for serving the youth in this community.

The building is in need of repairs, and Morris has appealed to the public to aid in the job of redecorating the inside of the building.

Morris' plan is to have individuals or clubs undertake the redecorating of individual rooms. Each room so decorated will have a plaque placed on the door on which the name of the donor will be engraved.

There are 52 rooms in the dormitory. These rooms have not been refurbished since the building was erected about 20 years ago. Each room needs repainting, in addition to being supplied with screens, window drapes and throw-rugs on the floor. Cost will run at about $50 per room.

Contracts Let for Housing Projects

Moving steadily forward on the low-rent housing program which has been ordered to proceed by every legal jurisdiction in the land, the Los Angeles City Housing Authority this week announced, through Vice-Chairman George A. Beavers, Jr., that the Public Housing administration has approved awards of contracts on the Estrada Courts Extension and Imperial-Compton projects. The commission of the Housing Authority awarded the contracts Monday.

Low bidder on the Estrada project, consisting of 200 units of housing to be located between 8th St. and Olympic Blvd. at Concord St., was the Harvey and Rose Construction Co. at a figure of $1,323,500. The 964 units to be located at Imperial Highway and Compton Ave. in Southeast Los Angeles, went to the low bid of Robert E. McKee and Co., builders of the Los Angeles Statler, at $7,057,000.

With 601 units at West Los Angeles and 194 units in San Pedro already under construction, this will place the Housing Authority's going construction at close to the 2,000-unit mark. A few units at West Los Angeles, however, are still being held up due to the City Council's failure to annex a narrow County strip which runs through the project site. No building will be done on this strip until annexation action takes place.

Army Won't Try Lieut. Collier

Headquarters of the Sixth Army informed the NAACP recently that First Lieut. Ernest J. Collier, Jr., is back in the officers' ward of the U. S. Army Hospital, Camp Cooke, California, and that the wounded World War II and Korean War veteran will not be tried by court-martial.

Lieut. Collier became involved in an altercation with Medical Officer of the Day Maj. Carl R. Bruck on August 9 when the Negro officer brought his wife to his private ward room after being refused accommodations in nearby Santa Maria hotels and motels. Major Bruck ordered the lieutenant to remove his wife from the private room and a scuffle ensued when Collier packed his bag and sought to leave with her.

Editorial

It's Up To Ike!

General Eisenhower is now president-elect of the United States and it is apparent that he will have a Republican House and Senate to implement his executive powers.

The California Eagle opposed the election of Eisenhower as we felt that it was to the best interest of the community and nation for a man of the experience and depth of Adlai Stevenson to be at the helm of our nation in this great hour of crisis. Our community agreed with us and gave Stevenson a tremendous vote.

However, this vote bucked the general political thinking of the nation, which repudiated 20 years of Democratic administration with a tremendous mandate to Eisenhower.

We fully agree with Governor Stevenson when he said in Springfield as he conceded the election: "That which unites us as American citizens is greater than that which divides us as political partisans." As usual, Stevenson has sized up the situation, and expressed it magnificently.

General Eisenhower made a lot of promises to many sections of the American public. The tasks before him are tremendous. World peace, economic stability, and full citizenship for all citizens are of prime importance to our nation going forward to a greater tomorrow.

We will vigorously support Eisenhower on every measure he proposes that we feel is in the best interest of the nation. We will also as vigorously oppose any proposals of his administration that are not in the best interest of the nation.

The General has been given command. The responsibility rests on his shoulders. It's up to you, Ike.

Let's Get Together

With the great stress and strain of the national elections behind us, now is a time to take a rest—but only a short one.

In the Spring we have important city elections coming up. There will be the always exciting mayoralty race, and the positions on the City Council.

These races are non-partisan, so we don't expect to find the pulling and tugging that went on in the recent partisan election.

The old drive for representation in government has inspired several prominent citizens to cast covetous eyes at several city council seats. The elevation of Hahn to the Board of Supervisors leaves his district wide open. The Council will appoint his successor, so there is not much to expect from that quarter.

The re-districting of the city by the City Council effectively gerrymandered the Negro vote, so that now it is only possible to elect one or two to the council, instead of three or four before re-districting.

When the Democrats get through licking their wounds, and the Republicans get through jumping for joy, we suggest that a series of meetings be held in the districts where a strong candidate might win, in an attempt to find the most electable candidate, and rally the entire community support behind him.

We know that this has been attempted before without much success, but we firmly believe that our community has come of age politically, and can sit around the council table, and work out the ways and means for that all-important representation in government.

Decorate the YMCA

Those of us who remember the YMCA when it was located in a house remodeled into a gym on 9th and Hemlock and felt such pride when the beautiful structure was built on 28th and Paloma, feel a deep sense of shame when we visit the "Y" and notice the physical condition of what was once a class-A plant.

Then suddenly the picture began to brighten. One of the top executives in the YMCA picture was snatched from a great work in Columbus, Ohio, and sent to Los Angeles to bolster the fast sagging local program.

Kenneth A. Morris, the energetic and farsighted executive secretary of the local Y, has worked wonders in his first year of administration.

He shook up the entire administration of the organization from top to bottom, and in no time had a real program humming. He cut expenditures to the bone, put on a dramatic fund-raising drive, and for the first time in history, the 28th St. YMCA operated in the black.

This tremendous program was successful only at a great personal sacrifice by Mr. Morris, who virtually lived at the Y for the past year, working around the clock.

Mr. Morris says that the basic building that houses the Y is in excellent shape, but there are many minor repairs that require immediate attention, and the building is badly in need of a thorough paint job.

Mr. Morris has worked out a program where social clubs can take responsibility for decorating a room. They can do anything they want with the room, just as long as it is cleaned up and painted. The room will be named after the club responsible for the decorating.

This is an excellent scheme, and one that should get the support of all social and business groups in Los Angeles.

Bring it up at your next meeting. Support your YMCA so we can again be proud of the structure that houses this important work.

Congratulations Kenny Hahn

Councilman Kenneth Hahn has been elevated to the post of Supervisor by the voters of the Second district. We have watched the career of Kenneth Hahn with great interest, as all of his political activity has been in our community.

As a Councilman, Hahn showed a great concern for his district, a concern that was never expressed before by other councilmen representing Negro constituencies. He fought for a city FEPC, low cost housing and many other measures that directly affected the welfare of our community.

He improved property values of the community by lighting and paving improvements.

He was rewarded by a great vote from the community that he served so well. It is indeed good to have a friend on the Board of Supervisors as, from the complaints we receive in the Eagle office, there are many situations under the county government that need a looking into.

Congratulations, Kenneth Hahn, for a splendid victory. We know that you will bring vigorous representation to a somewhat sluggish arm of our local government.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

DENVER, Colorado—I cast my absentee ballot, closed my desk and caught a plane from New York to Denver last week with a sigh of relief that a mess of chores at the Colorado Conference of Social Welfare could not diminish. Relief that neither campaigners for Eisenhower nor those for Stevenson could reach me with further requests for information and suggestions of various sorts until after election day—when they wouldn't want either any more. And relief that by the time I should return, the votes would have been counted and one candidate would have been established as "the man of the year" and his rival would have become, "Joe L. Doakes, back in Little Oaks."

Day After

Because, that's the way of American politics. If your candidate wins, he's a hero. (Lookit what WE did!) If he loses, he's a no-good jerk. (lookit how HE lost the election!)

Anyhow, the losers are prepared to admit that possibly their candidate was not quite the paragon they proclaimed him during the campaign heat; the winners begin to realize that they haven't necessarily won anything certain—that a politician elected still remains a politician to be watched, prodded, admonished, criticized or praised according to what he does in the future rather than what he promised in the past.

Little Change

So that the week after election day, the American people will still remain just about where they were six months earlier, with one important difference—a fresh chance for a clean sweep of the shoddier aspects of the last four years and for retention and strengthening of the worthier aspects. That's the chief value that lies in "throwing the rascals out," even if a fresh set of "rascals" should promptly enter to take the place of the old. The voters are given an opportunity, however brief, to look behind the gaudy stage scenery of a Presidential administration and see the dirt and grime on the rafters and pulley ropes and identify some of the scenery-shifters and other stage hands.

Realistic, Not Cynical

We ought to take full advantage of this opportunity—between now and inaugural day—and we shall if we are wise. Because once the orchestra has returned to the pit and the curtain has risen on the new administration, and once the play is resumed, with heroes, villains and supporting cast made up for their various parts—once this has happened, it is going to be mighty hard for most of us to remember that behind-the-scenes manipulations really determine what goes on up-stage.

Does this sound cynical? It's not at all; it is merely a realistic evaluation of what American politics has been since George Washington took the first oath of Presidential office under a spreading oak tree at what is now the corner of New York's Broad and Wall Streets.

Election to office doesn't transform a man, except under the most unusual set of circumstances. A man who has connived with political machine leaders before his election will continue to depend upon the machines for support while he is in office—will reward them for favors received and pay in advance for favors expected.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was considered, even by his enemies, to be a "strong President," but there is no record of Roosevelt kicking the Hague, Talmadge or Tammany machine to pieces even after he was re-elected again and again.

Keep Plugging

What is the point of this column? It is this: that the election results announce no automatic victory for the American people, but only a heavy, continuing responsibility to make certain that the new administration serves the national interest in all important issues, and keeps partisan, profit-making politics down to a minimum.

This will be hard to accomplish at best. It will be absolutely impossible unless the rank and file of the winning party join with the rank and file losers to watch and warn—to express themselves vociferously on issues regarding which they have taken time to inform themselves.

Ray Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

This is being written just before election, but no matter who wins, the job to be done on civil rights remains the same. Now that the shouting is over we should turn sober eyes upon the opening of the new administration and the organization of the new Congress.

If Eisenhower and Nixon win, the Republicans will be so busy reorganizing the government that they will try to by-pass any action on civil rights until they are firmly settled in the saddle. They will be so hungry after being on the outside for 20 years that the scramble for jobs will come first in their minds.

Need for Action

If Stevenson and Sparkman win, the Democrats will not have a great deal of reorganizing to do in the Congress, although the outcome of some senatorial and congressional races may have an effect on committees. However, the new Democratic team would have some changes to make in appointments and there would undoubtedly be some shifts in jobs. There were changes when Truman took over and there will be changes if Stevenson should take over.

But regardless of party winners, Negro citizens and the millions of others interested in civil rights must press for action on the program. The first order of business is a change in the Senate Rule 22, the filibuster rule, for it must not be forgotten that no civil rights bills can be passed unil this rule is changed.

This rule requires (a) that 64 votes be had in the Senate in order to shut off a filibuster and (b) that debate on changing the rule cannot be shut off by any vote, even a vote of 95 out of the 96 senators.

Hot Air

The Republican party platform refused to take a position on this filibuster rule although everyone knows that a pledge to change it is necessary if pledges on civil rights are to mean anything. Voters should get hold of the Republican winners in the Senate races and put the rule change squarely up to them.

All the Republican promises on civil rights legislation will be so much hot air unless the Republicans in the Senate vote to change the rule. Of course (if the Republicans win Nov. 4) they may be influenced by the new friendships and support they collected in the South. With Byrnes of South Carolina patting him on the back, Eisenhower could be very reluctant to move effectively on civil rights.

Demand Action

The Democratic platform pledged to take action on the change in rules, but voters will have to tie their senators down to specific action. Mr. Stevenson, if he wins, must be reminded of his promise to back up the rules change.

Civil rights is an issue of Americanism, not of partisan politics. Both Democrats and Republicans should be held to action by the votes. The Dixiecrat-GOP coalition can be beaten only if every Republican and Democrat in the North and West is lined up for civil rights.

Rule a Fraud

Both the Democrats and the Republicans will try to dodge on the issue. However, most of them realize that the present Senate Rule 22 is a fraud. If enough pressure is brought to bear a change will be made. But many compromises will be offered and these should be watched carefully. There is talk about changing back to a rule requiring a vote of two-thirds of senators present and voting to shut off a filibuster.

This will not be satisfactory, for never has such a vote been rolled up under such a rule. The rule needs to be changed so that a majority of the senators present and voting can shut off a filibuster.

All other business in Congress with very few exceptions is done on a majority vote basis. Why not handle filibusters by majority vote? This is the No. 1 business on the civil rights front and citizens should start work on it at once.

THE OLYMPIC PAGEANT, by Alexander M. Weyand.

"The important thing in the Olympic Games is not winning, but taking part; the essential thing in life is not conquering, but fighting well." These words expressed the creed of Baron Pierre de Coubertin who, 60 years ago, proposed his Olympic idea at a meeting of French sportsmen. From that idea, plus a conflagration of enthusiasm, the first games were held in Athens, Greece, in 1896. The colorful story of each Olympic continues with heroes highlighted, records broken, war interludes, down to and including the 1952 winter events in Oslo.

Which Way Now?

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

Take to the hills, men, the Republicans have won. Eisenhower and Nixon have fooled the American public, and anything might happen. Personally I'll take a few Spanish lessons. Might set the next terrible four years out in Mexico. Como esta?

While Governor Stevenson made a magnificent statement in his "close the ranks" speech, frankly I'm just not a "close the ranks" person. Better Dewey four years ago than the combination we have now.

I'm just diametrically opposed to the likes of Nixon, Jenner, McCarthy, Shivers, Kennon, Byrd and Byrnes. I'm firm in my conviction that they are the tools of special interests who want to loot the country and drive all semblance of freedom of thought and expression from the land.

Taft President

Now that Senator Taft has been elected president, we can look for the big stick to descend on labor, social security, public housing and all the other progressive measures of the past 20 years. That, in my estimation, will be the undoing of the Republicans. We'll elect a Democratic congress in two years, and Stevenson, I hope, in 1956. Just a die-hard optimist, that's all.

I credit Eisenhower's last-minute swing to victory to one of the most despicable political tricks ever pulled in the history of our nation. To inject the Korean war into politics, making a political football out of it, preying on the fears and anxieties of parents with sons in service and draft age, preying and playing with the future of young men in Korea and facing Korea, was one of the lowest tricks of all time. It did just what the cold-blooded master minds from Luce's tower wanted it to do. It swung the women's vote.

Stevenson lost because his principles would not permit him to stoop to such dastardly tactics, a credit to him and his advisors.

Great Fraud

Eisenhower knows he was projecting a great fraud on the peaceful aims of the American public when he glibly promised to end the Korean war by making a trip to that perimeter of defense against communism. If he could do it, and the matter was as really urgent as he made it seem, it seems to me he would be on a plane for Korea right now, instead of lollygaging in Georgia on a golf course and around a swimming pool.

Eisenhower has made many commitments and many promises to the American people. Promises he just cannot deliver.

He promises to cut taxes. If he does it will be only at the long and hard fought for social gains we have made in the past 20 years. Social Security, old age pensions, low cost housing and the like will feel the axe, as Ike knows full well that he cannot cut the military budget which eats up over 80% of our tax dollar.

Dixiecrat Promises

Ike made promises to Shivers, Kennon, Byrd and Byrnes in order to split the "solid South." Whatever promises they were, you can bet they were not in the interests of minority groups.

Wanna make a bet. The office of president colors the decisions of the Supreme Court. The wavering justices will now have an excuse to refuse to outlaw segregated schools now that the great and good friend of the Dixiecrats is in the White House.

The one bright spot in the national election was the fact that the Negro voter proved his maturity. He was not stampeded by appeals to sectional prejudice and phoney statements about Korea and high prices. He knew who had made it so good and stuck with Stevenson, who stood like a beacon light over the heads of the rest of the politicians. The Negro communities throughout the nation delivered whopping majorities for Stevenson. If labor had done half as well, the future of our country would look much brighter.

The only thing to do now is to try to get out of debt as quickly as possible, even if it means pawning the Cadillac, grab a few victuals, button up your lip and try to get a roof over your head. In that way you might weather the storm.

Inter-Faith Alliance Elects Dr. Shaw President

The Inter-Denominational Ministerial and Church Alliance of Los Angeles and vicinity held its annual election of officers last Monday. The election resulted as follows for President, Dr. A. A. Shaw; Vice President,

DR. A. A. SHAW

Rev. James Carter; Recording Secretary, Rev. E. C. Walkins; Assistant Recording Secretary, Rev. Mrs. Curtis Hammond; Executive Secretary, Dr. G. W. Reed; Treasurer, Dr. R. M. Davis; Chaplain, Rev. W. A. Tolliver; Sergeant-at-arms, Rev. J. L. Oliver. The meeting was featured by the report of the outgoing president, Dr. G. W. Reed. His report showed that the organization had been active in social and civic affairs as well as religious fields. The religious activities stressed by the report was the successful Holy Week and Christmas Services together with a number of very fine sermons brought by a number of outstanding guest ministers.

In the social field the report showed that the Alliance actively supported the March of Dimes, the Negro College Fund Raising Campaign, Negro History Week, The Outdoor Life and Health Association and the 28th Street branch, Y.M.C.A. The report also showed that during the administration of Dr. Reed, two successful celebrations of the Emancipation Proclamation meetings were held.

Regarding the political activities of the Alliance the report stated that the organization had some things to be proud of and some things to regret but more to be proud of than to regret. It stated that the financial condition of the organization was in first class condition that more money had been raised for the work of the organizatin than at any other time of its history.

This being the second year of

DR. G. W. REED

Dr. Reed as president of the Alliance the report also covered the following achievements during his two year administration. First, the understanding had between the police department and the Alliance touching the question of the treatment of the minority races by the police. Second, the understanding reached with the Church Federation of Los Angeles to give assistance in its endeavor to foster right-ful treatment of minority races when accused of crime and discrimination. Third, its concrete effort in supporting Public Housing.

At the close of the report Dr. Reed was given a vote of thanks and appreciation for the services he had rendered the organization for the past two years.

The constitution of the Alliance limits the time of the President to two years.

The officers elected will be installed November 24, at the First A.M.E. Church, 8th and Towne Ave. The meeting will be open to the public. The time is 7:30 p.m.

Sermon Series In South L.A.

Members and friends gathered at the South Los Angeles church "Baptist" Sunday, November 2, 9920 South Central Avenue to hear the initial sermon of several in a series, under the theme, "Voices from the Old Testament Speaking Through the Church." The response and enthusiasm was gratifying and encouraging.

Each personality included in this series is being portrayed by the minister. This does not mean special costuming or child's play from the pulpit, but the minister is identifying each personality and then using the first person singular "I" during the sermon.

It is the hope and desire of the minister and members that the church reaches hearts of beliveres and sinners. They invite you to share this uplifting sermon with them.

The Senior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. F. L. Taylor has aranged special music for this week's theme, Sunday, November 9, as the minister presents the voice of "Joshua." Miss Gwenda Laurance, member of the Long Beach Adventist church will sing a few of her chosen selections.

Lasting Peace Is Theme Of Talk By Rev. Ward

"BUILDING FOR LASTING PEACE" is the subject from which the Rev. W. T. Ward will speak Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Neighborhood Community Church, 47th Place and San Pedro Street.

Rev. Ward, although a newcomer to Los Angeles, is much sought after as a lecturer and speaker. He brings a new type of "talk" and has thrilled groups who have heard him. A well prepared minister, Rev. Ward, A.B., B.Th., is a graduate of Western Reserve University Cleveland, Ohio, Payne Theological Seminary, Wilberforce, Ohio and did Post Graduate work at Ohio State Universary, now pastoring Bethany Community Church in L. A.

"The House of York," under whose sponsorship the popular young minister is speaking, has extended an invitation to all of Los Angeles and urges those who wish a rare spiritual treat to come early for seating.

"The House of York" represents one division of the War of Roses at Neighborhood Church which is in full swing—the autumn drive to bring everyone on the membership roll into active participation of church work.

Church to Show Witch Poster Film

"The Americans on African Safari" series at Westminster Presbyterian Church will feature a film "In the Footsteps of the Witch Doctor as its second program on Sunday, November 9, at 6:00 p.m.

Also on the program will be Miss Adora Ulasi, who will appear in native dress and present some phases of African life.

Youth participation will be accented in the November 9 program with Kenneth Smith, a member of the Westminster Youth Group, as its principal speaker. Music will be furnished by the Church's Youth Choir under the direction of Mrs. Ursula Murrell.

A packed house witnessed the first in the African Safari series last Sunday. Reverend H. B. Hawes, pastor of Westminster, expressed gratification at the response to this program which has been designed to create interest in foreign affairs.

SPORTS Eagle

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

BERKELEY—Those false prophets that were entertaining the idea California would make a comeback here Saturday against Red Sander's battling UCLA Bruins were sadly disillusioned. . . . As Prancin' Paul Cameron, Ike Jones, Ernie Stocker, Lewis "Hustler" Williams, Milton Davis, Donn Moomaw, Charley Doud, Jack Ellena and the rest of the bruising Bruins got together and dealt the Bears a 28-7 licking, their worst whacking since '47 by USC.

It's still my contention UCLA is Rose Bowl bound. . . . This Saturday we'll get a look-see at the great USC defensive outfit against upset-minded Stanford. . . . Chuck Taylors' boys could upset the vaunted Trojans. . . . But I doubt it. . . . It appears that both USC and UCLA will be sporting spotless records when they tangle in their showdown Nov. 22. . . . This should prove to be the gridiron earthquake of the century between the two cross-town rivals. . . . I can't miss this one.

UCLA-CAL AFTERMATH. . . . It was just like old home week chatting with a flock of charming UCLA co-eds namely Mildred Blackburn, kid sister of Cal's sprint star Guy.; Patranella Ross, Shelia Montgomery, and her pulsating cousin who is the sis of Carmen DeLavadella, and a number of other fine females . . . Pete Oigarro, ex-Bruin footballer, William Johnson, and his side-kick Rodney and his party were some of the hard-heads that made the trek up for the Bruin-Bear battle.

BAY AREA BITES. . . . Don Wilson erstwhile L. A. Jeff High linemah via LACC who is currently a member of the powerful Cal Rambler football squad picked-off two passes in a game Friday night and raced them back 40 and 5 yards respectively to set up his team's first two scores. . . . Don will be gunning for a berth on the Cal Varsity come '53. . . . Incidentally Sam Washington, the ex-L. A. Poly athletes is back in school all squared away in the right frame of mind so I'm informed.

BAKERSFIELD BOMBSHELLS. . . . Burnell Jammerson and Bill Fanning, the stellar tailback and fullback of the rampaging Bakersfield Renegades are getting great raves in the San Francisco press. . . . Jammerson is hailed by this writer as one of the finest passers to perform in JC ball. . . . Although he's a mere 160 pounder he's rated by the local press as the hardest runner in the history of the school. . . . Both Jammerson and the 220-pound Fanning are being heralded over Bakersfield's two great stars Charlie Sarver, and Don Johnson both later California U heroes. . . . Johnson is the lad that ran for a 98-yard TD against UCLA here Saturday. . . . Red Sanders you can't go wrong landing these two well-schooled single-wing backs. . . . Incidentally it was great news to hear from one of UCLA's outstanding boosters Horace Johnson. . . . The man who has been instrumental in getting a number of deserving athletes a break at Bruinville. . . . I missed the ELAJC 35-7 rout of CCSF. I just hate my boss Abie for not getting me the word on the ducats on time. . . . Doctors' reports say Cal's Thelton Henderson, outstanding all-city back for Mike Marienthal at L. A. Jefferson High in '50 will have to give up the grid sport. It's reported he may never walk again if he is reinjured. . . . This is quite a blow to a fine athlete and scholar. . . . Thelton was beginning to come into his own before this drastic mishap. . . . Incidentally the 4th of this month marked this scribe's first year of matrimony. . . . I can only say if the following years with my darling wife Eunice and "silent and sexy" daughter are as happy and successful as the past one; bring them on. . . . Believe me I have enjoyed every minute of it. . . . As of now this 25 and 5.

Ray Robinson To Box Again Says Gainford

George Ganford, manager of Sugar Ray Robinson told New York Newsmen last week, that Sugar Ray will fight again. Gainford just returned from a 3-month visit in Paris and was quoted "You're going to see Robinson fight again."

Robinson will soon make his debut as a song and dance man.

Gainford, also mentioned possible bouts with Bobo Olson, Randy Turpin, Charles Humez, Kid Gaviland and Ernie Durando as opponents.

MORGAN STATE DEFEATS A & T

GREENSBORO, N. S.—The Morgan State College Bears unleashed a powerful running attack, to beat the favored A. & T. Aggies 16-12 and spoil the latter's otherwise brilliant homecoming before nearly 20,000 rabid spectators here at Memorial Stadium. The Bears electrified the stadium when in less than four minutes of play they had tallied their first score. They scored again in the second quarter and for double measure hit hard and dumped an Aggie back in the end zone in the third quarter for a safety.

It was a bitter defeat for the Aggies, the team which had been figured to be well in the running for national honors.

VALLEY RISKS GRID RECORD

Valley College, the only undefeated junior college team on record will risk it against Bakersfield this week. The game will be played Saturday night. Valley is a strong contender for a Little Rose Bowl bid with a 3-0-1 record.

USC Punter Tops Nation With 44.8

LOS ANGELES—Along with the Trojans' well-publicized stout defensive platoon, credit for Southern California's six straight football victories this fall should go to the Trojans' "kicking game."

It is no accident that going into Saturday's game with Stanford at Palo Alto SC has netted better than 10 yards more per punt than its opposition.

Des Koch, who does most of the Trojans' kicking, is currently the No. 1 college punter in the nation with a fat 44.8 average for 33 boots. Including Jim Sears' 8 shorter coffin-corner kicks, the team has still averaged 42.7 yards per try. Meanwhile SC's six foes to date have been able to get only 38.7 yards out of their 55 kicks.

The game will be preceded by a parade through Frankfort with the KSC Band and a local white high school band in the line of march with floats and autos. One of the local white high school bands is expected to join in the Homecoming festivities at Kentucky State College which will make this year's homecoming a real interracial venture. Preparations are being rushed to accommodate a crowd up to ten thousand.

Hitting stars of the afternoon were Chars. Romo of the Royals with three and Whitey Thompson of the All-Stars, with four. Irv Noren pumped a pair of doubles.

Goose Tatum, Marques Haynes, To Lead Globetrotters Friday

MONTREAL—This is the land of ice hockey but the Harlem Globetrotters, those dashing magicians of the hardwood, have a way of melting the hearts of Canadian basketball fans.

Because of their great popularity here in the Northland, Abe Saperstein's brilliant crew of cagers is expected to attract another capacity crowd to Montreal Forum on Nov. 7 when they play the powerful Washington Generals in the feature game of a colorful doubleheader.

The Globetrotters, just recently returned from a triumphant tour of Europe, will have the same star-studded lineup in action that won the acclaim of Montreal fans last season. Goose Tatum, Marques, Haynes, Elmer Robinson and the rest of the wizards whose combined efforts have made the team internationally famous.

The Washington Generals will be making their first appearance in Montreal. One of the best teams in independent professional ranks, the Generals are led by playing-coach Louis (Red) Klotz, a mighty mite of cagedom, who first won fame with Villanova College and later with the Philadelphia Sphas.

The speedy little forward, who is a mere 5 feet, 7 inches tall, has a well-balanced, sharp-shooting quintet ready for the Trotters, including such stars as Bobby Chubb, 6 foot, 7 inch center from Shippensburg State College in Pennsylvania, Benny Purcell of Murray State Teachers, and Bill Carrol and Bob Moroski, two 6 foot, 6 inch giants.

The Globetrotters will have to be at their best to beat this hard-driving aggregation which has beaten some of the best teams in the United States.

In the first game on the card, the Philadelphia Sphas battle the classy Boston Whirlwinds.

The busy Globetrotters stop off at Barre, Vermont, on Nov. 6 for a game and then play in Montreal the following night. The rest of their schedule for next week includes games at:

Nov. 8—Plattsburgh, N. Y.; Nov. 10—Portland, Maine; Nov. 11—Boston, Mass.; Nov. 12—Worcester, Mass.

Roy Campanella All-Star Nine Wins

Joe Black and Lemuel Hooker gave up one hit each in pitching the Campanella All-Stars to a 4-0 victory over the Negro American League All-Stars before 3000 baseball fans at Pelican Stadium in New Orelans.

Games this year will be played in N.C.C.'s new million dollar gymnasium which will be formally dedicated on Monday and Tuesday, December 8 and 9. Texas Southern University of Houston, Texas, will send its champion Southwestern Conference cagers to Durham for the dedicatory games.

Towler, Kilroy Top Week's Pro Bowl Nominees

Los Angeles Ram Back Deacon Dan Towler, who rolled up one of the National Football League's largest single game rushing totals of the season, and Tackle Frank Kilroy, defensive ring leader of the Philadelphia Eagles' upset over New York, topped this week's Pro Bowl nominees.

Selections from last Sunday's games, announced today, were part of the weekly survey that will help determine the National and American Conference squads for the third annual Pro Bowl All Star classic. The game will be held January 10, in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Towler, a post graduate divinity student at the University of Southern California, rambled for 134 yards to help the Rams top the Chicago Bears, 31-7, last Sunday. The former Washington and Jefferson athlete carried the ball 16 times for an 8.4 average.

The Eagles' Kilroy, a 10-year veteran of NFL play, sparked an aggressive defensive line that was instrumental in Philadelphia coming off with a 14-10 triumph that knocked the Giants out of a first place tie in the American Conference.

CATS VS. TIGERS

Southern University's powerhouse will tangle with the Bishop College Tigers here in Cats' Stadium Saturday, Nov. 8.

Roy Campanella's Baseball Stars Bow

The Negro American League All Stars downed Roy Campanella's Major League Stars, 5-4, in the opener of a two-game series in Houston. A crowd of 2,362 saw Larry Doby clout a single, double and home run.

Democrats Edge Rugged Garfield 14-6 in Prep Tilt

The Jefferson Democrats and the Garfield Bulldogs fought to a finish last Friday, as the Democrats edged the Bulldogs, 14 to 6. The Bulldogs proved to be more than the papers said they were as they refused to give the Democrats an inch. The Demos scored early in the first quarter as right halfback Ernest Jones went 25 yards to a touchdown. Jones who doubles as a fullback can really "pick 'em up and lay 'em down." He eluded about five potential tacklers and was hit hard on the five-yard line but stumbled into the end zone standing up. James Fennell scored the second touchdown for Jeff on an eleven-yard run through the middle of the Bulldogs' line. Fennell was captain for the Democrats.

One of the main reasons for the Democrats' showing was the lack of the spirit that was present for the Manual Arts game. Something has to be done if they expect to beat the fable Pathfinders from Freemont. The stands on the Jefferson side were empty, but for a few loyal fans who cheered faithfully. Garfield, who always has a tough team to beat, were out for an upset, and nearly made it. Ernest Jones saved Jeff many times with desperation tackles as Vines and Slaten would come through the center of the Jefferson line on delayed line bucks. On one of the delayed bucks, Slaten went to the Democrats' 11 before Jones caught him from behind and dropped him. This Jones kid can really fly when the pressure is on.

Sandouts for both teams were Slaten and Vines for the Garfield Bulldogs and Ernest Jones and End Rudolph Lewis for the Democrats. Lewis, a fine end, caught two long passes to set up the two touchdowns for Jeff.

This week Jeff meets the Washington Generals who were rolled over by the Pathfinders to the tune of 24 to 7. Washington is not as weak as they appear to be, and we all know that Fremont specializes in fine football teams as well as Jeff does in track.

Those who went to the game saw for the first time that Jefferson was sporting new sideline jackets which are Paris Suede on the outside with Jefferson High written in gold letters to stand out in the green suede background. Jeff had another surprise in the form of a conversion team, composed of tackles on the line. The beefy line consists of Ends James Boseman and Elias Welch, Tackles Thomas Gaines and Donald Beasley, Guards Billy Pugh and Joseph Wade, John Gonzales at Center. Victor Guidry and Robert Carter at the blocking back position, and Willie McMahan kicking while Ernest Jones does the holding.

ON THE TURF

RAMSEY

TANFORAN, San Bruno, Calif.—The feature event for this weekend at the northern track up San Francisco way will be the $7500 added Peninsula Handicap at six furlongs. This race was inaugurated in 1948 and the winner was See - Tee - See. Class Day was second and High Resolve third. Some of the best horses in California have participated in this race. Last year Blue Reading was the winner of the Peninsula, beating such good sprinters as Kit Carson, Bullreigh Jr. and Postwar Valor. The latter two deadheated for third place. The great three-year-old Big Noise from the stable of Mr. and Mrs. Harry James who won the Au Revoir Handicap closing day at Baymeadows in track record time will be the one to beat. Blue Trumpeter, another three-year-old who, stepped six furlongs in 1:09 3-5 in winning the Fairmount Handicap at Baymeadows will make his presence felt.

NEW CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO—The featured event at beautiful Caliente last Sunday had the crowd of 5800 lovers of the sport of kings on edge as So La Ci came from far back to nip Roux right at the wire. At the sixteenth pole to the fans it seemed that Roux would be an easy winner, although he ran quite wide turning into the home stretch and then came in again only to be nipped at the wire. It was the seventh for So La Ci in 14 outings at Caliente, as favorite he paid $6.80. Rex Ellsworth, one of the world's greatest breeders, scored with Mad N Glad, a maiden in the mile event and gave his imported English sire his 25th winning 2-year-old of the year. Only two short of the record of 27 winning juveniles produced by Star Shoot in 1916. According to L.A. "Red" Brice the Ellsworth trainer said with other 2-year-olds in my barn I expect to break the record. Free Sky and Bull's Gal combined for the daily double paying $63.20. The nite cap called the quiella paid $95.60 when Lady Toubo was first and Lavish Lady second.

Choosing Pet Not Easy Task

Time was when any mutt that followed you home became your dog, but things are different now. If you want to be really happy with your pet, better make your selection carefully.

The right dog for you depends on many factors, according to Stanley Pashko. Your age, temperament, environment, budget and physical health must be taken into consideration.

Most older people get dogs because they do not want to be alone. Since dogs don't like to be alone either, it's a fine arrangement for both. But consider how well the dog's temperament suits yours before you make the relationship a permanent one.

A placid person will not be happy with a frisky dog; neither will persons who are not in the physical condition to handle a lively pup. On the other hand, active people would not be satisfied with a laekadaisical animal.

In making your decision about the breed to get, consider whether you want a lap dog, a sporting dog or a watch dog. Size is important.

UNDERCOVER hounds

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

Well now that the election is over and all the disgusting returns are in we've felt the urge to make this column short and sweet so we can hurry on down and invest in a baloon type apple cart. (We want the best; it's got to last for at least four years).

Report from the Frisco Kids . . .

Joining the hoard of the Bay City bound, over Hallowe'en weekend, proved to be quite enjoyable for us and all others that journeyed up that-a-way for the UCLA-CAL Rugby tussle in which the Bruins again came out victorious. Commemorations are certainly due to outstanding players Ike Jones, Milton Davis, Whit Arceneux and Lewis "Hustler" Williams (the guy that assaulted the opposing team with intent to KILL).

Among the throng of gaytimers we found people like Paul Mitchell, Lynette Bridges, Uly Griggs, Zelita La Blanc, Shiela Montgomery, Rodney Tompson and Yvonne Moore ripping and roaring, laughing and dancing, eating and drinking and all others that it took to make that famous retreat resort bloom as never before. "It Took Two To Tango, It Took Two To Tango, It Took Jo Ann Leonard and Walker Bruce to get the feeling of romancing. Of course there are Lots Of Things That You Can Do alone, ain't that right Tony Sheen and Walter Smith?

Bop City was a much talked about place. Some people claimed that they were doped while within, and thus determining a reason for them falling out. Why be modest and lie, admit you "Got Looped." After escaping the "Golden Brown Horde," that specialized in balling among themselves, we found that the Bay Cities had more to offer than some expected. Such lovelies as Charlesetta Hightower, Patsy Edwards, Gloria Keith and Lyta Coleman were of the more outstanding femmes around there.

We have to give some credit to those that deserve it and who could deserve more than Rosemary Hunter, who now sports the name of Mrs Paul Bruce. Rose, as we all know her, met up with a rich uncle, who soon became known as our "Uncle Frank." No sooner than she got to town he had a party waiting for friends and foes. Fermented rainwater ran like Niagara Falls and underneath to catch it for irrigation purposes were Leon McCarty, Lorenzo Wallace and Nira Hardon, Robert Armstrong, Usns, and everybody else that caught the Milk Train to Frisco.

Had more than time to take in the Champagne Club where Donna Bay Brown put on her stellar performance.

On the homeward stretch stopped by to visit lovely Miss Sandra Simms and to consume some of that delicious chicken dinner that her mother's so famous for. Yum, yum, yummy.

Cats away, Mice play . . .

The Mice, friends of Barbara and Louis Grant, turned the Grant pad out with a going away party for Korea bound, Beany Prescott. If reports are true, and we have no reason to doubt, we should have stayed in our own hunting grounds.

Our spies, who reported with their usual play by play description, told us about a certain "Chris" who was making a certain "out" play for "Pretty Boy Benny" who dug everything with his usual coolness. They tell us Camille Roane, Dody Roberts, Shirley Lee, Hazel Terry and Lo Retta Reed helped Barbara Weaver off the floor a number of times (danced too hard we guess).

Some of the other people who were there without goofs attached to their names were Bob Monte, Red (senor) Gomez, Morris Finn, Barbara Hale, Caroll Blackwell, Ramona (surprisingly nice)

Bruce, Elenor Winston, Modupe Paris, Ed Roberts and Gene Ramos. Heard Johnny Riddle and Carmen Garrott traded fiendish glances whenever they were required to dance with someone else. That's about all of the

"YOU OUGHT TO KNOW"

Miss Welcome

Thanksgiving is just around the corner but no one wishes to commit himself about the cost of turkey and the dinner by the same name until after elections . . . hence I cannot let you in on some special deals until next week. . . . Speaking of turkey, I had a most wonderful dinner of it at the new Rubyiat room in the Watkins Hotel for only $1.65. . . . If that's any preview you ladies can come out of the kitchen.

This week Mrs. Edwards of the Gift Horn, 3108 S. Western, gives out with a hint for the care of jewelry. Ladies, do you have trouble finding your earrings when you're rushed? Or, do you find them all wound up in the chain to your favorite necklace? No need to waste unnecessary time or to get frustrated. . . . One or two of the attractive plastic trays for ice cubes or frozen desserts, sold at all dollar, hardware and department stores will solve your problem. At Mrs. Edwards' suggestion, I got one with hearts, diamonds, clubs and spades and each space is just large enough to hold one pair of earrings . . . easy to cover too with a Kleenex to keep out dust . . . Drop in the Gift Horn and see the wide selection of jewelry for women and men.

Reginald Fisher may be away from his studio at 2326 Wellington Rd. soliciting for the Community Chest. He reminded me of the 160 agencies who will suffer unless everyone does more than his part . . . If you'd like to help in his neighborhood telephone him at PA. 0128.

With everyone working for Community Chest and Thanksgiving just around the corner, you men need to take stock of your personal grooming. With you, the haircut and shave are the major items . . . The place to go always is The Streamline Barber Shop, 1861 W. Adams.

These days require lots of energy too and you can get what you need without overeating. The answer is at Kalash Laboratories, 3020 Vermont, RE. 3-7992.

Eugene Swayne ANSWERS

Q. My skin is very dry and my lips are chapped. What can I do to overcome this?—(L.B.)

A. Electric or plain facials will help. If this does not improve the condition, the wise thing to do is to have a physical check-up. The cause may be from within.

Q. My husband is 39 years of age. His hair has been falling out and he is nearly bald. Is there anything which will aid him in saving his hair?—(M.K.)

A. The cause for his hair falling out would have to be found first. After the cause is determined, then your question could be answered satisfactorily.

Q. Is there any such thing as growing dandruff?—(C.S.)

A. No, there is dandruff or dry cells thrown off due to the fact that growing hair is taking most of the oil from the scalp and leaving it dry.

Forty or More? Watch Age Habits

To herself, a woman may be as young as she feels, but the way she looks to the world is another matter. Certain habits and actions are literally "age revealers," says Veronica Dengel, beauty expert, in the October issue of a nationally circulated magazine.

If you want to know whether you are making yourself appear older than you are, watch out for these signs associated with getting along in years.

Overweight. Fat makes you look older. It may also shorten your life. Careful diet and sensible exercise will help you retain your figure.

Walking. Don't let your head stretch forward from your shoulders. Avoid pitching your body at a forward angle, and don't slump. And never clutch banisters for dear life; hold on lightly. Overly-cautious movements are "aging."

Sitting. Don't sit on your spine, feet stretched out, hands folded on your stomach. Never cross your arms with the fists tucked underneath as if you were cold. If you must cross your arms, let your fingers show.

Mannerism: Don't pick at your fingers, bite your nails nor scratch absent-mindedly at your arms, face or neck. These "aging" signs give you a vague, uncertain manner.

In addition to being careful about tattletale habits, adds the beauty authority, watch your grooming and your clothes. Don't ever let yourself become sloppy. Never wear clothes that are too tight. Choose carefully fitted foundation garments to make your clothes look well.

Keep In Shape

By RUTH NELSON SAWYER

NEW YORK, (Global)—Your body can be beautiful and you can help to make it so and keep it that way by exercise. Here are a few to help you keep in shape:

1. Getting up exercise: Stand erect, feet together, arms relaxed. Count one, rise on toes and lift arms sideways, palms upward until hands are directly over the head. Inhale deeply. When raising arms let head fall back. Count two, lower heels and bring arms down. Repeat ten times.

2. Exercise for bust, shoulders, arms and waist: Stand with feet 12 inches apart, right hand on hip, left hand on top of right hand. Fling left hand sideward over head, twisting torso as far to left as possible. When hand goes up, stretch backward as far as possible. The head will turn naturally with the shoulders. Let the head turn as far as possible, but keep it level. Chin up. Be sure to get the arm well up over the head. Change hands and repeat. Do this ten times.

Exercise for the stomach: Lie on your back, knees to chest, arms at sides. Thrust the right leg forward, knee straight two inches above the floor. Keep knee straight when leg is extended, and do not let heel touch the floor. Bring the right knee back to the chest quickly. Repeat with the left leg. Repeat exercise ten times.

These exercises, if followed religiously, will help to beautify your figure.

UCLA coed Mildred Blackburn will age another year Nov. 10. Notice to all friends, she's now excepting Mink coats with cashmere lining. (She'd like that).

People are talking about . . .

The Bop City proprietor who unsuccessfully tried to turn a local gal onto an old "sugar daddy." We don't blame her for giving him the evil eye, he did look kinda poorly. . . .

. . . Maid service at a Frisco hotel. They rush in without the least hesitation. We know of one that didn't re-enter after the first trip. . . .

. . . The cat who left his gal to go up to Frisco but returned to find that her Bay Area boy friend had come to LA to see her and moved him out backwards. Har, Har. . . .

. . . The newly arrived Fanny Mitchell who we think is the closest thing to loveliness as can be found these days.

Cool and unassuming M. F., who thought that C. A. was too revealing concerning her one-sided affections, became provoked over some remarks and executed a reign of well placed blows on and about her pate with the intensity that brought her down to earth. As the ground welcomed her with a thud he immediately performed his rendition of "Tapdancing on A Skull" as a finishing touch and retired back into the party to tidy up his suedes.

Look out for THE HOUNDS.

Styles for Women

By JUNE L'RHUE

NEW YORK (Global)—Things women wear get prettier every day. Last year you might have thought creators of fashion and design had climbed to the highest attainable rung of the beauty ladder, and, incapable of further achievement, would have nothing new to offer this season.

But the story is different. The architects of design have given us scores of lovlier things to rehaberdash ourselves, and proved once more their flair for art.

This new fresh lovliness covers dress, frock and gown, and extends into the realm of accessories, coats and footwear, supplanting the "new look" of '47 with what might be called the newer look of 52.

These items are not only ultra pretty, but they tend to follow the path of exaggeration. In the dress-frock-gown line, for instance, skirt sections are either very, very narrow or very, very wide. "Miss In-between" coming mostly in pleats. Exaggeration on the sheath side is often matched by an extra large sash tied with a mammoth bow at the hipline. And, if the item happens to be a sheathed evening gown, the exaggeration motif very often repeats itself in a side or center knee-length slit.

Sleeves are designed more simply than any other part of the garment, most of them either butterfly or dolman, with lengths that vary from long, glove-length or short, to cater to milady's fickle choice.

And accessories! They are huge—especially earrings. Large bobs are smart, but large drops are smarter, especially when they are worn with the longer hair style, which some women have kept and others have begun to adopt this season. The brilliant sprays that cover the ears lend their beautiful selves more elegantly to the cropped hair cut, for reasons that are obvious.

Wide pearl chokers and collars are very good and these are worn notwithstanding gay scarves of sundry shapes, sizes and colors. And somehow, the neck with all this encumbrance doesn't appear too bungled.

Footwear, too, follows the pattern of extreme design. Only here you have exaggeration in reverse. You go to the shoe salon and ask for a pair of the latest in footwear and the salesman turns up with a pair of soles, the only other material a thin string or two of leather to hold the "shoe" on. You wonder how you'll get anywhere in them, but you do.

Excelsior their gruelling drive, designers have done a superb job this season of enhancing the fashion scene.

TRES GAY!—The whole town is buzzing about the coming 3rd annual Bal Masque of the Les Dames Social and Charity Club. This unique "headpiece show" even draws attention from Hollywood. The date is just a little over a week away . . . Sunday afternoon, November 16, at the Florentine Gardens . . . from 5 to 11 p.m. Johnny Lee, well known comedian of the Amos 'n' Andy show, will emcee a portion of the program. Proceeds from this affair will aid in sending some worthy student through college.

IKE JONES ASSIGNED TO LOUIS PIX

UCLA Grid Star Director's Assistant On Champ's Story

Ike Jones, the first Negro to complete a course in Cinematography at UCLA, has been signed as assistant director for the movie based on Champion Joe Louis' life.

With shooting on the picture scheduled to start Jan. 26, producer Sterling Silliphant has flown here from New York to start his search for some beautiful girl to play the role of the Champ's ex wife, Marva.

According to Silliphant, the girl they select must be somewhere between 20 and 25 years of age with an engaging personality. A lovely, warm type, she can have had experience on radio, stage, screen or television, and still be considered the "unknown" girl they are seeking.

Local beauties interested in competing for this stellar role may contact the Federated Film's local representative, Charles D. Wherry, at AD. 1-4207 between the hours of 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. or call the California Eagle office, AD. 4-0161 during the day.

JAZZ DATE OFFERS MORE BOUNCE TO THE OUNCE!

Norman Granz, jazzdom's No. 1 impressario, will bring his fabulous "Jazz at the Philharmonic" aggregation into Shrine Auditorium on the night of Nov. 7, when local jazz fans will have the opportunity to hear their favorite artists perform in full concert.

On the top of the talent list is Ella Fitzgerald, referred to internationally as "The First Lady of Song." Not only is Ella the great favorite among all musicians, but she wins the most consistent yearly awards from all the jazz polls conducted here and abroad.

JATP audiences have a real talent in store when Gene Krupa and His Trio and Buddy Rich bounce on stage. Also on the bill will be the piano wizard Oscar Peterson, who has become a meteoric success in the jazz world. Schooled in the classics, Peterson's Mercury recordings are among the best-sellers in the instrumental vein.

Tenor saxophone stars Flip Phillips and Lester Young will be on hand again to keep the "joint jumpin'." Lester, the "cool" one and Flip, the "hot" one ore both considered tops in the tenor sax department.

Roy "Little Jazz" Eldridge and Charlie Shavers will be spotlighted in the trumpet section while bass honors, as always, go to Ray Brown, top bassist in the land for a decade. The Grade A caliber of the talent roster is rounded out by piano expert Hank Jones, ace guitarist Barney Kessel and Willie Smith, alto sax.

THE TALKING VIOLIN—Television artist Ginger Smock will be just one of the treats in store for spectators at the annual "RED, WHITE AND BLUE REVUE" of the ALPHAS', Sunday afternoon at the Florentine Gardens.

MARY BRAN presents: DYNAMIC Jose GRECO and his Spanish Dancers of 30 Unusual dancing flashing with vivid color and exciting spirit.

Sepia Revue Makes Debut Membership

An original, intimate sepia review titled "Phil Moore and His Flock," will make its debut at Monte Proser's La Vie en Rose starting Nov. 18.

Produced and directed by Phil Moore, who coached Lena Horne and Dorothy Dandridge to stardom, it has a cast of eight performers auditioned from over 600 acts in the last 13 months.

Goebel Beer Hires Hicks As Salesman

The Goebel Brewing Company of California has appointed Albert L. Hicks to its Southern California sales staff, it was announced here recently.

Hicks has been a resident of Los Angeles for the past 22 years and is a graduate of Jefferson High School. While at Jefferson, Hicks was a three-year letterman in basketball and one-year in tennis. He was also a member of various school organizations, including the Boy's "Hi-Y"; was president of the Thespian Forum Club, and an active member of the Harlequin Players. Hicks organized the Marquette Basketball Club and coached them to two successive city championships.

From 1943 to 1946, he served as a Marine sergeant; played on the Corps basketball team for three years, and also represented the Marines in tennis tournaments in Southern California. After his discharge in 1946, Hicks returned to Los Angeles and by working nights in the Post Office, managed to put himself through 2 semesters of City College.

Wanger Adds Negro Aide to Studio Offices

Walter Wanger, for years one of Hollywood's foremost producers, has hired Lawrence (Brock) Brockenbury, nationally known writer and business counsel, as his personal secretarial aide, it was announced this week.

Brockenbury, former editor of the Dallas Express, has already assumed his duties in Wanger's main offices at Allied Artists studios.

In addition to regular secretarial activities, it was stated tha Brockenbury also will assist Wagner in directing the Phoenix Foundation, a plan for regeneration of men released from custody. The organization has received tremendously favorable response from penal authorities and civic leaders throughout the nation. The basis of the plan is

Show Business

Duke Ellington, celebrating his 25 years in show business, is at Broadway's Paramount Theatre and going great guns, as only the Duke can do. Last Saturday nite Duke left between shows and was a guest on Lucky Millinder's WNEW show, "Lucky's Lounge." Lucky devoted his entire one-hour program to the Duke.

MGM recording artists Billy Eckstine and George Shearing, along with Count Basie and his ork, invade Carnegie Hall November 15. Ruth Brown is still going great as a vocalist. . . . Willis (Gaitertail) Jackson has become one of the hottest exponents of the tenor sax. . . . Mahalia Jackson, fabulous gospel singer, left for Europe on the SS United States on October 17. Miss Jackson is touring Paris, Lyons, Bordeaux, Scandinavia, Holland, Belgium and England. Accompanying the artist will be Bess Berman, Mildred Falls and Harry Lenetska.

Bette McLaurin is at Broadway's Birdland. . . . A new package of Joe Morris' ork, Little Lurie Tate, Lowell Fulson and the Five Keys went out on a one-night trek starting November 28 through Devember 11. The group is playing theatres. . . . MGM recording artist, Eddie Heywood, is at the Blackhawk in San Francisco.

Japanese American Beauty Selected Runner-Up Queen

Los Angeles State College's student body merits the CALIFORNIA EAGLE salute of the week for its truly democratic selection of their Homecoming Queen and her captivating Court. In most contests a select group of "wheels" virtually eliminates true integration making it impossible for outsiders to win . . . even though the majority of ballots are otherwise.

Definitely Democratic

Our own charming and talented Queen Donzella Coulter, honor graduate of Dorsey High School and Los Angeles City College, has been extensively editorialized and pictorialized first by your California Eagle and later other mediums too numerous to mention.

An Experienced 'Queen'

LOVELY ITSUKO HAMASAKI, 20 year old Nesei beauty of the junior class of Los Angeles State College, was a very close second to darling Donzella Coulter.

Itsie's 5, 1½", 107 lbs. of fresh, American beauty, was first chosen Queen of the Teen-agers in 1948 when she was sweet sixteen. In 1950, the Pacific Southwest Japanese American Citizens' League chose Itsie as their queen when she was but eighteen years old. Itsie graduated with honors from Belmont High School and later entered Los Angeles City College, where she is majoring in Elementary Education.

At State, Itsie is a member of Tau Sigma Nu Sority.

New "88" Garner Wax Works Issued

Erroll Garner is the man, his rabid fans insist, for whom the piano was invented. His latest Columbia interpretations of a pair of familiar jazz refrains, "What's New" and "Summertime," lend great support to that thesis.

Erroll's distinctive stylings of the two tunes combine deft touches of Debussy and "Fats" Waller while hewing closely to the melody line.

Amos Milburn Fans To Buy Modern Bus Honoring Greyhound

The Amos Milburn Fan Club revealed in Philadelphia this week that plans are underway to purchase a Greyhound bus in which the club proposes to establish its permanent quarters.

The fan club for the famous blues singer said that the success of Milburn's newest record, "Greyhound," had inspired it to adopt this new plan.

Amos, who has numerous fan clubs scattered about the country, is currently at the Sportsman's Club in Newport, Ky., to be followed by a string of one-nighters through the South and Southwest.

Peg Leg Bates to Open N. Y. Hotel

Peg Leg Bates will open a 65-acre resort in Kerhonsken, N. Y. next Spring. The 45-room "Ethelynne" hotel—set deep in the beautiful Catskill Mountains—will offer swimming, tennis, baseball and basketball facilities as well as nightly entertainment by top-flight Broadway stars.

Reginald Matthews, who heads the law firm which handled the $50,000 deal for Bates, was an item of news himself recently—when he was chosen by the Calvert Distillers Corporation for their outstanding advertising series of "Successful Men."

MISS CHAMPALE SWEET—Lovely Noma Nadean smiles prettily on being informed that she was chosen "Miss Champale Sweet" by Southern California Liquor Dealers. Miss Nadean will reign this week to celebrate the second anniversary on the California market of Champale, the beverage that is advertised to bubble like champagne.

People and Places

POLITICAL POTPOURRI . . . Of all comments expressed relative to the election, one of the most candid opinions was that of Francis P. Waller, Jr., our Advertising Manager.

"It's like fighting the Brown Bomber of old. Your chief concern was not WHO was going to win but, regardless of the great stand you made, the important question was WHEN "Hairless" Ike or "Tricky" Dick will lower the boom and you'll be picked up with a blotter?"

HEYWOOD "CHOPS" JONES, formerly of the famous dancing team of Ford, Harris and Jones, (international favorites for over a quarter of a century) and vital factor behind the popular K&K of Hollywood products, has this to say about the average "slick" chick: "If she's too young to fry —leave her to Heaven — but whatever else you do, above all, please LEAVE HER!"

A WELL KNOWN "Sugar Hell" debutramp got soused to the gills at a Saturday night "chitterling pawty" the other ayem and disrobed in front of all those people with 20/20 vision. There she stood, in the middle of the room, wearing nothing but a facial expression. What fine chitterlings she had!!!

LENA HORNE, the fiery and lovable song stylist, is the sweetest thing since strawberry short cake, to lift a line from Herb Caen, author of Baghdad-by-the-Bay and a San Francisco columnist par-excellence. She never misses a chance to return to the stage her mother made famous as a Lafayette Player. She only stole the show at the Lincoln Theater Rally last Thursday.

FRUIT CAKE, Joe Green's latest recording, is getting a good workout via the radio. Wonder why Sampson, Adams, Hemphill, Trammell don't plug this dittie. Maybe they have and I haven't been on the right dial.

DR. OVERSTREET GRAY, who makes his living by lounging around in your kisser with a drill, is having Cyril Shepard, the interior decorator, go over his Victoria Avenoo home. When he finishes it will be the talk of the town.

DOROTHY DONNEGAN, the scintillating brownskin pianist, slipped back into town after a three months swing around the east. Dorothy is sporting a few unwanted pounds that she claims she's going to do something about. Here is a chance for me to plug Virginia Johnson's hubby's Western Ave. bathhouse or Wini Orr's swank ladies parlor. Call at Ed Coru's.

COMEDIANS? cause Paul (Lid off Central Ave.) Coates to raise the question. Is it necessary for the Step Brothers to inject comedy into their act? He goes on to say dancing is all they need to win any audience. We'll buy that.

ALICE KEYES, popular and very well liked B. V. A. member and a gal that has been tried, true and trusted as a real friend, is being accused falsely by a certain waitress, who just recently celebrated a tear-jerking birthday party. We say to her, "Just don't talk so much!"

THE BIG SHOT. You can pin him any afternoon posing in front of the Dunbar Hotel impressing the peasants that he is well off. He puffs those expensive cigars whenever he can catch the poor clerk's back turned away from the cigar counter. He reaches in—grabs a handful and pays for one!

WALTER PETERS, the boy wonder of Central Avenoo, is able to spend twenty-six cents to register his beef about the newsie Eagle arriving in Seattle, Wash., so late. We took his beef up with our circulation department.

HITCHING POST, Bob Works, easy going manager in the Rubyiat Room, joined the two-can-live as expensively as one! He got himself married in San Francisco and is off to Honolulu.

JERRY SHEPARD, who operates out of the Regal liquor store on 89th and Central, is keeping the joint open until 2 a.m. due to the heavy traffic that flows.

JEAN WOOLDRIDGE, the bushy black haired shapely Elbow Bend waitress is a serious music student. She is attending a Hollywood music school learning the saxophone.

LES FEMMES ELEGANTS are placing their invites in the mail for their forthcoming Seventh Annual Birthday Ball. This group of classy lassies can always be counted on for a way out affair this Friday night.

CORU'S, the latest beautifying parlor that got off to a flying start resulting from the good public relations with Wini Orr at the helm, may hit a sour note. Understand the owners figured that they didn't have to spend money when they hired the gal. Someone kindly wake them up about promoting a business. The few dollars that Coru's spent couldn't possibly get what Wini gets in publicity.

LYSBETH ROGERS, the popular Red Hut Broiler waitress is thinking seriously about adopting two ten-year-old youngsters. The father is a well known bus operator and natch he goes along with the kids.

ROSEMARY GOODE is about to shed husband number three. Her attorney is busy filing the necessary papers.

JOYCE BRYANT recovered from her accident which caused her to be hospitalized recently. She is off to Montreal to fill a singing engagement.

MALVIN WEBB, the beau brummel of the walks, is doing a terrific job with a beer called Blatz. He just returned from a trek up Stockton way. He was so impressed with his hotel accomodations that he penned the Stockton Chamber of Commerce a neat thank you note.

DYNAMITE JACKSON is working out details to launch a radio show originating from his Central Avenoo cocktail room. We understand it will be an assortment of news, music and big names in the sports world.

RED HUT "CUPACAWFEE" Clyde "Grapes" Howser says he's going on a health diet immediately following the election. Gonna start putting vitamins in his gin so he can build himself up while he's tearing himself down.

SLIM WILLIAMS, the rich (so he says) Texan from "Read and Run" Texas, has so much money he's giving some of it to a psychiatrist for psychological treatment!

KNOWLEDGE BOX. Did you know that there are five Virgins in Los Angeles, according to the new telephone directory? In 1947 there wasn't one. Could it be our town is improving???

MAXINE BALLARD, the shapely dancing chorine, has lost her very shapely figure. She is expecting an heir soon and she carries her added pounds right motherly.

SHIRLEY MORRIS, the dimpled City College chemistry major, dropped in to the office to tell how she enjoys the California Eagle. Sweet gal!

LAMPADOS, the Pledge Club of the Omega Psi Phi is planning a worthwhile charitable affair and would like for as many organizations as can to get in on. A meeting Nov. 9 is slated at

New City Law Will Increase Parking Space

To offset at least in part the increased traffic in the local area business district, new business buildings will be required to include off-street parking space equal to one-half of their floor space, according to a new ordinance now being prepared by the City Attorney. This is double the present parking space required.

The new ordinance will replace a previous rule under which business buildings had to provide parking space equal to 25% of their floor space. The rapid increase in automobiles converging on the business district made this ordinance obsolete.

to aid deserving men to rehabilitate themselves upon their release from prison by helping them to find jobs; by furnishing temporary rental funds and other financial assistance; and most important, "by conveying to the men the realization that society is not against them but is willing to acept them at their own worh."

The Phoenix Foundation will aid persons regardless of race, coolr or national origin and will be entirely inter-racial in scope. Wanger is particularly anxious that this not be known as his plan. "This is not a one-man plan," he said, "we simply want to help the sheriff's department, the probation departments and other agencies whose job it is to prepare men for worthwhile living; we expect to get help from all persons interested in giving a man a chance to prove himself."

The hiring of Brockenbury as a member of his staff, while creating something of a preccent in motion picture circles, follows a definite pattern that has always been Walter Wanger's philosophy of living.

While president of the Motion Picture Academy, Wanger was one of the motivating forces behind the plan instituted by himself, Darryl Zanuck and Wendell Willkie some ten years ago which—aided by Walter White and the NAACP—resulted in revolutionizing the film industry's attitude towards Negroes in motion pictures.

"My Hands Got Red and Sore"

Marshall Leverett, 2921 Putnam St., Detroit, Mich.: "I work in a steel mill, acids and grease get on my hands, making them red and sore. The mill Doctor told me to use Black and White Ointment. I was surprised how fast it relieved itching, burning and soreness. Can't say too much about your grand ointment. It helped me a lot. I won't be without it."

— Woman of Year —

COURAGEOUS LEADER—Dr. Mary Church Terrell has just been chosen for the "Woman of the Year" award by the National Council of Negro Women. Reason for Dr. Terrell's selection was her courageous leadership during 1952 in removing barriers of racial segregation in the Nation's capital.

Man Who 'Looked' Guilty of 'Assault'

YANCEYVILLE, N. C.—The man who "looked" at a white girl in June, 1951, was found guilty here Tuesday of "assault."

The all-white jury returned the verdict against 44-year-old Mack Ingram, after deliberating 25 minutes. They concluded that he had "leered" at the young woman.

He was sentenced Wednesday to six months, suspended, and five years probation.

As a result of looking in the direction of Mrs. Willie Jean Webster, Ingram was convicted.

This was Ingram's third trial on the charge. The first verdict of guilty was appealed. The second trial ended in a mistrial. It is probable that this new verdict will also be appealed.

The girl, then Willie Jean Boswell, since married, said it "looked like he was trying to cut me off," but admitted that Ingram had never been closer than 60 feet to where she was. She became frightened and ran, she said, and her brothers and father brought charges of assault with intent to rape against Ingram. This was later reduced to assault.

Dr. Mary Terrell Gets Award as Woman of Year

WASHINGTON — Dr. Mary Church Terrell, founder of the National Council of Negro Women, and its president for the first 25 years of its existence, last week was given the signal honor of being designated as the organization's "Woman of the Year."

The choice was based on Dr. Terrell's energetic and courageous leadership during 1952 in the fight to remove racial barriers in the nation's capital.

Five other women were also selected for meritorious service and achievement. They are Mrs. India Edwards, Dr. Inabel Burns Lindsay, Miss Margaret Garrity, Dr. Sadie Peterson Delaney and Mrs. Phyllis Stancil O'Kelly.

'Dadd... To Sue Magazine

WASHINGTON — Bishop Daddy (Charles Manuel) Grace and his Board of Elders this week released denials of a report that he was linked to the 1933 gangland-style murder of Elder G. Becton in Philadelphia.

They also heatedly rejected the contention that white interests use "Daddy" and his evangelism as a "front" and that the backers are only interested in the money they can bleed out of the people.

"It's a damnable lie," proclaimed the elders, claiming that Bishop Grace works only "for his people."

Magazine Attacked

Both charges were contained in the September issue of a Negro monthly magazine.

Elder Becton was mowed down by a gunman's bullets in Philadelphia at the height of his power when his colorful evangelist flair had swept the Quaker City. His assailant was never caught.

"Daddy," rejecting the murder implication, declared that he never met Elder Becton and that there had never been any hostile feelings between them. "There was no reason why there should have been," he said. "Elder Bec-

Man Raped Her, Left 5c, Woman Says

"I'll put this nickle in the mailbox."

That's what Hubert Munley, 47, 1312 Walnut street, told Jo Ella Prescott, 25, 621½ West 54th street, after raping her in her bed, 1:15 a.m., Saturday, she told police.

Mrs. Prescott stated she was at a bar early in the evening and returned home around nine o'clock.

Her landlady, Arie Weber, was at home at this time and went to the front house to visit her sister and Mrs. Prescott went to bed.

About 1 a.m., she said, she woke up and felt someone bending over her and running his hands over her body. "I've asked you to do this before and you wouldn't do it. Now you're going to."

She realized it was Munley. He pulled a knife, pressed it against her throat, threatening, and said, "If you make any noise, I'll cut you to death," the distraught woman reported.

Munley got into Mrs. Prescott's bed with all of his clothing on. After fondling her for several minutes he raped her, she told police.

After he finished, he got out of bed and said, "There'll be some money for in the mailbox." Then he left by the front door and she called the police.

They found the nickel in the mailbox.

Ruling May Force Southern Pacific to Drop 'Negro' Coach

The United States Supreme Court held Monday that railroads cannot Jim Crow Negro passengers in interstate commerce through the device of establishing "reasonable rules and regulations."

That ruling may doom segration practices of the Southern Pacific railroad.

The S. P. Jim Crows southbound Negro passengers on its crack Sunset Limited and justifies its practice on the ground that it is permitted to establish "reasonable rules and regulations." They are put in a Jim Crow car in Los Angeles.

SAME PRINCIPLE

That same contention was made by the Atlantic Coast line in the case just decided by the Supreme Court. A Negro high school principal from North Carolina was ejected from a "white" coach in Virginia and fined for disorderly conduct for resisting his removal.

He sued the railroad for damages and a Federal District Court held that the railroad had the right to impose Jim Crow

Jo Baker Gives Sharp Retort to Threatened Ban

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Josephine Baker, who was the rage of the nation a year ago when she packed theaters to overflowing all the way from New York to Los Angeles, this week was threatened with being barred from the United States, should she ever attempt to return.

La Baker, now enjoying a sensational success in Buenos Aires, hurled a defy right back.

When told that Justice Department spokesman had said she might not be granted a re-entry permit, Miss Baker retorted she would consider herself honored by being excluded from the United States.

"To be barred from entering the United States is an honor because it means that my work on behalf of humanity has been successful.

"There is only one thing I advise them to do, before they are forced to do it: to enact laws against racial and religious discrimination in every one of the 48 States. After that time will take care of the rest."

Miss Baker, a native of St. Louis, renounced her American citizenship when she married a Frenchman. She was pretty much of an unknown when she went to Paris in the 'twenties, where she became an overnight sensation.

The contemplated action of the Justice Department reportedly is due to critical remarks made by Miss Baker about the United States and its jim-crow practices during speeches in Buenos Aires.

Truck Driver in Pasadena Race Flare-Up Held

A Pasadena contractor who threatened a group of workers building a home for a Negro family in a "white" section, and who is charged with attempting to run down four Negro newspaper reporters covering the incident, was bound over to Superior Court last Thursday following a preliminary hearing before Judge H. Burton Noble.

R. C. Wheeler, 75 Malcolm Drive, Pasadena, the defendant, will be arrainged in Superior Court, Nov. 24, for assault with a deadly weapon. This charge is based on the incident of Oct. 28 when the newsmen claim Wheeler drove his truck at them striking John M. Lee, managing editor of the Herald-Dispatch.

Insults

Edward Robinson, of the California Eagle and Irving Smith photographer for the Courier and Eagle, said, Wheeler came at them with the truck after shouting: "You know we don't want you g-- d--- niggers up here." Smith's coat was torn by the truck as he sought to escape from the path of the oncoming vehicle.

Wheeler's actions culminated protests and interference on the part of a few persons living near the site of the construction of the house at 191 Sequoia Ave., Pasadena.

When it was learned that the house was being built for the Thomas Nelson family the intimidation of the workmen began. Some whites in the community parked their cars in front of the driveway to the excavation to prevent the contractors from removing the fill from the foundation. Cars also blocked another driveway where the fill was being dumped.

After clearance for the driveways was obtained, and the construction of the Negro family's home resumed, Wheeler came upon the scene and reportedly began threatening the workmen. He turned upon the newsmen when they sought to question him.

Wheeler Easily Found

The NAACP was called into the matter and a series of conferences were held with local law enforcement officers on what was developing into an explosive situation. Lester P. Bailey,

Stevenson Garners 85% of Local Vote

By WENDELL GREEN

As was indicated by the samplings of a few polls last week, Stevenson and Hahn got a tremendous vote from Negro voters in Los Angeles. As indicated by the figures in the box above, Stevenson got 90% of the vote in the heavily populated Central Avenue district. In the Watts area Stevenson garnered 85% of the vote and on the Westside 80% went for Stevenson.

Perhaps the surprise was Mrs. Charlotta Bass, who polled some 15,000 votes when she ran for City Council during the war years, made a very dismal showing running for vice-president with Vincent Hallinan on the Progressive party ticket.

In the local supervisorial race, Hahn rolled up a tremendous lead over Roach on the Eastside and was never headed, winning by 10,000 votes. Hahn got 75% of the votes in the predominantly Negro precincts on the Eastside, 66% of the votes in the Watts area, and 65% of the votes on the Westside.

Same in Frisco

In San Francisco the same situation prevailed in the Presidential election. In the Fillmore district and Hunter's point, Negro voters in unprecedented numbers gave Stevenson 87% of the vote. In Fresno, voters also went to the polls in record-breaking numbers and gave Stevenson 90% of the vote in the heavily populated Negro precincts.

What happened in Los Angeles also happened in every major city in the United States. Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, and New York gave Stevenson over 85% of the Negro vote. William Lawson and Adam Clayton Powell were returned to congress with whopping majorities. In California Augustus F. Hawkins and W. Byron Rumford were re-elected to the state legislature on Democratic tickets. Dr. Boliver Moore, running for Supervisor in Oakland, put up a surprisingly strong fight, but was unable to garner enough votes to even make the race close.

Democratic leaders throughout the country expressed satisfac-

Jurors Acquit Man Who Killed Father-in-Law

By Irving Smith

John Lee Ivey, who shot and killed his father-in-law, Elijah Lawshea, last August 19, convinced a jury in Judge Edwin L. Jefferson's court that he acted in self defense and was freed last Monday.

Prosecution witnesses testified that Ivey, his wife and baby had lived with Lawshea at 934 E. 132nd street for the past four years and admitted under cross examination by Attorney Earl C. Broady, that there had been quarreling and bickering during the entire time.

The shooting was the climax of a quarrel that began on Aug. 18. Mrs. May Lawshea, the widow told the jury that at one point in the quarrel her husband grabbed Ivey as the latter was trying to cock a 30-30 rifle. Ivey was subdued, she said.

Two Shots Fired

Another witness, Henry Gordon, told the jury that during the Aug. 18 argument, Lawshea fired two shots from a foreign pistol "to scare Ivey." He said that Ivey left the house that night and returned with a rifle the next morning.

Ivey said that he returned to get his clothing and other personal effects and to move his wife and child. When he entered he said that Lawshea produced the pistol and told him to get out of the house. Asserting that he raised his rifle just as Lawshea raised the pistol, Ivey described the shooting as accidental due to his wife jostling his arm.

Lawshea was painted as the aggressor throughout the fray by Attorney Broady who explained his presence at the house as the "act of a reasonable man trying to protect his wife and family." It took the jury only 30 minutes to indicate its agreement with Broady and free Ivey.

ACQUITTED—John Lee Ivey, right, walks out of the court room with his attorney, Earl C. Broady, after being acquitted of the slaying of his father-in-law, Elijah Lawshea, last Aug. 19. A jury took only 30 minutes to free him after listening to his story of self defense.

Election May Topple Top Office Holders

WASHINGTON—Who will go and who will stay?

That double-barreled question confronted a score of top-flight office-holders who took a glum look at the election returns and found that the Republicans are back in power.

Among those who hold top-level jobs are Judge Herman Moore of the Virgin Islands, Judge Armond Scott of the District of Columbia Municipal Court, Thomasina Norford of the Labor Department, Ann Hedgeman, in the Mutual Security Administration, Booker McGraw and Frank Horne in National Housing Administration.

Hungry Looks

Dozens of other Negroes hold office in various district attorney's offices, area housing administrations and in other Federal boards and administrations.

All of them have received offices during the 20-year tenure of the Democrats and eager Republicans are eyeing both national and local jobs with hungry looks and high hopes.

Some of the positions are civil-service protected, but even that may not offer too much protection since the old jobs can be demolished and new ones created. Thus office-holders can be eased out of present jobs and deserving Republicans slipped into the newly created sinecures.

Loses Chairmanship

No Republican congressmen were elected and both congressmen William Dawson of Chicago and Adam Powell of New York kept their posts. Dawson will lose his committee chairmanship, the only one ever held by a Negro. As a member of the minority party neither will be able to wield the power he formerly held.

During the course of the campaign, General Eisenhower several times went out of his way to promise that Negroes would be considered for Federal offices on their merits and Republicans

City in Georgia Breaks Tradition to Elect First Negro

AUGUSTA, Ga. — A Negro was elected to public office in Augusta on Nov. 4 for the first time since reconstruction days.

W. C. Ervin, business manager of Payne college, won a seat on the Board of Education by a vote of 921 to 352 over a former city councilman, R. J. Wilkinson.

Ervin's ward included 1,624 registered Negro voters and 942 registered white voters.

First Michigan City Votes FEPC

DETROIT, Mich. — River Rouge became the first city in Michigan to adopt a fair employment practices commission Nov. 4.

The ordinance provides a penalty of up to 60 days in jail and a $200 fine for persons who "discriminate in employment because of race, color, religion, sex, national origin or ancestry."

Vote on the issue was 4,175 for to 3,180 against.

Police Shots Fan So. African Revolt

Initial skirmishes which seem to forshadow the outbreak of open civil war claimed the lives of 23 people in two South African cities over the weekend.

In Kimberley, site of the largest diamond mines in the world, 13 Negroes were killed and 78 wounded. At East London at least another 10 people, including two whites, were shot to death.

Crowds Unarmed

In both cities, police unlimbered sub-machine guns, rifles and revolvers and fired point-blank into crowds of unarmed Negroes who had gathered in defiance of an official ban on meetings.

The natives replied with stones and sticks, and with the torch. At the municipal camp for African employes at Kimberley Friday night, police were stoned, windows in police cars were smashed. One police van was overturned. Camp offices and the post office at the mines were burned to the ground.

Five municipal and government buildings in the east coast port of East London were destroyed by fire Saturday. Sunday, also in East London, a Catholic church was completely gutted, and other buildings were fired.

General Strike

The African National Congress, which has repeatedly pleaded for non-violent demonstrations in fighting the cruel repressive laws of the Malan government, called a 24-hour protest strike to start at daybreak Monday.

In Johannesburg, authorities, fearful of new outbreaks, had the city's streets tightly patrolled with a strong police force of armored cars and heavily-armed

Former Cudahy Workers to Get Severance Pay

The 865 former workers of the local Cudahy Packing Co. plant are due for an earned but pleasant surprise right after the New Year.

Severance pay checks ranging from $50 to $7,000, on the basis of seniority, will be distributed Jan. 3, 1953, according to Arthur Morrison, Western region representative of the United Packinghouse Workers, (CIO).

Morrison, who has just returned to Los Angeles, said negotiations assuring the payment of the severance pay were completed in Chicago at 1 a.m. Saturday morning after many hours spent in conference with the home office of the firm.

The local plant closed down Sept. 27.

Nation's Negroes Voted for Stevenson, Survey Shows

NEW YORK—The popular Republican upsurge which swept General Dwight D. Eisenhower into the White House failed to carry predominantly Negro districts, a preliminary survey by the NAACP indicates.

Reports received here from 13 cities show that Negroes voted overwhelmingly for Governor Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for president. In these cities as a whole Negroes voted about 3 to 1 for Gov. Stevenson. In some of the cities the pro-Stevenson ratio was much higher, as in Detroit and in Durham, N. C., where the ratio was 9 to 1.

Cities from which reports have been received include New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles, Houston, Miami, Newark, Memphis, Pittsburgh, Richmond, Durham, and Montclair, N. J. trucks, in preparation for the walkout.

In Port Elizabeth, scene of shootings Oct. 18 in which seven Negroes and four whites were killed, white residents were arming, forming "law and arder patrols," to supplement the police force.

Tightened Screws

The entire country, in which the non-whites out-number the whites by better than four to one, was tense. Premier Malan's government has tried to crush the non-violent resistance movement by police guns and by tightening the screws still more against the Negroes.

The fear of the whites in Port Elizabeth is a reaction to the anger of the Negroes at the new restrictions imposed upon them. After the Oct. 18 killings, the city council passed new measures prohibiting Negroes from holding public meetings except those of a religious nature.

The weekend deaths in East London occurred when police shot into a crowd of Negroes who, police claimed, had congregated in an "illegal meeting."

Defied Ban

The trouble started when police entered the native settlement to disperse a meeting in Bantu Square. The meeting had been held in defiance of a ban imposed on all gatherings under terms of the Riotous Assemblies Act.

Similarly, in Kimberley, the shooting took place when police tried to break up a Negro demonstration against the country's strict racial segregation laws.

The burning of the buildings in Kimberley, and the extreme bitterness of the natives there is the result of the imposition of Malan's new indignities on top of the terrible conditions and repressions that have long existed in the mining compounds.

Miserable Conditions

Natives who work the diamond mines are signed up for two-year contracts, herded into barbed-wire enclosed compounds which are heavily guarded by police. The men live in barracks. Women are excluded. All normal home life ends when the natives start work. They can leave the compounds only by obtaining written passes. Wages are pitifully low. Conveniences and privileges are non-existent.

Early this year Malan's government passed new laws taking away some of the meager privileges enjoyed by "Coloreds" and further restricting the activities of the Negroes.

United Protest

For the first time in the history of the country, Negroes, Coloreds and Indians united in a gigantic movement of protest. Arrests of deliberate violations of jim-crows mounted rapidly. Severe penalties, including whippings, and more curbs was Malan's reply to the mushrooming movement of protest.

In the last month, the police have resorted to the shooting of Negroes who violate the laws on the pretext that the natives were "drunken" or were "rioting."

The repressions and cruelties of 300 years of the white man's rule, however, have bred in the Negroes a hatred that now seems to have erupted in a determination to meet force with force. The Negroes are not giving ground. The whites are uneasy.

through its own rules. The case was then appealed to the Court of Appeals which reversed the District Court and held that such segregation was unconstitutional because it put a burden on interstate commerce.

UPHELD DECISION

Monday's Supreme Court decision in which no opinion was written upheld the view of the Court of Appeals that railroads cannot segregate.

In a prior decision—the famed Irene Morgan case—the Supreme Court held that state laws requiring Jim Crow of Negro passengers were unconstitutional. The railroads immediately put their own Jim Crow rules in effect.

SUIT PENDING

The Southern Pacific was sued in August, 1951 by Mrs. Claudia Whitemore and other Negro passengers who were segregated on a trip to the South. The suit is backed by the NAACP and Attorney Herbert Simmons told the Eagle this week that he is seeking a hearing on Nov. 17.

The Supreme Court decision affects only persons in interstate commerce and has no application to those traveling from one point to another in the same state.

Filing Suit

Bishop Grace accompanied his violent protest with the assertion that his lawyers are filing a slander suit against the magazine and also against Capt. James A. Kelly, head of the Philadelphia Homicide Squad when Becton was murdered, for the remarks attributed to him.

According to the report, Capt. Kelly made revelations which tended to tie Bishop Grace to the murder.

Rejecting as a lie the claim that Daddy serves the interests of a white syndicate, his Elders pointed to the great wealth of the church, which, they claim, has 3,000,000 members and "millions of dollars worth of property."

They claim that "among the lush New York properties" owned by the House of Prayer—Daddy's church—is the entire block of Eighth avenue and 125th street, a building on Riverside Drive, and the swank 555 Edgecombe avenue building.

The question of who will be chief patronage dispenser for the Republicans is also an open one. High on the list of party regulars who stuck with the GOP in good years and bad are Val Washington, National Committee functionary; Perry Howard, Mississippi national committee man; Clayborne George of Cleveland; Julius Adams of New York; and Congressman Archibald Carey of Chicago. All are expected to have a big voice in party councils. Mrs. Daisy Lampkin, top NAACP figure, newspaper woman and long-time Democrat, who switched her allegiance to Eisenhower may also come into prominence.

One Truman appointee who will hold his place is Court of Appeals Judge William H. Hastie. His appointment is for life and he cannot be replaced or demoted.

Mrs. Edith Sampson and Channing Tobias who have been prominent in United Nations affairs can expect to return to their old jobs. Ralph Bunche is a UN official and cannot be disturbed by the new administration.

tion with maturity shown by the Negro vote. Congressman Dawson said, "We refused to be fooled and stampeded by appeals to prejudice and false promises. Our vote stood firm on the record of progress made under Democratic administrations, and I'm proud of the great response that was given Governor Stevenson."

Reports from many key states in the South indicated that the Negro vote kept it from being an even greater landslide for Eisenhower. This was most clearly demonstrated in South Carolina, where the vote was so close, that the Negro vote was the balance of power.

Andrew Hatcher, veteran party worker attached to Congressman Shelly's staff had this to say, "We voted right, there just weren't enough of us."

Next week the California Eagle will give a rundown on the community vote on propositions 3, 11 and 13.

Negroes to Maintain Gains Won in CIO

Local CIO leaders joined this week in the nation-wide mourning for the sudden death of President Phillip Murray on the eve of the organization's national convention.

The California Eagle voiced the sympathy of the community over Murray's death in a telegram of condolence to the National CIO.

Murray, who died of a heart attack in San Francisco Sunday morning, will receive the NAACP Human Rights Award posthumously at a banquet here Nov. 18, at which he had been scheduled as the principal speaker.

Pause Expected

CIO representatives in the community expressed the view that the policy of integration of minorities on jobs and in union posts, followed by the organization since its founding, would not be altered regardless of who is elected to fill Murray's post.

There was, however, some feeling that all issues facing the CIO would be soft-pedaled until the new leadership of the organization is selected and is firmly in the saddle.

This view was expressed by Arthur Morrison, West Coast representative of the United Packinghouse Workers, and Woodrow Redo, member of the Grievance committee of the United Steel Workers.

Will Take Time

Said Redo: "We'll miss him. Negroes may suffer to some degree until the organization pulls out of the present cycle, that is the period of internal political struggle. This may push aside for a while the fight for Negro rights." He expressed confidence, however, that the successes gained by Negroes in the CIO would continue, and would, in fact, increase.

Morrison stated: "It will take time to get a smoothly working machine functioning. But the entire upper strata of the CIO is in favor of full rights for Negroes. The tough spots are below. The problem now is to select as a leader some one who, like Murray, can resolve the difficulties that always crop up between the member unions."

John H. Dial, Jr., chairman of the Fair Practices Committee of the Greater CIO Los Angeles Council, expressed confidence that the progressive policies of the organization would be continued. He added, however, that "it is regrettable that Murray's death occurred just at this time, particularly when we are faced with a new and hostile Congress."

F. M. Roberts' Widow Sues For Damages

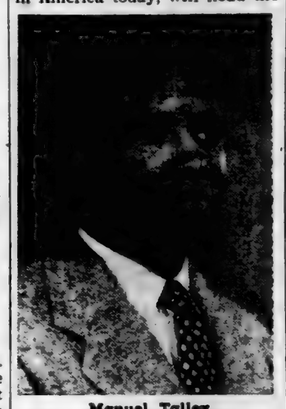
The accidental death of Hon. Frederick M. Roberts became the basis for a $100,000. damage suit filed in the Superior Court of Los Angeles last week.

Roberts, 72, who had just returned from the National Republican Convention in Chicago, received injuries in a traffic accident July 18, which resulted in his death the following day.

The suit is being filed in behalf of the widow, Mrs. Pearl W. Roberts, who resides at the family home, 350 East Jefferson blvd., and her two daughters, Gloria P. Roberts, aspiring concert pianist, and Patricia F. Roberts, a minor.

The suit was filed by the law firm of Thomas L. Berkeley of Berkeley, Calif., specialist in the field of accident law.

Roberts, long-time resident of Los Angeles, spearheaded Negro Republican activities in this area and was active in civic, religious and fraternal circles.



Defendants in the suit are Henry Anderson, 1734 East 42nd street, driver of the death car, and Eurlia Davila, owner of the automobile.

'Don't Buy' Group Slates Sunday Rally

Merchants and other businessmen who are cooperating in the Consumers Mobilization drive for fair employment, will be introduced to the community Sunday afternoon, Nov. 16, at a three o'clock rally in Holman Methodist church, at 3320 West Adams boulevard.

The rally, called by Consumers Mobilization, will consider the organizations "Don't Buy" campaigns against concerns which discriminate.

James Farmer, author of "Creed and Prejudice," a former labor organizer in the South and one of the outstanding speakers in America today, will head the list of speakers who are to appear.

Manuel Talley

James Farmer

Farmer, an authority on Africa, will tell how huge non-violent campaigns against appression in India and South Africa were used to win freedom for the people of India, and how these methods are now being used by the people of Africa.

Wendell Green, editor of the California Eagle, will be on hand to trace the struggle for FEPC in California, and to analyze the effect the direct action campaigns of Consumer Mobilization are likely to have in the overall fight for fair employment.

Manuel D. Talley, national chairman of Consumers Mobilization, will place the program and policies of Consumers Mobilization before the audience for consideration.

The Reverend John J. Hicks pastor of St. John's Methodist church, will illustrate the moral effect on importance of individual action against discrimination. The speakers will be introduced by the Reverend L. L. White, minister of Holman Methodist church.

Truck Driver Held in Race Row

NAACP field secretary, stated that the police seemed "reluctant" to arrest Wheeler even though there were strong leads to his being suspected.

While the police department was allegedly "checking" the license of Wheeler's truck through Sacramento, the field secretary and local NAACP officials traced Wheeler to his home near the scene of the construction and demanded his arrest.

Dr. I. B. English, president of the Pasadena branch, stated that the NAACP has a list of persons in the community known to be the instigators of the interference with the construction of the Nelson family's home.

"We will continue to press for vigorous prosecution of Wheeler and any other person who would so callously seek to deny this family their basic right to build and live wherever they choose," Dr. English declared.

The Pasadena branch will hold a mass meeting next Sunday, Nov. 16, 3:30 p.m., at the Metropolitan Baptist church, 345 West Claremont avenue. Principal speaker will be Regional Director Franklin H. Williams. Bailey will give a report on the Sequoia avenue incident.

Lena Horne Heads NAACP Xmas Appeal

NEW YORK—"It is comforting to pause briefly and look back upon the year's achievements in the struggle for the brotherhood of man," says Lena Horne, chairman of the 1952 Christmas seal campaign of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in a letter sent out to the Association's friends asking their support of the drive. Money from the drive helps pay for the Association's work.

Miss Horne's letter, which was mailed with sheets of the seals to more than 100,000 persons, cited the Association's intensive registration and voting campaign and the full-scale legal attack launched against segregation in public education at the elementary and high school levels.

The world-famed actress and singer said that a favorable opinion in the school segregation cases to be argued before the United States Supreme Court on December 8 "will shatter the entire system of segregated education in the nation."

"The NAACP has an increasingly important role in helping to justify the faith of other peoples in the democratic system," Miss Horne wrote. "The Association therefore needs your financial support more than ever before."

The NAACP seals, which sell at one dollar per sheet of one hundred, are available through local branches or from the national office.

Grandfather Sued For Child Stealing

The mysterious circumstances that surround the death of a young mother and the love of a father for an illegitimate child figured prominently in a damage suit filed here this week.

William McNairy, 12001 Parmalee Street, the child's grandfather, was named defendant in a $5,000 damage suit brought by Richard W. Nicholson of San Francisco, filed through the law offices of Gordon and Schaffer here. Nicholson claims that amount for the loss of the "society and services" of his six-year-old daughter born out of wedlock to Katherine McNairy who died last June 4.

Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., retained by Nicholson to represent his interest, has filed the action which among other things fixes the responsibility of the grandfather McNairy, appointed administrator of his grandchild's estate, at the same time his client admitted paternity in court.

The instrument further reveals that Nicholson, married and the father of two children, agreed to settle $2250 on the late Miss McNairy, of which $400 was paid outright and the remainder to be paid at $50 per month. Nicholson also agreed to pay $50 a month for the support of the child.

The plaintiff Nicholson alleges that he has sought vainly on many occasions to locate the child, which he rightfully claims is his own, and bring it up with the rest of his family. In this Mrs. Nicholson concurs.

Breaking The South

The politically Solid South has been broken only twice since Reconstruction. Herbert Hoover did it in 1928 and General Eisenhower did it in last Tuesday's election.

In each instance it took an appeal to intolerance to accomplish the result. Hoover's victory was traceable to the fact that Al Smith, his opponent, was a Catholic. Eisenhower's victory down in Dixie is traceable to the strong stand taken in the Democratic platform and by Adlai Stevenson on civil rights.

Although Republicans had high hopes of building their party in the South after the Hoover victory those hopes were dimmed as soon as the religious issue had been pushed into the background.

Republican plans to build a two-party system in the South will go glimmering now just as they did in 1928 unless that party is willing to continue to play footsie with Jimmy Byrnes, Senator Byrd of Virginia, Governor Kennon of Louisiana, Governor Shivers and Senator Price Daniel of Texas and the rest of the Dixiecrats, large and small, who helped split the South last Tuesday.

There are some indications that the GOP is willing to pay the price for continued Dixiecrat support. Rumors have it that a southerner will be included in Eisenhower's cabinet. The only southerners who are eligible from the point of view of support given in the campaign are the strong opponents of civil rights.

It is plain too that General Eisenhower will have to depend on the support of the die hard opponents of civil rights to get necessary backing for his congressional program. He can have that support if he is willing to pay the Southern price. That price is the ditching of his very meager promises on civil rights. For example, the new president is going to find out that he won't be able to carry out his one specific civil rights promise—that of ending racial segregation in the District of Columbia—without putting the Dixiecrats on the warpath. If he tries it they wil soon be hurling the same epithets at him that they lavished on President Truman.

All in all, the Republican party is in an unenviable spot if it wants to build a two-party system down in Dixie. The price—and we hope it is too high for the Republicans—is that of going along with Jim Crow.

Phil Murray Is Dead

These days we take it for granted that the labor movement will inevitably range itself on our side in our fight for full citizenship. We tend to forget that Labor was not always as vigilant as it is now to lend its support to NAACP, the Urban support to the NAACP, the Urban.

One of the men who helped the outlook of the American Labor movement was Phillip Murray. He was a conscientious and deeply religious man who was personally touched by wrong and injustice and who was always ready to speak out against discrimination. In addition he had the vision to see that organized labor could not reach its goals unless it included the Negro workers in its organizational drives.

As one of the founders and original spark plugs of the CIO, Mr. Murray allied himself with those who insisted that organized labor must not only organize Negro workmen but that Negroes must also be included among those who fashioned the policies of the CIO and helped chart its course and guide its destinies.

In recent years we had come to expect that Phil Murray's name would be among the list of Americans who spoke out for civil rights, who fought for an FEPC and who were ready to fight for the elimination of discrimination and segregation in every phase of our national life.

Phil Murray's contributions will live after him. He did his job so well in the CIO that we can expect that organization to continue the course he helped plan. All Americans will miss his wise counsel and guidance and Negroes will remember him as a man who did much to launch, and then accelerate, the advances we have made in the past twenty years.

Hattie McDaniel Actress

Hattie McDaniel was a talented American actress who was required by the conventions of the American state to play a certain kind of role. Almost always she was cast as the happy and content, sometimes shrewd servant whose every living thought was the welfare of those she served.

Those roles often irritated Negroes, not because they did not, and do not, know that such Negroes exist but because Hollywood and Broadway overemphasized them and gave off the impression that the stereotype they loved so much was the composite picture of all Negroes.

In their resentment Negroes often lost sight of Miss McDaniel's artistry and talent. They confused Hattie McDaniel, the person, with the role she played and were all too quick to hurl accusations at her and at other actors and actresses who took similar parts. They forgot that actors, like the rest of us, work for a living and at the jobs they can find.

The real culprit of the piece was, and is, the American stage which, by compressing the talents of Negro actors and actresses within a stereotyped mold, deprives the actor of the opportunity to display his talents to their full advantage. And that of course, redounds to the disadvantage of the theater and movie goer.

Even the disadvantages inherent in the stereotyped roles she took could not conceal Miss McDaniel's real ability and the American stage is richer for what she did.

In private life, Miss McDaniel was a militant and outspoken proponent of civil rights and an opponent of those who strove to disadvantage the Negro. She contributed generously of her time and talent to community affairs. The stage and screen will miss her talent and the cause of democracy has lost a staunch defender.

Our Community Chest

There were some pretty deep differences among us in the political campaign that has just come to an end.

All of us can agree on another campaign that opened Monday. That is the annual drive of the Community Chest.

The Chest is impartial. It serves us all. Only lack of space keeps us from listing the many organizations in our own community that depend on the Chest for funds with which to operate.

Most of us, fortunately, don't require services from all of these organizations but what they do affects all of us, directly or indirectly.

The Community Chest depends on the small givers for the bulk of its funds. Most Eagle readers are in the class of those who can't give much. But the sum total of what all of them give will certainly help the Chest reach its goal.

Give as much as you can and give it as soon as you can to help your Community Chest help your neighbors and yourself.

Money Better Spent

A few years ago some residents in the Lynwood area collected almost three thousand dollars to enforce race restrictive covenants. Before the funds could be spent for that purpose the United States Supreme Court held that such covenants were not enforceable by the courts.

Last week contributors to the fund voted, and were granted, permission to expend the funds to help launch and sustain a band for youngsters.

That, we think, is a good end for funds collected for a wrong purpose. We're sure that in the long run the contributors will get far more pleasure out of the expenditure of their money to help youngsters than they would have had in spending those dollars to deprive other American citizens of rights guaranteed by the Constitution.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

AKRON, Ohio—After Denver, with its excited discussion and perfervid argument over the forthcoming elections, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Akron (with Kansas City and St. Louis en route) offered a depressing contrast.

I was in Cincinnati, citadel of Taft Republican, on Election Day and the day before. My time was divided between meeting with social workers and union leaders on the one hand and representatives of business and industry on the other. The same was true of Akron, while in Indianapolis my whole time was spent with the Indiana Conference of Social Welfare.

Downcast

Typically, the social work and labor groups were cast down in the deepest throes of chagrin, strongly tinged with despair. The Fair Deal had fallen; the foundations of New Deal reforms were threatened. All had been lost in the cataclysm which the Republican tidal wave seemed to them to be.

Contrariwise, the more conservative spokesmen for business and industry were delighted. They were ready to go out and dance in the streets. "The people" had changed their minds about New Dealism and neo-New Dealism; the Republicans were now ready to institute drastic changes in our social-economic structure.

Equally Irritating

I found the exultation of the latter equally as irritating—as profoundly depressing—as the blue-tinged gloom of the former group. And I found myself embroiled in as acrimonious argument with both sides as I had carried on in private conversations for many weeks prior to Election Day.

Nor did I bite my tongue in expressing impatience with the points of view that accepted either automatic salvation or automic defeat for the new liberalism that has characterized American life since 1932. I phrased some of this feeling in my remarks to the Indianapolis conference at the Claypool Hotel.

Why in the world, I wanted to know, should any group of experienced professionals, many of whom have seen Presidential administrations come and go over a thirty or forty-year period, feel that the American nation has been shaken to its foundations—whether for better or worse—merely because one set of political figures have been removed from office and another set installed in their place.

Especialy when even this change has been partial, not wholesale; and when both parties so phrased their campaign arguments as to appeal to the same basic motivations of the electorate and satisfy the same national aspirations.

Changed Teams

We are the same 155 million American individuals formed into a national group. We have the same constitutional guarantees, the same material resources and the same universal desire to keep out of war, expand our prosperity and improve the freedom, comfort and health of the people of the United States.

On the minus side, we still have the same threats to our national safety and our Democratic ideal that we feared on November Third. Racial segregation, political racketeering, profiteering and inflation are exactly the same tough enemies of the national welfare that they have been since Roosevelt entered offic, and before.

The American electorate, sitting on the bench as coach, has decided that the A team out on the field had lost its kick, and has sent in the B team. If the B team makes good, it'll be kept in the game—and may become the varsity. If it doesn't make good, four years from now there will be another change, with substitutes tearing out on the field with instructions from the coach.

Will Do His Best

It isn't quite that simple, of course, but the figure of speech will do to make the point, which is that Dwight Eisenhower wears neither wings nor thorns, but he has the common sense to know that he'll be yanked—and the rest of his team with him—if he doesn't gain where the other team failed.

He knows that social security, enlightened labor laws, extension of Federal support and support of our national economic structure are all part of the coach's instructions. Eisenhower may be no genius, but neither is he a moron. He'll do his best with a tough job, and that's all we can ask for the present.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

Many factors contributed to the landslide election of General Eisenhower and undoubtedly the principal of these was Ike's personal popularity. This popularity of the man himself was worth from two to three million votes over and above those he might get on campaign issues themselves a sort of bonus, regardless of his opponent or the debate. How true this was can be seen from the fact that Ike ran far ahead of the Republican ticket, just as the advance polls indicated that he was more popular with voters than his party.

Korean Heartache

Ike also reaped the reward of the bewilderment, frustration, and heartache of Americans on Korea. His last minute promise to personally go to Korea swept the country like wildfire and although millions of hard-headed citizens regarded it as a pure vote-catcher that could not in any practical way speed a solution of the Korean problem, still other millions believed such a trip would help and they voted for Ike. The communism and corruption issues had their effect, and that curious American feeling, "We should have a change and let some other guys have a chance" had its effect.

Once toward the end of Joe Louis' career in the ring as he was preparing for another fight, one of our good brothers said to me, "Joe has had it long enough, some other guy ought to have a chance." This would have been a valid argument if he had been advocating that Joe voluntarily retire, but he was arguing that Joe should lose in battle just to give someone else a chance! A great many people who voted for Ike on the "change" argument could not for the life of them tell what kind of change they wanted.

Civil Rights Bid

But civil rights also had an effect on the result. Southern states were won by Eisenhower with the strong help of the Civil Rights Issue. The South was told that Ike would not upset the "South's way of life," which means the South's idea of how to treat the Negro.

Thousands of leaflets were dropped from low-flying airplanes over factory districts in North Carolina telling the white workers that if the Democrats won Negroes would be working alongside them in the factories and would be straw-bosses over whites. They urged votes for Ike.

Both Sides of Mouth

In the now-famous "two-faced" television program northern Republican governors told the television audience that Eisenhower would push the passage of Civil Rights laws and wipe out discrimination and segregation.

At the same time, in a special southern broadcast, Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina was telling a southern audience that Ike had assured him the South would not be disturbed. The heavy southern vote for Ike was the result.

What Now?

Now that Ike and the Republicans are in, what chance is there for Civil Rights Legislation in the Congress and for keeping the climate of public opinion in which Negroes can continue to move forward toward full citizenship? There is just a fair chance for a few things. Neither Ike nor the Republican Old Guard favors a Federal FEPC. They are for States' rights.

The fight for a Federal FEPC must go on for even if it fails, the pressure it brings on the administration may, in turn, force the passage of FEPC laws in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and California under their Republican regimes.

In order to blunt the Federal attack, the GOP may feel it necessary to act in the States. This will be all to the good so far as the Negro is concerned, for fair employment is what we want in as many areas as possible.

First Battle

The first battle in this Civil Rights is the battle for a new filibuster rule in the Senate. We must have a rule providing for the shutting off of filibusters by majority vote.

Negroes and their friends should get busy with their new and old Senators at once, before Congress opens in January, and get them to pledge action for a new rule as the first order of business. Everything depends on a change in the rule, for no civil rights bills can pass without such a change. Any Senator who says he is for Civil Rights bills, but against changing the rule is a faker and a phony.

Birds of a Feather

ON THE BOOKSHELF

THE FIRST BOOK OF NEGROES

In the hundred years since "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was published, the American Negro has made such progress and Langston Hughes in The First Book of Negroes, (Franklin Watts, inc., Oct 23, $1.75) tells the story of the Negro from the dawn of history to the present, but with particular emphasis on the Negro in America.

Ursula Koering has illustrated The First Book of Negroes and in it Langston Hughes sums up the attitude of most American Negroes when, through the father of a young boy, he says: "It is good to live in America, Terry. Our country has many problems stil to solve, but America is young, big, strong, and beautiful. And we are trying very hard to be, as the flag says, 'one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.' Here people are free to vote and work out their problems. In some countries people are governed by rulers, and ordinary folks can't do a thing about it. But here all of us are a part of democracy. By taking an interest in our government, and by treating our neighbors as we would like to be treated, each one of us can help make our country the most wonderful country in the world."

Told in narrative form, the book tells about Terry Lane, a litle boy who lives in Harlem and who visits different parts of the city and is told about other parts of the country. The story is told with understanding and compassion.

Among the famous Negroes discussed are Estevanico, great Negro explorer; Harriett Tubman, leader to freedom; George Washington Carver, scientist; Louis Armstrong, musician; Jackie Robinson, baseball player; Josephine Baker, entertainer; Dr. Ralph Bunche, statesman, and others.

Hughes' poems have been translated into German, French, Spanish, Russian, Yiddish and Czech, and many of them set to music.

Before he became a writer, he was a seaman, sailing to Africa, Europe and the West Indies, and in this book he writes about the Negro People from the Congo to Cuba, Brazil to Alabama, Nigeria to New York. He was born in Missouri and grew up in Kansas and has written a dozen books about America. Mr. Hughes has read his poems for children's groups at hundreds of schools throughout America and over the radio and television.

He has been awarded the Gug genheim, Rosenwald and other fellowships, and is the author of various plays, including "Mulatto," which ran for a year on Broadway. He has also done the lyrics for shows, including the dramatic musical version of "Street Scene."

Thought of the Week

By IVA REED WOODS

SELF-MASTERY

The other day a friend called to inform me that another door had just been slammed in her face. Although she is talented, having excelled in rating in several fields of endeavor, she has continuously been felled by race prejudice, "political pull," and outright trickery.

Over a period of years, her tireless efforts in her own behalf have been reduced to ashes. She believes that her discouragement and frustration is due to having tried repeatedly and failed. Yet buried deeply in her inner mind is the mother thought of futility that has been ignored.

This powerful seed that or inner conviction periodically gives birth to negative offspring that systematically neutralizes my friend's plans, hopes and aspirations.

Before anyone can master enslaving circumstances and environments he must first be master of himself. Every step toward outward achievement must be preceeded by an inner victory. Every progressive venture must be sustained by a positive conviction. We must be sure-minded as well as sure-footed.

Straight line thinking, plus good judgment builds self reliance. Decisiveness is a jewel of character but even that must be preceeded by inner harmony Conflicting desires must be stilled by the one dominating, and definite purpose.

There is some virtue in being versatile, or a jack-of-all-trades, but there is a greater virtue in concentration. In turning desparingly from one thing to another shows persistence, but lack of faith and wisdom. Persistence is power when coupled with concentration, otherwise the energies are divided and many goals remain in a state of in-completion.

Any false belief, superstition, or silent negative acceptance weakens the consciousness. A strong faith in right action and an army of positive convictions will help one answer his own prayers.

If man believes he must submit to the indignities of his environment or undesirable circumstances he becomes enslaved by them.

When he understands life, he is impressed with determination to master his lesser self, for man is an unconquerable soul when he attains mastery over the "enemies of his own household."

Sports Roundup

(California Eagle Exclusive)

SAN FRANCISCO—Those pseudoliberal prognosticators who said USC doesn't have an offense should hide their heads in shame. . . . The Trojans have carried offensively, if their 54 points against Stanford is indicative of their true depth-laden power. . . . Which we have no reason to believe otherwise.

son USC had granted Addison Hawthorne, erstwhile Pasadena JC stellar back, an athletic scholarship this corner was one of the first to predict Hawthorne would not play . . . This is one instance we are proud to admit we were somewhat wrong . . . Hawthorne has played sparingly in several games . . . He performed brilliantly in the Stanford massacre until he was injured . . . He came back into the game thereafter, but it was obvious he was favoring the injury . . . Although Hawthorne was in the contest for more than a quarter, not once did the passers throw to him or even in his direction. It can't be said that USC doesn't have pass plays for the fullback . . . Leon Sellers the first string fullback was on the receiving end of a couple of passes . . . It can't be said either, that Hawthorne can't catch. In the pre-game warm-ups his catches were phenomenal, to say the least . . .

On two occasions USC tailbacks were thrown for huge losses and Hawthorne was all by his lonesome yelling along with 55,000 fans for the passers to throw to him . . . We've been very critical of USC and its policy toward Negro athletes . . . We'll continue to be so long as the University resorts to the practice of treating them indifferently, instead of as equal Americans . . . It's my contention Leon Sellers, the Trojan's first string fullback is one of the best in the country . . . I do not say, Hawthorne should be playing in front of him . . .

On the contrary, I'm of the school of thought if Hawthorne is going to play, he should be given an equal opportunity to star as anyone else. The speedy Hawthorne rambled for 49-yards in six trips for an impressive 8.2 average per crack . . . Hawthorne received great blocking . . . But we can't believe the passers didn't ever spot him in the clear on pass plays . . . I'm inclined to believe if this kind of strategy is employed against Washington and UCLA, those Trojan followers that all but wrecked several of this city's hotels in celebrating a rather premature millennium, will be sadly disappointed . . .

BAY AREA BITES—L. C. Joyner, speedy East Contra Costa JC halfback stepped back in the No. 1 spot as Northern California's top JC scorer with 101 points over the weekend. Joyner beside being a flying-demon once he has the pigskin, is also a top-flight place-kicker . . . According to Mrs. Gertrude Gumps, mother of the famed Ollie Matson, Ollie who is currently starring for the Chicago Cardinals is slated to be sporting Uncle Samuel's threads in the immediate future . . . Matson, a third place winner in the recent Olympic Games 400-meters run is hailed as the athlete to ever wear the USF colors . . . Ed Sanders Olympic Games Heavyweight champ is getting quite a play in the San Diego press for the Sullivan Award . . . It's virtually the popular opinion Army officer Sammy Lee has it all sewed up . . .

HERE AND THERE—Sugar Ray Robinson, in his debut as a dancer last week at the club received great compliments from two ex-heavyweight champions. Joe Louis and Joe Walcott and another fabulous Robinson, Jackie . . . Jackie predicted that Sugar would go far in his new endeavor . . . Pfc. Maurice Landrum of the USMC, the Korean Purple Heart winner, is an ex-L. A. Jeff High trackster . . . It's rather late but felicitations to two swell people Lang Stanley, reputed to be the greatest all-around distance runner in the history of L. A. Jeff High, and his recent bride, the former Birdie Thompson of the S'51 class of the same school . . . Alvin Cross recently elected Student Body prexy of L. A. Virgil Jr. High beside being studious, is very athletically inclined . . . He hopes to go to Manual Arts or Poly when he graduates but Jeff supporters shouldn't let him get away . . . He lives at 1339 E. 42nd Place . . . An ideal halfback . . .

Mildred Blackburn, kid sister of the "Flash in a Dash Guy," Guy Blackburn of Cal should feel quite proud that 10 November is her birthday . . . Because this is the natal date of the USMC, conceded the greatest fighting force in the world . . . Happy birthday, Mildred . . . Incidentally, Mildred is the UCLA co-ed that played the piano at this writer's wedding . . . As of now this is 30 dash and 437 miles from L. A.

NEWEST BOWLING TEAM to enter the Angel City Bowling League is a newly organized squad pictured above. They are sponsored by Johnson's Bath House at 2715 So. Western avenue. The classy women's team is under the captainship of Bette Ware, veteran bowler, who has numerous local and national medals, ribbons and citations. Completing the group is Shari Rhodes, Bernice Newman, Mamie Bryson and Francis Hill. The team competes with three other league groups at the Vogue Bowling Center each Saturday evening and joins the mixed quintets each Monday evening in special contests.

33 All Stars Will Make All-Pro Team

Ed Sprinkle, who has contradicted a mild, clean-cut appearance with some of professional football's most aggressive end play for the past nine years, made a strong bid for his third straight Pro Bowl selection by pacing the Chicago Bears to their upset win over San Francisco last Sunday.

The Bear defensive wingman topped the National Conference nominees for the post season classic released today for games of last weekend.

Eddie Price, the NFL's leading ground gainer in 1951, won a similar nod in the rival American circuit for his play in leading the New York Giants to a 28-6 triumph over the Chicago Cardinals. The victory propelled the Giants back into a first place tie with the Cleveland Browns in the Eastern division.

The Pro Bowl will pit 33 man all star squads of the National and American Conferences in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum on January 10.

Sprinkle's vicious defensive work was the key to Chicago's 20-17 decision over the 49ers, previously unbeaten and untied in five league encounters.

Fremont Hopes To Upset Demo In Big Battle

By EDW. "ABIE" ROBINSON

Coach Mike Marienthal, and his powerhouse unbeaten Jefferson Democrates are worried in no uncertain terms about the outcome of their most important grid game with Fremont this Friday. Jefferson has been riding the crest and glory as the only unbeaten members of the Southern League.

They would certainly like to make it two straight years in a row that they have wrest the loop title. They could but Fremont is their chief road block and as near to Friday and game time, the larger the block get.

Marienthal wasn't kidding when he said, "we'll try to beat Fremont with our defense just like we did against Manual, but I don't see how we're going to do it."

Jefferson still lacks the 1950 offensive punch which carried them to the top and rated that team as one of the best prep teams in the city.

Jeff quarterback Willie McMahon has yet to reach his peak. Harold (Workhouse) Printers have galloped 70, 65 yards in games this season but still carries a question mark behind his playing. Scooter James (The Little One) Fennell, could supply the punch if he gets the support of Robert Chappell, Cornell Jackson, William Alstan Maudice Giles may help keep the scoring down.

Fremont although beaten last week showed great offensive power behind the speedy Bernard Bruce with kick-off runbacks of 89 and 87 yards. With running such as his means there are possibilities of an upset.

Ike Jones Is Top Bruin Ball Packer; 6.5 Av

A lot of folks were quick to seal the coffins of TCU and Washington after UCLA's free-wheeling football team stopped them early in the season. . . . Note, however, that TCU has not lost a game since and the Huskies have lost but one. . . . Remember the yaks everyone got out of the "five All-American candidates" the Bruins had pictured on the cover of their 1952 football press booklet. . . . The names of left end Ike Jones and linebacker Terry Debay had better be added. . . . How's this for a record that makes a coaches heart sing—the entire UCLA football team has fumbled only six times in its seven games this season and only one had been recovered by opponents. . . . Contrast that with the UCLA record of recovering 10 out of their enemies' 15 bobbles. . . . Because Pappy Waldorf's Golden Bears didn't do as much passing as most of UCLA's 1952 opponents, the Bruins lost their chance to set a new national interception record. . . . The old mark is 37 in one season set by Hardin Simmons last year. . . . Don't bark at the officials until you look up the statistics. . . . In the first seven Bruin games of the season an average of only nine penalties have been called on BOTH teams, a reduction of about 15 per cent over last season. . . . Guess who has the best ball-carrying average this season? It's left end Ike Jones with 39 yards in six tries for a 6.5 average on that spectacular end-around play. . . . Isn't it ironic that the man—Paul Cameron—who ran and passed to no less than 15 touchdowns in 1951 still hasn't crossed the goal line per this season? . . . What about the talk of the T-formation being such a quick-hitting offense? . . . Take a look at the record and you note that UCLA fullbacks Cappy Smith and Bill Stits have lost only eight yards during the entie 1952 season—that's in 89 ball-carrying attempts, too.

Globetrotters Taking On 2 Top Cage Games Nov. 6

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It'll be a case of double duty for the tireless Harlem Globetrotters in this section of the nation next week.

The fabulous bronze magicians of courtdom are confronted with playing two of the best independent professional teams in the country on the same day, Sunday, Nov. 16.

On their mad dash through the east, the Trotters stop off in Baltimore for an afternoon game with the Philadelphia Sphas at the Coliseum and that evening they journey to Washington to play the Boston Whirlwinds at Udine Arena.

From all indications, sellout crowds will be on hand for both games. Tickets have been going at a rapid clip in both cities, due to the fact that the Globetrotters have always been favorites in Baltimore and Washington.

Coach Abe Saperstein, commenting on the Trotters' heavy schedule, said this week that he is confident his skillful cagers will be able to stand the gruelling grind.

"I realize it is asking a lot of the boys to play two games in one day against such strong competition. But we did it in Europe a number of times without hurting the team too much.

"We may get beat, of course, but that's the risk we must take because of the heavy demand for the Globetrotters all over the country. If we don't appear in Baltimore and Washington now, we may not get back to either city the rest of the regular season."

The Trotters complete schedule for the following week is: Nov. 13, Providence; 14, Philadelphia; 15, New Haven; 16, Baltimore (afternoon), Washington (night); 17, Trenton, N. J.; 18, Hershey, Pa.

SIXTH STRAIGHT: State middleweight champion Charlie Green racked up his sixth straight knockout at the Hollywood Legion Stadium. Buddy J was the sixth victim and Green turned on his cold punching fury that sent J to the canvas for five counts and the end came 2 minutes and 22 seconds of the same round.

Rate UCLA, UC, 4th, 5th

Michigan State is still the nation's number one team and UCLA fourth with the University of Southern California 5th.

Washington Huskies who play the Trojans this week are rated 17th. USC has been made a 13-point favorite in the betting odds for this Saturday's game.

Washington is in third place in the Pacific Coast grid standing with a 5-1 record. With a victory over the Trojans, they could possibly get to the Rose Bowl should the Trojans defeat the Bruins.

Southern University will definitely face the acid test here Saturday, November 22 in their annual melee with the Florida Rattlers. This game will be staged in Memorial Stadium at 8 p.m. and has already been billed as the "game of the year."

City College Battles To Keep Out of Cellar

Escape from dropping into the Western State Conference basement is the quest of Los Angeles City College's disintegrating football eleven Friday night when they meet the equally inept Ventura College Pirates in a WSC brawl on Ventura's Pirate Stadium gridiron. Kickoff is set for 8.

LACC Coach Glenn Ackerman is at wits-end after his Cubs dropped a 41-44 decision to Glendale College, marking their sixth loss in seven starts. Ventura, under a new coach, Vic Paulson, hasn't fared any better, losing seven games, winning one, and tying one. The Bucs barely lost to the UCLA Frosh, 13-12, last weekend.

MATSON DRAFTED

SAN FRANCISCO — Ollie Matson, brilliant Chicago Cardinal backfield star and former grid player with the University of San Francisco, has received his papers for the military service. Matson, notified his draft board through his mother seeking a delay in reporting. His reason being that he is at present out of the city.

Brice Taylor, former great University of Southern California tackler back in the late 20's was an amazing young man, when he was attending Franklin High School in Seattle, Washington. His former prep school is seeking their first football championship since Taylor graduated some 30 years ago. In that year the talented sepia athlete with only one hand led the school to its last crown. In Franklin drive to the prep title, Taylor then a fleet-footed youngster, sped 70 yards on a punt return to dispose of Queen Ann. He scored the winning touchdowns against Ballard, one on another 70-yard sprint. In the Rosevelt game, he scored 17 points. Royal Brougham who pens a sports column in the Post-Intelligencer, says that Franklin must beat Lincoln Friday and Garfield next week before they will be singing and dancing in the Streets in Rainier Valley. He also points out it has been so long since the school celebrated a football championship that the heroes of the team have long beards. Looking at Taylor today you would say it was longer than that. Which brings to mind of Addison Hawthorne and the USC Trojans.

Its been quite a spell since the Trojans have been in the neighhood of Pasadena's Rose Bowl. We wonder if they are saving him for the UCLA—SC clash which, no doubt, will settle the question and will break all existing attendance. Red Sander will toss plenty of color at the Trojans in the persons of Ike Jnes, Milt Davis, Lewis Williams, and Don Foster.

says JOE LOUIS
"I just heard that scientists at a big university have proved chewing Beech-Nut Gum eases tension. I know plenty of fighters who chew gum before a bout. I used to. Now I chew Beech-Nut Gum during my golf games. It sure helps! In fact, no matter what you do—work or play—Beech-Nut Gum eases the tension."

Fruits, Rhinestones on Display at "Bal Masque"

Sunday is the big date for members and friends of Les Dames social and charity club when they present their third annual "Bal Masque" at Florentine Gardens. For many of the newcomers who are not familiar with this affair, it has proven in recent years to be one of the most entertaining shows the city has ever witnessed. The Bal Masque presents in contest some of the most outstanding designs of fruits, vegetables, rhinestones, etc.

The time has been set for 5 p.m. and dancing will continue until 10 p.m. Guest artists will participate on the mammoth show with Johnny Lee handling the program.

The well known Unger Twins, Bertile and Agustaf, will do the honors of introducing the head pieces. Because of the difficulty in judging last year's "Bal Masque" the number of clubs entering has been limited.

The "Rockets" will play for dancing pleasure under the direction of Bill Barnett and guests may bring "your own spirits."

National magazines will be on hand this year to cover the fabulous affair, and tickets may be purchased from any of the Les Dames club members, with just a limited few going on sale at the box office. For further details regarding the Bal Masque, call RE 3-2452 or RE 3-9836.

Thanks to all of you interesting readers who called and wrote inquiring about this corner.

POST MODERN

Captivating Susie Cook of 1121 N. Laurel Ave., is back ON THE SCENE from the Lone Star State to resume her movie work.

The trouble she had getting away was enough for a screen play:

Your ON THE SCENE reporter had the pleasure of answering her call for a ride to the bus station.

Bold Venture

Upon arrival her roommate, revealing Jo Williams (heard to be Steve Cochran's girl Friday) was in a completely embarrassing position.

After she hid and dressed her embarrassment, Sue and I were off to catch a bus that was being held for her. . . . you guessed it, wrong bus station—right station five minutes later, but it had left Hollywood for L.A.

Sue purchased a ticket, agent called the L.A. terminal, requesting that the bus be held so that she would not have to ride by car all the way to El Paso. (With me that would have been fun.)

One Second—Nine Minutes

Friends were giving a going away aprty in her honor at the Elaine Apartment Hotel on Vine srteet. She wanted so badly to stop by for a second. (After all, she's a girl and nine minutes was only a half-second with her.)

We made L.A. and the bus by a pen and I missed a kiss by a point. . . . Sue was very elusive. . . . After all she has a nice boy friend (after thought).

NOTES TO:

PAUL PRICE, Daily News Radio and TeeVee Editor; your column of Monday last was marvelous and your ON THE SCENE scribe is sure that members of any race would be proud to have television fight announcers distinguish them by race rather than by wearing attires.

My Mother, Alma King, Detroit, names, pictures and dates will be mailed later.

ETHER LEE, Detroit, Hi Sis, received your letters, telegrams and personal messengers.

Carl, Cincinnati, Hello, Brother, I won't be able to come and enjoy the breeze any time soon.

That's three-tens until we're together again.—E.L.K.

People and Places

SAM TAYLOR, the ex-baron of the After Hours spots got another set back. When it appeared that he was on his way up again. His bride of a few months stalked out of the house and left him flatter than a Red Hut Broiler pancake. Divorce papers are just about ready to be mailed.

LENA TORRANCE, and her new hubby are as happy as a kid at an Ice Cream party. They're humming "and baby makes three." Mother Torrance must be overjoyed at the thought of being called grandmother and she'll be a sweet one, too.

EARL GRAVES, hotel man who got his start at the Hotel Morris and reached his zenith as the manager of Chicago Pershing Hotel during the war, will be taking upon himself his second wife Nov. 19th, the name is Juanita Gray.

CHIEF MALBROUGH, makes dressing for the ladies easy on their men's pocketbooks. His fashionable Women's Apparel shop at 3407 S. Arlington carries the same labels as the swank Beverly Hills stores for much less.

POLITICAL PUPPET, show is about to get on the road over on the westside. The operators have gotten together three names as their choice to fill a westside district. On of the names should drop the idea or risk ruining his chances of becoming one of the westside's astute business men. There isn't a possible chance for the deal to work.

JOE ADAMS, California's top disc-man is working on a top secret to prove to himself that he has not been wasting all his 11 years in radio for nothing. Ambitious Joe who got his break in radio because he worked hard at it, has never stopped since his first show and when he completes his latest step it will only reflect his greatness.

JUICY OWENS, is back in town after a fling at the pretties up north. Juicy is toying with the idea of returning to his drums.

MAURI LYNN, the smooth brownskin song stylist will be a guest artist at the Bal Caribe, costume ball at the L. A. Breakfast Club Nov. 22nd.

ACADEMY AWARDER, should study closely Gary Cooper's flick title "High Noon," as our recommendation as "Best of the Year." We certainly hope Poppy Peak former First Lieut. Thomas W. Nelson takes time out to view this one.

WILLIE JAKE, is sporting a pair of dark eyes and they "ain't" from sun glasses!

GEORGE HYMER, one of the nicest guys you wanna catch busting the tops of champagne bottles. We caught him at the Milimo the other eve; and the tops were flying all over the joint. He was celebrating his birthday.

DOESN'T LUCILLE JOHNSON, the ex-Rachel beauty from Louisiana, look viewitful' in nylons? Santa could never fill a stocking as well as this lovely fills hers!

MIDWEEK HANGING, will occur Nov. 19th in merry old London, when Bellson an ofay, presently drumming with the Duke of Ellington, exchanges (swaps punches) vows with four-time loser, Pearl Bailey.

WRIGHT WHITE, the shrimp pimp, is a hospital patient. The result of using a "skin whitener" in an effort to look like Gable. In short, his name wasn't the only thing he wanted right and White!

SPORTSMAN, "Rag" Ragland, sentenced some time ago to a life term for the murder of his not so sweet, sweetheart, will be eligible for parole in 1962. Commenting on his late, date, Rags stated: She wasn't any good . . . when times were good."

LONG BEACH, understand the local ofay sheet recently honored a Negro couple as a credit to the community. We know a certain lady residing now in San Diego who would like to know if she is the same person that she calimed tried to poison her, when she learned the old lady had her in the will to become heir to her eight-unit San Francisco apartment building.

TOASTING EVENT, that fine out-of-town 'brownskin who spent a whirly early autumn sojourn, doing the spots with a famous hot papa until the other "yawning" when the poor thing tried one more fling and passed out cold in a clip Sunset Strip joint. They diagnosed her case and informed he she will be blessed with an event.

THE DOS AND DON'TS, causes a hard slaving beautician, prominent in the social whirl and civic affairs to switch the locks on the doors. Now he is forced to take up resident where he has been paying rent for the past three years.

CHINA DOLL, and the gals are trying to find out her hair stylist! for they claim the way she wears her bangs is the secret as to why the guys go for her. Maybe it isn't the bangs at all its what under the bangs!

ANOTHER HOLLYWOOD HE MAN . . . famed for his famous "flicks," has fallen like a ton of bricks for a slick brown chick, a bronze beauty of the Westside set, and by his frequenting of our spots, doesn't care who knows it!!!!!

DID YOU KNOW THAT. . . . the 'My Husband's-reech-enough-I-can-sleep-till-noon set are finding life so very dull that they are actually sleeping ALONE until Noon! Another Republican influence!!!!

DURING A BACKSTAGE INTERVIEW. . . . a columnist playfully asked pianist "Frantic Fay" Thomas if she wore "falsies' . . . No, See!" she said, and showed him right then and there in front of all those 20/20 vision characters!! The cub reporter ran screaming into Bill Watkins' Rubiyiat Room, muttering to himself: "Mother never told me there would be 'daze' like these."

THEATRE

ROBERT MITCHUM, Susan Hayward and Arthur Kennedy comprise the human triangle in "The Lusty Men," stirring drama of the rodeo circuits, currently showing at the RKO Hillstreet, Hollywood Pantages and Fox Ritz Theatres.

Greco Buffo in San Francisco

Word has just been received from San Francisco that the premiere of the Jose Greco Dance Company at the Curran Theatre has been greeted with greatest audience ovation in many seasons. Local reporters claim that hats were tossed upon the stage and that the audience rose to its feet shouting Ole!

Marjory M. Fisher, Music Editor of the San Francisco News, stated in the morning paper, "The most varied and fastest dancing revue of its kind. The excitement afforded by the company has rarely been experienced in the theater. Greco himself seems to have legs of rubber and heels of steel. Leaping on the stage and landing on one knee, he would leap up again with amazing redundancy and immediately begin a remarkable display of zapateado. His associates are all fine dancers.

LENA PURCHASES TICKET—Lovely Lena Horne purchases a ticket from Noble Essie McGinnis to the Annual Potentate's Ball. The gala charitable affair sponsored by the Egyptian Temple No. 5 Patrol, will be held November 25 at Ciros in Hollywood. Proceeds from the affair will go to the Tuberculosis and Cancer Research Foundation.

Chazz's Soundtrack

Bill Kenny (high pitched tenor with the Inkspots) explaining to TV's Ed Sullivan why he's never without his huge diamond, "When I first started in the business, friends told me if I ever went anywhere, to be sure and have something that could bring me back."

Songwriter Jessie Mae Robinson (composer of "I Went To Your Wedding"): One tip I would give aspiring songwriters would be not to use slang phrases in their lyrics. It will cut short the life of the tune. For instance, "real gone" is just real gone now.

Marie "Gonna Play The Honky-tonks" Adams, exciting new blues rhythm thrush: Lots of people tell me I remind them of Dinah Washington. I admire her very much, but I've never tried to copy her style. As long as I've been singing, I've been on this kick.

Eartha Kitt (new babe on Broadway) lyricising on tune from "New Faces" revue: King Farouk's on the look for me. Sherman Billingsley cooks for me. It's monotonous!

Hollywood Reporter colyumnist Mike Connolly reflecting on beloved Hattie McDaniel: "Hattie was everybody's idea of a doll baby. I remember an incident at Warners when she was having a photo taken with Annie Sheridan. "Be sure," Hattie flipped to the photog, "you get my best side!"

Wherever Be-Bop is spoken, they're saying; "Don't call 'em squares any more. Call 'em cubists!"

Anita Echols (leggy dancing doll, who can shake a torso, only more so). Returning to town after a successful tour of the hinterlands she spieled, "Nothing's shaking around these parts. My next stop is Japan."

Lena Horne's tributary lines on Duke Ellington in current Downbeat magazine: I cannot discuss Ellingtonia in terms of comparing whether his "blue" period was better than his "misty, etheral" phase, or whether his folk-lore Americana is better than his present endeavors, because the over-all influence and stature of the man and his music is too tremendous. All over the world Elligtonia is still the measuring stick of maturity in jazz music.

Mickey Champion (she swings while he sings). The deejays kid me a lot when they play my new recording, but I don't mind as long as they keep spinning it. It's called "Baby, Whatcha Got?"

Al Vigal (designed from N. Y.): You folks don't realize it, but your've got a curfew here. Every night at two, you've got to call it a day.

The sequence in the "Sudden Fear" film where Jack Pallance is racing his auto toward his wife Irene in a murderous attempt to run her down and the theater patron who screamed, "Goodnight Irene!"

Dancer Lon Fontaine (of the famed Fontaine Brothers) TWA'd in and is bending our ear with eastern seaboard gossip. Says "As far as show biz is concerned, Damita Jo is locking New York up, and your girl Margie McGlory is the most with Phil Moore and his Flock. She imitates Davis, Swanson, Ma & Pa Kettle, Johnny Ray and Satchmo. Man, she's the greatest!"

The magnificent Ethel Waters told us a few weeks ago when we queried her about her rumored marriage. "I don't know where you heard it, but that kind of news would be my own personal business. Please respect my wishes and not print anything like that. When I have something to tell, I'll tell you first."

The current "See" magazine has a feature spread on Big Jay McNelley and his mad following. Shows the fans going into ecstatic convulsions while Big Jay blows.

James Porter Dies

James Porter, long-time musician died in the Norwalk State Hospital last week. Porter died after suffering a mental break down some three years ago. He was confined to the hospital at that time.

Porter was considered one of the top musicians of his times, having played with some of the nation's outstanding bands.

Porter was born in Kansas City.

Jazz at the Philharmonic Becomes Mellow with Age

By FRANCIS P. WALLER

LIKE CORDON ROUGE, 1779 Vintage Champagne, the good NORMAN GRANZ supersonic JAZZ at the PHILHARMONIC . . . definitely becomes more mellow with age.

LAST "FISH-NIGHT" at the fine Shrine, "PAY-NIGHT" at the gay Bay City of San Diego, and "PRAY-NIGHT" in easy to reach Long Beach, swingdom's greatest interracial assemblage were capacity crowd delights and highly welcomed sights for three "right" nights.

SOLID SETS BEST YET

FOLLOWING A POLISHED introduction by the JATP originator and co-ordinator, our old friend and great UCLA classmate, NORMAN GRANZ "Giants of Jazz" namely: OSCAR "Canadian Bombshell" PETERSON, on the "88"; "Rip" FLIP PHILLIPS and LESTER "Prez" Young, Tenor Saxsationists; ROY "Lil' Jazz" ELDRIDGE and CHARLIE "Smooth" SHAVERS, Trumpeteers; BARNEY "Prof" KESSEL, Guitarist; RAY "The Sound" BROWN, Bassist; and "Good" BUDDY RICH, Drummer; the initial Shrine set caused a fine audience to sweat.

COMBINING OVER TWO CENTURIES of mellow music in all its phases, the packed house, for the most part, was as quiet as a mouse, except for its swinging and swaying, patting and chatting, and being solidly sent . . . like a Western Avenue Motel operator counting his "loot" from a heavy weekend's rent.!!

FIRST LADY OF SONG

ELLA "Blitz" FITZGERALD, the only femininity on the entire program, rose to even greater heights through her versatile renditions of every type of popular number. Her perfect pitch, phrasing and modulating were mindful of the sweetest instruments, Ella's highly engaging balalds, jump tunes, torchants, blues and bop renditions were invincible. Undoubtedly the most significant vocalist in history, it is easily understood why the late, great Chick Webb's discovery is the most emulated and sought after artist of today.

PETERSON & PAIR IN THERE

TEAMING WITH RAY BROWN on bass and BARNEY KESSEL on guitar, the OSCAR PETERSON TRIO is vibrant, perfectly balanced, musically refreshing and clean cut percisionists. Here indeed is evidence that: "Practice Makes Perfect." The "Canadian Cannonball" is rapidly rounding into shape whereby he could easily become a top single attraction. From his vocal "gymnastics" it seems that he might concentrate upon swinging pretty for the people and thus become as successful as NAT "The King" COLE . . . in the field of popular music and, if the great LIBERACE is a criterion of classical success . . . then PETERSON

'The Lusty Men,' Punch-Packed Drama, Showing at 3 Theatres

Rodeos, roundups and wild west attractions, plus the personal romances of their performers in their dangerous methods of earning livelihoods, are vividly dramatized in "The Lusty Men" current Wald-Krasna Production now screening at the RKO Hillstreet, Pantages and Fox Ritz Theatres.

Susan Hayward, Robert Mitchum and Arthur Kennedy head the imposing cast of this unusual film story, told against the always-absorbing background of the western United States. Arthur Hunnicutt, the surprise star of "The Big Sky" shares top-billing, and Frank Faylen is in featured support.

"The Lusty Men" is largely the story of three people involved in a highly emotional situation. Their problems, and those of other characters who live in an atmosphere of outdoor showmanship, stimulate the plot. For dynamic action and atmosphere, exciting rodeo events are pictured.

Mitchum portrays a has-been rodeo star. He meets a young cowboy, Kennedy, and his young wife, Miss Hayward. Mitchum is induced to groom Kennedy for a headlined career on the rodeo circuits, as a relief from his own wasted life. But when Kennedy, in the flush of success, yields to the lure of drink and extra-marital romance. Mitchum has to shock him into reform by a heroic rivalry.

KRUPA'S TRIO DISTINCTIVE

In contrast to the loud "rim" shots of BUDDY RICH, the softer, sophisticated showmanship of GENE KRUPA is a dynamic part of his trio. Again RAY BROWN applied the solid sound of his big bass fiddle while WILLIE "Saxsational" SMITH, the most versatile alto in existence, completed this unique combo. Like Gene Krupa, Willie Smith, whose 25 years of campaigning have given him polished perfection not duplicated by anyone in the "reed" field.

Meeting the growing demands for service in timber-rich Roseburg has meant more than tripling the city's telephone system since 1941

Roseburg, Oregon: Thriving Timber Town

You may find this is the telephone story of your town, too

Roseburg, key city of the nation's largest timber county—grew fast during the war and postwar years. Like many Western communities, its population almost doubled—from 4,900 in 1940 to nearly 8,500 today. Its annual income soared, too—retail sales in the county increased six-fold in a single decade. In these figures lies the reason for our amazing telephone expansion in Roseburg. We had to grow fast to meet the needs of more people in town—and more of those people wanting telephone service.

Major telephone construction in Roseburg began shortly after the war. We built a new central office building. And in February, 1951, a completely new dial telephone system was placed in service for Roseburg telephone subscribers. Altogether, we spent more than $3,000,000 expanding Roseburg's telephone system. Even so, because Roseburg is continuing to boom beyond all expectations, we cannot provide all telephones needed the moment requests for service come in. But, in the face of materials shortages, we'll keep doing our best to take care of present orders . . . as well as those which we know still lie ahead.

Roseburg's telephone story has been told in hundreds of communities up and down the West. Fast as the population has grown, the telephone has grown at an even faster rate . . . twice as fast, in fact, in the territory we serve. For at today's prices, the telephone is so economical more people can afford it . . . so useful, more people want it.

Pacific Telephone

The good Judge mounted the bench still thinking about the election. He cleared his throat and uttered a silent prayer that with the advent of another Republican President, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and his running vice, "Tricky Dick" Nixon, that as judge he would continue working FOR the County and not have to get back ON the County as he did during the terrible thirties under heetic Herbert Hoover.

PISTOL PACKING PAPA

Albert Henderson, 57, of West 37th street, got his tank filled with booze, spulled out his dirty 38 calibre and told his "war department," Rachal, 37, that her day of reckoning was at hand.

When Albert pointed his rod at her red head and threatened to blow it off, Rachal agreed that her time had come.

"Stop turning against me or you'll end up six feet under the good earth, he said, as he held her and their daughter, Miss June Fortune, 19, at gun point.

He may not be a nice man, thought ole Judge "One Lung" Benny, but the way Albert would have used that ice pick Miss Fortune would have been a cold stiff.

STARS AND STRIPES FOREVER

Donald Deauville, 21, of the 1200 block on East Adams Blvd., came stumbling into his "crib" last Sunday "yawning" and his ball and chain' immediately started an argument about his condition. Donald made a drunken pass at her with his fist and when he missed Lizzie, 31, his 'fact finding bored,' got a broom from their one room and started a Buddy Rich "session" on his big bald head. Deauville is an out-patient on a sixty day leave from Olive View undergoing treatment for numerous disorders, alcoholism and nervousness.

"No wonder he's on the border of disorder, muttered the man in the robe. "If my 'main-on-the-hitch" started to pitch and abuse and use my head as a drum, I'd need something stronger to drink than domestic rum."

BATTING PRACTICE

LES BROWN, 35, of West Adams Boulevard, and his wife, Bulah, 32, a ward aid, had been arguing over his love life, who wasn't Mrs. B.

Yesterday "yawning" Sister "B" stayed home from her 'slave' and hid in the bathroom, making like a spy for the F.B.I. Brother Brown, far from the man of renouned, cancelled his working trip and tipped back to his shack to telephone his girl friend. When Brown completed his "sound" he discovered his "exemption" in the bathroom and became very upset about his pet.

Brown reached for his 24 inch redwood bat and tapped Mrs. "B" plenty. He knocked her to the floor, stood on her neck, booted her in the back, hit her in the nose and blackened both of her eyes.

When Nab Jones appeared on the scene Mrs. "B" was so stunned that it required a jacket to get her straight in order to take her to the emergency hospital. The old Judge (an ex-major leaguer with a batting average of .344) remarked: "Perhaps it would be far better to let your husband have a girl friend or two . . . if he is going to make like the Yankees before he is through."

CAN'T COME HERE—This little youngster, son of a Negro soldier who was stationed in Japan and a Japanese mother, can't come to the United States because of immigration restrictions. He is said to be one of a number of tots barred from the country.

Fathers Appeal to Congress

Many Negro fathers living in the United States have appealed to the President and Congress to revise immigration laws pertaining to Japanese war orphans, declared Madame Miki Sawata to members of the press Tuesday.

Madame Sawata, founder of the Elizabeth Saunders home located 50 miles from Tokyo, maintains an orphanage for children born to Japanese mothers out of wedlock. She is touring this country in an attempt to encourage the revision of immigration laws.

The home, entering its fifth year of service, is an isolated institution caring for children found in garbage cans, parks and under seats in movie houses. Because of indequate facilities to handle more than 150 children, a need for private homes is vital, emphasized Madame Sawata, wife of a former ambassador to France.

Children may be adopted, she pointed out, but they cannot leave the country. While visiting the eastern states, Mrs. Sawata received the assistance of Congressman William Dawson and Roy Wilkins, to continue the appeal in Washington, D. C.

Pearl Bailey, White Drummer Wed in London

LONDON—Lovely singer Pearl Bailey and white drummer Louis Bellson, Jr., were married Wednesday in London's Caxson Hall registry office. Actor Jose Ferrer was best man at the ceremony.

Bellson, Sr. shouted strong objections to the marriage of his son to the chanteuse. He said he did not want grandchildren of another race.

Miss Bailey, more charming than ever, replied to this, "There is only one race . . . that is the human race."

"If he marries her I want nothing to do with him," the elder Bellson said before the ceremony.

Town Gossip Confused Him

Bellson, who plays in Duke Ellington's band, said his father "was a bit confused and influenced by local town gossip." Bellson Sr. operates a music store chain in Moline, Ill.

The elder Bellson is divorced from his wife, who also lives in Moline. She told newsmen that it was "perfectly all right" with her if her son married Miss Bailey.

"He can do anything he wants," she said. "He's old enough to know what he is doing." She stated before the wedding that she would not hesitate to welcome both her son and the popular singer after they were married.

Won Over White Girl

Bellson Jr. and Miss Bailey met in Washington, D. C., two months ago when both were working there. At that time he was escorting white show girl Iris Burton.

The pretty Miss Burton, after after learning of the proposed wedding, said that Bellson's engagement to the singer "came as a shock to her."

Jose Ferrer Best Man

Actor Jose Ferrer said: "I have known both Pearl and Louis for a long time. I will be co-producer of 'Cabin in the Sky' in which Miss Bailey will appear here in Coronation year. So I was glad to be a witness at the wedding."

Three days after, Bellson brushed aside the objections of his father who had cabled Miss Bailey to "stop the whole matter," the lovers of different races were married. Her fourth, his second.

Miss Bailey, 34, will leave London soon and open in Las Vegas, Nev., on Dec. 7.

Bellson Jr., 28, will open in Chicago, Dec. 17.

Morrison Off to CIO Convention

Arthur Morrison, West coast representative of the United Packinghouse Workers, is leaving here early next week as a delegate to the national CIO convention scheduled to open Dec. 1 in Atlantic City.

The convention is expected to be the hottest in recent years due to the intense rivalry over selection of a successor to Philip Murray.

MARRIED AS SCHEDULED—Sensational singer Pearl Bailey and her drummer fiance, Louis Bellson Jr., were married in London Wednesday as planned, despite outspoken disapproval of groom's father.

Skilled Pilot Crash Lands; Family Dies

One of the country's most noted Negro flyers, Charles W. McDonald, crash landed near Dalhart, Texas, Sunday, wiping out his entire family.

Killed in the crash were McDonald, his wife Lillian, and their two small children, Charlene, 7, and Charles Jr., 5, and another man, Charles Ross. McDonald lived here at 1222 E. 49th street.

Pilot friends of McDonald, members of the Fleetwing Flying Club, of Compton, were unable to explain the crash.

Skilled Pilot

"McDonald was known for his emergency landings," said Baron Morehead, a fellow club member. "He had two planes shot from under him in World War II. We used to kid him about his ability to land under any conditions. Others might have had had trouble. But it's hard to believe of McDonald."

The official report stated that McDonald ran into a 60-mile-an-hour head wind, circled the field three times in a try for an emergency landing, then crashed.

Morehead expressed the opinion that possibly, after taking off, McDonald may have gotten caught in a twister.

Bodies Shipped to Guthrie

McDonald left here a week ago in a private single-engined plane to pick up his family in Guthrie, Okla., where his wife's relatives lived.

The four bodies were being shipped back to Guthrie for burial.

Members of the Fleetwing Flying Club were collecting donations to send to Mrs. McDowell's sister, Mrs. Coleen Bragg, Guthrie, to help defray funeral expenses.

McDowell, born 37 years ago in Akron, Ohio, had been flying for nearly 18 years and was one of the few Negro flyers in the United States to hold a transport license valid for all multi-engined aircraft. He was a former Air Force fighter pilot, and at the time of his death he was an advisor to Squadron 7 of the Civil Air Patrol. He was employed as tester on the final assembly at Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

He leaves a brother, Rev. Esau Williams, in Martins Ferry, Ohio.

One Month of Marriage Ends In Divorce Court

Although married only a little more than a month, Mrs. Evelyn Waters Milas won an interlocutory divorce decree from her husband Isaac Milas when she appeared in Superior Court here with her counsel, Attorney H. Leonard Richardson last week.

The complaint disclosed that Mrs. Milas and her husband were married in November of 1951 and separated in January of 1952.

Accused Of Selling Heroin

By "Abie" Robinson

Al Trice, on the stand in his own defense Wednesday afternoon, denied he has ever peddled dope.

Trice, well-known man-about-town and liquor store operator, was arrested early in August and charged with two counts of selling heroin. His trial started in Federal Judge William C. Mathes' court Tuesday morning.

Trice admitted that on two different occasions he arranged, through a Fifth street character known only as "Hump," to get dope for a friend.

He named the friend as newspaper columnist, J. T. Gipson, who was ill and suffering great pain at the time, and who died recently from tuberculosis. Trice claimed he only made arrangements to obtain the dope after he had receaved pleading notes from J. T., which were delivered by Dick Williams.

Earlier in the trial Williams, whose real name is Richard Malcolm, testified that he had purchased heroin through Trice. Malcolm was identified as a Federal agent.

Atty. Earl Broady, representing Trice, tried to show that Trice was a victim of entrapment, and that Gipson acted as a government informer and "framed" his client.

The case, being heard before an all white jury, was to continue Thursday morning.

Trice, who runs a liquor store at 5109½ Central avenue, was arrested after he had reportedly sold heroin on two separate occasions. He was held in jail over the weekend, then freed on $3,000 bail.

Soldier Charges Wife Quit Him

Complaining that his wife's affections for him cooled during his stay in the armed forces, Robert H. Samuels this week sued his wife, Lillian, for divorce. Samuels, who is represented by Attorney James Reese, charged his wife with desertion.

The complaint recited that Mrs. Samuels quit after only 11 months of married life.

Nash Co. Ends Ban In Hiring

A new and significant barrier was smashed here last week when the 1200-man Nash assembly plant hired a dozen Negroes on regular assembly-line jobs.

The right to be hired on terms of equality has long been the basic demand of Negroes—for a steady job means a steady income, a decent home, food, clothing and good surroundings for the youngsters.

UAW Contract

Everard J. Franklin, Fair Practices Committee representative for United Auto Workers, CIO, Region No. 6, told the Eagle that the Nash-Kelvinator plant, where Nash cars are assembled, finally consented to hire Negroes as a result of continued representation by the local and regional UAW Fair Practices committee, plus assistance from the national office.

He said the company, located at 5901 W. Imperial blvd., is now hiring trimmers, bodymen and general assemblers on the line. He reported also that in addition to hiring the initial 12 Negroes, the company has agreed to hire others who are qualiifed.

The UAW has had a contract with Nash since 1947, but until the present time, has not been able to enforce its constitutional provision for equality in hiring and upgrading.

Studebaker Lily-White

The Studebaker plant in Vernon still operates on a lily-white basis, Franklin said, but has claimed that their seniority list will be exhausted in January, and that they will then begin hiring solely on the basis of ability.

The Bendix plant in North Hollywood, which makes aviation parts for the Army and Navy, also does not hire Negroes, Franklin asserted. He said that William Lawson, assistant director of the Bendix Dept. of the UAW, has been in consultation with the management there, and has pointed out that government contracts require hiring without racial discrimination.

Bendix Agrees

He stated further that Bendix.

Police Dig Up 'Hypo Set' of Record Star

By EDDIE LEE KING

Top young recording and night club artist Billy Henderson was jailed early Wednesday morning on a narcotic charge.

Henderson, 21, was arrested with his wife, Jame, 19, in his dressing room at the Club Oasis, 3801 S. Western avenue where he began an engagement last Thursday.

The Hendersons are living at 1767 W. 23rd street, where they were taken by officers. Narcotic officer W. N. Dorward said that a "hypo set" of the type used by drug addicts was found in the yard of the house of the singer after a search when no dope was found in his dressing room.

Mrs. Henderson, an expectant mother, who denied she ever used dope, was arrested after police allegedly found the marks of needle punctures on her arms that were similar to the ones found on Henderson's arms.

NARCOTIC CHARGE—Well-known Al Trice was to learn his fate this week on charges of selling heroin.

Zachary Scott Gets Lesson in Gay N'Orleans

NEW ORLEANS—Actor Zachary Scott, his wife, and several other whites were arrested here early Sunday morning because they went to a "Negro" tavern.

Texas-born Scott told the judge that he and his wife went to hear Walter (Pappa) Lightfoot, "hep" harmonica player. "And I might say he was good," Scott added.

He explained: "I catch all the acts in the cities I visit, looking for talent for USO shows. I wanted to 'catch' the harmonica player. Some colored boys in the Navy, just back from Korea, recognized me and asked our party to have a drink with them."

But Louisiana law says Negroes and whites must be segregated in public places. So police raided the tavern, arrested the whites and the owner, just for good measure. The owner was booked for allowing whites to come into his barroom and serving them with alcoholic drinks.

The judge took a lenient attitude towards the "foreigners" who weren't hep to the State's good neighbor policy. They were acquitted of charges of disturbing the peace.

Federal Grand Jury Won't Indict McCall

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Lake County Sheriff Willis McCall, who shot and killed a handcuffed Negro prisoner while wounding another, won't have to face trial in federal courts.

A federal grand jury refused to indict him after hearing testimony that he had fired in self-defense. McCall and his deputy, J. L. Yates, were charged with depriving Samuel Shepperd and Walter Lee Irvin of their civil rights. They were two of the original defendants in the famed Groveland Case.

Shepperd was killed and Irvin was seriously wounded while being taken from state prison to their trial for the alleged rape of a young white woman in 1949. Although they were handcuffed, McCall told the jury that the pair had "jumped" him when he stopped the car on a lonely road. Irvin was later found guilty and his death sentence is now on appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

The original death sentences against Shepperd and Irvin were reversed by the Supreme Court which branded the trial as a miscarriage of justice.

Wanted — A Candidate

Editorial

Since the elevation of Councilman Kenneth Hahn to the Board of Supervisors in the recent election, there has been considerable talk and speculation as to his successor.

The 8th councilmanic district has approximately 72,000 registered voters. Negro voters comprise 40 per cent of that registration. Thus the drive for representation in city government is very strong in that district.

A Citizens Committee for Representation in Government has been formed and is presently canvassing the district looking for a qualified person to get behind in the coming spring elections.

To be eligible to run for the council seat, one must have lived within the present boundaries of the district (outlined below) for two years, and must have been registered for the two years.

A declaration of intent to run must be filed in the period between January 7 and January 12.

Nominating petitions containing the names of 500 qualified electors living in the district must be filed between January 17 and 31.

A filing fee of $144 must be paid, one-half at the time of receipt of the nominating petitions, and the other half upon filing of the petitions.

The Primary election is April 7. The General election is May 26.

The term of office is for two years. The job pays $7,200 per annum.

The California Eagle has always supported the principle of Negro representation in government at all levels, and is 100% behind this move to generate enough community interest to wage a successful campaign behind an electable candidate.

Several names have been presented to the committee

'Do Nothing' on Africa Jim Crow, U.S. Urges

(See Roy Wilkins' Column on Editorial Page)

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. —The United States Saturday urged the United Nations to adopt a policy of "neighborly helpfulness" towards the Malan Government and its ruthless jim-crow treatment of Negroes and other non-whites.

Charles A. Sprague, U.S. spokesman, said we should "not impute evil purpose or lack of intelligence to the people of South Africa."

No Accusing Finger

He called for moderation in the passing of moral judgment on South Africa, and informed the committee the United States "does not intend to point an accusing finger" at the Malan government.

The point at which South Africa can be criticized, he maintained, lies in "the practical wisdom" of her present race policy, rather than the policy itself, which is her own business.

Sprague admitted the United States might be criticized for advocating a "do nothing" approach, but insisted that the enforcement of the principle of racial equality should be left "to the lively conscience of the citizens of each country and to the power of the public opinion of the world."

First Policy Statement

This was the first policy statement of the United States on the South African issue before the United Nations General Assembly's Special Political committee.

This country thus, in effect, supports the South African contention that the U.N. has no right to intervene in the crucial situation that has developed from Malan's white supremacy policy. This is, of course, consistent with the view of the Dixiecrats that "We know how to treat our Negroes."

Investigation Asked

The cruel repressions against the non-whites in South Africa, which culminated in the "bloody weekend" of Nov. 8-9 in which about 25 people were killed—mostly by police shooting into crowds of unarmed natives—has aroused widespread criticism and demands for action.

The African-Asian bloc in the United Nations, including 18 member nations, has proposed that an investigation commission be sent to South Africa. It was this proposal that the United States opposed.

Distinct Local Vote For Propositions

By Wendell Green

On the three most controversial propositions on the ballot in the recent general election, the Negro vote, as in the presidential vote, showed a distinct independence of the general vote in the city, county and state.

Proposition No. 3, which exempted from taxation private schools under the college level, barely squeaked by in the statewide vote. It received 2,231,908 Yes votes to 2,157,637 No votes in the latest statewide figures. As indicated by the figures in the box above, the proposition carried better than three to one in the three Negro communities.

Proposition No. 11, the old age pension plan, was defeated by the statewide electorate, receiving 2,327,116 No votes to 1,841,71 Yes votes. In the Negro community the proposition carried better than three to one.

Proposition No. 13 to abolish cross filing, also received a contradictory vote to the general vote in the Negro community. Sponsored by the Democrats, the proposition was barely defeated. On a statewide basis, 1,955,868 No votes were registered to 1,330,141 Yes votes. The proposition carried better than two to one in the Negro community.

Just as there were many reasons why the community gave Stevenson better than 85% of the vote, several factors were responsible for this distinct vote.

The big vote for Proposition No. 3 can be attributed to a very intelligent campaign carried on in the Negro community, and generally, the lack of any strong anti-Catholic sentiment in the district. This coupled with the new attitude of the Catholic church on the race question, made the appeals to religious prejudice find tough going among Negro voters.

The big vote for the pension plan, Proposition No. 11, was mainly the Negro voter voting in his economic interest and refusing to be fooled by Chamber of Commerce propaganda. Negro voters have participated in pension movements in California in large numbers since the Townsend movement was so strong in the middle thirties and probably more than any other single group, other than the senior citizens involved, understood the real issues involved in the proposition.

The large vote in favor of Proposition No. 13 was undoubtedly influenced by the defeat of many liberal candidates under the cross-filing system. Also the heavy Democratic registration in the precincts insured the votes of those who traditionally vote a straight Democratic ticket.

With the national election behind them, the politically ambitious are looking forward to the municipal elections in the spring. A hot mayoralty race seems to be shaping up, and undoubtedly Negro candidates will seek seats in the City Council from the 8th and 10th councilmanic districts.

Negroes Hired

located at Sherman Way and Lankershim blvd., has now agreed to hire Negroes. He said they need drill press operators, assembly line workers, machinists, and turret lathe operators.

The automobile industry in Los Angeles prior to World War II was an almost completely lily-white monopoly. Ford was the first to crack. They were followed by General Motors in South Gate, Chrysler and Lincoln-Mercury. Still jim-crow is the Chevrolet plant in Van Nuys and Studebaker.

Geo. Brown, Broad Jumper, Gets Divorce

George H. Brown, 21, champion broad jumper, this week won a divorce from his wife, Eleanor Mae, 19, in the Superior Court.

Brown testified that before he and his wife were married March 4, 1951, she showed much interest in his athletic achievement. Afterwards, however, she tried to induce him into quitting his track work and UCLA.

They separated 17 days later. Brown, who participated in the recent Olympic contests, said that lately because of his marital problems his athletic performances are not up to par.

Superior Judge Samuel R. Blake awarded custody of the couple's 23-month-old son, George Brown III, to Mrs. Brown.

Under questioning by his attorney, Rayfield Lundy, the athlete told Judge Blake he is leaving for the Army this week.

High Court to Hear Texas Voters' Case

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court Monday agreed to hear a case testing attempts of the Democratic party of Texas to exclude Negroes from the polls.

It granted a hearing to five Texas Negroes on their complaint that they were denied the right to vote in primaries conducted by the Jaybird Democratic Association of Ft. Bend County, Texas.

The Negroes claim that the Jaybird Association holds its primaries a few weeks in advance of the dates set by State law for official primaries and that the nominees of these advance ballot tests are then put on the ballots in the Democratic primaries, without opposition.

Who really owns Standard?

That old bogeyman—the Tycoon of Big Business—seems still to linger in the minds of some people. Whether or not this was ever a true picture, it is certainly false today. Standard Oil Company of California, for instance, is widely held, independent. It has its own management and shareholders. It is not connected with any of the Standard companies in the East.

The actual owners of Standard Oil Company of California now number 115,943—which is 17,000 more than just two years ago. They include 283 universities and other educational institutions; 226 churches and religious organizations; 1825 small and large businesses; 159 hospitals and other medical groups; 10,576 employees of the Company, and 102,563 other individual citizens, few of whom could be called rich. The great number of our shareholders are people like your own friends and neighbors—yourself, perhaps—mechanics, clerks, farmers, white-collar men, widows, men and women who have retired. ¶ In another sense, of course, the "owners" of the Company are our customers, who, in effect, control it and receive its benefits. You control Standard by your choice of brands. You benefit by the quality and economy of the products we sell. The only way we can look after the interests of our shareholders is by making sure that Standard serves you well.

Somerville to Seek City Council Post

Dr. John A. Somerville, Police Commissioner, last week announced that he will run for councilman in the Tenth district. He is a long time resident of the city and has been active in civic and political affairs for many years.

Hardly had the announcement been made than a flood of pledges of support poured in on the candidate and tenative plans for a dinner to launch his candidacy are now being made by a committee, the Eagle learned. Tentative date is set for Dec. 7.

Charles Navarro is now listed as the incumbent councilman in the district but political observers point out that the present district is a combination of the old Tenth and Fifth districts.

District Boundaries

Roughly the new Tenth district is bounded by Jefferson on the South, Ninth street on the north, Main street on the east and Crenshaw on the west. The registered voters list shows some 80,000 names.

Dr. Somerville told the Eagle this week that he had not had time to formulate a concrete platform but said that he would concentrate on helping give the city an honest and efficient government.

Estimates as to the number of Negro voters in the district ranged from 45 to 55 per cent, with all observers agreeing that its percentage is the highest in the city.

Navarro has won opposition of city employes for his persistent opposition to pay increases. He is listed as one of the "anti-housing" councilmen who have done their best to destroy the public housing program. He was elected in 1951 to replace A. Vernon Bennett.

Nation's Leaders Join Council of Urban League

NEW YORK—Eight of the nation's most prominent business leaders have been added to the National Urban League's 27-man Commerce and Industry Council.

They are: Bernard F. Gimbel, president of Gimbel Brothers, Inc.; Frederick M. Warburg, partner of Kuhn, Loeb and Co.; Philip Liebmann, president of Pitney-Bowes, Inc.;

Victor Borella, of Rockefeller Center, Inc.; James G. Hanes, chairman of Hanes Hosiery Mills; James Felt, realtor; and James L. Macwithey, Bristol Myers Co.

Hearing Postponed On S. P. Jimcrow

The test case on Southern Pacific's jim-crow car on its crack New Orleans-bound Sunset Limited is due for a full-scale hearing in Judge Lucius P. Green's court Dec. 17.

Argument was scheduled for this Wednesday, but because of the important issues involved Judge Green stated he wanted a full afternoon to hear the issues. The December date was the first available for a lengthy presentation of the case.

Spotlight on Case

The spotlight was thrown on the S.P. case by last week's decision of the U. S. Supreme Court ruling that railroads cannot jim-crow Negro passengers in interstate commerce through the device of what they consider "reasonable rules and regulations."

The high court had previously ruled that States could not enforce jim-crow restrictions on through buses and trains.

Argument in the Southern Pacific case is on a demurrer, and points brought up will deal with whether or not segregation in coaches is a violation of California's Civil Code. The argument will not attempt to prove whether or not the Southern Pacific does segregate Negro passengers. This finding of fact will be considered later, if the judge determines that segregation is illegal.

The Southern Pacific was sued in August, 1951, by Mrs. Claudia Whitmore and other Negro passengers who were segregated on a trip to the South. The suit is backed by the NAACP, and Atty. Herbert Simmons appeared on Mrs. Whitmore's behalf Wednesday. The S.P. was represented by Atty. Randolph Carr.

Willowbrook Needs 1, Gets 2 Principals

Willowbrook school district wound up with two principals for one of its elementary schools after a hectic meeting of its Board last week with nobody quite clear as to just what is going to happen.

The tangle resulted when the Board rescinded its action of accepting the resignation of James Faustina and thus restored him to his status as principal. At the same time it apparently confirmed the hiring of Mrs. Myrtle Robinson for the post Faustina had vacated.

Pressure for the rescinding of the action in accepting Faustina's resignation came from a committee headed by Alfred Johnson, W. A. Easter and George Mingo. He called the Board action "hasty" and urged that Faustina be restored to his old post.

Mrs. Robinson made it plain to the Board that she intends to rely on her contract and pointed out that she had resigned another job to accept the post.

Let Africans Tell Their Own Story, NAACP Asks

NEW YORK—The United States Delegation to the United Nations was vigorously urged this week by the NAACP to "do its utmost to obtain an opportunity" for native Africans "to give oral evidence on apartheid legislation and other discriminatory policies in the Union of South Africa" before the U.N. Committee.

"It is unnecessary for us to remind you that the present struggle in South Africa is of far greater than domestic concern," Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, wired members of the delegation. "It threatens the peace not only of South Africa but of the world."

African Colored Assured of Vote

NEW YORK — The South African Appeals Court last week upheld the country's constitution and overthrew Premier Malan's rigged court procedures.

In so doing, it guaranteed the vote to 50,000 colored voters whom the government had sought to disfranchise. Elections are scheduled for April.

Some time ago the Malan-controlled parliament passed a law depriving the Cape Colored of the right to vote. It was a political move, designed to keep Malan's Nationalist party in control. The Nationalists now have a slim majority. The Coloreds, in a close election, hold the balance of power, and they generally vote with the more moderate, predominantly British United party.

After the new law was passed, the South African Appellate Court, in April, held it unconstitutional. Malan then had parliament pass another law setting itself up as the highest court in the land.

It is this law which the Appellate Court has just ruled illegal.

Newberry's to Employ Negroes

J. J. Newbury's store at 1556 E. Florence will hire its first Negro sales personnel within the next few days pledged J. R. Ellis, store manager, according to Mrs. Elaine Rose who headed a delegation. "You can quote me that we will hire several Negro saleswomen very soon" Ellis stated to the delegation who met with him.

Newberry's will be the second national chain operating in the Florence - Slauson - Manchester area to take steps toward a fair hiring policy in recent weeks. J. C. Penney's local store now has two Negro sales people on its staff. The hirings of Negroes at Penney's and Newberry's were the result of action by the Florence FEPC Committee.

Minimum Wage Of Dollar Asked

NEW YORK—Testifying before the New York State legislative hearings on minimum wages, Herbert Hill, labor relations assistant of the NAACP strongly urged the enactment of a state minimum wage law of one dollar an hour.

He urged that the law specifically state "that the only form of compensation is legal tender, and that gratuities or other forms of payment should not be considered as part of the one-dollar-an-hour minimum wage."

Also testifying in support of a statutory provision for a minimum wage law were respresentatives of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, CIO; International Ladies Garment Workers Union, AFL; Consumes League of New York; and other labor and civic groups.

I hate to see things done by halves—If it be right, do it boldly,—if it be wrong leave it undone.—Bernard Filpin.

Man Convicted Of 'Leering' to Appeal Verdict

YANCEYVILLE, N. C.—Preparations were made this week by attorneys for the NAACP to file an appeal in the case of Mack Ingram, "the man who looked at a white girl."

The 45-year-old Ingram, father of 9 children, was convicted last Tuesday by an all-white male jury of assault against a female for "leering" at a white girl who admitted he never came closer to her than 75 feet. He was given a six-month suspended sentence. Bond was posted, and appeal to the Supreme Court of North Carolina was noted.

Ingram was originally charged with assault with intent to rape, but at his first trial in Nov., 1951, the charge was reduced to assault. The trial ended with a hung jury when two of the four Negroes on the jury held out for acquittal and refused to vote for conviction. Retrial was scheduled for March, 1952, but was postponed until November after the courthouse burned down.

Pool Bias Case In Kansas City Before Court

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—An appeal by the City of Kansas City from a lower court decision maintaining that swimming pool facilities for Negroes in this city are not equal to those provided for whites was argued here last Friday before the United States Court of Appeals.

The case was brought by Miss Esther Williams, who was barred from the Swope Park swimming pool, city-owned and operated, which had been maintained exclusively for white persons.

At the trial in the District Court in January, the court ruled the facilities unequal and directed the city to admit Negroes to the Swope Park pool. The city is now appealing the case.

Carl R. Johnson of Kansas City, a member of the NAACP national legal committee and national board of directors, and Assistant Special Counsel Robert L. Carter of the national office, represented the NAACP in the appeal.

Goals Reached By Volunteers In Chest Drive

South Central Area and Central-South Park volunteers in particular have rung up high honors in the current Community Chest campaign, with two divisions, first in the city proper, reporting in "over the top" last Friday.

First division, No. 88, to check in has Calvin Saunders, district manager of Golden State Life Insurance Co., as chaiman, and Joseph Walker, of Los Angeles Urban League, as co-chairman. They and more than 35 co-volunteers have canvassed the Central Avenue business district bringing in $1282.81 or 103.27 per cent of quota, with "more to come."

Next to ring the bell was Division 83, Mrs. Ruby E. Reid, 471½ East 49th Street, chairman, and Mrs. Nadine Bell, 1254½ E. Vernon, co-chairman, both members of 49th Street School PTA. Tenth District Parent-Teacher Association and the Urban League receive funds from the Chest campaign now in progress. These ladies and co-workers raised 101 per cent of their $487.72 quota and promise more.

Dr. Bunche Blasts McCarran Probe

PHILADELPHIA—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director of the department of trusteeship of the United Nations, issued a hot blast last Thursday night obviously directed against the subversive-hunting McCarran committee.

In an address before the American Philosophical society, the Nobel peace prize winner linked the suicide of U.N. official Abraham Feller with the harrassment of the "loyalty" probers. He did not, however, specifically mention McCarran.

Said Bunche: "American pressures on the United Nations come from many directions, the most recent being the investigations into alleged subversive associations of certain American members of the staff. . . .

Urges Decency

"There is no question at issue of the obligations of the United Nations to co-operate with the host country in the protection of its security," Dr. Bunche continued, adding:

"On the other hand, every reasonable precaution should be taken to insure that American procedures to this end will respect the international status of the United Nations, which, after all, was invited to establish its headquarters here. Elemental courtesy, fairness and decency are essentials of civilized conduct."

Later in his speech, referring to the increased pressures on U.N. personnel, he said: "Only today I have been profoundly saddened by the death, apparently through suicide, of one of my greatly respected American colleagues, Mr. Abraham Feller, a distinguished legal scholar and brilliant public official. Abe Feller was a great and loyal American and a dedicated servant of the United Nations and the cause of peace it symbolizes."

Court Upholds Extradition to Alabama Cruelty

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court Monday turned a deaf ear to a Negro's plea that extradition to the State of Alabama would cause him to suffer "barbaric and cruel treatment."

Robert Woodall, who has been fighting against compulsory return from Ohio, claimed that his jailers in Alabama had beaten him into unconsciousness with a nine-pound strap with five metal prongs. He claimed also that stripped to the waist, he had been forced to work all day in a broiling sun with no rest period.

But the Court, in an eight-to-one unsigned opinion, held that he had to go back to Alabama because he had not shown that "relief is unavailable to him" in the courts of that State.

Justice William O. Douglas, in a vigorous protest, opposed the majority opinion. Justice Douglas declared that if the evidence were true, Woodall would have to suffer "torture and mutilation or risk death itself" to try to get relief in Alabama.

"I rebel at the thought," wrote Justice Douglas, "that any human being, Negro or white, should be forced to run a gamut of blood and terror in order to get his constitutional rights.

"That is too great a price to pay for the legal principle that before a State prisoner can get Federal relief he must exhaust his State remedies."

Those who fix plans and never stick to them and wobble about for fear they will make a mistake, never get anywhere. A man who makes decisions with a fixed purpose of carrying them out is unconquerable.—John Wanamaker.

Let's Elect Somerville

The Tenth Councilmanic district is, in reality, a new district. It is composed of the old Tenth and Fifth districts. Although Charles Navarro is listed as the incumbent, almost a half of the constituents to whom he will appeal in next spring's municipal election have never been represented by him.

Because of those facts, and because of what we believe to be the ineptitude displayed by Mr. Navarro during his two short years in office, we think that the Tenth District ought to select a new councilman next spring.

Fortunately for the residents of that district, Dr. John A. Somerville has already tossed his hat in the ring. Dr. Somerville is a long time resident of the community. His life story is the typical American story of the lad who pulled himself up by his boot straps. He worked his way through dental school out at University of Southern California.

Ever since he began his career he has given of his time, money and talents to civic and community causes. We can't think of any good cause over a period of almost a half century in which he hasn't participated. At the moment he is a member of the Police Commission where, everyone agrees, he has been one of the hardest working and most faithful members.

We must face the fact that if we want Dr. Somerville in City Council where he wants to go and belongs we will have to give him the very maximum of support. That support will have to come from people who live in all parts of the city. It will have to be evidenced by money and effort and time.

We have said here many times that Los Angeles ought to have a Negro in City Council. We have an opportunity to get such a councilman, one who will serve with honor to all residents of the city.

We shouldn't lose the opportunity that is presented through petty jealousies or through failure to act quickly and effectively. It may seem like a long time until the municipal primaries next April but we won't have the votes we need at that election unless we begin to work now.

Aid And Comfort To Reds

If the Reds have a medal reserved for the stupid and unwitting who give them aid and comfort they ought to dispatch it post haste to the law enforcement authorities of New Orleans.

The police arrested and a judge freed Zachary Scott, movie actor, because he took a drink with some Negro companions in a New Orleans cocktail bar.

Scott explained the occurrence by saying that he had gone to the place to look for acting talent and that while there he saw some Negro sailors who had just returned from Korea. The judge let the actor off with a reprimand in view of those circumstances.

The incident, we think, displays the Jim Crow system at its worst. We venture the guess that there isn't a nation in the entire western world where a citizen of any nation could be arrested for the "crime" of taking a drink in a public place with another citizen of that nation. All Americans ought to hang their heads in shame to think that such an incident could happen in the United States.

The country had called upon the Negro sailors to risk their lives in its defense in far off Korea. The lads had responded. When their leaves are over they will go back to Korea.

Americans have said over and over again that we're fighting in Korea to uphold the democratic way of life. We have said many, many times that only our triumph in Korea can beat back those who threaten the world totalitarianism.

Before the sailors who were involved can get back to Korea the story of what happened to them in New Orleans will be there. Red propagandists will be shouting it from the house tops.

America is going to have a hard time explaining to Asians and Africans and other colored peoples the kind of democracy that obtains in New Orleans where it is a "crime" for one American citizen to take a drink with another American citizen—especially when these other American citizens are active members of its armed forces.

How To Lose Africa

Ever since the Communist triumph in China and other parts of Asia, spokesmen for the western world have been trying to assess blame for what happened there. Republican spokesmen have flooded the country with claims that Secretary of State Acheson or General George Marshall were responsible for failure to furnish Chiang necessary arms and ammunition. There may be some merit in some of the charges and counter charges of specific sins of omission and commission.

However, the basic reason for the Red triumph in Asia can be traced to the failure of the western world to recognize and respond to the determination of Asians to rid themselves of foreign domination and exploitation of their native lands.

What happened in Asia in the past decade is happening in Africa now. The rise of terroristic societies in Kenya and other British colonies and the bloody riots in South Africa are manifestations of deep discontent that is sweeping over what we like to call the Dark Continent.

There are those in the United Nations—and our own UN spokesmen seem to be among them—who believe that African discontent can be stilled by playing ostrich and advancing the solemn pretense that what's happening there is not the concern of the rest of the world.

That is the road to disaster. The Communists are already busy in South Africa. Every failure on the part of the democracies to meet and solve the problem will be more grist in the Red mill. The Communists will find converts in direct proportion to our disinterest. They will step up agitation to provide more and more trouble.

If we don't want to lose Africa for democracy we had best throw overboard the policies that led to the loss of Asia.

Ike Must Remember

We know that President-Elect Eisenhower can't do everything at once and that he is unable to do many things until his formal inauguration but we ought to keep in mind his promise that he will call the governors of the various states together to consider the problem of discrimination in employment. We must insist that he keep that promise.

The Republicans insisted throughout the campaign that the problem is one for the states and General Eisenhower expressed the belief many times that the states would deal with it adequately if they were given the proper leadership.

Frankly, we haven't very much confidence that Governors James Byrnes of South Carolina, Kennon of Louisiana and Shivers of Texas—Eisenhower supporters, all—will contribute very much to such a conference except pious hopes and protests about being left alone. We do think that the quicker Ike gets them together and finds out just how adamant they are on this problem the sooner he will come to the sound realization that federal action is required.

Some of the Republican governors are going to be just as tough as the Dixiecrats. The governor of Utah, for example, showed up in Los Angeles just last week to say in effect that there isn't any real problem in the area of employment. We suspect that his belief is shared by many other GOP chief executives and legislators. We know that Republican legislators in this state have spurned all of Governor Warren's pleas for local action.

These are some of the harsh facts of life that our new president is going to have to face. We think that he ought to come to grips with them as soon as possible so that all supporters of civil rights will know exactly what we have to expect.

Lester B. Granger's

Battle Axe & Bread

The sudden death of Phillip Murray, beloved head of the CIO, probably inspired more colored Americans with a feeling of personal loss than in the case of any other public figure since the passing of President Roosevelt in 1945. Though the two men were markedly dissimilar in personality and scope of authority, each was completely typical of his times—a fabulous era in American life—and each appeared on the scene of national leadership at a period when exactly his type of leadership was required.

Like Roosevelt, Phil Murray had his ardent admirers by the millions—and also a healthy number of ill-wishers. His personal following constituted an impressive cross-section of American life, including not merely working men and women but also a surprising number of persons from the middle- and upper-income classes. These latter regarded the rugged labor personality with the Scottish burr on his tongue as the finest representative of his leadership group. One day I sat in an office on the upper floor of a Cleveland skyscrapper and listened to a financier profanely lament labor-management relations in the steel industry. But in the midst of his outburst he checked himself to admit, "You've got to hand it to that fellow Murray, though. When he gives his word you can count on his standing by it. And he's got real statesman's ability, too."

Needless to say, this was high praise, coming from the source that it did, but Phil Murray amply deserved this much and more. He wasn't a flag-waver, but no one ever doubted his patriotism. He didn't indulge in mealy-mouthed preachments on "brotherhood," but when his word or influence was needed to clear up an "unbrotherly" situation, he could be counted on. He was frank to admit that neither his own steel workers' union nor the CIO was fully free of racial discrimination, in spite of the hypocrites to the contrary. But Phil Murray was constantly working to get rid of remaining vestiges of racism in his own jurisdiction; his last national convention was the occasion of a powerful speech from him on this subject, in which he pledged full CIO resources to help obtain a square deal for "the darker brother" in all citizenship aspects.

I had the honor of addressing that convention. One of my pleasant memories is of my brief moment of fraternization with Phil Murray; the warm pressure of his hand and the sincerity in his voice when he spoke of his feeling about the Urban League. It had been five years since I had spoken to him, and ten since I had had a chance for any real conversation. I was struck with the way in which the stature of the man had increased under the grinding pressures he experienced during and after the war.

Colored Americans, as I have noted, felt his death keenly for the same reason that Roosevelt's sudden death left them bereaved. Like Roosevelt, Murray played a most significant part in the dramatic improvement in the life of the Negro population during the past 20 years. And in much the same way, for the Murray contribution was not in the form of "missionary" work among the colored brethren. It consisted simply of forgetting the skin color of men and women in the labor movement—of handling their needs and aspirations as those of typical Americans. And that's all that Negro Americans want—all that they have a right to expect.

There is this difference between Roosevelt and Murray in their passing. The CIO chieftain's death does not leave any panicky feeling of fear that labor's policies will take a downward swoop, now that he is gone. For Phillip Murray was as much a product of the new unionism as he was its accelerator. Though his personal influence will undoubtedly be missed, there are other men to take his place with the same conviction and committed to the same continued eradication of racial discrimination from the labor movement. And steadily, Negro leadership is moving upward toward the top echelons on international union, where they will some 'day themselves do what now they are insisting that top leadership must do. Phil Murray will like that.

Roy Wilkins'

The Watch Tower

The news from South Africa is bad and growing worse. The Malan government has started using machine guns against the natives who, from all reports, are armed only with sticks and stones.

What crimes have these natives committed to be shot down like mad dogs in the streets? Well, their first crime was being black, instead of white. Their next crime was the possession of a country that white men decided they wanted. Their next greatest crime was believing that they are men like other men and deserving the treatment accorded other human beings.

Hatred and Darkness

The Malan government is an out-and-out white supremacy government. It is like nothing in the American South. Herman Talmadge's Georgia, Jimmy Byrnes' South Carolina, and Hugh White's Mississippi are as far above South Africa as Boston is above Biloxi.

Talmadge talks about white supremacy and schemes little schemes to keep the white folks ahead and himself in power; but Malan has white supremacy as a policy of the whole nation and backs it up with the legislature, the courts, the press, the police, and the armed forces.

In Georgia, for Negroes, there is more than a little sunlight; in South Africa, for natives, all is hatred and darkness.

Song of Freedom

A few mulattoes (known as Colored in South Africa) had the vote. Malan took it away. The Supreme Court said Malan's act was unlawful. Malan created another Supreme Court which approved his act.

Malan's government passed laws separating natives, Coloreds, whites, and Asiatics (mostly Indians) in their housing and everyday business — complete segregation.

The natives then started their disobedience campaign against segregation. They used white waiting rooms in stations, filled up white railway cars and ignored the jim crow cars. They were arrested by the thousands. They prayed and sang of freedom. They laughed. Some paid their fines and other thousands filled up the jails.

Shot in Cold Blood

They held meetings when they were told they could not do so. For gathering to hold such a meeting they were shot down. The news stories call it rioting, but white South Africans write the news stories.

It is a ten to one bet that the natives were shot down in cold blood. We American Negroes know something about those "riot" stories.

But American Negroes, as unfairly as they have been treated, have no idea of the appalling treatment of the native South Africans. For instance, it is against the law for three of them to meet together and talk. They must have passes for everything. They cannot vote. They are barred by law from many types of jobs.

Mighty Protest Needed

A mighty protest should go up from American Negroes. Malan says his government will pay no attention to what the world says. He says the United Nations must keep its nose out of South Africa's business. He says the "Reds" are causing the trouble.

He says South Africa is going to stay a white man's country and that he has a plan for all of Africa to keep the Negro down forever.

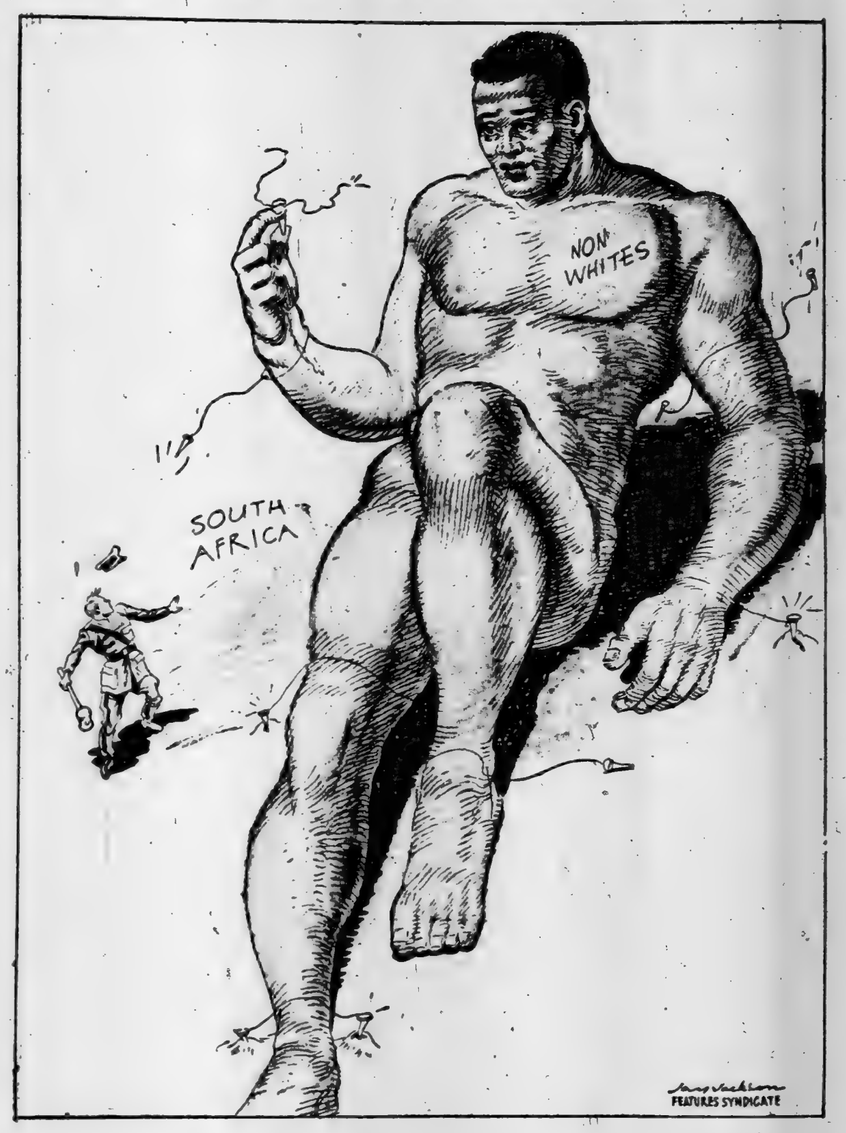
Nevertheless, the condemnation of America will have an effect. American Negroes should write to Warren Austin, head of the American delegation to the United Nations. The address is simply: United Nations, New York.

Let Them Know

Let Mr. Austin know how Americans feel.

Negroes and their friends should write the new President of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and ask that his government re-study our relations with South Africa.

Write also to the Export-Import Bank, Washington, D. C. and oppose any loans to the government of South Africa.



Strike a blow at this savage Hitlerism. Don't sit silently while Malan turns the clock back to race hatred, race slavery, and race murder.

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

MY DAILY PRAYER— "Dear Lord. Please keep General Eisenhower alive for the next four years."

Understand the Dimes for

Poor Richard club has reorganized and is now the Dimes for Vitamins for Ike. Gotta keep that man healthy.

See where Ike is chickening out all ready on his trip to stop the war in Korea. He now calls it an "inspection tour." You just can't beat Harry. He told the General the Constitution was ready with engines idling whenever the General wanted to fly over and end the war.

Ike in Trouble

Seems to me that Ike really got himself into something when he blurted out that he would go to Korea and gave the impression that he would end the war. It got votes, chum, but it also got him in a helluva situation. All ready they're thinking up the excuse that Truman got us so far in, that Ike can't get us out.

Man, you could get a fight real easy on the Avenue the day after the election. The betting boys were really taken to the cleaners. Even after Ike won with such a majority, no one dared shout, "I told you so." See where our competitor around the corner, the Sediment, pardon me, I mean Sentinel, thought it was a horse race. They picked the winners. Dora called up to say that she saved the country. Such outrageous claims are too ridiculous to be commented upon.

Speaking of outrageous claims, see where the Tribune claims to have elected Hahn. Just how great can you get. The fact is that in the area where the Tribune has its largest (?) circulation, Hahn got his smallest vote.

Outstanding Record

Hahn was elected mainly on his outstanding record as a City Councilman. He has an ability and knack to meet the man on the street without making him feel uneasy, and brother, that is half of the battle. You should have seen Roach on the Avenue meeting "the boys" and trying to act like a regular fellow. It just didn't come off.

In addition to Hahn's record and personality, there was the tremendous job done by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lindsey. The CIO backed Hahn with money, workers and literature — no small item. Lastly, the (pardon me) California Eagle endorsed Hahn, and backed that endorsement with 45,000 copies of the Eagle containing that endorsement and a marked ballot that were distributed from Washington to 132nd street, blanketing the Eastside. Incidentally, with the exception of the county areas, that's where Hahn got his largest vote. In many instances in direct ratio to the Stevenson-Ike vote.

Yep, many factors were behind Hahn's success, but with all my brass, I wouldn't be brash enough to make a claim as the "decisive factor" or be foolish enough to believe anyone who would tell me that. However, I'm sure this will not shake the faith of my friends on West Jefferson.

Must Rub Shoulders

Of course to know the real temper of the community, one must get out and find out what the people are talking about by rubbing shoulders with them. You just can't retire to a psychological ivy tower and look into a round glass, and tell what the people are thinking—no matter how good the bourbon is.

Before leaving the Supervisorial campaign, I'd like to doff my hat to J. Robert Smith for the very professional job he turned in for Roach. While his operation was restricted and limited by forces who had Roach believe that he could win without the Negro vote, what he was able to do, he did well. If he had really been turned loose with an ample budget, no telling what might have happened. He only needed to change 5000 minds, and that wouldn't have been hard for a man of Smith's persuasive writing powers.

Smith is now organizing a public relations firm and has opened offices in the Trans-America building. A really professional public relations firm is long overdue in Los Angeles. Smith, a graduate newspaperman, has the experience and know-how to make this venture a success. Lots of luck, J. Robert.

In closing, all I can say is that this just wasn't our year. Marciano won the title; the Brooklyn Dodgers lost the World Series, and one of the greatest men to come down the pike since Lincoln, lost an election because the women and first voters were unable to understand what Korea is all about. Yep, just wasn't our year.

"Dear Lord. "Please keep Eisenhower alive for the next four years!"

The Weslyan Service guild of Hamilton Methodist Episcopal church held a successful silver tea Sunday, Nov. 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Valentine.

The spacious home was artistically decorated with Bird of Paradise and chrysanthemums. The silver service, exquisite table cloth and autumn floral centerpiece all contributed toward the beauty of the tea.

A most enjoyable program was the highlight of the evening. The guild is grateful to Mrs. Alma Jones, mistress of ceremonies, Geraldine Carter, Lillian Thompson, Jean Keil, Evelyn Williams, Ruth McNeal, Oteka Goodwin, Georgia Brown, Little Karen Johnson Brown, Edward Wright, Thomas Wilson, Jackie Wynn, Alihue Sloane and Dorothy Young for rendition of an interesting program.

The guild also appreciates the assistance of the co-hostesses from Bowen Memorial, St. John, Wesley and Holman Methodist churches.

Mrs. Ethel Howard is guild president; Mmes. Bernyce Wilson and Effie Enox, chairmen, and Rev. D. DeWitt Turpeau is pastor of the church.

Even heat—no hot spots
WHEN YOU FRY WITH GAS

The visible flame lets you see just how much heat you're using, too! You can adjust gas heat instantly and accurately to meet any cooking requirement. Never any guesswork!

No matter what the cooking method... frying or broiling, baking or roasting... gas is truly superior. And to take full advantage of what gas can do, you need one of the new automatic gas ranges now on display at dealers or your Gas Company.

Why not see them? You'll find that a new gas range costs less to buy... less to operate.

NO KITCHEN SMOKE SCREEN when you broil with gas. You must have the clean blue gas flame to consume smoke and spatter... to give delicious char-type flavor to meats.

Bruins, Trojans Even Choice Sat.

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)

SAN FRANCISCO—"Two world's collide" . . . Destination—There'll be virtually two world's colliding at the L. A. Coliseum this Saturday afternoon, when Jess Hill's unbeaten "terrible Trojans" meets Red Sanders battling UCLA Bruins, in the contest of the year, which we will see the winner prancing in the fabulous Pasadena Rose Bowl come Jan. 1.

Here in this town Prancin' Paul Cameron and his Bruin mates are favored by most observers, but there are still others that are of the opinion that Jess Hill will come up with a "secret weapon," in the celebrated Addison Hawthorne, to team-up with his other big guns Jim Sears and company to beat the Bruins. . . . With the guns Hill has the Trojans should turn the trick.

We picked UCLA and USC to finish in first and second place respectively, in early September while most of the pollsters, supposedly in the know, were tabbing WSC and California for the top spots. . . . And at this stage of the game we are of the same convicton. . . . We'll be one of the 105,000 fans that'll be aboard to witness this titantic between the two-cross-town rivals. . . . Ike Jones, Ernie Stockert, Lewis "Hustler" Williams, Milton Davis, Donn Moomaw, Terrible Terry Debay, Whitney Arceneaux, Jack Ellena will be some familiar names over the P. A. system for the Bruins . . . Bill Hattig, Elmer Wilhoite, George Timberlake, Jim Sears, Desmond Koch, and Addison Hawthorne should be likewise popular names for USC.

HERE AND THERE—Bob Williams, track star at L.A. Jeff High in '47-48 is under contract at RCA. . . . He's a crooner . . . Steve Hill erstwhile athlete of the same school along with Willie Tasby, former McClymonds High boy of Oakland were stars for Pocatello in the Pioneer Loop, so we're informed. . . . It's reported Hill posted a .271 mark and batted in 86 runs. . . . Piper Davis, the Oakland Oaks "Mr. Everything" will be doing, theoretically speaking, everything in the winter circut for Venezuela . . . Jewel Owens, according to his press clippings, is an outstanding Fullerton JC back. . . . He operates from a halfback slot. . . . Our best wishes go to the Sally League, for opening the doors for Negroes to play in that league at their

Compton College Favored Over Cubs

Compton College Junior Rose Bowl-bound football team is heavily favored to extend its mastery in a bitter series which stretches back to 1930. L. A. City College has won but four games Compton has annexed 10, and four ended in ties. Last LACC victory came in 1946, when Cliff Schroeder passed the Cubs to a 79-7 decision. Rose Bowl Bid Looms For Winner

By EDWARD "ABIE" ROBINSON

Saturday, November 22, at the Memorial Coliseum, two local football machines oiled to the gills, meet to give the cash customers one of the best games since 1939. Unbeaten UCLA and unbeaten SC will be fighting it out for a trip to the fabulous Pasadena Rose Bowl.

"YOU OUGHT TO KNOW"

Miss Welcome

The answer to the question of WHO AM I? was given in a recent release by the Firm of Kinney, Johnson, Terry, Merriwether and Associates, Public Relations Consultants to all local papers . . . but just in case you missed it, Here's What! I am a symbol of a unique merchandising program which endeavors to utilize personalized advertising techniques, and visitation programs to bring to the Negro market such services and businesses which are deserving of our loyalty and support.

Through this column the commercial aspects of the services of the sponsors are presented in relationship to some of the intimate and personal aspects of everyday living so as to prove interesting and entertaining to the readers.

Trained, courteous, attractive housewives and business woman perform the Miss Welcome services and you, the readers of the local newspapers will have the pleasure of meeting two of them at an early date as I launch a Christmas Gift service Community-Wide.

Christmas won't be Christmas without SWANK, the by-word for men in Jewelry and accessories . . . advertised in Esquire and all leading magazines and also by Our Own Gift Nora, 3108 S. Western where things come personalized in the most unusual designs. . . . For the sportsman I saw rifles, fish, horses and things too numerous to name in minatures of peal, onyx and Mrs. Edwards said she could get about anything a guy would want. . . . You've just got to go in.

COLLECTING CANNED GOODS—and other items such as toys is the major project of the Lampados Pledge club. A few members look over some of the items that may be brought to their dance on Friday, Nov. 21, 8 p.m. at 2065 S. Oxford. They are Ed Mulholland, president; Chester Woods, secretary; Ira Clark, chaplain; Leroy Taylor, vice president.

Johnny Ace Star of New Alabam Show

Joe Morris' New Club Alabam opened a fast moving revue last Tuesday night that should find capacity houses during its week, run.

Headed by singing star Johnny Ace, whose "My Song" is currently tops in Billboards rating, the show moves smoothly with a nice mixture of jump, jive, comedy, and the silk-smooth singing of Johnny Ace.

The show is paced by Jimmy "Night Train" Forrest's band. They rocked the joint with several instrumental numbers.

The ever popular comedy team of Foxx and White amuses the customers with fast patter and song and dance routines.

Gene Bell's educated feet set the stage for the star of the show, Johnny Ace.

In a manner slightly reminiscent of King Cole, Johnny Ace toys with the piano while giving full play to his very smooth delivery. His ballads have a blues kick that make them distinctive.

Bill Day emcees the show. The Club Alabam can be heard nightly over station KWKW from 11:00 until 11:30 every night.

BEVY OF BEAUTIES comprising the BENEVOLENT VARIETY ARTISTS who are busy preparing for their annual fund raising charity (Florentine Gardens, November 29) to assist more unfortunate thespians, entertainers and others of their own profession.

Ebony Showcase Circle Theater To Open Soon

Ebony Showcase Theater, a new circle type theater, designed to encourage, develop, sponsor and feature Negro performers, writers and technicians in original and Broadway shows, will open soon at 2182 West Washington Boulevard (Washington and Western).

Actors are now being interviewed and plays read. This Showcase is being presented and sponsored by Edna and Horace Stewart. Horace Stewart plays the part of "Lightnin'" on the CBS Television Network's "Amos 'n' Andy" show.

Sportette's Revue At Club Alabam

The Sportette's Social Club will hold a charity dance and revue Sunday afternoon, November 23, at the Club Alabam. Nellie Finley, president of the organization, said that proceeds from the affair will be used to decorate two rooms at the YMCA.

The YMCA has inaugurated a program for social clubs to help in the re-decorating of the plant by assuming responsibility for the remodeling and painting of various rooms that will be named after the club.

BERT AND PARKER KENNER . . . receive the CALIFORNIA EAGLE salute of the week as a pair of its most prominent citizens. Local products, who have come by their success the HARD WAY, are now owners of two of the largest UNION OIL SERVICE STATIONS on Western Avenue . . . and definitely merit your patronage. Motorists, its worth your trip to Santa Barbara or Adams, on Western Avenue, to take advantage of BERT AND PARKER KENNER'S additional UNION SERVICE.

A CENTRAL AVENUE SERVICE STATION . . . is being spotted by the F. B. EYES. Merely a "front" for a counterfeit gang, insiders hear.

The Eagle is staffed with reliable people with exceptional gift, talent and skills: Grace Simons, Wendell Green, Miriam Christian, Vi Brown, Calme Russ, Francis P. Waller, Jr., Clyde B. Denslow, Eddie Lee King, Brad Pye, Kerry Jackson, Hal Miller, and that hard driving circulation man, Edw. "Abie" Robinson. There are many qualities for which you can praise each and everyone connected with the Eagle but we best sum them up as a group with Character as a premium.

Allow then a few mistakes for they are carrying the bulk of the community load on their shoulders. They are carrying the load with loyalty, integrity and reliability. What they need is the help of certain big members of the community who have benefited from the results of having a newspaper with Character. So now until we are able to put out a 20 page paper dig down in the old jeans and increase your subscription and advertising. Get your friends in the Eagle habit, it's your newspaper and don't let it be known that the Eagle is in need of loot because you fail to support it. Our publisher's long and trying fight in the race restrictive covenant fight deserves each and every ones support. Don't be like the guy who pays his way with the counterfeit kind of gratitude. Some deeds call for a return of service and consideration and this is one of them.

THRIFTY, a certain clerk at the Central Avenoo branch is in

After Dark Confessions!

This you gotta see! It was whispered to us that the BVA's are rehearsing a line of guys to augment the chorus dolls capers at their extravaganza. And that Archie Savage is putting 'em through the paces. The fellow that told us says he'll be third carrot from the left. . . . Dancer Dorothy Boone has leased ten rooms unfurnished on Crenshaw. She'll do Balinese movements on the Shriner's upcoming affair, and probably house the after party at her manse.

The doll leaguers have their formal fling tomorrow nite at the Zenda Ballroom, and thanks to Lenore Winkler (whatta doll she is!) we'll bring our bid and a doll on our arm. . . . Now that Lady Day's New York "voice" has been returned, her first nitery offer is to build a production around the torchsinger and label it "Holiday in Paris."

Lensgal Lillian Moreno did a great series of shots on Elsie Smith, the former Jordan High girl, now saxsation with Lionel Hampton. . . . Pasadena Exclusive—Looked in on the Onyx Club Sunday nite and found James Pratts ork is the "big sound" there. The drummer told a column spy to tell this scribbler to "use his own judgment" if he mentioned theme there. Alright, it was "feetwarming." . . . How's that? . . . Around the corner at Casa Blanca, Monte Easter's crew is holding forth, and thereby hangs a tale! J. D. Wier's vocals inspired the remark (often used) that "he was born with a silver tune in his mouth." Drummer man, Ted Loupe, and the Robinson canary are a bit of alright too. . . . Over in merrie ol' England, they're talking over teacups about Pearl Bailey and Louis Bellson's mixed marriage. And how Pearlie Mae told the world, "there's only one race, the human race." She might have added furthermore that it takes "two to tango." . . . Ellingtonia speaks again, title-wise. After you catch your breath over the little gem called "Smada" he names one "Kissy Pink Mustasche." . . . They're waving a Broadway stage offer at freewheeling Ella Fitzgerald. Didn't she break up arms about a Westside gal who keeps her railroad hubby away from his eastside home. Wifie crossed him up when he returned from his Chicago run two days ahead of schedule. He almost flipped his lid when wifie showed up at the commissary and caught him with his traveling bags missing. She's on the warpath for the chick and they say she is a pretty good battler!

ROBERT CHICHESTER, the big tall handsome blonde fireman's Harvard Heights apartment is the last word in comfort. It is done up in the very latest modern style, with a table tape recorder, a remote control record player and a grand size TV set, and his cocktail bar stays loaded with James Scott, Fred Harris, Lloyd La Beach and Carl Haley's brands.

ELLIS WILSON, commercial lensman, is operating out of his 5510 S. Hoover studios. One of the interesting things about Ellis's work is his latest model, a cute China Doll. The young brownskin lass that wears bangs so well. He hopes to land her a big role in one of the flicks coming up.

SIGHT ITEMS, Sue Harbin, Bo Franklin and another lovely doing a little plugingfor their club's B.V.A. Florentine Gardens show come Saturday night, Nov. 29th. (Everybody that is anybody will be there!)

MILK PRICES, are going up shapely and brainy Rosalee Orsben Coronation's top flight demonsfrator is more than a good reason to have her show you the company's newest money saving milk package. And she doesn't go along with the deal!

JUILIETTE BALL BROWN, whose husband makes baskets for the Harlem Globtrotters is madder than hell at a well-known newspaper columnist who blinked hubby out of $25.00. Which reminds us of this dittie "he that takes what isn't hissen gives it back or go to prison."

JATP with her version of "St. Louis Blues?" . . . There should be a hot time in Frisco town tomorrow night when dancer Lon Fontaine assembles and works the new show at Curtis Mosby's Champagne Supper Club! . . . and Jimmie Bunn is tickling ivories over at the Say When. . . . Our favorite blues-rhythm as of now: Floyd Dixon's "Tired, Broke, and Busted." . . . Comedian Nappy Whiting admits he's off giggle water. He made the rounds the other evening and refused all offers from pals to dampen his glass. . . . How bout this? The Tropical Rhumba Club's Double Anniversary Ball will be Danish Style. This is a gimmick???? Ebony Showcase Theater, the new circle type Negro legit theater has the CBS smile of approval. . . . Didn't Wendell Franklin squire his former wife Gwen to the Bal Masque, and didn't he admit he still loves the girl who made those sensational Reno headlines with him?

Allan "Be-bop spoken here" Clark arrived in town from Cleveland with big bulgin' eyes for a westside lovely who is studying to be a schoolmarm! . . . As the holidays draw near, here's a bop story that glows. A group of Christmas carols were serenading beneath "our hero's" window. The cool one looks down at the songsters and flips, "Hey, you cats are the merriest!"

BRUINS, TROJANS

ing devoted several minutes to the game.

We talked to almost 200 grid fans about the game and most of them were divided in their choice. We rate the Bruins a slight edge on paper and if pitching arms of Paul Cameron and Ted Narleski are anywhere near their season's dead-eye accuracy, watch out Trojans.

The Bruins have three eminent pass-catchers, in the persons of Ike Jones, Ernie Stockert and Don Stalwick. Jones' season total for grabbing the pigskin in yardage is 261, hanging on to 23 tosses, Stockert grabbed 17 throws for 232 yards, Stalwick took 16 tosses for total of 274 yards.

The Trojans feel that their defense will chop down the Bruins in the same manner it has done eight other opponents this season, who have managed against USC a grand total of four touchdowns. The Peasants from Central Avenoo will be reminiscing of the Kenny Washington, Jackie Robinson, Woody Strode, Johnny Wynne, Ray Bartlett, Bruin year of 1939 when they fought SC to a 0-0 tie and came within 2 inches of going to the Rose Bowl.

This year Red Sanders will be depending largely on his defense unit as well as offense and they include such sepia aces as Milt Davis labeled by Sanders as the key man in the defense, Lewis Hustler Williams, and Whitney Arceneaux.

For color reasons only Jess Hill of the Trojans may toss in his All-American bench warmer Addison Hawthorne to quell any rumors that a lad of color can't play with a Trojan team. He could become a hero for the Bruins by fumbling in the end zone with Milt Dayis pouncing on the ball for six points.

recent meeting. . . . Savannah wil start the ball a rolling with infielder Elbert Israel, ex-Harrisburg athlete. . . . Luke has also bought a crib at 3424 E. 142nd St. Luke says he turned down about six grand by refusing to barnstorm. . . . Luke states that he's taking no chances of reinjuring his knee.

L. A. IS LONG JOHN—It's our contention that the California State boxing Commission can't go wrong by employing Long John Thomas, one of the state's most colorful lightweights. . . . Thomas who is the entrepreneur of the popular poultry market on 40th Place and Avalon Blvd. has all the ingredients for the post.

It'll be great to get back to the old city this weekend to see the UCLA-USC game. . . . And it'll be equally fine to have my auto serviced at Dave Settle's super-fine station at Jefferson and Griffith. . . . And have my rags squared-away at Flemming Ennix's cleaners, Jefferson at Avalon. .

Bennie will cross the Globetrotters' path again at Chicago Stadium Friday night, Nov. 28, when the two star-studded quintets resume their action-packed rivalry in the feature game of a big doubleheader.

In the other game on the card, the Philadelphia Warriors meet the Milwaukee Hawks in a National Basketball Association contest.

Playground Director

CHILD MOLESTER GUILTY

Compton Director Jailed

Carl O'Neal White, director at the Compton Playground, 53rd and Compton, last Thursday was convicted of child molesting.

Bail was withdrawn and he was sent to County Jail, with a probation hearing set for Dec. 12. In the intervening time, it is expected that he will be examined by psychiatrists to determine whether or not he is a sexual psychopath.

The findings of the doctors are to be submitted to the judge prior to the probation hearing.

Carressed Child

White, a graduate of Xavier University in New Orleans, well known in the community and for a long time associated with playground work, was arrested on Sept. 8, after an eight-year-old girl had told her grandmother that he had carressed her.

White denied the entire story at the time, and said he could not understand how the child could have invented such a fantastic tale.

Pled Not Guilty

At the trial Thursday, White, who was represented by Atty. Edward Hardwick, pled not guilty. He admitted, however, that he had taken the little girl and her brother upstairs at the playground center.

The grandmother of the little girl, when she first reported the case to police, said that White had sent the brother to the store, and then had started to caress the child, assuring her it "wouldn't hurt," according to the tale the little girl told.

The child also said that White had partially undressed himself and had also partially undressed her. When the grandmother had called for the youngsters at the playground and asked if they had had a good time, the little girl became moody, and then finally said "No." Upon further questioning, she told the story implicating White.

Club Helps Brave Tot In Struggle to Survive

By MIRIAM CHRISTIAN

The front door of a modest little home on E. 66th street was wide open to the chilly air last Sunday afternoon. Peering through the screen of the door was four-year-old Willie, who watched the children on the opposite side of the street play "hide and seek."

Little Willie Leo Morrow couldn't join the tots his age in running, skipping and jumping. His only participation was sitting on the floor, in front of the door, and watching.

Willie was born without any feeling in his legs and feet as normal babies are born. Safety pin pricks and pinches never made him cry out in pain.

At the age when most children crawl, Willie remained in his crib, unable to move his limbs. He did not begin to crawl until two years after the average walking age.

Two six-inch scars on each ankle tell the story of two operations which kept Willie bedridden for months. The bottom of his feet are black because the skin was grafted to lengthen muscles joining the ankles and feet. That was the first procedure medical authorities used to help Willie walk.

THANKSGIVING

Al Trice Convicted Of Peddling Heroin

It took the jury in Federal Judge William C. Mathes' court only 35 minutes last Thursday to convict widely known Al Trice on four counts of trafficking in narcotics.

One factor which undoubtedly led to the speedy decision was testimony by Federal agents that Trice had been known in the past as an in-and-out dealer in dope.

This information was introduced after Trice, who was represented by Atty. Earl Broady, claimed he had been "trapped" by agents while he was merely trying to do a favor for a sick friend.

Probation Possible

Trice was convicted of two counts of possession of heroin and two counts of selling heroin.

Sentencing was set for Dec. 8 in Judge Mathes' court. Penalty provided by law is from two to five years. Probation, however, is possible, if the judge considers it warranted.

On the stand in his own defense, Trice claimed that he had arranged for the sale of heroin on two occasions through a Fifth street character known only as "Hump," after receiving pleading appeals from J. T. Gipson, newspaper colmnist who died recently from tuberculosis.

Atty. Broady, in an attempt to prove that Trice had been trapped by the authorities, claimed that Gipson acted as an informer for the government.

Trice, who owns a liquor store at 5109½ S. Central avenue, was arrested early in August after he sold heroin to Dick Williams, revealed at the trial to be Richard Malcolm, a Federal agent.

Lester Granger

NEW YORK — Lester Granger, executive secretary of the National Urban League and columnist for a number of weekly newspapers, including the California Eagle, is chairman of a group of 50 social workers leaving the United States for India on Thanksgiving Day, November 27.

The group is scheduled to attend the International Conference of Social Workers in New Delhi.

Still Seeking Candidate In Eighth Disrict

The attempt to canvass the Eighth Councilmanic district for an electable candidate has been meeting with considerable success. The Citizens Committee For Representation in Government reported that they have been getting a fine response from voters they have contacted in the district.

The straw ballot that appeared in the Eagle last week, (see below) brought many phone calls and letters to the Eagle office, designating their choice and nominating other persons.

However, many of the persons named did not live in the district. The district runs generally from Vernon on the north to 94th street on the south. From Normandie on the West to Central avenue on the East.

Voters living in the 8th councilmanic district are urged to fill out the ballot and mail it to the Eagle office, 1050 E. 43rd place, or call the Eagle office, ADams 4-0161.

Attorneys Vince Monroe Townsend, one of the sponsors of the committee said, "This is a marvelous opportunity for us to realize the dream of representation in the city government. Almost half of the registered voters in the 8th district are Negroes. If we organize and get behind one man we can all support, I'm sure we will succeed."

Fourth School Case Heads for Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — A fourth case testing the right of southern states to jim-crow school children will probably be added to the three already scheduled to be heard before the Supreme Court Dec. 9.

The fourth case involves the State of Delaware which has asked the high court to review a lower court decision that Negro pupils cannot be barred from "white" public schools in a Wilmington suburb.

The Delaware Supreme Court has upheld the opinion of the Court of Chancery that facilities offered Negro children are inferior.

The NAACP, which carried the issue to the courts, is not opposing the request of the State of Delaware that the Supreme Court review the case.

The three suits now pending, which will test the validity of the entire "separate-but-equal" theory, involve Clarendon County, S.C.; Topeka, Kansas; and Prince Edward County, Va.

An additional case, involving the District of Columbia, may also be added to the list.

The NAACP, which has pressed

Principal Arrested For Theft

A long smouldering battle in the Willowbrook school district erupted last week with the arrest of James Faustina, elementary school principal, on charges of removing a public document from its proper custodian. Preliminary hearing is set for Dec. 2.

The arrest was a signal for a welter of charges and counter charges between Faustina supporters and opponents. Blame for Faustina's arrest was placed on Rayfield Lundy, attorney and president of the board, and Lundy as promptly repudiated the claim.

The public document Faustina is alleged to have removed was a memorandum which enemies charge was Faustina's resignation and which he claims was nothing of the kind.

Fuel to Fire

The complaint against Faustina was signed by Mrs. Myrtle Pruitt and her signature only added fuel to the fire. Faustina proponents claim that she is the sister of a discharged employe of the school district.

Trouble began with the school board meeting of October 15. At this meeting the board accepted what Lowell Butler Jones, district superintendent, and Lundy said was Faustina's resignation. Faustina denied ever having submitted a resignation and stated that the memorandum he submitted to the Superintendent was a request for a hearing.

The school board, composed of Dr. William Lloyd Smith, Mrs. Honora Fox, and Lundy, accepted Faustina's resignation with regrets and requested that he remain as principal for a two week period. A letter to this effect was given to the principal when he reported to school on Thursday, October 16.

Faustina Backed

Faustina immediately sought a conference with the superintendent and informed him that he had not written a letter of resignation and had no intention of resigning. Jones informed the principal that the matter was closed and that the board had accepted his letter as a resigna-

Dr. Somerville Hits Charges of Laxity

Veiled charges in the Los Angeles Sentinel that he had failed to support advancement of Negro police officers drew a stinging reply from Police Commissioner John A. Somerville this week. The charges were contained in an "open letter" authored by Mrs. Dora Moore.

Somerville is an announced candidate for city council from the Tenth district and political observers professed to see the open letter as an attempt to sabotage his election prospects.

Incumbent councilman in the Tenth District is Charles Navarro who, like Mrs. Moore, has been a die hard opponent of public housing. Negro voters approved public housing by an overwhelming vote in last spring's primary election.

The open letter revolved around the suggestion that Dr. Somerville had failed to support Police Lieut. Roscoe Washington for the position as head of Newton station. In his reply the police commissioner pointed out that Lieut. Washington had not attained the necessary rank of captain.

Merit Counts

"All members of the Commission are agreed that promotions . . . should not be made on the basis of race but that qualified officers should be assigned on the basis of merit to any of the divisions. This was a topic of discussion at a very recent meeting of the Board. All right thinking people, including the Commission would like to see high ranking Negro officers in the Department and occupying commands in every division but these ranks are attained by examination and not by favoritism," Dr. Somerville wrote to Mrs. Moore.

The Eagle learned that Lieut. Washington had not sought the Trial Date Set In Pasadena Housing Row

The court room in Pasadena last Friday was packed with whites and Negroes when contractor Royal C. Wheeler appeared for arraignment on charges of attacking newsmen investigating a race flare-up over housing.

Wheeler pleaded not guilty to assault with a deadly weapon, and the trial date was set for Nov. 28.

Wheeler was accused of attempting to run down Eagle reporter Edward "Abie" Robinson, photographer Irving C. Smith and John Lee Oct. 28 when they went to the lot in swanky Poppy Peak where Thomas W. Nelson is building a home for his family.

Efforts of the contractor to get the building underway at 191 Sequoia street met with constant harrassment from neighbors. Nelson is the first Negro to attempt to live in the area.

Wheeler, who lives nearby at 75 Malcolm drive, was arguing with the workmen when the newsmen drove up.

The crowded courtroom reflected the keen interest that the Pasadena community has shown in the case. This was also demonstrated at a mass meeting a week ago at the Baptist church, Claremont and Pasadena streets, called by the NAACP, attended by approximately 600 people.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Franklin Williams, West Coast Regional director of the NAACP.

Nelson also spoke, giving an outline of the events surrounding his attempts to build. Lester Bailey urged a large attendance at the trial.

Stanley Waller, Popular Native, Passes Saturday

William Stanley Waller, 25, passed away quietly last Saturday, November 22, at his home. "Bill", as he was affectionately known to thousands of acquaintenances and friends, was the youngest son of Elmer A. Waller, Sr., and member of one of Southern California's best known families.

Born June 5, 1927, in Modesto, California, Stanley migrated to the City of the Angels at a very early age; attended Hooper Avenue Grammar School, William McKinley (nee George Washington Carver) Junior High and graduated with honors from Thomas Jefferson Senior High School.

Bill grew up in St. Odilia's Catholic Church parish, 53rd and Hooper Ave., served as Altar Boy, and was a member of its Junior and Senior Holy Name Societies. He was a member of the Cavaliers Social Club and actively supported the Y.M.C.A., N.A.A.C.P. and the Boy Scouts of America.

Stanley was a great lover of music and was often found in deep meditation, reflecting the proficiency of its foremost artists.

Police In Kenya Mow Down 15 Negroes, Wound 27 Others

BULLETIN

NAIROBI, Kenya—Police fired into a crowd of Kikuya tribesmen Sunday in the Fort Hill reserve, killing 15 Negroes and wounding 27 others.

The crowd assembled when police went to see an informer who had promised to give them a "tip-off" on the Mau-Mau terrorists, who have been active in the area.

The tribesmen reportedly began closing in on the police, whereupon the police fired point blank into the advancing men.

In addition to those killed and wounded, many were arrested.

By GRACE E. SIMONS

While the race conflict in the Union of South Africa continues to mount steadily toward a showdown, the flame of revolt is bursting to the surface in another British territory in Africa, Kenya Colony on the East Coast.

There, in a primitive setting, the resistance to rule of the white man has erupted in a series of violent attacks against the colonials and the native Uncle Toms who support them.

Witchcraft

Spearheading the campaign, which openly declares its intent to drive the white man from the country, is the secret Mau-Mau terrorist society of the Kikuya tribe.

This tribe is said to number about 1,000,000 people. Mau-Mau members are reported to have consecrated their mission with blood oaths in mysterious rituals.

Hardly a week goes by without reports from Kenya of another murder of a white man. In a few weeks in September and October, the number of British killed was placed at 43. In addition, cattle belonging to the English settlers have been slaughtered, buildings and crops burned.

Harsh Measures

The British are trying to stem the outbreak through imposition of more restrictions against the tion and had acted accordingly.

Meanwhile the office of the County Superintendent of Schools through Dr. Charles C. Carpenter, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles county, advised that the principal be reinstated. The county counsel's office ruled that Faustina's memoranda did not constitute a resignation and the school district should reinstate him.

Returns to Duty

Faustina reported back to the school to resume his duties as principal at the close of the two week suspension period on November 3 and was promptly told to go back home by the superintendent. On three other occasions Faustina says he tried to return to his job and was told that the board had not acted to reinstate him and that he should return to his home and await the decision of the board.

In a stormy meeting of the board on Monday, November 17, the board acted in defiance of Lundy and the superintendent, rescinded its previous action of October 15 and reinstated the principal with full status and pay.

Political Row

Relations between Faustina and Lundy became strained during Lundy's campaign for the state assembly. At this time Lundy was charged with having sought to use the schools for his political campaign. Clifford G. Riddlebarger, superintendent at the time, was defended by Faustina against accusations of racial prejudices leveled at him by Lundy.

Parents of children in the schools and other interested citizens, led by W. A. Easter, Mrs. Anna Thomas, and others, demanded that the board stand by the reinstatement made by them and recommended by the county office of Superintendent of Schools. The board by a two to one vote decided to stand by the reinstatement of the principal and Faustina reported back to his desk and duties on Tuesday morning, November 18.

Bail was set at $1,000 and was furnished by the California Teachers Association.

Bill Knight Praised For 'Rights' Support

The Labor Committee of the NAACP paid high tribute at its meeting last Wednesday to William Knight, president of the Los Angeles AFL Voters League and president of the California Council of Lumber and Sawmill Workers, for his lifelong leadership in the fight for civil rights.

This commendation by the committee came at the conclusion of Knight's report on the possible effects the November election results will have on the fight against discrimination in California. His report was made in answer to an earlier request by the committee, and was the main order of business at the meeting.

Labor Must Fight

"Regardless of the outcome of the November elections, the fight for civil rights must go on," Knight declared. "The labor movement in particular—to preserve its own ideals of democracy and social progress—must fight on the job and in the community for the principles of equal rights and opportunities for all, without discrimination because of color, religion, or ancestry." Knight briefly described his experience "in my own 40 years in labor" to support his view.

In commenting on the report, Lester Bailey, executive secretary of the Los Angeles NAACP, pointed out that the "help provided by recognized labor leaders like Bill Knight, has given the NAACP program a tremendous push."

Knight's activity in leading the AFL support of many civil rights projects, and "his personal efforts which resulted in opening up thousands of jobs to Negroes, Mexican-Americans and others on a basis of equal opportunity, not only in his own industry but throughout the state," were described by Bailey and by John Dial, chairman of the NAACP Labor committee and chairman of the Los Angeles CIO Council's Fair Practices committee, and by William Anderson, Labor Committee co-chairman, and business agent of AFL Laborers Local 300.

Local an Example

"I always try to keep myself personally informed of the activity of various labor leaders," Anderson pointed out, "and I have had occasion to know of Mr. Knight's important work."

Knight's own local union, of which he is business agent, was cited as an example of the progress made by unions in the fight against discrimination.

"Under Mr. Knight's leadership job opportunities were opened up to minority group persons, so that now about 40 percent of his local membership is composed of so-called minorities," Jimmy Anderson, a committee member and organized for the Teamsters, organizer for the Teamsters,

Union Brotherhood

Victor Nix, an NAACP Labor Committee member and business agent for the AFL Building Service Employees, stated that this progress was based on the principle of "union brotherhood, equal rights, and equal opportunities, without special privileges and without discrimination."

Prospects for FEPC legislation in California were also discussed. "As head of the Voters League, I can assure you that the Los Angeles AFL will fully support FEPC legislation at both the state and national level. The AFL California Federation of Labor will also most emphatically stand by its policy, reiterated at the last state convention, of supporting FEPC legislation," Knight declared.

Other Labor Committee members pointed out that progress in overcoming discrimination and the maintenance of union democracy went hand in hand with progress in improving wages and working conditions. "Effective fighters against discrimination are usually also the best fighters for higher wages and a stronger union," William Anderson pointed out. "Bill Knight is an example of that in his own industry."

John Dial warned against "sinister elements" at work in the labor movement. "Communists and fellow-travelers are busily trying to exploit civil rights problems for their own ends," he said. "They shout loudly against discrimination but actually try to smear and discredit the best fighters for Negro rights. Usually they end by teaming up with the worst company-minded, race-baiting elements."

Human Rights Banquet Set For January

The Human Rights Banquet originally scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 18, has been postponed to Friday, Jan. 16, 1953, 7:00 p.m., Hotel Alexandria, Los Angeles. All reservations will be honored on that date.

The NAACP human rights award will, at that time, be presented to the late Philip Murray, deceased president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The new CIO president will be requested to receive the award in Mr. Murray's stead.

A limited number of reservations for the January 16 banquet are available and may be secured at the NAACP offices, 4263 South Central avenue, Los Angeles 11, California.

In his cross complaint, filed through Attorney Leo Branton, Neusom said that Miss Boone was so promiscuous that "it would have been impossible for her to determine who is the father of the child.

Police Shoot Down Natives

natives, strengthening the armed forces in the colony, and using their own witch-doctors to counter the spells of the Mau-Mau's and free its members of their blood oaths.

Last week the British closed 34 native schools in the Kikuyu area, and threatened to close another 150.

Thousands of tribesmen have been arrested.

Sent Cruiser

Late in October Britain sent a battalion of troops and a cruiser to Kenya and declared the existence of a state of emergency in the colony. All native meetings, unless previously authorized, by the government, were banned.

A few days later police shot into a tribal meeting on the outskirts of Nairobi, the capital. The meeting had been convened in defiance of the ban.

The police fired directly at the main speaker. He fled, but was arrested later when he sought medical aid for an arm wound. Twenty-two others were also arrested.

Seek Informers

In addition to these methods, the British are seeking informers among the natives who will point the finger at the terrorists.

England's Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttleton, who flew to Nairobi for an on-the-spot investigation, told the House of Commons on Nov. 7, immediately after his return, that whether there are many months or few before the "Queen's peace" is restored "depends on the way the law-abiding Africans in particular support the government wholeheartedly and come forward as witnesses where crimes are committed."

Grinding Poverty

Despite the heavy veils of witchcraft and superstition which surround the Mau-Mau movement, basic cause of the anti-white campaign is undoubtedly the segregation and discrimination against the natives, the grinding poverty in which they live, coupled with a lack of hope for any improvement in their lot.

The importance of the economic factors as the cause for the unrest was admitted in a release from the British Information Service, Nov. 7, which quoted a report from Kenneth Bradley, whom they termed an expert on Central Africa.

He said the Mau-Mau "represent reversion to the primitive as a form of revolt against the impact of an alien civilization," and then continued:

Poverty and No Jobs

"The Kikuyu are bewildered and frustrated because during the past 30 years or so the rapid increase in their numbers and their primitive and inefficient agriculture methods have led to an acute land shortage, and because there is as yet insufficient industrialization to provide for those whom this shortage forces out of the villages into urban labor.

"The result has been growing discontent in villages and unemployment, poverty and crime in the city of Nairobi."

Bradley also stated that "there is no evidence that either the Mau-Mau society or its policy is in any way inspired or directed by Communists inside or outside of Kenya."

Vandals Hit 2 Schools In Willowbrook

Steps are being taken by the Willowbrook school district board of education to halt what might become a major wave of vandalism by a hoodlum element that has been invading classrooms of several schools lately and creating a mild havoc.

Rayfield Lundy, school board president, stated he didn't feel that the mild damage caused at Lincoln and Mona Park elementary schools followed an organized pattern, but added steps were being immediately taken to prevent any further recurrences of last week.

Mona Park school was the hardest hit by vandals who gained entrance to classrooms after closing hours by smashing windows. Other windows were broken, desks opened and their contents spilled on the floor, ink wells emptied on floors and several classrooms left in disarray.

Lincoln elementary suffered similar invasion, but suffered less damage.

U.N. Votes to Probe African Jim Crow

By GRACE E. SIMONS

In a highly charged atmosphere, sparked with sharp denunciations against white supremacy, the United Nations last Thursday voted to set up a commission to investigate South Africa's discriminatory racial laws.

TALENTED PIANIST—Talented 10-year-old Jo Ann White is being presented by her teacher, Lucille Blayechettai-Huley, in a benefit piano recital Sunday, Dec. 14, at the Neighborhood Community church, 47th place and San Pedro street. Jo Ann, who hopes to become a concert pianist, will play selections both from old masters and from modern composers.

The vote was 35 to 2, with 22 nations abstaining. Peru was the only country to support South Africa's stubborn insistance that the way it treats its non-whites is its own business, and that the United Nations has no right to "interfere" in its "domestic affairs."

Among the nations not quite prepared to go along with South Africa, but also unwilling to point an accusing finger at its racial policies were the United States, Great Britain and France.

Precedent

Addressing the United Nations General Assembly's Special Political committee, prior to the vote, U.S. spokesman Charles A. Sprague had called for a policy of "neighborly helpfulness" towards the Malan government, and had insisted that the principle of racial equality should be left "to the lively conscience of the citizens of each country and to the power of the public opinion of the world."

The United States, of course, has its own racial problems to contend with, and its Dixiecrats certainly do not welcome establishment of a precedent for the United Nations to investigate such thorny matters as race riots and segregation.

South Africa is a member of the British Commonwealth, and England has always sanctioned the rule of the white man in that country. In addition, England at the present time is faced with a serious native revolt in Kenya Colony, in Eastern Africa. France, for some years, has been trying to suppress growing independence movements in Tunisia and Morroco.

"Stinking Mess"

In open disagreement with the views expressed by the American representative, the Pakistan delegate, Prof. Ahmed S. Bokhari, branded the South African situation a "stinking mess."

He declared that the line-up in the United Nations on the question shows the "European colonial powers" arrayed behind South Africa, while the African and Asian countries are in the opposing camp.

Siding frankly with the Negroes and other non-whites, Prof. Bokhari asserted: "To overthrow tyranny is one of the highest aspirations of men. We believe they have a great moral right to revolution.

Sad Lot

"Those who would keep the South African question out of the UN want a bloody, not a bloodless revolution."

Stating the case for the Negroes, he said: "We know very well that Negro Africans are being denied their lands, that they are being forced to live in areas not of their choice, that they are being denied educational rights, trade union rights, the right to earn wages above a certain level, that they are being denied not the highest level of education, but even the lowest level of skill, and that they are being kept separate in order to serve as the lowest labor to the greater glory of the white population in South Africa.

"Apart from that, in their daily life, their human dignity is being degraded. They cannot enter hospitals or railroad stations, or even telephone booths of the same type which the white population use.

"They cannot use park benches, entrances to waiting rooms, dining rooms nor restaurants."

Indian Rebuke

A stinging rebuke against the Malan policies was also made by Mrs. Vijaya Lakshi Pandit, chairman of the Indian delegation.

She declared that the South African racial policies are designed "to dominate and exploit the non-European population, relegate it to ghettoes and reserves, to force it to a position of perpetual economic and social inferiority and to subject it to perpetual servitude and the denial of the most elemental political, social and economic rights."

The resolution calling for the setting up of the committee to investigate racial friction in South Africa was sponsored by 18 member nations of the U.N., including the Asian-African-Arab bloc as well as some South American countries.

FEPC Laws Curb Bias, Reports Show

WASHINGTON—State and local fair-employment laws "have opened many opportunities" for workers who had been barred from certain jobs or industries because of their race, color, religion or national origin, a staff report from a Senate labor sub-committee Monday.

Agencies set up under these laws have "reduced discrimination and expanded opportunity" for minority group workers by settling complaints and promoting anti-discriminatory practices in industry, unions and employment agencies, the report said.

Subcommittee Chairman Hubert H. Humphrey, D., Minn., said the survey "should do much to dispel the unreasoning reaction which anti-discrimination, measures sometimes set off."

Humphrey plans to sponsor a Federal fair employment bill in the new Congress identical to one recommended by the Senate Labor Committee at the last session. It would set up a Federal Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) with court-backed power to order a halt to discriminatory job practices.

The survey was prepared for his subcommittee by Dr. Monroe Berger, assistant professor of sociology at Princeton University and a consultant to the National Security Resources Board. Humphrey said subcommittee members are not "committed" by the material in it.

Berger's report said state and local fair employment laws with enforcement provisions "have been more effective in reducing discrimination in employment than those without such provisions."

Eleven states and 25 municipalities have some form of fair employment-practice legislation. Laws in seven of the states and two municipalities contain enforcement provisions. The others rely on education and persuasion.

The states and cities with enforceable FEPC laws have used their compulsory powers "sparingly," the report said. They were able to settle all but six out of 5900 discrimination complaints by conciliation.

Some form of discrimination was found in 54 per cent of the cases handled, the report said. It said 79 per cent of the complaints were made against employers and 73 per cent of the cases involved charges of discrimination because of race or color.

The states and cities listed as having "enforceable" FEPC laws are Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Oregon, Rhode Island and Washington, Minneapolis and Philadelphia. They include about one-third of the nation's total population, about one-eighth of the non-whites and more than two-thirds of the Jews in the country, the report said.

"The integration of minority groups into American industry, resulting from FEPC laws and ordinances, has been accomplished to the satisfaction of employers, workers and labor unions," the report concluded.

Belmont Student Wins Plane Trip To Washington

Donald Norman, A-11 student at Belmont High, is a lucky youth who will fly to Washington Dec. 10 to attend a United Nations seminar, sponsored by the American Friends Service committee.

After four days in Washington attending the meeting, visiting Congressmen and seeing the sights, he will fly to New York to visit the United Nations in session.

And it's all for free.

It didn't just happen to Norman, however. For a long time he's been keenly interested in national and international affairs. He's a member of the Pan-American club, the World Travel club and the Hi-Y, and he plans to become a social worker.

So when he heard that the Friends were sponsoring the Washington seminar, he applied and was accepted.

Member of Belmont's track team, member of the Student Council and Student Body historian, Norman is one of six people who will go from Los Angeles to the capital.

Norman is a native of Los Angeles, and lives with his parents at 324½ N. Westlake avenue.

He'll be gone for a thrill-packed week, leaving Dec. 10, returning Dec. 17 via American Air Lines.

Free fish—51,378 to be exact—were distributed last year by Los Angeles City Health department pest control crews to eat mosquito eggs in private ponds.

Central Ave. First To Fill Chest Quota

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the merchants of Central Avenue this week for helping Division 88 top its Community Chest Drive goal.

With C. D. Saunders, district manager of Golden State Life Insurance company, as chairman, and Joseph Walker, Los Angeles Urban League, as co-chairman, Division 88 reported the Central Avenue area goal of $1,242.08 has been exceeded and is expected to top $1300.

Although the Community Chest kickoff drive was initiated October 31, workers did not start soliciting funds until November 5. By November 13, Division 88 had topped its goal.

Workers include Rufus Simpkins, Xenophon Lang, Wesley R. Brazier, George E. Bryant, Lovell C. Moore, Rossie O. Elliott, Angelo Meriwether.

Reverend M. N. Duvall, Atty. H. Leonard Richardson, Alfred Norman, Dynamite Jackson, Onie B. Granville, Mrs. Rubye Garrett, Dr. S. S. Brown, Junius Lee and Dallas Medearis.

"These contributions will insure the continuance of youth and family services, day nurseries, school lunch program, and adoption and institutional care for the Central Avenue district," Saunders said.

"Division 88 will be retained in next year's drive," he added, "and merchants are urged to keep this in mind when planning to make contributions."

The Balance Shifts

Before the election most political observers believed that Negroes concentrated in large northern industrial centers might determine the contest between Governor Stevenson and General Eisenhower.

That could have happened in a close election but President Elect Eisenhower's majorities were so large that the Negro vote didn't prove to be the balance of power that was expected in the north.

However the figures do prove that the overwhelming majority of Negroes—close to eighty per cent on a nationwide level—cast their votes for Stevenson. In Los Angeles our statistics show that he got almost eighty-five per cent of the vote in precincts populated exclusively, or almost exclusively, by Negroes.

The story in the southern states was the same and it is apparent that but for the Negro vote Stevenson might not have won more than one or two states. Take Jimmy Byrnes' Dixiecrat stronghold of South Carolina. There are more than eighty thousand Negro voters there and at least sixty thousand of them voted. On an eighty per cent calculation that means that some forty-eight thousand of those votes went to Stevenson. He won the state by about fifteen thousand. Clearly, Negroes gave him South Carolina.

Stevenson won in Kentucky by less than a thousand votes and the Negro vote there is well over a hundred thousand. The same figures crop out in any state by state analysis of the southern vote. The Negro held the balance of power down in Dixie. The trend toward Negro registration in the South will continue in the next four years.

Despite the fact that congressional power among Democrats is lodged in southerners for the moment, it is plain that the Democratic party can't hope for a return to power unless it can keep the allegiance of Negro voters. If it permits the southern senators and congressmen to become architects of its policy it will only throw away its hopes of regaining control of the nation.

The Path Of Progress

Early in December the Supreme Court of the United States will hear arguments on the question of whether or not racial segregation in public schools is consistent with the Fourteenth Amendment.

That amendment prohibits any state from denying its citizens equal protection of the laws. Laws in southern, and some northern and border states, require separate schools.

There are mountains of statistics to prove that segregated schools aren't equal to schools maintained for whites. Experts in the field have testified over and over again that the mere fact of separation denies Negro children equality.

Children who are segregated and set apart from others get a notion of inferiority. They become frustrated. Jim Crow schools deny the Negro child the opportunity to participate with and compete with other children and thus fail to prepare him for life in the world in which he must live.

Those are the facts.

Those facts demonstrate that Jim Crow schools are a denial of that equal protection of the laws that is guaranteed by the Constitution.

None of that proves that the Supreme Court is going to strike down segregation. Lawyers, even those who serve on the Supreme Court, sometimes neglect all sorts of facts in order to preserve precedent. We hope the Court doesn't rationalize in this instance. We hope that it doesn't bend over backward to support old decisions that should never have been handed down in the first instance.

Negroes will be first beneficiaries of a decision outlawing separate schools but in the long run all Americans will benefit by it. The improvement of democratic practices will help perfect democracy. And the more nearly our democratic system approaches perfection the better it will serve the interests of all of us, whether white or Negro.

We Still Need It

With the Republican victory we can look forward to renewed efforts by opponents of public housing to force abandonment of the Los Angeles ten thousand unit program.

For the most part the words and music will be the same as they have been for the past year. The same old charges that public housing is wasteful and that there is no need for such a program will be made over and over again. In addition the suggestion is being made that with the passage of a new initiative last November 4 we can look toward housing that can be built under the community redevelopment plan to fill our housing needs.

We have pointed out time and again that public housing is designed for low income families—people who can't afford to buy homes in the present market and who can't afford to pay the rentals that obtain at the present time. As a practical matter we either have to provide public housing for these people or leave them in the slums. Slums are costly in terms of what they do to human beings and in the dollars and cents we have to pay in increased police and fire and health protection.

Housing built under the community redevelopment plan won't be and can't be low rental housing. Construction costs are too high. If such housing is built in slum areas the only effect will be to drive the slum dwellers out of present homes and force them into other substandard housing.

For a variety of reasons many of those who are eligible for low rental housing are Negroes. No group needs such housing more than Negroes. Simple self interest ought to impel all of us to resist all efforts to abandon the low rental housing that has been planned.

Odd Kind Of Justice

The course of justice doesn't always run smoothly in North Carolina and we can thank our stars that California isn't like that state.

A North Carolina farmer has just been convicted of attacking a young white girl. He "leered" at her from a distance of from sixty to seventy-five feet. That's attack down in the great state of North Carolina.

Here again, the Jim Crow system is exposed in all of its nakedness. It is plain enough that this is another of those southern statutes designed to keep the "Negro in his place."

Such laws serve no purpose at all except to supply ammunition to Communists and give them opportunities to sneer at democracy.

Your Dollar Needed

The Community Chest still needs whatever you can give to help it reach its goal.

That goal is only high enough to permit the Chest to continue a minimum of assistance to the many agencies that serve all of us.

In each of the past two years Los Angeles has fallen short of its quota. The agencies have had to curtail assistance at the very time they ought to be extending it. This year some services will have to be abandoned entirely unless each one of us gives every dime he can afford.

A dollar doesn't loom very large in comparison with the money the Chest needs but if a hundred thousand people give a dollar or two dollars they help mightily in reaching the chest quota.

If you haven't given you ought to do so immediately and if you have given you might see whether or not you can't add a little more to the amount you have given.

What's Ahead?

By Alfred Baker Lewis

Now that General Eisenhower has been elected in a sweep that is big, but a good deal less than it would have been if the election had taken place right after the nominating convention, the advocates of civil rights must try to bring as much political pressure on him as possible in order to counter-balance the influence that Dixiecrats like Senator Byrd of Virginia, Governor Byrnes of South Carolina, and Governor Shivers of Texas will have with him because of the support they gave him, support which made it possible for him to carry several Southern states.

The Republican platform clearly pledges abolition of segregation in the District of Columbia. Such segregation in the nation's capital seriously hurts our international influence, for it makes it possible for our enemies in the United Nations and elsewhere to assert, with some real grounds, that our claim to be truly democratic is without foundation; and that, therefore, our lead should not be followed when we attempt to rally the democratic nations of the world to united opposition against Communist aggression.

Of course, the existence of any kind of racial discrimination and segregation here is harmful to our international influence. But it is particularly bad in Washington because that is the capital of the country, and the place where foreign diplomats from nations inhabited by dark-skinned people necessarily go. Using as an argument this harm to our international influence, it should be possible to get General Eisenhower to demand that the Senators and Representatives of his party fulfill the Republican platform pledges on the issue of segregation in the District of Columbia. Of course, any attempt to get a Federal Fair Employment Practice law will necessarily fail, since General Eisenhower, his vice-presidential running mate, and the Republican platform oppose it, and the Republicans will have a majority in the Senate without their Dixiecrat allies.

On the other hand, if we work hard for a federal anti-lynching bill and a federal anti-poll tax bill, there is at least a chance that we can get them, by imposing cloture against a filibuster in the Senate. The Republicans' strategy in the past has always been to have enough of their Senators line up with the prejudiced Dixiecrats to prevent cloture being imposed to stop filibuster against these measures. Their reason was the nakedly political one that they did not want a Democratic President to get the credit for putting through Congress any civil rights measures. But with a Republican in office, that reason fails. Furthermore, the forces favoring civil rights have been strengthened somewhat in the Senate by the defeat of reactionary Republican Senators in Missouri, Montana, and Washington by Fair Deal Democrats. The defeat of Senator Moody (D) in Michigan by a reactionary Republican will be the only loss for civil rights in all probability. The defeat of Senator Lodge (R) in Massachusetts by Representative Kennedy (D) is neither a gain nor a loss for civil rights. The replacement of two Democratic Senators in Connecticut by two Republicans will not change the picture concerning civil rights so far as a federal anti-poll tax law or a federal anti-lynching law is concerned. For nearly all the New England Senators and Representatives vote right on principle on civil rights legislation according to past records. The two new Republican Senators from Connecticut, one an investment banker (Mr. Bush) and one a non-union employer (Mr. Purtell) will hurt the support of economic measures advantageous to the great majority of Negroes such as rent control, the federal low-rent housing program, a higher minimum wage and better social security; but it will not hurt us on civil rights legislation except possibly regarding a Federal Fair Employment Practice law, which we will have practically no chance of getting in the next four years anyhow.

On the state level, it might be possible to gain a few state fair employment practice laws. General Eisenhower said that this sort of legislation was for the states, in his opinion, and at one point he said he would favor a conference of state governors on this measure. He should be asked, and if necessary pressured, to use his influence with Republican governors in such industrial states as Indiana, Illinois, California and Pennsylvania to get them to support in their respective states fair employment practice laws with enforcement powers, and to get the leaders of the Republican legislators in Michigan and Ohio to do the same. In all these states Republican legislators have in the past voted by a substantial majority against state fair employment practice laws. The advocates of civil rights legislation should ask and demand that General Eisenhower, as the undisputed leader of the party now, get Republican legislators to support such state laws.

ON THE BOOKSHELF

A JOURNEY IN TIME by Blair Niles

Ever since the days of exploration and the Spanish Main, when the old world was electrified by the tales of golden realms of romance and adventure that every returning sailor had to tell, Latin America has evoked some of the world's finest writing. Here is a garnering of four centuries, from that best seller of four centuries ago, "The Discovery and Conquest of Mexico," by Bernal Diaz del Castillo, to such contemporary figures as William McFee and Aldous Huxley. Especially interesting is a passage from the great naturalist, W. H. Hudson, who loved the South American continent and devoted some of his most exquisite prose to it. You will also enjoy the account of the rescue of the redoubtable Alexander Selkirk, an eighteenth century figure who is believed to have been the inspiration for Defoe's immortal Robinson Crusoe.

ALL THE BEST IN CENTRAL AMERICA by Sidnye Aylmer Clark

The author of several books on travel to the south summarizes useful points about passports, clothing, luggage and seasonal variations that will be handy for planning a trip through Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Panama. Useful pictures and maps point up a helpful guide to the places to visit, and something of the historical background of the Mayan culture adds to your appreciation of Central America.

MEXICAN VILLAGE by Josephina Niggli

Real understanding and affection illuminate these stories of life in the village of Hidalgo in northern Mexico. The author was born in Mexico and there is an authentic ring to her observations and interpretations. Religious festivals, work in the quarry, folk tales, customs and the people themselves provide a colorful background for drama, humor and surprise endings.

QUEST FOR THE LOST CITY by Dana and Virginia Lamb

No doubt you remember the earlier book by this pair of carefree adventurers, "Enchanted Vagabonds," which was a best seller a decade or so ago and is still a library favorite. Here are the Lambs at it again, this time embarking on a 2000-mile safari down the rugged jungle-infested coast of Mexicoto Chiapas, in search for the archeological treasures of a lost city. There is much of the absorbing quality of "Kon-Tiki" in this adventurous quest, which is ultimately successful, through a savage country that has never been completely mapped.

DANCING DIPLOMATS by Henry W. and Dorothy Kelly

The heart-warming story of a young American vice-consul and his wife in a Peruvian community that was an outpost of civilization. The Kellys were the kind of people who make friends wherever they go and in their gay and unassuming way made friends for their country as well. It is to be hoped that we have many more diplomats like them!

RIVER OF THE SUN by James Ramsey Ullman

The quest for oil and a missing scientist carries an expedition up the exotic reaches of the Amazon and into the depths of the Brazilian jungles. Like other of Mr. Ullman's books, this work is a blend of adventure, romance and philosophy. It is at once an evocation of a countryside strange to most of us and an exploration of human character under stress.

EPITAPH OF A SMALL WINNER by J. M. Machado de Assis

An ironic masterpiece that has long been a classic of Brazilian literature but is now for the first time translated into English. Its picture of nineteenth century Brazilian society is acid and its satirical picture of human foibles reminiscent of Anatole France. The effect is a work of universal scope that transcends the immediate customs of a remote time and place.

"We're Ready Sir" . . .

Sounding Off

By WENDELL GREEN

Well, the fur has already begun to fly. The claws didn't take as long a vacation as Eisenhower did in Atlanta. Rumors, charges, counter-charges and general throat slitting and back-biting that generally predominates our serene political scene, are in vogue again. It's open season again and may the best liar win.

Dr. John A. Somerville, the only Negro member of the police commission, was the subject of a most unwarranted and scurrilous attack by one Dora Moore of the Sentinel in a front-page editorial.

Arrogantly Ignorant

Dora Moore, who has been aptly described as "arrogantly ignorant," was as arrogant and ignorant as usual.

While we have not always agreed with the good Doctor, and have not failed to tell him so when our minds weren't wed, we feel impelled to rise to his defense, though we know that all thinking people in Los Angeles will merely consider the source and forget the alleged editorial, if they happened to read it while seeking relief and no comic books were around.

The crux of the letter to the commissioner seemed to indicate that the general manager of the Sentinel wants a Negro captain at Newton street. She alleges, and I quote, ". . . 175,000 Negro residents of the Newton police division wanted a Negro commander appointed to the area, just as is done in most cities North of the Mason-Dixon line."

Then the little lady proceeded to put on the spot one of the finest policemen on the force, black or white, by saying that she wanted Lt. Roscoe "Rocky" Washington to command Newton division.

Jim Crow Mind

Now Dora has a jim crow mind and is as antebellum in her thinking as any unreconstructed southerner. This is in keeping with her fight against FEPC, the NAACP and all the other forward moving forces in Negro life. She wants a Negro captain at Newton and next it will be a Negro principal at Jefferson, Jordan, Carver and Lafayette schools because the schools are presently located in predominantly Negro neighborhoods.

The idea of appointing a Negro captain at Newton because he is a Negro and because Newton is located in a Negro community is as reprehensible as the refusal to promote Negro officers because they would be in command of white if they were upgraded.

What Dora cannot cram in that tight little mind of hers is that to appoint a Negro captain at Newton is just what the race hate boys want. Then they could shift all Negro personnel in the police department to Newton division and have a complete jim crow station and then point at it like they do the two local fire departments and say, "You asked for it."

The fact of the matter is that Rocky is not on an eligible list for captaincy. When the last exam was given, he was sick and couldn't complete the examination.

The power of the police commission is very nebuleous at best. They can throw their weight around a little, but not much. One commissioner cannot do anything. If he could, in such a situation he shouldn't, publicly anyway.

Washington wouldn't appreciate a command such as Newton, which would reinstitute jim crow and lose all the advance for full integration into the police department that has been made in recent years.

Greater Responsibilities

Actually, Rocky has had command responsibilities far greater than Newton division. He was assistant commander at Central division over 422 men. Only six were Negroes. The full complement of Newton is only 140 officers. During his tour of duty, Washington was in complete command of metropolitan Los Angeles.

At present he is commander of a watch in Highland Park division. He lives in the district, and is the only Negro officer at the station.

There was a time when all Negro officers worked at Newton. Now they are in every division, including Hollywood on occasion. They are represented in almost all phases of police work. Not that the department is anywhere near perfect, but things have improved.

Full Integration

The fight is for greater improvement, not greater segregation. Full integration in all departments of city, state, county and federal civil service.

Commissioner Somerville was dealt a low blow, but by a foul ball, so he should worry. The fact that he has announced his candidacy for a seat in the City Council, without a doubt motivated the attack.

However, I might be accusing Dora wrongly. She is against so many things in the community, that there are very few things she can be for. One thing she has always fought for, and that is jim crow. For Negroes only. She's naturally in character.

Too bad Dr. Somerville and Lt. Rocky Washington had to be caught in her drive to establish a jim-crow bureaucracy in our city government.

Vice-president elect Nixon's strong right arm on Central avenue really needs some chlorophyll—or something.

Hit Racial And Cultural Exclusiveness

As part of its plans to intensify large city evangelism, the home mission conference of the National Lutheran Council has taken a firm stand against racial discrimination in the churches.

In a statement issued at Detroit the conference said that discrimination "not only complicates our work with minority groups in all parts of our land, but it also has become a hindrance and stumbling block in our missionary work abroad.

Exclusiveness Hit

"No local church has any more right to be racially or culturally exclusive than it has to modify or abandon any article of faith."

The resolution on interracial relations was one of many adopted by the conference to strengthen its evangelism work in large cities.

Lutheran congregations have a responsibility "to reach out in evangelism to all people in their community," the conference stated. "It is wrong to abandon fields simply because their social or cultural composition has changed."

Problems of downtown churches, suburban churches and the ministry to industrial workers received much attention by delegates to the conference.

The two-day meeting was attended by more than 70 home mission leaders of the eight Lutheran bodies comprising the NLC and was the first nationwide gathering of its kind devoted to city churches.

Rev. Runyon was appointed to Bethel last September at the Southern California Annual Conference in Pasadena by Bishop D. Armond Walker of the Fifth Episcopal district. Rev. Runyon, who pastored in Riverside, exchanged congregations with Rev. T. L. Scott, former pastor of Bethel.

The banquet, sponsored by the Pastor's Aid, headed by Zela Isum, was chaired by Sue Boden and Rev. Vince Monroe Townsend. Adolphus B. Clay, secretary of Bethel, gave the welcoming address and read an official greeting to the city sent by Councilman Don Allen, who was unable to attend due to the death of his mother.

Rev. Jonathan L. Caston welcomed the ministers to the community. In between the welcoming speeches and responses, musical selections by various soloists and singing groups of the church were heard.

Rev. Runyon and Rev. Quinn expressed great satisfaction with the enthusiasm expressed at the affair and pledged their wholehearted support to work for a greater Bethel AME church.

Texan Appointed To Methodist Church Education Staff

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — A Texas Negro, the Rev. Ernest T. Dixon, Jr., has been appointed to the staff of the Methodist Church's General Board of Education, which has its national headquarters here.

He is assigned to the Department of General Church School work, headed by the Rev. Walter Towner, it was announced by Dr. John Q. Schisler, executive secretary of the board's Division of the Local Church.

The department has responsibility for general phases of Methodist church schools' educational programs. The Rev. Mr. Dixon will work closely with pastors, superintendents and general officers of local churches throughout the country, including the denomination's 2,891 Negro church schools.

JEFF., FREMONT IN CRUCIAL GAME TODAY

Sports Roundup

By BRAD PYE, JR.
(California Eagle Exclusive)
By BRAD PYE, Jr.

LOS ANGELES—It's common knowledge by now that Jess Hill's powerhouse Trojans nipped Red Sanders' battling UCLA Bruins at the big Figueroa Street bowl Saturday past by the heartbreaking score of 14-12. . . . We's not trying to take anything away from Hill and his Rose Bowl bound Trojans, but in our book, the coach of the year laurels should go to the looser Red Sanders of the Bruins.

Red had very little material to work with, whereas Hill has an abundance of personnel of the highest of caliber. . . . We salute Red for being an outstanding coach and a true unbiased judge of men. . . . Hill has also done a fine job, but he had the gear to work with which hasn't made his tack as difficult as Red Sanders. . . . Better luck next time Red. . . . As you said I guess it just wasn't your day.

JEFF - FREMONT CRUCIAL—Mike Marienthal, coach of the Jefferson High Democrat footballers says that "We aren't giving up." Marienthal's Jefferson lads meet the Fremont Pathfinders on their home grounds Wednesday afternoon in a battle that will determine the Southern Loop champion. . . . The Democrats are defending champs and haven't suffered a defeat in loop play since '51 when Fremont turned the trick 14-13.

The two Jones boys Ernest and Howard, two speedy backs, and the Midget James Fennell, junior QB Arthur McQueen and senior Willie McMahan, ends William Alston, and Rudolph Lewis and tackle Robert Chappell were around last year to help beat the Pathfinders 34-7 and have their sights set for another victory. . . . The Demos who posted a 18-6 win over Roosevelt will be facing the Pathfinders after their 50-0 win over Garfield. . . . The Demos lack the stars of last year's championship outfit but we believe that Marienthal will pull a couple of his tricks out of his stellar repertoire and eked out win No. 2 over the Fremont boys.

JEFF CAGERS HOT—It appears that Larry Hanson has in the making another championship basketball outfit at Jefferson this season. . . . Hanson has a flock of Bees who moved up to the varsity this year that should break a few of the records of that fine team of '50. . . . Fred Thompson, Johnny Thompson, Walter Lawrence, Arthur and Remjeo Alverez, Milton Woodridge, Henry Harrison, Billy Levi, and Andrew McGloven are some of the lads that should win a lot of acclaim for the school this semester.

Walter Taylor, big kid brother of Gerald Taylor, city sprint champ for Jefferson a couple of years back, is now enrolled at Jeff and will be bidding for a berth on coach Estel Johnson's track team. Walter competed the past two years at San Diego High where he posted times of 9.8s. and 21.9s. in the sprints. . . . He also boast of a 22.8 effort in the broad jump. . . . James Willard who placed second in the city B 220 finals last spring is taking an academic course and according to his coach Johnson, he's a fine college prospect both athletically and scholastically. . . . Willard will be vieing for honors on the varsity squad next semester. . . . He'll concentrate on the furlong and the quarter. . . . Hear tell San Jose is hot for Arthur Scott the ex-Jeff High 25-foot broad jumper who recently was discharged from the Navy. . . . Pass the word to Scott to get in touch with coach Johnson at Jeff.

HERE AND THERE—Joe Black, according to reports has signed a $14,000 pact for next season. . . . An $8,000 increase over last season's salary. . . . The scalpers at the USC-UCLA game really suffered . . . paper boys were giving every customers that would buy a paper a free ticket . . . and Police officers were passing ducats out to servicemen and the scaplers were out in the cold. . . . As of now this is 25 and 5.

JEFF QUINTET WINS OPENING PRACTICE TILT

Larry Hansen's power-laden 17-man varsity Jefferson High basketball team took to the courts against Narbonne high school last Monday night and racked up their first practice win.

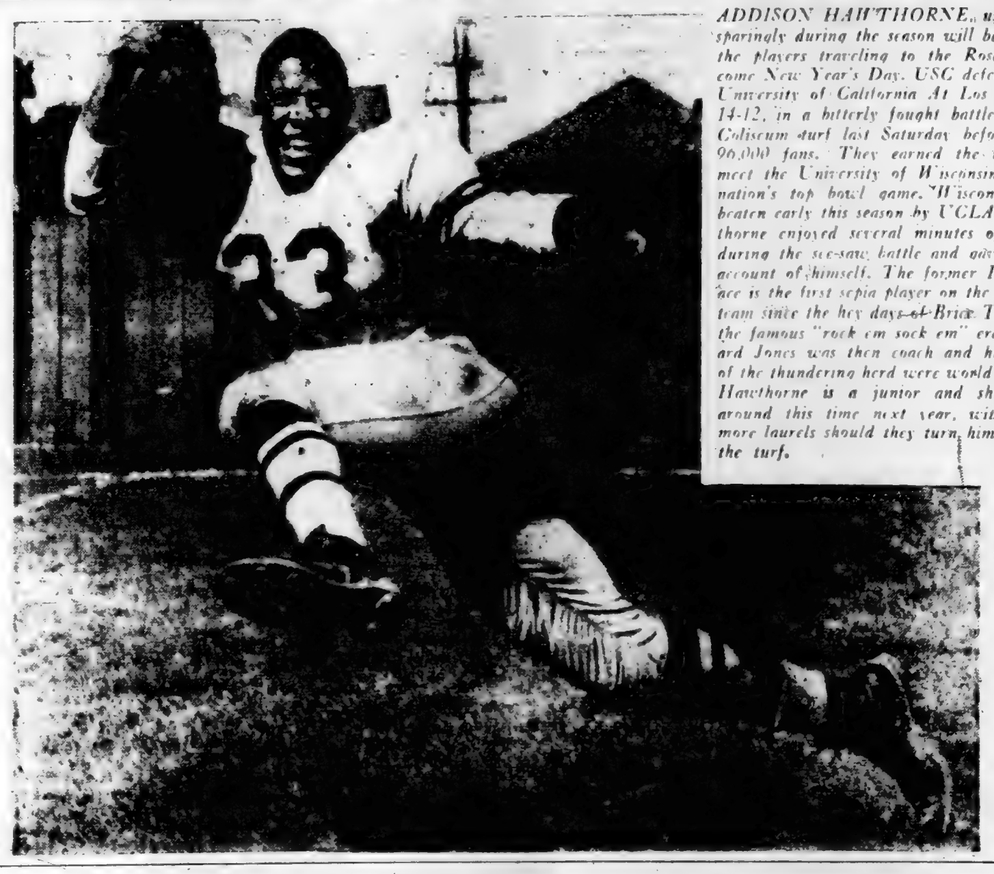
Jefferson is figured to walk through the city's cage loop this season. They got as far as the semi-final last season after the team lost several o ftheir key men. This year Hansen's quintet is labeled to go the whole route without facing a single setback.

The varsity team lost only three lettermen via graduation and more than made up their replacement from the B's, last year's Southern League champion.

The strong Jefferson five dropped only four games during last year's campaign by narrow edges. Two games were lost by two points, while two were lost by one point each.

TOPS IN FIELD. Lloyd La Beach was named by the McKesson & Robbins wholesale whiskey distributors as the salesman of the month. La Beach was selected from among 42 other salesmen as an honor for his brilliant work in the field for a salesman that's been working little less than a year. LA BEACH was the former 1949 Olympic Games sprint star and currently in training for several professional track meet. Slated for overseas during the summer months.

Globetrotters Cagers World's Greatest Team



NEW YORK CITY—Abe Saperstein, owner and coach of the spectacular Harlem Globetrotters, frankly admits that he has one of the greatest basketball teams in the world.

The modest pilot of the colorful quintet that plays to "Standing Room Only" crowds virtually every night has good reason to be proud of the team he organized 26 years ago. They hold the all-time record for games won and have broken attendance records all over the world. They are internationally famous and, without a doubt, the most popular basketball team in the history of the sport.

But despite all the honors and awards the Globetrotters have won down through the years, Saperstein is reluctant to call his team the greatest of all time. He says it is one of the greatest in backetball today and lets it go at that.

"We only claim one thing," says the Trotters' energetic coach, "and that is that we give the fans more for their money than any team in the world. That is why we play in more places and before larger crowds than all the professional teams in basketball put together."

SPORTS

ADDISON HAWTHORNE, used very sparingly during the season will be among the players traveling to the Rose Bowl, come New Year's Day. USC defeated the University of California At Los Angeles 14-12, in a bitterly fought battle on the Coliseum turf last Saturday before some 90,000 fans. They earned the right to meet the University of Wisconsin in the nation's top bowl game. Wisconsin was beaten early this season by UCLA. Hawthorne enjoyed several minutes of action during the see-saw battle and gave a fair account of himself. The former Pasadena ace is the first sepia player on the Trojans team since the hey days of Brice Taylor of the famous "rock em sock em" era. Howard Jones was then coach and his teams of the thundering herd were world famous. Hawthorne is a junior and should be around this time next year, with much more laurels should they turn him lose on the turf.

On the Turf

CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO: The chilled winds and rain failed to keep more than 5000 lovers of the sport of kings from the border course last Sunday. The racing strip was a sea of mud. In fact it was the muddiest track so far this season. The favorites had a hard time to find the old charmed circle, only two out of the ten racers were able to greet Presiding Stewart George Shilling. Outsiders won eight events. The two featured attractions were won by longshots. The Thanksgiving Handicap was captured by Bohling paying $16.50. The favored So La Cl was second.

In the co-feature Mighty Black, the son of Black Badge-Wacky, woh relishes a muddy track scored as his rider pleased paying the lush mutuel of $20.60. The hot favorites, an entry of the Presido stable finished third and fourth. One of the biggest coups in years wrecked the books when Running Number, who opened the books at 25 to 1 and backed down to 3½ to 1, scored an easy victory winning by six lengths. Running Number is a 3-year-old of questionable parentage. He performs under a special permit for racing purposes only. His sire is either Italian Ortello or The American Andy K.

Another lush daily-double rewarded the backers of Hill's Glory winner of the fourth race and Augur Victor of the fifth race paying $240.00. Pumpkin and Deitoid who finished in that order in the Quniela paid $192.40.

SANTA ANA: The apointment of James P. Kennedy to fill the re-organized position of Director of Public Relations at Santa Anita Park was announced by Dr. Charles H. Strub, executive vice-president of the Los Angeles Turf Club. Fred A. Purner continuing as Director of Publicity and advertising, which he has handled for the Los Angeles Turf Club, Inc., since it was organized in 1934.

The country's top-ranking thoroughbreds continue heading for Santa Anita ofr the 16th and most pretentious racing season, opening Dec. 26. The recently renamed Saxon stable of L. R. Allison and M. R. Prestridge advises that it is shipping 21 head from New York and will arrive this weekend.

Cosmopolitan Golfers Score in Golf Tourney

Local amateur golfers acquitted themselves well in the annual Pasadena City Men's Championship held at the Brookside sourse last week. Four members of the Cosmopolitan club qualified for the title flight led by Al McDaniel who wound up in a four-way tie for medalist honors with a 71. Henry Barabin and Theoph Smith each had 74s while Roscoe Jones got in with a 76. Fred Cumbess qualified in the fourth flight and Cullen Fentress in the tenth.

As match play started on Friday, Smith drew defending champion Bruce McCormick of Lakeside who is seeking the Crown City title for the fourth time. McCormick defeated Smith in the morning round and repeated in the afternoon round against Jones who won his opening match from Les O'Gara of Brookside. Barabin also lost in the opening round while McDaniel went all the way to the quarter-finals before losing a close match to Irving Cooper of Long Beach, two-time Los Angeles city champ.

Meanwhile Cosmo members continued to knock each other over in their current President's Cup tournament with one match played each week. Longest match to date was played between Clifton Walker and U. S. Thompson on the Harding course at Griffith Park with Walker the winner after 23 holes of play. Walker came a cropper in his next match, however, to five handicapper Lavelle Mayfield.

ELA Via For Metro Crown

Clyde Johnson's East Los Angeles Junior College Huskies paced by Gordon Chappell, ex-Jeff High all-city back and Dick Fulks, erstwhile all-conference back from Monrovia High, will be gunning for their second Metro conference title in history against the El Camino Warriors Thanksgiving Day on the latter's home field.

The Huskies bagged the title in '49 when Johnson, the present coach, and Al "Ace" Hunt, now headman at Valley JC, were at the helm. Other men that should lend a big hand to the Huskies cause are Pete Parkovich, Gil Pedroza, Jerry Taylor, Junior Jackson, Rudy Chavez, James Boyd and Morrie Tomalsaz.

The Huskies beat the LBCC eleven 27-6 last week.

The A. & T. Aggies will take on Maryland State College of Princess Anne in the season's football final here at Greensboro Stadium on Saturday, December 6.

Southern U. Panters Set Title Battle

BATON ROUGE, Louisiana — For the sixth time in seven years the once five-year winner of the Southwestern Conference, Southern University Jaguar Cats, will meet the Prairie View Panthers headon for the Circuit Crown. Southern has played this important game for an outright claim for three of those years. In 1948 the Cats had clinched the title before the Panther contest. Prairie View had done the same last year but then the lowly Cats picked themselves up off the floor to play the best game of the year and came away with a 13-0 verdict. Both Southern and Prairie View have identical records in the won-loss column, although there are some variances in the scores against common opponents. Much improved Southern has been going at a fast clip since a first game setback and, unless the unforseen occurs, should end the season in a blaze of glory.

According to ratings, the Panthers have the edge, but when a scrappy team as the Jaguars meets an old rival the opinions of the experts can be partially discounted. Last year the raters picked the Panthers by a wide margin and each had to retract after the way the Jaguars played to win going away.

In this game it will definitly be a well-seasoned Panther eleven against a largely first-year Cat squad that has shown great promise all season. Coach A. W. Mumford marked this contest on his "Must" list and every Jaguar is determined to help Southern regain the grid laurels of the 1946-50 period.

Unbeaten Jeff Seeks League Prep Grid Title

(Edw. "Abie" Robinson)

We'll put the Jefferson-Fremont crucial football game today like this: This writer picked the Brooklyn Dodgers and they lost; Joe Walcott, he did likewise; Stevenson followed suit and Saturady we gave you the Bruins and the bitter pill was the Rams' victory Sunday. So, in keeping with our score, we give you Jefferson over Fremont.

Coach Mike Marienthal, one of the best high school coaches in the city, is worried plenty after reading and watching Fremont roll to 50 points over a team his group could only score 14 points against. Although Jefferson is undefeated in league play, they will have to win this one for the league title or settle for a tie.

One bright spot in the Democrats' team chances is their sparkling defense unit which has held down the scoring in previous games. The spies around Jefferson and Hooper say the boys will be up for this one as the coach has been beaming as a result of several sparkling work out featuring Robert Chappel, Cornell Jackson, William Alston and Willie Pennix.

In the running department, Willie McMahon is said to be pitching the pigskin with deadeye accuracy and James (Scooter) Fennell, Harold (Workhorse) Printers, Ernest Jones are looking better than ever.

Reports from 74th and San Pedro, Words come that Jeff will be in for a surprise as Bernard Bruce, Fremont's scatback, is in running form, which is dangerous.

The Baileys, Herman and Amerine, are making plans to spend Christmas in Chicago. Having been here less than a year, we are wondering what's the matter. Say, can't you take Los Angeles just once without a "White Christmas"?

Twice in my career I have seen this.. happen.. The.. two.. people whose hair returned to its natural color were being treated for a general health build up. A lack of some vitamin might have been restored that caused the change.

When should paper curls be used. P.B.

Paper curls are used when the hair is very fine and difficult to curl.

Will low blood pressure cause the hair to appear dry and dull? A.S.

Yes.

HAPPY FOR SURE—Those bright smiles tell how happy Mr. and Mrs. David Williams were when they departed from a wedding reception given in their honor at the Kappa Kastle. The bride, Eula Lee Narcisse, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Narcisse, was wed in splendor at Wesley AME church, officiated by Rev. J. Rakestraw.

HAL MILLER and KERRY JACKSON

As the rapid advance of midterms begin to overcome us, a drastic drop of party population has already been noticed. But over the past weekend many found escape long enough to enjoy the round of parties in session Saturday night. No certain names could be attached to any affair in particular cause most everyone made 'um all.

Wendell Williams was honored guest at a "chile choker" given by the St. Julian klan (Allen, Eileen and Tony) who bestowed upon him his farewell gig before induction into the services. Another "turn out" fandango was held under the gig-ship of Virginia McMichael and Carole Gentry, who hosted many of the hic-ridden crowd that made the rounds. Myrtle Davenport feted Sandra Stanley with a small get-together in honor of her ?? birthday. About time the morning grew young the best of the crowd congregated at the social given for Leon Bridges (another draftee). This was the apex of the early morning activities. Saw people we thought had died of lameness plus others who are now well on their way.

At the galaxy of parties we saw Mary Ann Baumann who's purpose of the eve was to bid adieu to long time love, Wendell Williams. . . . Also greeted (but sympathized with) Johnny Semano, who's leaving for the Army, crying on Leander "V.O." Tenette's (the boy whose stomach has taken the shape of a fifth bottle) shoulder. . . . Danced with Verlohn Johnson, who, we hope will come back onto the social scene after such a long absence. . . . At the McMichael-Gentry affair we traded glances with Joyce Brinson and Andy Michell, Carl Shafter and Audrey Potter, plus Dickie Hall, Stanley Armstrong, Francis and Billie Meredith, Reginald Boyd and Geneva Fields. . . . We couldn't begin to name the eons and peons at Leon's "go way" affair, although Lee Steward and his Nancy were good examples of the party-mad mass. Al Elliot, suds killer delux, along with J. D. Colins, Edith Lyons, Dave Reed, Phy Taylor, Tommy Green and Gloria Taylor were also there for kill. Those "uffle couples," ones we picked as being most interested in each other at this gathering were Ted Shaeffer and Shirley Qualls, Pat Anderson and Morris Taft, 'n Jeanne Rouzon and Ernie Lindo.

People are screaming and talking about . . .

. . . Miss Bronze LA Lyuette the participants. . . .

. . . Engagement proceedings entered into by Nolan Charbonnet and lovely Marlene Larrieux. . . . The newly arrived Pitts-burger, Sylvia Harding. . . . General Hospital nurses Emily Grant and Dorothy Miller, who are Misses "personality plus" of any week. . . . The impromptu get 'um together chunked for George Brown's Army date, the other eve. He celebrated for more than one reason, his divorce became final Tuesday. . . . Modupe Paris and his newest flame, Virginia. She's gor—jis. (Heard one of his buddies has cutthroat ideas). . . . The indefinite talk concerning the coming nuptial arrangements between Stan "The Square" Robertson and lovely Ruby Grimes. . . . Congrads to Lydia and Dion Morrow on their recent marriage.

The supposed steady go together of lovestruck couple, Vivian Robinson and Ellis Dickerson.

PEOPLE ARE "SCREAMING ABOUT . . . The Sophisticutie who cannot keep her business any straighter than she could her-self Saturday night. It seems that she is unable to decide between "rubber wheels" or "rubber heels."

THE GLIDE WITH PRIDE . . . was what everyone is referring to the Bruin Club's saturday night "sand session" (dance). Even though our hearts were heavy the "spirits" were light.

TWO TO TANGO DEPT: . . . Dave Williams and Eula Narcisse's wedding rites and reception were the end, friend. Your beloved hounds, along with hundreds of others are wishing them much success. Incidentally, the guests made with good times at ANNA KINGS'. 'Nuff said, Red!!!

'Back to School' Theme of Rushees

"Back to School" was the theme of Epsilon chapter of the Tau Gamma Delta's rush party in Sacramento last week. Each soror and rushee were given pencils and paper with which to prepare her lessons. For the best themes, merits of achievements were awarded to Vivian Ellis and Doris Lewis.

In keeping with the theme, box lunches and soft drinks were served.

ANNUAL PUBLIC RELATION DINNER PARTY—Once again the Holmes Avenue Parent Council made history with their annual party held at the school Friday night for new and old friends of the community. The guest speakers for the evening were Mrs. Irene Kline, Virginia Foster and assemblyman August Hawkins and Atty. Pauline Epstein. Bringing greetings to the group were Mrs. Jessie Terry of the Pueblo Del Rio Housing Project, Miss Rose Marie Tallie of the Y.W.C.A., Mrs. Alice Brown of the Holmes Ave. Parent Council, Ralph Davis of the Intercollegiate Council, Mrs. Nancy Cooper, head teacher of the Hooper Ave. school; Mrs. Helen Wortham of Pueblo Del Rio Nursery, Mrs. McGoldrick of Main street and Mr. Clem from the Lott Realty Co., who presented the Council with a check for $25.00. The program was also graced by the appearance of the great baritone singer, Turner Henderson, who will appear in a recital on Dec. 14. Through the courtesy of Lester Allen, the Murray group of square dancers gave the party the big thrill of the evening. Little Miss Mildred Clay played a lovely musical selection. Mrs. Juanita Macklin in her own inimitable style acted as mistress of ceremony. "Keep the Child Care Center Doors Open for Our Children" was the theme for the evening. A delicious turkey dinner was served by the council. Every group pledged their support toward the child care program. Inset, Attorney Epstein, seated, Mmes. Klein, Foster, Allen, Brown, Talley and Terry. Standing, Hawkins, Mmes. Macklin, Walter Johnson, Irene Beckett. Center picture, guest soloist, Turner Henderson, baritone. Third photo, Murray group of square dancers, under the auspices of Lester Allen, entertained diners with several routines.

STELLAR STARS IN BIG BENEFIT STAGE SHOW

Final arrangements are being completed for the gigantic Benevolent Variety Artists' benefit to be held Saturday evening, November 29th, at the Florentine Gardens, 5955 Hollywood Blvd.

A Commendable Organization

Characteristic of their policy of never refusing to assist others, the B. V. A.s are to be commended in rallying on their own behalf in order to take care of their own artists and dedicating themselves to helping indigent entertainers.

Public Support Urged

"Everyone cannot be a star," energetic entertainment co-ordinator Alyce Keyes related to her favorite newspaper, "therefore we try to materially help the less fortunate in show business."

Often a person drops out of the limelight and has serious personal reverses. To assist our fellow members in show business we put on such annual benefits to financially aid the needy show people."

Stellar Entertainment

Being content with nothing but the very best; top notch entertainment will be a MUST with the B.V.A.'s. Jovial Joe Adams Radio Station KOWL's Mayor of Melody will be master of ceremonies and an unequalled evening is in store. Remember the B.V.A.'s, Saturday, November 29th, at the Florentine Gardens, for a worthy cause and a worthwhile evening.

Chazz's Soundtrack

By "CHAZZ" CRAWFORD

A column is a lonely thing! Only wish this one or any one for that matter had the circulation of a gaudy babe we know who is trying her darnedest to dance on every set! . . . At the foot of L. A.'s sumptuous Sugar Hill is lodged Club Cosmo where our Roy Loggins' "Jazz At Midnight" airshow is strictly "boffo" which is shop talk for "smash hit." . . .

The bourbon man, Joe Louis, was guest spieler last Saturday on the wax whirler's show and Ella Fitzgerald, Herb Jeffries, and cryin' Johnny Ray are in the wings . . . You'll be hearing more and more of the stellar pianistics of Indiana's Carl Perkins.

Incidentally, the piano man sat in for Eddie Dudley over the weekend at Dynamite Jackson's lounge . . . Debonair Eddie was stunned and shocked over the tragic news that his pal Pete Bullock was found murdered in Long Beach last week . . . Bullock's death is shrouded in mystery as far as the column is concerned, meaning we had no more details as we went to press.

Bumped into cute Cathy Jamieson who says happy-go-locals crowded social calendar is no big deal for her. She prefers to stick close to the hearthside with her fella, and over thick broiled steaks exchange quips. Maybe things ain't what they used to be, but they just couldn't care less . . . For flamingo boy Herbie Jeffries, the going is rugged. He's preparing for his jaunt to Korea to entertain the troops and he's needled three times daily with the preventive serums . . .

Pert Frances Neeley who can lay iron so well she's often called the "femme Bojangles" is back on the scene . . .

Johnny Ray, the prince of wails, headlined the Shrine affair last Sunday, and it was a package wherein every act stopped the show. We doff the battered beret to Peg Leg Bates, the Brewes sisters, the Four Lads, Harry James and crew, and of course Mister Emotion and Mister Commotion! . . . Mr. Commotion is Big Jay McNeeley, who at the rate he's going will top bill his next appearance in concert, and we told him so . . .

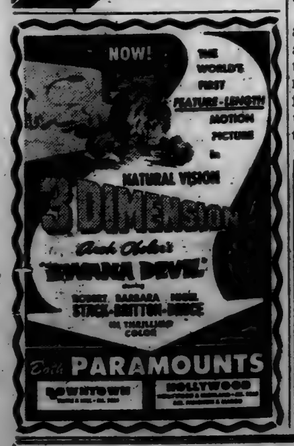
See where Stepin Fetchit will portray Satchel Paige in the hurler's screen biography. Parsons says the two were boyhood chums in Mobile, Alabama and that's why . . . But then Satch just happens to be a slow-motion guy himself with a lot of baseball know-how . . . The way Step is playing the Western avenoo bistros is not exactly a "shuffle along."

Some of the local scribes are lowering the boom on the actors' boisterous antics . . . But just remember, that is the boy who always "put on the dog" in a big, loud way when the living was easy! . . . We were saddened to learn that Jimmie and Tommy Truitt's mom passed away, and we extend our sincere sympathy to the brothers . . .

PEOPLE ARE SAYING THAT: dancer Jimmie was a real trouper in the "show must go on" sense, and that his superb artistry at the Lester Horton "Bal Caribe" affair is worthy of raves. And that the affair itself was so great that the audience wouldn't have complained if the doorkeep had collected coin on the way out . . . Memo to my youthful niece Tina: You shouldn't want to change your lustrous hair shade. You're not ready for a carrot-top personality. Muh-gosh, not at fourteen!!! . . .

LaMarr's Pirate Lounge (at Club Cosmo) is so veddy decorative, cause innocent bar-standers are drooling over the face and form of Linda Fontainette and the breathtaking "China Doll" . . . Cause of some of the furor south of the border may be laid to this reason: Peron has big bulgin' eyes for jarring Jo Baker! . . .

Ork leader Bumps Blackwell took an offering into the Alabam Tuesday that boasts a baby doll of a Spanish doll who chirps blues with the feeling of the late Ma Rainey . . . Renal's Recordio Den on Central avenuoo is the new headquarters for modern sounds. The sidewalk critics and carriage trade are doing double takes to music in the Dave Brubeck-Charlie Parker-Diz Gillespie manner, on such sounds as "Deep People" and "At A Perfume Counter On The Rue De La Paix" blare forth from the speaker system . . .



NOW HEAR THIS: "Don't stay away . . . come out to sing, play and sway . . . with the solid sisters of the B.V.A., Saturday at nine, where everything will be fine and you'll support a cause that's sublime . . . so be on time.

NBC's Fair Casting Policy 'Good Business'—Tallulah

Tallulah Bankhead, star of stage, radio, screen and television, has publicly praised the policy of the National Broadcasting Company which integrates Negro actors into the casts of network shows without racial discrimination. Miss Bankhead believes that the use of talented Negro performers is "good business" and has substantiated her beliefs by using a roster of stellar Negro performers on her NBC radio stint, the fabulous "Big Show."

Interviewed at her New York apartment, she revealed that one of her favorite artists is Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, whom she characterized as a "genius." In addition to praising his proven talents as a trumpeter and singer, Miss Bankhead also paid tribute to him as a person "who believes deeply in prayer."

When asked her opinion of the chances of Negro actors and actresses in the legitimate theater, Miss Bankhead's answer was that any actor, regardless of color, could "starve to death" in this field, since top stars average only 12 to 15 weeks of work a year. The actress held that she would not advise going into the field "without a full knowledge of what lies ahead."

The NBC policy which Miss Bankhead discussed is one of "Integration Without Identification," which insures the selection of talent on the basis of ability alone, without any regard to skin tone. This policy has been utilized with marked success by the National Broadcasting Company, with which it originated. As a result of this idea, many top-notch Negro artists have appeared on the various NBC programs.

In following this policy, NBC has consistently picked the performers best suited for the part. This has helped to maintain the uniformly high caliber of the network's programs.

The dynamic actress repeated her success in other media on her long awaited television debut on Saturday, October 11, as star of NBC's TV extravaganza, "All Star Revue." With the incomparable Bankhead touch, her venture into this new medium augurs another successful field for her art.

Mariners Wax Xmas Carols

A musical traveler's Guide to Christmas has been compiled for Columbia Records by The Mariners, famed for their warm-hearted and versatile singing on innumerable Arthur Godfrey programs. In a holiday Baedecker titled "Christmas 'Round The World," the Mariners present carols from such widespread origins as America's Southeastern mountain country to central Europe.

Czechoslovakia contributes the "Starflight Carol" while "The Angels And The Shepherds" is taken from the Netherlands. "The Bagpiper's Carol" comes, oddly enough, not from Scotland, but from Italy.

FROG FACTS

"One thing is certain these days: nobody in America is being lulled into a false sense of security. I am mindful of an experiment that was conducted once in a Cornell laboratory. A live frog, thrown into a pot of boiling water, leaped out in the faction of a second—the instince for self-preservation saving its life. Then, however, the frog was put into a pan of cold water which was heated very, very slowly. The contented frog made not the slightest effort to jump—in fact, he relaxed so competely that he ultimately boiled to death."

POPPY Set. Jean Parks, attractive band leader who broke into the New York headlines when playboy Dickie Wells was found dead in her swank apartment was arrested on dope charges. This is the second time for the lovely lass that narcotic officers raided her New York residence. She left the country and had been operating a night club in Paris before her latest arrest in Istanbal, Turkey.

Mills' many years of turning out some of the town's finest dishes accounts for the rapid popularity of his dinner hour. Drop in if you want a meal that pleases. Bring out entire family for Thanksgiving dinner.

CHARITY, oh, how sweet thy name, caused a West Adams bystander to wonder what goes on in that apartment building just across the street from the Hotel Watkins. Seems like an unusual amount of men callers?

THAT westside club member who is fighting old age so bitterly should find relief in the art of how to grow old gracefully and instead of all at once by fighting it as she does.

ARTHUR LOGGINS, dapper young blade about town, isn't wasting any time in getting his heart straightened out. His cute little number is a Kress department store clerk. He is humming "I Found a Million-Dollar Baby."

MANY rumors are flying as to why Ada Shumate was rushed to the Georgia Street Hospital the other day and later to the Temple Street Hospital. Spicy rumors accounted her trip as perhaps suicide.

churches. So please help this worthy cause with your contribution. If you do not know of a church in your neighborhood call your California Eagle, ADams 4-0161.

Miss Harriet Bowman of Minneapolis, Minn., is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Alice Harness of 1038 W. 256th St., Harbor City, Calif., for three weeks.

We recently discovered that Marionne Peebles, a former resident of Minneapolis, Minn., has taken up permanent residence in Berkeley, Calif., employed with the Veterans Administration.

Travis Lott, another Los Angeleles eligibles and "Mom" settled in their new home after being beautifully decorated by one George Holbert, a new comer from Chicago.

That fine "Chick" you see riding in the new Pontiac is Mae Cambell, recently returned from a month's stay in Cape Cod, N.J.

Leona Turner, a new resident of four months formerly from Detroit, Mich., who has bought a home and acquired a Civil Service position (all in four months), is having the "gang" in for brunch Sunday after church. The "gang" consists of Walton, Daisy Nicholson and me.

Going to church Sunday morning we saw Adele Catlins' guest Evelyn Williams in that sleek beautiful Chrysler with Vivian Paris. Evelyn was guest soloist for the tea given at the beautiful home of the Valentines on St. Andrews and Country Club Drive. Sponsors of the tea were the popular Wesleyan Service Guild from Hamilton Methodist Church.

Charity Jackson from Chicago has just taken a new position at the beautiful Queen of Angels hospital as a medical technician. Being the first of our group, we know she will set a precedent and open the way for others to follow.

Anthony Williams is assisting his wife, Jean, with Christmas shopping which includes a long list of infant needs. The couple expect their first in December.

Planing in for indefinite stay with her aunt, Mrs. Zelma Clarke, was Ruth Frances Livingston, last week.

Fully aware of the fact that on January 21, 1953, one day following the Republican President-elect's inauguration, ole Judge "One Lung" Benny might well be among the unemployed; he hastily made his way from his chambers to the bench for it was five minutes past the hour and even the bailiff was all a-tremble.

"First time I've been late in 20 years. Even a Republican would celebrate his mother-in-law's finally leaving after an overnight "visit" which lasted 20 years," chuckled the Judge.

From 1953 St. Louis street in East Los Angeles came Ben Blue, 36, to wait for his not so loving wife, Mary, 5, who is separated from him, in her "crib" in the 1700 block on West 54th street.

When contrary Mary came in from "collaring her slave" (work) the Blue brother asked her to make like Greta Garbo and he would make like Clark Gable. Contrary Mary flatly refused to kiss the maroon-eyed, tanned-teeth Blue boy or have him slobbering on her in the least.

Blue remembered when she used to be glad to have him rub "chops." He became so infuriated he threw a glass of warm beer on her freshly "fried" mop (hair) and grabbed her dry goods (clothing) and ripped them from her, leaving her with nothing but a facial expression.

Mary by-passed him, rushed into the closet and pulled a quick change, or cover up. Where are you going? Blue questioned, and grabbed her and dragged her toward the work-bench (bed).

At last he had the right idea, smiled the Judge.

Not to let well enough alone, Brother Blue thought he would speed up matters somewhat and pulled a knife from under the pillow.

Big Bertha Van, mountainous daughter of Mother Mary, hastened from the "hut" (house) because she did not want to see her mother's blood flood the place.

Blue, thinking the "fast moving" Van was rushing for help, released Mary, and the contrary one started to run not stopping for anything before reaching the outside world. Blue followed, grabbed Mary again and took her hard earned "loot" (money).

"You can't do that to me!" Mary yelled, snatched her purse back, braced herself and her footwork, lightning left jab and right cross would have done dancing "Sugar" Ray Robinson full credit. Blue went out like a light and Mary left in full flight.

Old Judge "One Lung" Benny commented: "Now Ben Blue you know what the famous writer meant when he asked, 'Oh, love, where is thy sting?'"

JOHNNIE MAE DOWNIE, 34, of the 3400 block on Paloma, was sleeping peacefully (alone) when her husband, NOTMEE LEE, 36, jumped on her, mounted her frame like a hay maker and beat the tar out of her, tatooing her about the face and body, stretching her neck and arms.

Johnnie Mae complained to the agents of the law, the boys in blue, that Notmee Lee had been using her for target practice for the past six months, merely because people told him that the two oldest "dependents" are not his. "And knowing her like he does, it could be true, said NOTMEE."

Why should Lee get all fired up? The judge wondered. At least he has the pleasure of having two our of four or more, or has he?

A former Central Avenue nite club figure and after-hours character, called upon his love with a .45 automatic over on the westside of the city the other "early bright." Seems like this character and his turtle dove were engaged in frantic love and since her remarks enraged daddy-O he drew out his "heat" and mummy-O hurriedly let her feet beat the street, as she gathered much distance. Hazel-eyed Helen Harrison leaped out of her Sugar Hell apawtment and the speed she used going north on Western would have made Ollie Matson, fastest man in football, seem like two-ton Tillie, the dilly from Philly. Latest reports received by "hizoner" was that Helen was last seen cooling her heels down Mexico way, and isn't thinking about her "hate" date in the Golden Gate state.

At one of the large local laundries big Bertha Blossom, 33, and weighing 180, refused to have her picture photographed with an o'possum she had caught crouched behind her 'slave station.' Perhaps Bertha feared persons could not distinguish her from the o'possum. The Judge lamented: "The rightful owner will have difficulty claiming the animal for the last time the o'possum was seen it was submerged in gravy and surrounded by three vegetables.

Palmolive's 14-Day Beauty Plan
Has Extra Attraction with Chlorophyll Green

THE well-known 14-Day Beauty Plan of Palmolive Soap by which so many women recapture the natural beauty of their skin, has good reason for extra success with the announcement of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet that nature's chlorophyll is in every cake of Palmolive Soap.

Nature's chlorophyll is what makes Palmolive green and Palmolive is the first leading beauty soap to announce its presence in every cake.

Palmolive is the soap famed for its 14-Day Beauty Plan which has been tested by 36 doctors—leading skin specialists — and has been proved to bring most women a softer, smoother, younger looking skin if they use the soap faithfully and enjoy its gentle beauty care.

The "chlorophyll" announcement means Palmolive has a happy combination of attractive color in a rich, pure soap which helps provide a lovelier complexion.

Today's women are so extra active in their lives, what with the household chores of laundry, cooking, cleaning, plus chauffeuring the children, trains to meet, and gardens to plant which make up their busy day, that they require a mild, pure soap which gives them everything they need for gentle beauty care.

Palmolive, being a family soap which has its place in most of the soap dishes of America, is the first company to announce the presence of chlorophyll in its product. The same sparkling pure white lather is still an identification of Palmolive wherever you see it.

Beauty DeLuxe . . . with nature's chlorophyll in every bar of Palmolive Soap it's an added attraction to women everywhere who follow Palmolive's 14-day beauty plan. Nature's chlorophyll is what makes Palmolive green.

Newton Street post and that he did not take the recent captain's examination because of illness.

Replying to Mrs. Moore's inquiry as to the nature of his duties as a member of the Police Commission, Dr. Somerville referred her to the city charter which he said is very explicit on the point. The Charter does not give the Commission power to override civil service rules or regulations.

Dr. Somerville was appointed to the Commission by Mayor Bowron and has been very active in its deliberations. Records show that he has one of its best attendance records. He has repeatedly urged full integration of Negro police officers in every division and has insisted that they not be confined to divisions in Negro communities.

The equality of facilities afforded the Negro children and the white children is not at issue in these cases.

Club Helps Plucky Child

kidneys on the right side, one on the left. Specimen from the spine were taken at the same time. The discovery of an extra kidney gave the physicians at Children's Hospital some hope in detecting the cause of his paralysis.

But more hopeful was little Willie, who bravely told his mother after his last visit to the operating room, "If this will make me walk like other boys and girls, Mother, then I don't care if it hurts some."

Since his return home at 1224 E. 66th street, Willie has worn special shoes attached to heavy braces covering from his ankles to hips. His back is bound with a brace consisting of heavy elastic and metal.

A local club, Les Petite Femmes, hearing of Willie's courageous fight for life from a neighbor, donated $100 to Willie's mother, Mrs. Audrey Morrow, to assist in paying for his recent surgery. At present, they are making plans to aid in some way for they know Willie's needs are many.

At this moment, he could use a walker surrounded by bars with adjustable crutches. He needs a wheelchair for he weighs 56 pounds and that is very heavy for a woman to lift from place to place.

Willie really wants a bright red car, like most boys his age own. His birthday, which is Wednesday, Dec. 3, would be a great celebration if he could get these things. Secretly, he prays for a train set.

Nothing would please him more than a huge cake with candles and ice cream. His favorite foods are eggs and milk.

His father, A. Z., and brother and sister, Velvia Nell and Edward, are his best playmates, he insists. But his closest friend is two-year-old Fisher, his dog, who remains with him 24 hours a day.

Testimonial Being Given Home Builder

Mark Taper, president of Biltmore Homes, Inc., to date has sold 2000 homes, valued at $22,000,000, to the local public on an "open occupancy" basis, a record which has not been approached by any other builder in the history of Los Angeles.

This move to provide low-cost housing on a non-discriminatory basis will receive recognition Friday noon when a Citizens Committee, headed by Postmaster Michael D. Fanning, sponsors a testimonial luncheon for Taper in the Watkins Hotel, 2022 W. Adams Blvd.

Partial list of sponsors for the testimonial affair includes Dr. E. I. Robertson, president of NAACP, Los Angeles chapter; Lester Bailey of NAACP; Mrs. J. O. Garland, chairman of the Los Angeles Urban League's Private Housing committee; and Carey Jenkins, George Brown, Wesley Brazier and Joseph Walker, all of the Urban League.

Other sponsors include Jack Hardy, first national commander of Amvets; William O'Sullivan, past state commander of Amvets; Louis R. Baker of the American Legion; Don San Tucci and Mike Freeman of AFL Local 802, and Claude Bogue and Richard Young of AFL Local 1437.

In addition, also present will be representatives of the Veterans Administration, the Federal, state, county and municipal departments who now live in Biltmore Homes' developments.

JIM CROW OPINION IS 'STRICTLY FOR THE BIRDS'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — "Strictly for the birds."

That slang phrase just about summed up public reaction to a decision handed down here Saturday by Federal Judge Wilkin holding that racial segregation is "natural" and leaning heavily on bird lore for its justification.

Wilkin said "Nature has produced white birds, black birds, blue birds and red birds, and they do not roost on the same limb or use the same nest. Such recognition and preference for their own kind prevails among other animals.

"It prevails also among all people, among the yellow, black and red skinned races. The law recognizes these natural and instinctive principles and practices of life. It does not attempt to inhibit them. It would be futile to attempt to do so."

His ruling came two days after the city council decided, over bitter protests from Negroes, to build a separate but equal golf course. The fight against the separate course was led by Councilman Alexander Looby and Prof. Herman Long of Fisk University.

In denying a motion for a summary judgment seeking to force Nashville to permit Negroes to use municipal golf courses the judge said:

"This Court concludes that segregation itself (where legal rights are unaffected) is not unconstitutional or unlawful; that it is a natural tendency which in the progress of man's political, social and spiritual evolution may change or disappear; but that it would be inexpedient and unwise to attempt to prevent or prohibit it (or enforce unrestricted association) by judicial decree."

However, he held that the city must provide equal and adequate facilities for those Negroes who wish to play golf.

New Supporters Join Consumers Mobilization

Additional impetus to the Consumers Mobiliation drive for fair employment was indicated this week as the determined, direct action, organization released a list of new supporters.

The name of Reverend L. L. White, minister of Holman Methodist Church, located at 3320 West Adams Boulveard has been added to the growing list of community leaders who have become members of the Advisory Committee of Consumers Mobilization.

Said the Reverend White: "Consumers Mobilization is thoroughly Christian in its purpose. The purpose is 'to create equal employment opportunity for all men wherever such opportunity is denied because of race, religion or national origin.' I am happy to give my endorsement to such a movement and also to give it my support."

Several Eastside business establishments have signed a pledge that they would not buy, advertise, display, or sell any goods or services listed as unfair by Consumers Mobilization while such goods or services are so listed.
